SABINSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Most people write letters to their congressman when they are unhappy about government, but not the senior citizens of this tiny Pennsylvania town.

They sent a package of old clothing to the House Ways and Means Committee.

It was their way of protesting a proposed $10,000-a-year salary raise for the congressmen and the delay on the vote for President Kennedy's medical care for the aged program.

"We're going to send more packages too," promised Victor Swanson, a retired motel owner who celebrated his 74th birthday Friday.

"We hope the clothing will tide the congressmen over until they have time to vote on the bill giving themselves a raise," he said.

Swanson said the package, sent earlier this week, contained underwear, pajamas, socks and shirts all collected from citizens over 65 in Sabinsville, Tioga County.

UNKNOWN NUMBER OF MINERS TRAPPED

527 Dead in Japanese Mine, Train Disasters

TOKYO (AP)—A coal mine explosion and a three-train wreck killed or injured hundreds of persons Saturday, giving Japan one of its worst shocks since the fire and bombs of World War II. The death count for both disasters reached 527 this morning.

Officials of the Mitsui Mining Co., said the death toll from the mine explosion reached 363 with at least 433 miners injured. No one knew how many others were still trapped in the recesses of the mine.

Many miners who tried to reach safety in isolated chambers of the mine were apparently killed by a giant fireball touched off by the explosion. Deadly carbon monoxide gas also took a toll. The mine is located on Japan's southernmost island, Kyushu.

The official toll in the train wreck was 164 dead and more than 60 injured.

The nation anxiously waited to see what the twisted steel of the train wreck and the blackened, shattered mine would yield. Police feared both would hold more bodies. It was shift changing time in the mine when the explosion occurred at 3:15 p.m. A giant fireball zoomed through the passages, burning miners and causing caveins that crushed others.

The train wreck occurred Saturday evening when a passenger train jammed with weekend commuters struck a derailed freight train, and then swerved across the tracks and knifed into another commuter train traveling in the opposite direction.

Cars telescoped as steel sliced through steel, mangling passengers. Power lines along the tracks tumbled down in a glare of light that was followed by darkness punctuated only by the screams of trapped passengers.

At least one American was in the twisted wreckage—28-year-old William Scott of Colorado Springs, Colo., a student at a Tokyo university. His body was taken to a small Buddhist temple where priests chanted prayers and waved incense over American and Japanese victims alike.

Until the double tragedies struck, it had been a perfect weekend in Japan. Weather in most of the nation was crisp and clear, luring hundreds of thousands of Japanese to the mountains and seashores.

The attention of the nation has been riveted on West German President Heinrich Lübke, now visiting Emperor Hirohito as the first European head of state to tour Japan since World War II.

However, Japanese newspapers and television quickly focused on the mine disaster and, six hours later, added the new horror of the train wreck.

TELEVISION CAMERAS showed the anxious faces of Japanese scanning casualty lists, or watching rescue teams at work with cutting torches on the train wreckage or stumbling from the mine entrance with the twisted, blackened bodies of dead miners.

American navymen from the U.S. base at Yokosuka helped care for victims of the train wreck.

Confusion arose over the number of men killed in the mine, with officials declaring there was hope some

125 Safe as Jet Engine Tears Off

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—An engine was torn out of a jetliner with 125 persons aboard when it flew into buffeting Texas winds Saturday. Its pilot pulled it out of a sharp descent and made an emergency landing at an Air Force base here.

At least 17 persons—including four who were hospitalized—were injured as luggage, clothing and loose items tumbled on passengers. The plane plunged 6,000 feet in a few seconds.

"It felt like somebody cut an elevator cable," said Robert L. Monihan, a 43-year-old passenger from Ocean City, N.J., "I just went straight up. I was glued against the ceiling."

THE DC-8, en route from New York to Mexico City, had taken off from an unscheduled refueling stop at Houston, Tex., when it struck turbulent air and its inside starboard engine was ripped off.

Capt. Mel K. French of Huntington Station, Long Island, N.Y., flight captain, said the big jet ran into severe turbulence 45 miles south of Houston.

He said he did not know what caused the engine to be ripped off but that the turbulence was the worst he ever has encountered.

The jet had climbed to 20,000 feet. When it hit the turbulence, it plummeted to 14,000 feet in a few seconds.

Monihan, a real estate man, said he and two other passengers—one of them Mrs. Dorothy Griffith—were walking from the rear when the craft plunged.

SMALL luggage, clothing, pillows and other loose items clung to the ceiling. When the plane leveled off, they fell on the passengers.

French said he decided to turn back and head for Barksdale Air Force Base, about 200 miles northeast of Houston, because the base has crash equipment.

The flight to Barksdale was "smooth," he said.

"I've never been so scared in my life," Monihan said. "But there was no panic on the plane."

MONIHAN said Capt. French prepared the passengers for a crash landing, talking to them over the public address system in an effort to maintain calm.

Passengers held their heads between their knees. Women took off their shoes. The plane circled the air base for about 30 minutes while T-33 chase planes went up to be sure the landing gear worked.

As soon as the jet's wheels were extended, French announced it would be a normal landing.

Air Dead Identified

Names of two at-first unidentified victims of a fiery plane crash in Torrance Friday that killed four persons were revealed late Saturday night by Civil Aeronautics Board investigators.

Charred beyond recognition but identified through dental records were Linda Clay, 23, of 8371 Manitoba Ave., Playa del Rey, a United Air Lines stewardess, and David Shakelford, 27, of 648 Marine Ave., Manhattan Beach.

Torrance police previously had identified the pilot and co-owner of the twin-engine aircraft, Charles Vogler, 41, of 645 19th St., Manhattan Beach, a UAL pilot, and Charles Orrin Ransford, 25, of 2218 Manhattan Beach Blvd., Manhattan Beach, also a UAL employee.

Deviates' Penalties Conflict

(First in a series examining the problems of child-molesting.)

By WILLIAM JONES

As in the Tower of Babylon, confusion explodes from the many tongues spoken by educators, doctors, police and judges when they deal with one of society's most repulsive crimes.

The crime: child molesting.

The bewildering differences among officials in handling of the sex deviate has paved the way for many psychopaths to roam the communities freely.

HERE IS the scoreboard: The courts have been blasted for lenient treatment of the degenerates.

Parents are accused of withholding complaints of child-molesting crimes.

Police do not even keep a breakdown of these crimes in their annual reports which officially tabulate other crimes, such as auto theft.

Prosecutors are dismayed at the prospects of immature victims as witnesses. Psychiatrists are at odds with treatment of the offenders.

OUT OF THIS wilderness, one crusader, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, has exclaimed:

"We raise millions of dollars every year, and properly so, to combat cancer, heart disease and other diseases of the body, but as a nation we take almost no steps to cure the sick minds of those who prey upon innocent children."

Alarmed at the increase, Hoover has hammered away at the problem in bulletins to law enforcement officers and has alerted his offices throughout the nation. As a result—at the request and with the cooperation of local FBI agents—The Independent, Press-Telegram launched this study.

HOWEVER, the FBI cannot step into a child-molesting case unless the victim has been missing for more than 24 hours, this on the presumption the child has been taken across state lines. In most cases, the tots are violated in their neighborhoods and released.

24 Alarms Separate Them

MEN, WOMEN SHARE NEW DORMS AT LBSC

By BOB WILCOX
I, P.T. Education Editor

"A wonderful idea," says a sociologist.

"It teaches you to really know men," enthuses a coed.

"A real education in living," lauds a male resident.

But, says the mother of an appealing blonde grade-schooler:

"Never—and I repeat never—will I EVER let my daughter live in one of those."

The disagreement is over Long Beach State College's first "coeducational" dormitories where 450 men and women are living in separate wings under carefully controlled conditions.

The two privately owned residence halls were opened on Pacific Coast Highway about 1½ miles from campus this fall. They are the second "experiment" of their type in the state.

In each dorm the men and women share downstairs study and recreation areas, will soon splash happily in a common pool. They have a mass "dinner date" two meals a day in each dorm's cafeteria. All-dorm dances are common.

The place is guarded like the Bank of America. Eight resident adults oversee the operation. Twenty-four burglar alarms are at the ready.

"No-man's land" on the second and third floors of each coed wing actually, for fire reasons, connects with the male quarters. The "barrier" is a carefully rigged door.

It cannot be opened from the male side. There are no handles. On the coed side, it sets off an alarm reminiscent of wartime Britain.

"This door is never supposed to be opened," says Mrs. Olive Rankin, resident manager. But three times a maid opened it accidentally. Two other times the cause remained a deep mystery.

The other alarms control coed hours. The men come and go as they please. But the girls sign out, must report by 11 on week nights and 2 o'clock on weekends.

After these hours, the coed wings and the "common areas" are locked. A housemother waits an hour for a late-arriving girl, then phones her home.

Four L.B. People Are Living Because Yo-Yo Kept Yapping

An 18-month-old toy poodle, Yo-Yo, Saturday was credited with saving the lives of four members of a Long Beach family after a clogged heater vent spread deadly carbon monoxide gas through their home.

And Navy Chief Petty Officer James T. Harden, 36, of 2112 W. Spring St., says, "That little mutt is the only reason we are alive."

Harden said he was partially awakened by the dog Saturday morning. "I heard him yapping and barking. I was pretty loggy and everything was vague. He kept barking and I got to my feet."

"He kept running from my bed into the bathroom and into my daughter's room. I stumbled through the house and found my wife and son both lying on the bathroom floor."

Harden said he was nearly overcome by the gas. "But Yo-Yo kept barking and kept me awake. I dragged them out into the open air. Just as I was getting them out, my daughter staggered out of bed and collapsed in the hallway."

Harden managed to drag his wife Lucille, and two children into the open air, throw open the windows

Pregnancy Fear Led Mother to Try Killing Tots

By VINT MADER

Two attempts of a Marine Corps wife to kill her infant children and herself failed Saturday and brought her arrest on charges of attempted murder.

Sheriff's deputies theorized that a second try by Constance Joy Strong, 22, might have been successful, except that her 3-year-old daughter became ill after the mother fed her about 15 aspirins, and refused to take any more.

Mrs. Strong, of 1161 Via Wanda in the Carmelitos county housing project, later said she became afraid the little girl would not survive and called Lakewood sheriff's station for help.

THE TWO were sped to St. Helen's Hospital, Bellflower, in a squad car, along with 13-month-old William Arthur, who had swallowed about 70 aspirins and a number of sleeping pills.

Deputies who burst into the apartment about 10:20 a.m. were met with a strong odor of gas from the woman's earlier try to accomplish the deaths by asphyxiation.

Det. Sgt. George J. Cooper said she told him later she tried to kill the children because she has painful pregnancies and "wanted to spare my daughter from such suffering and my boy from seeing such suffering."

Currently four months advanced in another pregnancy, she told Cooper that besides the two children, who were described as attractive and healthy, she lost three other babies through miscarriages.

SHE SAID all five caused her great difficulty and added, "I just can't endure this pain any longer."

Sgt. Cooper said she called her doctor Friday and sought assistance in getting her husband home from Japan.

The husband, William, 26, a staff sergeant, already was en route home from Pearl Harbor aboard the attack transport USS Bexlar, due in San Diego Nov. 18.

Mrs. Strong reiterated to deputies her plea to have her husband's return hurried. Cooper said he transmitted the request to the Navy, which will have the Red Cross handle it.

The two children were

Veterans Step Off in Parade

The first of 175 units in the Long Beach Veteran's Day Parade will step off at 1 p.m. today from Ocean Boulevard and Alamitos Avenue.

Thirty musical groups, including the Sixth Army Band of San Francisco, will participate in the martial spectacular along with uniformed Shrine units of El Bokal Temple in Long Beach.

The top Army commander in the U.S., four-star General John K. Waters, commander of the Continental Army Command, will be grand marshal.

OTHER dignitaries participating in the salute to the more than 22 million veterans in the nation will include:

Navy Admirals T. F. Caldwell and W. H. Groverman; Coast Guard Admiral N. W. Sprow; National Guard Generals Charles O. Ott and Glenn C. Ames; and veterans' leaders Edmund M. Gulewicz, national commander of AMVETS; Mrs. George Monasterio, national president of AMVETS Auxiliary; Walter W. Thompson, state commander of the VFW and William K. Kreitz, state commander of the American Legion.

Fred Nessler, parade director, said that Long Beach is one of five cities in the U.S. designated by the Department of Defense and the Veteran's Administration to hold Veterans Day parades.

The parade will proceed west on Ocean Boulevard to Pine Avenue, north on Pine Avenue to Broadway and west on Broadway to Chestnut Avenue.

Tonight at 5:30 a banquet hosted by the City of Long Beach and the Long Beach United Veterans' Council, will be held at the Lafayette Hotel. Gen. Waters and Gulewicz will be speakers.

L.A.C. Says: Foreign Aid to 111 Countries

One of our readers suggested we print a list of the countries and amounts of foreign aid we have provided since the end of World War II. We wrote Congressman Craig Hosmer for the latest information. He sent us the breakdown as given in the Library of Congress reference service. It gives the data in a 27-page report.

The trouble is that it would take about three of my average-length columns to list the countries and amounts of money we have given away. It tells us aid has been given to 111 countries—many of which we never heard of because they did not exist a decade ago as separate nations.

The Library of Congress report starts off by pointing out that the $103 billion we have given away in 17 years has been administered by 37 different departments and agencies of the U.S. government. It gives us the impression that these 37 bureaucratic agencies have quite a job to pass out the money and to find new prospects. In addition to the $103 billion postwar aid programs, it shows another $49 billion we gave Russia, Britain and other allies during the war with Hitler and Japan. Thus, a total of over $152 billion of U.S. taxpayer money has been involved.

This writer just cannot visualize or understand how much this means. But a few examples give us an idea. One is that this $152 billion is just about half the federal national debt at this time. This means it is costing U.S. taxpayers around $4 billion a year in interest alone for this amount of foreign aid we have passed out. This is about equal to the amount the President insists we must provide for additional foreign aid in this fiscal year.

Most of this money went to Western Europe and Japan. The result has been a fabulous economic recovery and prosperity. But we continue to spend billions of dollars a year there in military programs which were supposed to be taken over by these countries when they had recovered their ability to do so. Now they have the greatest prosperity ever enjoyed by them. But there is no apparent desire or intent by them to assume their responsibility as long as we assume it for them.

There is a real battle in Congress to reduce the President's foreign-aid demands for this fiscal year. Congress may pass a measure this week calling for a small reduction to around $3.5 to $4 billion. But many legislators feel it is time to start major cutting of our military costs in Europe—and our continued aid to the 111 countries by whom we have come to be looked upon as a perpetual relief agency.

The supporters of continued large foreign-aid gifts say it is the only way to stop communism—and to assure strong allies throughout the world. Assuming they are right—the real point is that we cannot continue this program without endangering—or destroying—our own security and standard of living. Our own people are now entitled to a little relief. We have given of our money and products to an extent that endangers the value of our own money throughout the world.

We would like to list the countries and money we have given. Space just does not permit us to do so. That, however, is an indication of the world-wide philanthropy that has guided our actions over the past two decades. Like many individuals who have used their resources to help others, we will be condemned when we say we can no longer continue. But it is time to let others start taking care of some of their responsibilities. That is the basis for the fight in Congress to start cutting down on these gifts.—L.A.C.

Welfare Rolls Add 285,000 in Twelve Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of persons receiving federal-state public assistance payments increased by 285,000 during the year ended June 30, the Welfare Administration reported Saturday. The administration's bureau of Family Services said there were 6.8 million beneficiaries as the fiscal year ended.

Recent federal legislation and state action to extend the assistance programs to more needy persons accounted for a large part of the 4-percent increase, it was reported. Most of the increase occurred in the state programs of aid to families with dependent children—a net gain of 247,000, or 6.7 percent, to a total of 3,935,000.

The boy, Rusty, 13, first to collapse, said, "I got up feeling real bad and went into the bathroom. When I was coming out, mother came in... then I don't know what happened. I guess I just passed out. 'When I came too, Yo-Yo was on my chest licking my face and that woke me up.'"

THE DAUGHTER, Vickie Lynn, 15, said, "He's a wonderful dog! I heard a crash and got out of bed. I had a terrific headache. When I got into the hall, I couldn't balance and I fainted."

Harden said the family had given Yo-Yo to his wife for her birthday. "I guess it's the best birthday present we ever gave her," he said, "She said she is going to give him a steak for supper."

Suspend 2 in Probe of Phone Tap

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department confirmed Saturday that two officials who have acknowledged that the telephone wiring in Otto F. Otepka's office was rigged for eavesdropping will go on "administrative leave" Tuesday.

The leave will be indefinite, an official said, depending on the termination of an inquiry by the department into the incident.

A department source called it a "complicated and potentially serious matter" and said the department will "move as promptly as possible" in the inquiry. He declined to say when it would be completed.

The two officials who will go on leave Tuesday—Monday, Veterans Day, is a government holiday—are John F. Reilly, deputy assistant secretary of state for security, and Elmer Dewey Hill, chief of the division of technical services in the department's office of security.

THEY AND David I. Belisle, special assistant to Reilly, told the Senate internal security subcommittee that wires were connected to Otepka's telephone to permit eavesdropping on conversations in his office.

The three officials also said no actual interception of conversations took place, none was authorized and that the wiring was disconnected within 48 hours after a test of the reception showed it unworkable.

The subcommittee also made public excerpts from earlier secret testimony of the officials denying knowledge of the installation of any listening devices in Otepka's office.

Otepka, a veteran State Department security officer, was notified Tuesday of his dismissal on charges of unbecoming conduct. Among other things he had been accused of supplying the subcommittee with information from confidential employee loyalty files.

ALUMINUM MAGNATE

Harvey Grapples Robbers, Slugged

Leo Harvey, 78-year-old owner of the multimillion-dollar Harvey Aluminum Co., Torrance, his maid and a nurse were tied up by two bandits wearing stocking masks Saturday in Hollywood.

Harvey, police said, jumped out of his bed and grappled with one of the intruders but was clubbed to the floor with a gun or a piece of pipe.

The two men took $210 and drove off in Harvey's expensive automobile.

POLICE said the pair entered Harvey's 20-room home in Hollywood through the garage. They waked the maid, Elizabeth Ann Morris, 38, and asked her where the safe was. She told them there was no safe.

They forced her to take them to Harvey's room. They asked him the same question and received the same answer.

Harvey leaped from bed, grappled with one intruder and was clubbed to the floor. The nurse, Rose Amel, 50, was with Harvey's bedridden wife, Lena, 73.

POLICE said the robbers tied up Harvey, the maid and the nurse with bed sheets and fishing line, ransacked the house and took $200 from Harvey's wallet and $10 from his wife's room. Then they took the keys to his Lincoln Continental and drove off. They wore black clothes and rubber gloves.

Harvey struggled loose 45 minutes later and called police.

The aluminum company, founded by Harvey in 1914, has gross sales of about $76 million annually. It has branch plants at The Dalles, Ore., and Adrian, Mich., with one under construction at St. Croix, Virgin Islands.

L.B. Bike Riders in Final Tuneup for Monday's Big Jubilee Dashes

MAP SHOWS ROUTE FOR BICYCLE RACES MONDAY

Lovely girls on tandem bikes, little tots on tri-cycles, daredevils on unicycles and more than 100 head-game riders of conventional two-wheelers will compete Monday in unpleen categories of the Diamond Jubilee Bike Race sponsored by the Century Club.

Race officials said 175 persons had entered the race by Friday afternoon and there still was room for more. Most popular of the "specialty" events is the unicycle race with 14 entries. At least nine built-for-twos will kick off from the starting line in the tandem race.

While there may not be a fat-man's race—no cyclist yet has admitted to enough weight to qualify—most of the 22 race divisions will have entrants, officials said.

ENTERTAINMENT will begin with a parade down Ocean Boulevard at 10 a.m. with the first race scheduled at 10:30. Between-race features include Shrine motor-scooter exhibition riding, cross-country bike clubs, two Olympic racers in an exhibition dash and—as always—pretty girls. But the biggest entertainment of all, race planners predict, will be the tricycle race for 3-to-6-year-olds in a 100-foot dash.

Adult races will start at Loma Avenue and end at Linden Avenue. A few shorter races will run from Junipero to the Linden finish line.

VIRTUALLY every elementary and junior high school in the Long Beach area has entrants and youngsters have been getting their bikes oiled and shined at local bike dealers during the week.

Officers from the Long Beach Police Department will be at the starting lines to check for safety and licensing of the bicycles and judges at the finish lines will check for proper gearing on the two-wheelers.

DR. ORVILLE W. Cole, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said he expects the race to rival the "national pastime of Europe."

"When I was in Europe several years ago," Dr. Cole recalled, "at almost every town and village we were stopped because of a weekend bike race."

Pedal-off time is 10:30 a.m. Monday for the first heat and from there on, it's the first Ocean Boulevard Olympics.

Santa Fe Freight Derailed

MADERA (AP)—Train traffic was resumed Saturday over Santa Fe railway track torn up by derailment of 15 cars of a 103-car freight train.

Crews worked furiously through the day clearing the right of way and relaying track so the line could be returned to service. Rails had been ripped up and twisted along a quarter-mile stretch south of Madera at 3 a.m. The freight was en route from Los Angeles to Richmond.

Many cars toppled on their sides and piled atop one another as the train, reported making about 50 miles an hour, derailed. None of the train crew was hurt.

Sidney Rogers, superintendent of the Santa Fe's valley division, said the mishap was caused by a journal (axle) burning out on one of the cars, most of which were loaded with paper, canned goods and cereal. Rogers said damage would amount to at least $50,000.

Two Santa Fe passenger trains and one freight were rerouted over Southern Pacific tracks. Eight freight trains were delayed.

Big Brass Band for Big Brass, Adm. Koch, at Los Alamitos

By ANDY PARK

The Big Brass came to Los Alamitos Naval Air Station Saturday and he was greeted by the first big brass band in the Naval Air Reserve training station's history.

Rear Adm. George P. Koch, chief of Naval Air Reserve Training, conducted the annual military inspection of the Los Alamitos base and the more than 3,500 "weekend warriors" who train there.

The admiral unsheathed his sword and made a personal inspection of every officer and man in the Naval and Marine Corps detachments, presented four trophies, was guest of honor at a reception in the Officer's Club and made a turn of the floor at the All Hands Dance held in Hangar One at the air station.

NOT ONCE did he mention that he learned to fly as a second lieutenant in the Army.

And not once did the newly-formed Los Alamitos Naval Air Station military band hit a clinker.

Capt. William P. Tanner Jr., commanding officer of the air station, welcomed the admiral on behalf of the "citizen-sailors" in his command, and Koch returned the favor by telling the weekend warriors that they were "outstanding in every respect."

Admiral Koch announced that Los Alamitos had placed first in officer procurement and in net enlisted gain in the entire Naval Air Reserve Training Command.

"OSCARS" of the Naval Aviation were handed out to Helicopter Anti-Submarine Squadron 772 and Patrol Squadron 776. The Naval Aviation Safety Award and the Noel Davis Trophy were presented to the two squadrons.

The safety award recognizes "an outstanding safety record" and the Davis Trophy—named after a naval officer—test pilot who died on a transatlantic flight in 1927 was awarded for "efficiency in training, operations, administration and recruiting procurement."

The Willard I. Staples Trophy, recognizing superior accomplishment of enlisted personnel, was presented to Air Anti-Submarine Squadron VS-774.

Cmdr. Phillip A. Petersen, a San Diego school administrator in civilian life, accepted the award for his squadron.

Capt. R. Walter Cunningham, a Marine aviator recently selected to the astronaut program, participated in the review with his reserve attack squadron at the station.

ADM. KOCH made reference to the current controversy over land development near the air station in an interview with an Independent Press-Telegram newswoman: "We have no objection to a man developing his property as he sees fit," Koch said, "but we think this development should be compatible with the surrounding situation, in this instance, the air station."

"We are on record as stating that the Navy intends to stay here because of the area's most strategic location. We are trying to avoid situations where people buy homes in areas where the noise is so acute that it will interfere with their daily routine."

Asked if the 1,300-acre air station would ever be offered for civilian purchase, Adm. Koch said, "Before this land could be reverted to private ownership, it would first be offered to every federal government agency; then to every state agency; then to every county agency. If none of them wanted it, the Navy would then expect a fair market price for the land."

Adm. Koch called the prospect of civilian development of the land "remote."

Chamber Forum on Wednesday at State College

The Long Beach Community Forum will be held at 7:15 a.m. Wednesday in the Long Beach State College cafeteria with the breakfast marking Diamond Jubilee Education Day.

Dr. David L. Bryant, dean of administration at State, will speak on "The Role of the College in the Community," according to Ray Tarrant, program chairman, for the Chamber of Commerce sponsored forum.

MIXED REACTION

Men, Women Share New Dorms

Governing boards for each dorm have set up an elaborate series of special regulations. Girls in short shorts, bathing suits, hair curlers or bare feet are banned from the downstairs. "I think the whole idea makes us dress a little better," says one.

Men must wear shirts. "Goatees" are prohibited. A democratic vote controls the common television set. As the wings face each other, closing of shutters is emphasized.

Sadly, the bold plan got off to a rocky start. At the first dorm dance, the sexes just glared at each other across the room. "But things are much better now," reports Ernie Morrison, social chairman.

"I think the whole thing's a good idea," says coed Rita Sjostrand, 20, of San Bernardino. "When you date someone you just get to know them superficially. This gives you the full picture."

A sociologist, Dr. William Hartman of LBSC, states: "Under proper supervision, it should be encouraged. If we ever get the sexes together in meaningful cooperation, it will mean less divorce."

Frank Bowman, the college's housing coordinator, is optimistic. "I think we'll have both dorms filled next semester." But on security measures he is philosophical.

What if, for instance, a coed should leave during the daytime before the signing out starts and not come back until the next day?

"At no college—anywhere and at any time," he laments, "was there ever a foolproof system."

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Soviets' Nuclear Aims Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet scientists probably are seeking a breakthrough in the field of "anti-matter" which theoretically could lead to a bomb with explosive power thousands of times mightier than today's most formidable weapons.

This is among other suggestions advanced Saturday in a review of "Soviet nuclear strategy," prepared by the center for strategic studies at Georgetown University.

Director of the center is retired Adm. Arleigh Burke, former chief of naval operations. The Soviet strategy study was made by a 17-man panel of military men, scientists, university faculty members and writers.

Burke, in talking to newsmen, said: "One thing for certain is that the aggressive Soviets have neither changed their views nor their intention to use nuclear weapons. . . . If they ever think the use of nuclear weapons will permit them to dominate the world, they will use them."

Petition by 'Slapping Judge'

KASSON, Minn. (AP)—Dodge County Probate Judge L. A. Paulsruide, who is charged with assault for allegedly slapping an 11-year-old girl, has filed a petition requesting a change of venue to the nearest salaried judge.

The nearest salaried judge would be Paulsruide himself. He acknowledged Saturday that he can't try himself. He said he was "holding court in the streets" when the slapping incident occurred.

PAULSRUIDE

Slaying of Child Probed

HARDIN, Mont. (AP)—Big Horn County authorities said Saturday night they are questioning a young man in the sex slaying of a 5-year-old girl.

Authorities said Robert Wilson, county attorney, took the man to Billings for questioning. Apparently, Wilson decided to conduct the questioning in Billings because of high local feeling. Billings is 50 miles west of Hardin, a small southeastern Montana ranching and farming center. The slain girl, Signe Stormy Timberman, was abducted from her home late Friday.

Spy Sentenced

BERLIN (AP)—A 24-year-old American soldier, admitting that he copied military secrets and tried to defect with them to Communist East Germany, was sentenced by a court martial Saturday to five years at hard labor.

The accused man was Sp. 5 Jerry Caldwell, of Kansas City, Kan., who worked in the office of the U.S. Commandant in Berlin, Maj. Gen. James Polk.

Mexico Probes American's Death

TIJUANA (AP)—An international search by Mexican authorities and the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation Saturday was seeking a Morro Bay, Calif., couple for questioning in the death of an American youth found dead on Rosarito Beach. The victim, Kenneth Steed, 21, reportedly worked at a hospital in Morro Bay near San Luis Obispo. An autopsy indicated he died of head injuries suffered in a beating.

Carlos Cameros, head of the state judicial police at Rosarito Beach, said Francis N. Macri, 22, and his wife, Beverly, 21, of Morro Bay were wanted for further questioning.

Allies for Viet Regime

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Two hundred armed rebels of the formerly outlawed Social Democratic Party have rallied to the new revolutionary government with all their weapons, the government announced Saturday night.

Buddhist leaders called Saturday for support of the new regime by the nation's Buddhist millions. A once powerful religious sect that Diem crushed, the Cao Dai, was reported planning to give its backing and reorganized a private army of 2,000 to 3,000 men.

of those unaccounted for had found their way to safety in the maze of tunnels underground.

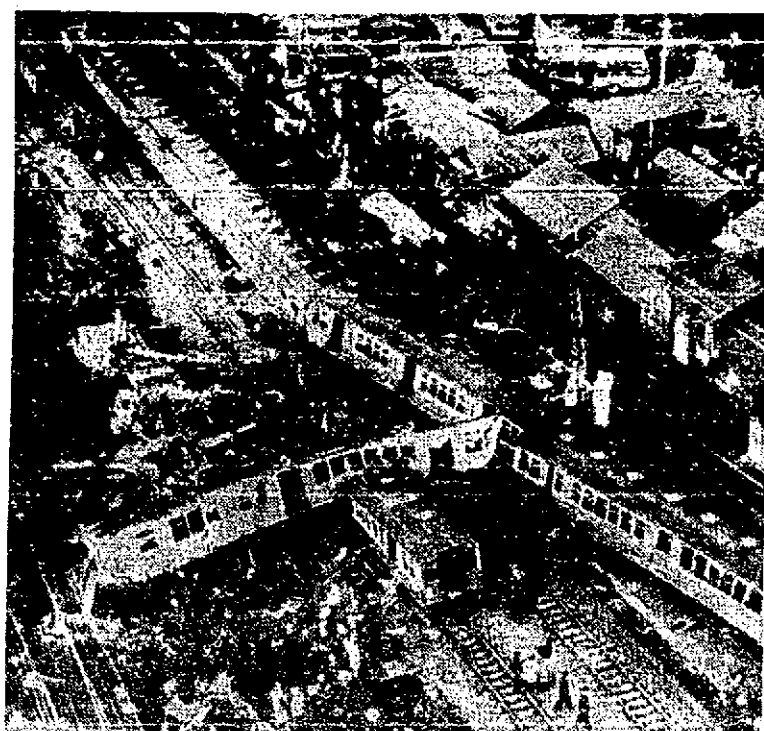

The mine blast, which spread destruction both above and below ground at the big modern Mitsui Miike Colliery, cast a pall of mourning over the prosperous port city of Omura, 600 miles from Tokyo.

Thousands of persons—rescue workers, many of them half naked and themselves bruised and scratched from their labors, families and survivors—turned the mine area into a bedlam.

It was the worst Japanese mine accident since World War II. Seventy-one persons died in a fire-swept mine in Fukuoka, in 1961. The worst in Japan's history killed 687 in 1914.

The dead miners and those imprisoned below the surface were in a long, slightly slanting gallery extending 2,400 feet from the mine mouth.

The explosion, which smashed buildings above ground, sent hundreds of tons of earth cascading down, walling off one of the three exits. Lethal coal gas choked the gallery. The blast cut off the power, plunging the mine into darkness through which some of the injured crawled and fumbled their way to transferred to Los Angeles County General Hospital children's division, where they were reported in "good condition" Saturday night.

SGT. COOPER said they are being held in protective custody and would be moved to MacLaren Hall juvenile facility when sufficiently recovered.

Mrs. Strong was held briefly in the county hospital jail ward and booked into the sheriff's central jail. Cooper said she had taken only a small number of pills and suffered few ill effects.

Found in the two-story, two-bedroom apartment were three letters written by her. One was to a neighbor and the others to her husband.

Cooper said the letters to Sgt. Strong told of her difficulties in childbearing and her intent to spare the children "suffering." The letter to the neighbor was written on the assumption that it would be found when the three of them were dead and gave instructions for calling deputies and warning them that inflammable gas was present.

Cooper said the woman told him she committed herself voluntarily to Long Beach's Memorial Hospital as a psychiatric patient for 14 days last summer after an attempt to leap out of a cocktail bar window. Her husband came home on leave from Japan at that time.

Dr. Robert H. Barter, professor of OB-GYN at George Washington University, will discuss emotional factors in the practice of gynecology, complications involving the neck of the womb and a new technique of performing a hysterectomy.

Dr. Keith C. White of Long Beach is program chairman.

ELAINE WHITELAW Luncheon Speaker

Mothers Set March of Dimes Lunch

Elaine Whitelaw, national director of women's activities for the March of Dimes, will be the speaker at the kick-off luncheon for the Mothers March to be held at noon Wednesday at the Edgewater Inn.

Miss Whitelaw is currently working in New York with Helen Hayes, national chairman of women's activities, in supervising the enlarged corps of volunteers during the annual March of Dimes and is active in the group's program of patient aid in the field of birth defects and arthritis.

Nearly 100 mothers — district Mothers March captains in Long Beach, Lakewood and Signal Hill, will attend the luncheon, according to Mrs. Albert Smith, local Mothers March chairman.

Mrs. Walter George, president of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers, will deliver the opening message.

Hilda Rector, a local mother of three young children and an arthritis patient being aided by the March of Dimes, will be introduced as the Long Beach March of Dimes Mother of the Year.

Birch Group Growing in California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—He doesn't cite specific figures, but former Congressman John Rousselot says the John Birch Society is growing rapidly in California.

Rousselot, now western district governor of the conservative group, said its California membership has doubled this year and its San Francisco roster is now six times what it was last June.

A newspaper ad brought 500 responses and an announced number of new Birch members in San Francisco, he said.

Civil Rights Topic at Church Forum

Dr. Horace Rains, vice chairman of the Long Beach Human Relations Committee, will speak on Civil Rights at a forum and coffee hour Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Church, 5450 Atherton St. The event is one of several taking place this week in commemoration of the church's 50th anniversary in Long Beach and is open to the public.

Dr. Rains is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, past president of the local NAACP and served as head of the United Rights committee. He is president-elect of the Tuberculosis and Health Association of Long Beach.

L.A. County Recruits Early for Hospitals

Intense competition among the nation's hospitals in recruiting resident physicians and interns has caused Los Angeles County to start now in signing up 24 new staff members for next fiscal year. Eleven of the new residents and interns will join the staff before the budget for that year of Harbor General Hospital, is adopted. Torrance. The other 13 will week agreed they would provide the additional places at budget time.

Hollinger said the additional residents and interns are required to meet increased admissions to the two hospitals. Largest increase, 10 resident physicians, will be at General Hospital's psychiatry department.

At Harbor General Hospital, four of the nine residents to be added are to reinstate positions deleted by the supervisors in this year's budget trimming. The other five are to meet an increased patient load, Hollinger said.

GROUPS QUESTIONED

Cultural Survey of City Started

Questionnaires aimed at obtaining a cultural profile of the city are in the mails this week.

The questionnaire, prepared by the Municipal Arts Committee, is being sent to all cultural groups in the city, seeks information which will make it possible to set a program for strengthening the cultural life of the city, said Mrs. Herman H. Ridder, chairman of the committee.

Questions covered include membership, purpose, principal activities during the past year, how financed, coordination with other groups. Comment on what the principal needs are for strengthening the city's cultural program is sought.

THE SURVEY is the first undertaken, said Mrs. Ridder and the information is needed in order to establish a citywide program which best will fill the needs of the various organizations.

Mrs. Ridder said it is hoped that information obtained will be useful in furthering the cultural center and art museum projects and information obtained can be used to fit plans for these projects into the programs and requirements of the people.

Through unification of the cultural groups in the city—some estimates place their number at about 300—Mrs. Ridder said, the city cultural life will be strengthened and a program can be carried which will make Long Beach a cultural center.

QUESTIONNAIRES have been sent organizations on a list compiled by the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Ridder urged those groups who may not have received a questionnaire to call The Independent, Press-Telegram operator and give the name and address to which questionnaires should be sent. The operator will forward the information to the Municipal Arts Committee.

UROC Cheers Greet Name of Goldwater

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

LOS ANGELES (AP) — 600 delegates today. UROC, which now claims 5,000 members, grew out of a disension within the California Republican Assembly. It was formed in April by a CRA wing which failed in an attempt to gain control of the volunteer party movement.

The UROC draft resolutions agree with the official state GOP position in general criticism of Democratic policies in Washington and Sacramento. They disagree on such questions as U.S. participation in the United Nations and in opposition to civil rights measures.

A MEASURE sponsored by the Point Loma unit opposes discrimination but asserts that President Kennedy's civil rights bill threatens to violate individual rights. Another resolution, submitted by the Serra Mesa unit, urges repeal of the Rumford Act, which prohibits discrimination in most private housing in California.

Other resolutions accuse Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk of "indifference" toward crime. The Saratoga unit asked delegates to denounce Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh's Southeast Asia tour for the State Department, calling him "an arrogant, power-hungry political boss."

A proposal that the United States withdraw from the United Nations and opposition to civil rights legislation highlight the 72 resolutions that will be considered by the political boss.

There was a shout of approval as well on referral to committee of another resolution taken as a slap at Chief Justice Earl Warren's nonjudicial background.

The measure calls for a constitutional amendment to bar appointment of anyone to the Supreme Court without prior experience on the bench. The former California governor, a frequent target of right-wing groups, is not named specifically.

Rafferty Blasts Racists' 'Gimmick' Use of Schools

By SHERM WILLIAMS

Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, charged in Long Beach Saturday night that schools are being used as "gimmicks" in the effort to end de facto segregation in the state.

In a blistering speech before the California Council for Adult Education in the Edgewater Marina Inn, Dr. Rafferty said, "There is a trend toward using schools to solve problems which really have nothing to do with the schools."

"The tendency," he said, "is to use the schools as a gimmick rather than as the long-range means of solving the problem."

RAFFERTY also decried "the absence of any trend in the state toward smaller class sizes in elementary schools," and what he termed use of "the sordid game of politics" in spelling out educational policy.

In de facto segregation, Dr. Rafferty said, "the schools themselves are not at fault. It is a neighborhood problem caused by the fact that neighborhoods since the war have become increasingly segregated because of the refusal of certain Americans to sell and to rent and to lease property to certain other Americans."

"AS A RESULT," he said, "the neighborhoods have become all black or all white and the schools, as they always do, reflect the makeup of the neighborhood they were created to serve."

"I suggest," Rafferty said, "that the artificial bussing of pupils from one point of a great city to another across crowded freeways and industrial areas is not the best way to solve this problem."

"I say that what we really need to do is to have the schools teach the American principles of tolerance and equal opportunity, which alone can defeat this tremendous problem of de facto segregation."

SWITCHING to politics, he said, "There is no question but what desirable education legislation in the legislature, designed to help solve the dropout problem has been coldly and cynically meddled with by high figures in our state government."

"The legislative leaders of both the Assembly and the Senate have played politics with education bills during this past year in order to gain temporary personal or political advantages," he said.

"THIS SORT of thing," Rafferty said, "is just no good. Education should be above the sordid game of politics." Turning to the sizes of classes in elementary schools and lack of a trend toward smaller classes, he said, "We will cut the high school dropout rate proportionately if we can improve the reading ratio, and the principal reason why our children don't learn to read very well in the elementary schools is because California is in 45th place in the nation in its class size."

Rafferty based his talk on "seven good trends in education in California and five bad trends."

The good trends he noted were:

— "The trend away from the life-adjustment philosophy of progressive education."

— "The trend toward multiple choice of textbooks by local districts."

— "The trend toward more emphasis on subject matter and less emphasis on methodology in teacher training."

— "The trend toward foreign language instruction in all California elementary schools."

— "The trend toward making it possible to build new schools for less money."

— "The tendency for more and more lay people to be interested in what is going on in schools."

— "A trend toward increasing recognition of adult education."

The bad trends, he said, were these:

— "The withdrawal of the state from financing public education."

— "Increase of state control over local education."

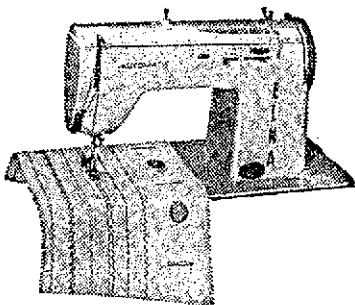

— "Using schools as gimmicks in efforts to end de facto segregation."

— "Lack of a trend toward smaller class sizes in elementary schools."

The Southern Section of the California Council for Adult Education opened a series of conferences in Edgewater Marina Inn Friday. They will continue through today.

MASSACHUSETTS OFFICIALS FOOLED

State Hospital's 'Psychiatrist' Held for Mental Observation

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI)—A man accused of posing as a psychiatrist at a state mental hospital for nine months was committed today for mental observation. Authorities also claimed he is a bigamist.

Harold E. MacMillan, Jr., 33, who allegedly passed himself off as a psychiatrist at Worcester State Hospital as Dr. William M. Blackwell of Fargo, N.D., was arraigned on a charge of practicing medicine illegally. He did not enter a plea in central district court.

HAROLD E. MacMILLAN

was a companion of the real a resident in training who Dr. Blackwell at Bowdoin, lived at the hospital, worked wrote to the school and asked well with other staff psychia- why he hadn't been told there trists. His knowledge of psy- was a fellow Bowdoin gradu- chiatry and medicine never ate in the area. was doubted, Nelson said.

SCHOOL officials checked their records and found that Blackwell was in Fargo, N.D. State police were notified and an investigation began.

MacMillan, who reportedly served as a jet pilot in the Air Force, went to high school and a junior college in Portland, Maine, and Bowdoin. A strapping 6-foot-4, 235 pounds, MacMillan also studied law at Drake University law school and Boston University school of law.

"WE REALLY don't know who this man is," Nelson said. "It would appear that this man has taken the other man's name and history."

Dr. Blackwell, an X-ray specialist in Fargo who is the same age as the alleged impostor, said he knew MacMillan.

MacMillan said he was a graduate of Bowdoin and Tufts, the same schools Blackwell attended, in applying for the state hospital job, according to hospital officials.

MacMILLAN was sent to Bridgewater State Hospital to undergo 35 days of mental observation. Officials said they learned he has been married three times and still has two wives.

Dr. Richard W. Nelson, assistant administrator at Worcester State Hospital, said MacMillan had been hired as a staff psychiatrist after his credentials checked out.

A real Dr. Blackwell does exist in North Dakota.

MacMillan was arrested Friday when he returned home from Europe following an extensive European honeymoon with his new bride, the former Carol G. Bengtsson of Worcester, a registered nurse at the hospital.

MacMillan's father arrived here Saturday from Portland, Maine, with Geneva MacMillan, the legal wife of Harold Jr.

HAROLD MacMILLAN Sr. said his son and Geneva, who have a three-year-old daughter, were married legally for the first time only last February. They previously had been married illegally because a prior marriage to Priscilla MacMillan of Des Moines, Iowa, had not been dissolved, according to the elder MacMillan.

After Priscilla obtained a divorce, MacMillan and Geneva went through another wedding ceremony, the elder MacMillan said.

The beginning of the end for the alleged impostor came when an alumnus of Bowdoin College read a wedding notice involving "Dr. Blackwell" and Miss Bengtsson in a local newspaper. The alumnus, who

Stay Uncommitted,
Nixon Urges GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon is reestablishing contacts with Republicans in all sections of the country and urging them to withhold 1964 presidential nomination commitments.

The former vice president, who lost the presidency by a hairline margin in 1960, is described by associates as spreading the doctrine that it is too early to tell what is going to happen in the nomination scramble.

In his conversations with Republican leaders, Nixon has hewed to the line that he is not a candidate himself and does not foresee any likelihood that he will be injected into the contest.

BUT HE has made it clear he is less than enthusiastic about either New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who had formally entered his name, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who is expected to do so later.

His theme has been that time may bring forward a candidate more acceptable to middle-of-the-road Republicans and one with a better chance of being elected. Thus far he hasn't mentioned any names.

One party leader familiar with the situation said he credits Nixon with sincerity in his declarations on non-candidacy.

"I think he is trying to preserve his contacts with the party to be in a position where he can have some influence on the kind of platform we adopt and the kind of candidate we nominate," this leader said. "But, like anyone else, if the nomination were offered him he would take it."

Another party leader, who, unlike his colleague, opposes Goldwater, voiced the opinion that as long as Rockefeller stays in the contest it will be difficult to develop any strength for a third runner.

His conclusion is that those who don't want either Goldwater or Rockefeller can't really get moving until after the March 10 New Hampshire primary.

A POOR showing by the governor in that primary, he feels, would be certain to spark an effort by GOP leaders in the big industrial states to pool their strength behind a candidate to stop Goldwater.

On the other hand, he thinks that if Rockefeller either wins the primary or makes it a close race, there will be little prospect of organizing any such movement. Rockefeller, who has proved he can be stubborn about such things, has said repeatedly he is in the nomination contest to stay. He concedes he is an underdog now.

Goldwater's friends hope they can get the senator to put on the kind of curb-hopping, handshaking campaign Rockefeller has begun with two days spent in New Hampshire this week. But they don't have any commitments from him yet beyond his informal approval for the opening of headquarters in the state.

"Most serious Complaints about payment of insurance claims were made by people who had not insured their homes thru local, established agents"

says Legislative Investigating Committee.

The responsible performance came from those companies represented by independent agents, said the Committee of the Texas House of Representatives in its Official Report of loss adjustments made in the wake of Hurricane Carla. Here are some actual quotations from that Official Report:

"Consistently those policyholders who were represented by local facilities and agents received better treatment and service than those who were not.

"The most serious complaints heard by the Committee were told by those witnesses who did not have the services of an insurance agent with whom they were personally acquainted. Many were uncertain whom to contact about their loss, stating their insurance . . . had been bought by mail.

"The persons most confused and dissatisfied were those . . . without service of a local agent."

How to Protect Yourself

When your home, car or business is damaged, will you have an independent agent who made sure you had the right kind of insurance with the right kind of company in the first place, and who will make sure you are paid promptly and fairly? You will if you insure your home, car or business through a man who displays the "Big I" seal. The Big Difference in insurance is the continuing personal attention of an independent agent.

The week of November 10-16 is Protection Week, a good time to get a free check-up on your insurance from your independent insurance agent who is a member of the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Long Beach.

when the lust of the pervert has been satisfied.

Despite this, the FBI since 1956 has flooded the nation's elementary schools with more than 20 million "coloring sketch" warnings—1.7 million in Los Angeles and more than 100,000 in the Long Beach area. There is no charge for the little picture and rules.

OUTSIDE of this, the preventative program against child molesting is in the throes of the Babylonian confusion.

Assistant Superintendent George Geiger of Long Beach elementary schools told The L.P.T. one local committee studying the problem questioned whether children should be given stern warnings about strangers.

The warning against strangers, according to a state research committee, "may be futile . . . it may also have harmful effects on the social and emotional lives of some children by creating vague fears and a sense of alienation and estrangement from people."

LONG BEACH Detective Sgt. Robert L. Itson of the felony-morals detail said in many cases "it's not the stranger, anyhow, but a relative, friend or neighbor—even the father."

Police Lt. M. Z. Wishon said the preventative program is hampered by the age of the children.

"Many of them," he flatly said, "just don't know the difference between right or wrong." Statistics point out that many children are willing participants in the sexual violations.

MOST parents and courts are not helping, the two officers add.

"It's my belief that for every child-molesting case reported by the parents," said Sgt. Itson, "five other cases go unreported."

Speaking of the defendant in court, Lt. Wishon said, "Nobody is a criminal now days. He is sick. He wants the judge to find him to be nuts. He is sent to a medical center and then released."

"Hardly a day passes," J. Edgar Hoover has said, "that a serious crime is not committed somewhere by a degenerate who, in the past, has been convicted over and over again for similar crimes."

CITY Prosecutor James Starr points out the difficulties with small children on the witness stand. In one recent case, the child-molester went free in court when a young girl burst into uncontrollable tears and could not testify.

Though a child-molester under California law can be imprisoned on a felony conviction from one year to life, he generally is charged with a misdemeanor as a vagrant because of the unreliability of the witness. The maximum penalty for a vagrant annoying or molesting a child: six months imprisonment and a $500 fine.

ONE LOCAL court case underscores the delicate concern of the prosecutors and courts with child-molesting.

March 29, 1950—Charges were dropped against a 20-year-old student after four witnesses one-by-one took witness stand to testify he was at a different location when the alleged child-molesting took place. The complainant, a 13-year-old girl, gave conflicting stories in her testimony.

But by the time he appeared in court, the young man's reputation in the community already had been blackened.

BUT EVEN if the right person is identified, convicted and sent to a medical institution for treatment, the problem does not cease.

One psychiatrist said, "Use of hormones, frontal lobotomy (severing of a brain nerve governing forethought), electrical shock and similar treatments are not producing permanently beneficial results."

NEXT: Trails of the molester.

Revision of L.B.'s Fire Code Nears Final Council Approval

ARCHITECTS SKETCH OF ALAMITOS BAY YACHT CLUB

TO BE READY BY NEXT MAY

New Clubhouse of Yacht Club to Display 19th Century Designs

A $125,000 clubhouse reminiscent of some of Long Beach's earliest shoreline buildings will be constructed by Alamos Bay Yacht Club early next year at the east end of bay peninsula, adjacent to the new Marina Basin 5. Plans for the structure have been approved by the City Council, along with $50,000 in site improvements also to be financed by the club.

Club officers said they hope to begin construction in January and move into the building not later than May. They will then abandon and clear away the old clubhouse at Bay Shore Drive and Ocean Blvd. That property will be converted to public beach use.

THE PROPOSED new building was described by its architect, Charles Kober, a former commodore of the club, as a "contemporization" of a clubhouse design dating back to the 19th century, with overtones of Southern Colonial. Rising two stories high, it is flanked by broad porches and topped by a cupola penthouse with a "widow's walk" for observing boats in the bay.

The social room, lounge, kitchen and other facilities will be used by members of the Leeway Sailing Club, a youth affiliate, as well as the yacht club members.

The club has been granted a long-term lease for a 2.35-acre city-owned site with access to the marina. Under the lease terms, the club was obligated to spend a minimum of $100,000 for building improvements.

249-Page Draft Has Panel's OK

By GEORGE WEEKS

A comprehensive revision of the Long Beach Fire Prevention Code, the first since 1947, is on its way to becoming law.

The 249-page draft submitted by Fire Chief Leonard V. Foster was approved last week by the City Council's Ordinance Committee and will go before the full council Tuesday.

Despite its length, it will have little or no effect on most property owners, Chief Foster said.

But the rewriting jobs does bring up to date the control of hazardous materials, processes and occupancies, many of them developed since 1947. The new code is patterned after recommendations of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the California Fire Chiefs' Association.

BESIDES stricter regulations over special hazards, it removes a few obsolete provisions.

One of the latter is a requirement that a photographer obtain a city permit before taking a flash-powder picture indoors. Since this technique is no longer used except in old movies, it is deleted from the code.

On the side of stringent protection, the new ordinance provides more detailed coverage of such establishments and materials as tire rebuilding plants, bowling alleys and pin refinishing rooms, junk yards and waste-materials handling plants, cellulose nitrate motion picture film, combustible fibers, bulk oxygen systems, grain elevators, airports and heliports, fruit-ripening processes, fumigation and insecticidal fogging, processing of hazardous chemicals, lumber yards and woodworking shops.

ONE NEW SECTION applying to places of assembly will "make it possible to control crowds, keep exits open and prescribe definite rules for the use of open-flame devices," Chief Foster said.

Another introduces more modern controls for the maintenance of fire extinguishers in buildings.

Seven other Southern California cities have already adopted essentially the same code, with minor changes to fit their specific needs, Foster reported.

Setting Up Coin-Laundry in Russia Offers a Real Challenge to Santa Anan

By JACK BALDWIN and KEN KNIGHT

How to keep glued-together Russian garments from coming apart at the seams is only one of many problems faced by a Santa Ana technician setting up the first do-it-yourself dry cleaning establishment in Moscow.

Faced with this, and a dozen or more other problems, is C. D. Baxstresser, 37-year-old mechanic-turned-salesman for a Los Angeles manufacturing firm.

Not the least of Baxstresser's problems is that he can't speak Russian. In spite of this, he was selected to make the installation of the pilot plant in the Russian capital because of his 15 years experience in the dry cleaning industry.

Another problem faced by the dry cleaning expert is how to convince a Russian — who can't understand English any better than Baxstresser can understand Russian — that customers should not snip off all the buttons before putting the garments into the machines for cleaning.

Baxstresser and a fellow American, Fred Huber of La Crescenta, battled with the Russian commissars on two other issues — winning one and yielding on another.

THE RUSSIANS, accustomed to few luxuries, wanted only hard wooden benches for customers to sit on while waiting for their clothing being cleaned. The Americans insisted on upholstered chairs. Chairs it is to be.

However, the Americans lost to a long-standing Russian policy of cash in advance. Mrs. Moscow Housewife will have to plunk down her two rubles ahead of time for clothes left for cleaning by the company.

Another problem was with the counter girls who will man the conventional dry cleaning plant in conjunction with the coin-operated machines. The girls wanted to make out a slip for each garment instead of listing all of a customer's clothing on a single slip. The Americans won.

Baxstresser described some of his problems to his wife, Alice, and three children who remained behind at the family home, 13291 Malena Dr., in tape recordings he mailed to the U.S.

"I am very disillusioned by Russia. While Moscow is beautiful, conditions are bad. The people have nothing at all. The women all look like Mrs. Khrushchev," according to Baxstresser's recording.

Baxstresser may have been taking a verbal swipe at Mrs. K. because she is the main reason he is in Russia.

The premier's wife was impressed with coin-operated dry cleaning establishments she saw in New York during a visit to the United States in 1959. Dry cleaning facilities in Russia are so poor that many of the big-wigs — who can afford it — have their clothing cleaned in Helsinki, Finland.

THE RUSSIANS have become more conscious of personal cleanliness since World War II and have been expanding their dry cleaning and laundry facilities. The pilot plant which Baxstresser is setting up is the first of many the firm of Romaine and Associates hope to sell to the Russians.

Last year the firm sold and installed 28 coin-operated washing machines.

"The customers are lined up like slot machine players at Las Vegas," Baxstresser said.

He predicts the same thing will happen to the dry cleaning unit, which will also include 24 self-service laundry machines, plus dryers.

While waiting for their clothes to tumble dry, Russian housewives can shampoo their hair and dry it under two electric dryers.

Low cost of service offered by the new rubles-activated machines will be welcomed by budget-conscious wives and mothers.

The average worker earns about 4.1 rubles a day — or about $4.55 in American money. It costs a Russian worker a half-day's wages to have a caviar-stained suit dry cleaned. The machines now being installed will handle about 6.6 pounds a machine, or two to three suits, for two rubles.

In the event word doesn't get around the Soviet capital that the new plant is open for business, the American backers have erected an 80-by-4-foot bright neon sign on the front of the building.

SALESMAN C. D. BAXSTRESSER Blames Mrs. Khrushchev

A Los Angeles sign company twisted the hot glass tubing to read "Keeemeechesdaya Cheestka Samo-obsluzhevanaya," and "Steerka Samo-obsluzhevanaya." (No wonder the sign is 80 feet long!) Translated, the sign reads: "Self Service Dry Cleaning and Self Service Laundry."

THE AMERICAN-BUILT machines will be demonstrated for two-weeks before going into service. Technicians from throughout the Soviet Union are being brought to Moscow to inspect the mechanical wonders.

When Baxstresser was recruited for the job, the family discussed whether Mrs. Baxstresser should accompany her husband. They took one look at the $1,500 air fare and decided against it.

Mrs. Baxstresser keeps her husband informed of local events by mail. Letters cost 50 cents a half ounce. The last one cost $1.50.

"At this rate if he doesn't get back pretty soon, I just might as well have made the trip," she said.

BEACH COMBING
with Malcolm Epley

REMARKABLE response followed a request here for World War II ration books to be used in a Franklin Junior High School History class.

They've got so many ration books out there they are ready for another war.

Barbara Shira, the teacher who asked me to ask for the books, is deeply grateful. She says she not only got ration books and stamps, but a lot of other wartime mementoes that will help her students to understand what civilian living was like during the big fight.

It was amazing that so many people had kept the old ration materials, but Barbara was also surprised at how much they had forgotten about the war days. Many called her on the telephone but they were hazy about how rationing worked and other details of the early 'forties period.

MEMORY can be pretty tricky when reaching back 20 years or so.

Barbara wondered if many people just chose to forget what happened in an interesting but painful period of their lives.

Recently, a group here got into a discussion of Pearl Harbor Day. Oddly enough, a couple of them could not remember just what they were doing when they first heard of the bombing of the U.S. Fleet that touched off the war. Others recalled in exact detail where they were and what they were doing when they got the sensational news.

I've always supposed anyone who was an adult on Dec. 7, 1941, would remember that one. My memory can be pretty fuzzy at times, but on that 22-year-ago-experience, everything is clear and sharp.

THOSE Sacramento people who wanted to camp in Long Beach are going to do it.

Helen Collins of the Camp Fire Girls organization made the arrangements so the visitors, here for a workshop on technical writing at City College, could rough it at the Camp Fire Girls Camp Suanga at 67th and the Flood Control, North Long Beach.

Camp Suanga has been a great outing place for the Camp Fire Girls, but its future is doubtful. It's in the way of some freeway and highway development and will probably be wiped out in a few years.

Which brings up a question: When are we going to see progress on the Eldorado Park Day camping area? It's in the plans but hasn't been developed.

It's important to keep some outing areas — for camping — for the use of youngsters of the community, right here for convenient use.

WELL, you can't say people aren't hospitable around here.

Henry Hogan was enjoying a before-breakfast walk the other day, and on passing an entrance to an alley near the beach observed a man in the alley beckoning to a bewhiskered passerby. "Whiskers" went into the alley and was immediately offered a drink from what looked like a wine bottle. As Hogan was pondering such generosity he heard a call and realized that he, too, was being invited into the alley for a nip.

He declined but went his way, wandering. Back at home, he looked in the mirror.

"What I saw didn't look like the sort of person who would indulge in wine-bibbing in an alley," he said, recounting the incident. "Why do you suppose he accosted me in that fashion? Could it be that we're all huns under the skin?"

Could be, Henry, don't worry about it. I've noticed that the grape, whatever else may be said about it, tends to spark generosity in some users. In fact, I've known people who were belligerently generous when slightly ill. Refuse to take a drink with them and they want to fight.

More than a score of experts from industry, government and education will participate in a workshop, "The World of Technical Writers," Friday and Saturday at the Business and Technology Division of Long Beach City College, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Hwy.

A dozen concurrent seminars on various aspects of technical writing will start at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Friday and at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Exhibits and closed circuit television also will be featured.

Among the industry speakers will be Dwight E. Berry, technical director of the Titan missile program for the Space Technology Laboratories; Ralph DePaul, director of the Aero Geo Astro Corp.; John Sykes, training supervisor, Douglas Aircraft Co.; Ken Paden, supervisor of planning and requirements, North American Aviation; John Fawcett, supervisor of technical publications, Marquardt Co.

Several technical writers, educators and newspaper representatives also will speak.

L.B. Teen-Ager Begins Career as Record Artist

Pegi Boucher, a 15-year-old Long Beach mezzosoprano—who also is regarded as a prodigy swimmer—is launched on a record career.

Cutting records, that is. The young artist, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George O. Boucher, 4383 Linden Ave., has been signed by

Del-Fi Records of Hollywood on a five-year contract, eight records a year. The first, "That Shade of Red" and "Belle of the Ball," will be cut this week.

"This girl is a real find," says Howard Hayes, 263 Ximeno Ave., her teacher for three years. "She has a flair for selling a song. The first record company that heard her signed her. We look for TV and personal appearances, as well as records."

Pegi, who started swimming competitively when she was 10 years old, has won 55 blue ribbons, 23 medals and three trophies.

Last year she became active in Long Beach Virginia Country Theater, playing Rosie in "Comrade Birdie" (a version of "Bye Bye Birdie") and the title role in "Wildcat."

She is a sophomore at Poly High School, where she is a member of the a cappella choir.

Also, she is an A student.

Southland's Summit Meeting to Hold Fate of Rapid Transit

I. P.T. Los Angeles Bureau A summit meeting of Southland officials trying to reach agreement on a mass rapid transit proposal will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. in the county supervisors' hearing room, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

The meeting was called by Chairman Warren M. Dorn of the supervisors with the hope it will "bring a united front on the part of all individuals and organizations."

Gov. Brown has announced he will put rapid transit on the agenda at the 1964 special session of the state legislature if the cities, county and civic groups of the area can agree on a plan.

Fibrosis Group Raises $5,397

A total of $5,397.77 was raised by the Long Beach Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation in September, the organization reported Saturday.

The money, raised by a door-to-door campaign, in addition to the supervisors, fit dance and other events, will be used to further research into the disease.

In Sacramento, an agreement between the state and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District for cooperating in the building and use of 3.5 miles of an Oakland freeway, was announced Saturday by Gov. Brown.

He indicated he thought Los Angeles officials who haven't been able to agree on a rapid transit plan could learn something from the agreement.

The rapid transit trains will run down the center strip of the section of the Grove-Shafter Freeway between 24th Street and Golden Gate Avenue. Brown said the joint use of the right-of-way will save the taxpayers between $75 and $100 million.

Politics Also Art of Unlikely

AT THIS POINT, many Republicans consider a ticket composed of Rockefeller and Goldwater (or Goldwater and Rockefeller) the strongest that could be fielded by the GOP — and the most improbable.

It would be strong because it would have wide geographical appeal, offer a haven for both liberals and conservatives, and feature two attractive and well-publicized personalities.

It is improbable because of the sharp differences between the two men on vital political issues, including foreign policy and civil rights, and because neither seems to be a man who would be content with second place.

Yet, political history — indeed, recent political history — shows that it is quite possible to fuse seemingly incompatible political metals.

We refer to the Kennedy-Johnson alloy.

IN 1960, IT WILL be remembered, the likelihood of Lyndon Johnson being selected as the vice presidential candidate (or of Lyndon Johnson accepting that nomination) was considered extremely remote.

Johnson had called Sen. Kennedy immature and too inexperienced to be president. Johnson had scorned the idea of accepting second place on the ticket and had suggested Kennedy for that job because the vice presidency "is a good place for a young man who needs experience."

Meanwhile, Johnson was cordially disliked by the Democratic party's liberal wing, which was supposed to carry a lot of weight with Kennedy.

In brief, when the 1960 Democratic National Convention began, anybody suggesting the possibility of a Kennedy-Johnson ticket would have been considered naive.

HOWEVER, THE OUTCOME of the convention is a matter of historical fact. Mr. Kennedy offered Mr. Johnson the vice presidency, and the man who had asserted, "I wouldn't want to trade my job of leadership for a relatively inactive role," accepted the nomination, said he was proud to be on the bandwagon, and said of Kennedy: "A new star has been born in the leadership skies of the nation."

Thus, a complete reversal occurred in a matter of hours. Far apart in so many ways, Kennedy and Johnson reconciled their differences, capitalized on their combined appeal, and went on to win the election.

Looking back on this, one should not rule out the possibility of a Rockefeller-Goldwater (or Goldwater-Rockefeller) ticket. Men change their minds, or at least their political times. Politics, described as the art of the possible, is often the art of the unlikely.

LBJ Salves Hurt Pride With Trips

I, P.T. Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Lyndon Johnson is off again, this time to the Benelux countries. Presumably he is going to spread a message of goodwill, and all that, something that can't be done by phone call or letter, it is quite obvious, because it would be too cheap. Also, they like to find things for Johnson to do. As a matter of fact, he insists upon it.

Johnson, the vice president, is one of the strange phenomena of the New Frontier. Although there are protests to the contrary, he doesn't seem to be a part of it. This once powerful man, who, as majority leader, was once able to lead noted senators about by the nose, now can only rap the Senate to order and rule on an occasional parliamentary question.

THE QUESTION WAS RAISED once about the possibilities that the Kennedy administration would have found him more useful as majority leader, considering the weak leadership that exists at the present time and the state of the President's legislative program.

But a Democratic senator, to whom this was addressed, said no.

"Do you think that arm-twisting bunch would want a strong man like Lyndon running the show here? Why, he'd take those congressional lobbyists of theirs and, if he wanted to, could make them crawl up the steps of the Capitol and kiss his foot before he'd do anything for them. I think they like it just fine the way it is."

It is popularly considered that Johnson was put on the ticket to lend an air of Southern conservatism to it, but then again they may have wanted to put him in a spot where he couldn't challenge the administration for power.

Well, the forms are preserved. Johnson is consulted, or rather informed of impending action to preserve a fiction. In no way has he been made a part of the administration.

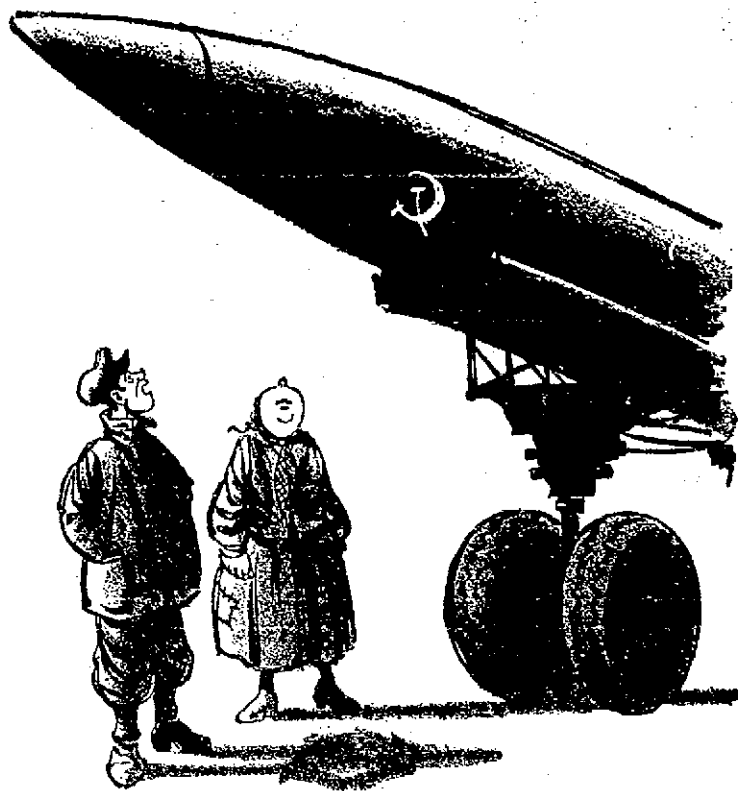

BUT IT IS OBVIOUS THAT Johnson doesn't like it. Despite the just-folks friendliness he displays on all public occasions, he is a proud and arrogant man who wants his chunk of whatever it is that is being passed around.

This is one of the reasons for the junkets. He asserts himself and is demanding. Regardless of his true role and status, his pride must be satisfied, and the only openings these days are for global statesmen.

Though the trips do keep Johnson happy and occupied, and allow him and his wife to fill up the Air Force jets with duty-free goods and souvenirs from abroad, it is difficult to cite one noteworthy contribution he has made to what has come to be known as World Understanding. Reports suggest that it is just as well he speaks to a rather limited audience on these trips, the folks who come out to the airport to meet him.

His campaigning, Texas style, amazed and amused most Scandinavian observers and in some places was called in bad taste. He solved the Berlin question last year by distributing LBJ ball-point pens in the street crowds who came to look at him.

Freeway Opponents Begin Waving Flag of Surrender

I, P.T. Sacramento Bureau
 SACRAMENTO — Freeway revolters face concrete silence — and fiscal punishment.

That is the latest tactic of embattled state freeway planners. And already the white flags are beginning to wave in some communities that blocked state freeway planners in recent years.

Sacramento city, where powerful community interests battled against a north-south cross-town freeway for years, caved in recently. Surrender came after the state built freeways to the edge of central Sacramento, and dumped a freeway tangle of traffic on major north-south roads in the heart of Sacramento.

The cross-town north-south freeway in Sacramento would have been completed by now, but the state has adopted a policy of delaying freeway construction when there is violent community opposition.

Sacramento's freeway revolters made peace with the state only a year ago. Some revolters switched sides to pro-freeway as the traffic tangle grew from outer freeways.

THE FREEWAY — which could have been built by now — isn't budgeted for completion until the fiscal year of 1964-65. In the meantime, the route is torn up like a battlefield scene and there is traffic chaos.

THE MOST famous freeway revolt occurred in 1959 when the San Francisco Board of Supervisors declared in a resolution that San Francisco didn't want any more freeways unless the board could pick the route.

San Francisco contended the state was building ugly starkly utilitarian freeways which blocked such sacred Bay area landmarks as the Ferry Building.

Already, San Francisco is beginning to change lanes in its freeway revolt. The shocker was the $577 million state highway construction budgets for 1964-65, doling out only $2.2 million to San Francisco.

Editorialized one San Francisco daily newspaper: "That is a part of the continuing price the city has had to pay for its freeway revolt, an event that has long since outlived the useful purpose it originally served."

"Unless the freeway deadlock is resolved soon, San Francisco will lose all of $250 million allocated there under the federal interstate highway program."

"Meanwhile San Francisco's 300,000 vehicle owners go right on paying a tax of 11 cents on every gallon of gas — plus other highway user taxes — to help build freeways elsewhere."

The state had announced that freeway money that had been allocated to San Francisco instead would go to neighboring counties.

Long Beach is likely to face similar pressure on the controversial cross-town leg of proposed Pacific Coast Freeway. Some route sections of Pacific Coast Freeway already are adopted, and within the next decade freeway traffic is due to be dumped on Long Beach's already congested east-west roads, according to tentative freeway-building timetables.

As presently constituted, communities cannot do battle and win a total victory from the California Highway Commission. Some communities win concessions.

But most freeway-revolting communities merely fight delaying actions. The result: under the current ground rules they merely prolong the uncertainty and disruption which are associated with freeway building.

How Brass Hats Get Their Way

WASHINGTON — If you want to see why the brass hats of the armed forces get what they want out of Congress and why armed services appropriations continue to soar, despite the efforts of the Secretary of Defense McNamara to hold them down, take a look at the entertainment schedule worked out for congressmen at the recent Army-Air Force game in Chicago.

It was as detailed as the schedule for the Normandy landing on D-day.

The football schedule, however, was brimming over with VIP treatment for the visiting congressmen.

The congressmen invited by the Army and Air Force to take the free flight to Chicago were members of the Armed Services Committee and the Military Subcommittees of the Appropriations Committees. The first committee sets military policy for the Congress; the second votes the money.

The carefully prepared schedule read:

"0830 EST guests arrive Andrews AFB and are met and escorted to aircraft."

"0850 all members of party on board aircraft. Seating as desired."

"0900 wheels up. Flying time: 2 hours, 55 minutes. Light luncheon served in flight."

"1055 (CST) arrive Midway Airport, Chicago. Met by CG, Fifth U.S. Army."

"1105 board charter buses for Soldier Field. Seating as desired. Buses will be marked by Army mule and Air Force falcon."

"1200 arrive Soldier Field."

Escorted to seats by Army or Air Force escorts."

Then after the game the same details were outlined for the VIPs' trip back to Washington with dinner served en route.

At the bottom of the schedule were these significant notes:

"Army and Air Force legislative liaison offices will arrange sedan transportation for accompanying members of Congress and all personnel to and from Andrews AFB as required."

"Office, C of S, Army and Office, VC of S, Air Force, will arrange or coordinate transportation for all members of the party other than congressmen and L and J. Blankets and raingear will be available in the stadium."

All this is one reason why the generals can run up to Congress to sell the boys on the hill regarding TFX contracts or big bombers or the Skybolt when their civilian chiefs in the Pentagon overrule them.

REP. RON Cameron, newly re-elected California Democrat who defeated John Birchite John Rousselot in Nixon's home town, Whittier, writes:

"Have just read your col-

Affidavit Is Only Way Out of Oregon Primary Election

POT BOILING too soon for you in the presidential stew? Well, just consider that the names of the first batch of contenders will be committed to a ballot in less than 12 weeks. Filing deadline for the nation's first primary—New Hampshire's—is Feb. 1.

All it takes to get on the N.H. ballot is a petition of about 100 signatures. The name stays on the ballot unless the candidate asks its removal within 10 days of the filing deadline. Date of the N.H. primary is March 10.

Although California Republicans are tuning up for a Goldwater - Rockefeller primary June 2, a decisive loss by either in New Hampshire might deter the loser from pressing his case in California. This state's filing deadline is April 3.

In any case the big names in politics have not much longer to be coy. And, if Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield is correct in his statement of last week that the Republican party is on the verge of death, that coyness must be replaced by dynamism.

But Oregon has its own instrument for separating the Hatfields from the coys. The instrument is Oregon's Secretary of State Howell Appling Jr.

The names of candidates for president and vice president are printed on the Oregon primary ballot.

"BY DIRECTION of the Secretary of State who shall place the name of such a candidate upon the ballot when he shall have determined in his sole discretion that such candidate's candidacy is generally advocated or recognized in national news media throughout the United States, unless such candidate shall execute and file with the Secretary of State an affidavit stating without qualification that he is not now and does not intend to become a candidate for said offices at the forthcoming presidential election."—Oregon Election Laws.

However, petitioners may get a candidate's name on the ballot if they can get enough signatures. They don't need more than 1,000. In this method a candidate also may withdraw with the same kind of unqualified affidavit.

MR. APPLING says he will make his determination of what candidates he will place on the ballot by regularly reading a representative cross-section of leading national newspapers throughout the United States, as well as leading national news magazines.

In response to our query, Appling wrote: "The key phrase in this statute is 'GENERALLY advocated.' The legal definition of the word 'generally' is 'pertaining to MANY persons, places and occasions.'"

"The substance of the Oregon law, then, is to rule out early favorite sons, publicly seekers, eccentrics, and the like, and to more nearly make the Oregon Preferential Primary a real contest between the real contenders."

APPLING has declined to speculate on what candidates would be on his ballot, if he were making up the list now. He feels that if he regularly engaged in such running speculation "it might considerably influence the activities and actions of some of the candidates and I do not feel that that is my proper role."

"I shall seek instead to merely judge, in my best discretion, the status of the various candidates as it exists on the filing day designated in the Oregon laws."

A candidate's silence in New Hampshire or Oregon means his consent to have his trial run made in the primary. But silence does not mean consent in California. So, for example, if Richard M. Nixon should be petitioned onto the N.H. and Oregon ballots he could ride free, contending that he didn't wish to intrude on either state's affairs to the point of formally withdrawing his name.

But if he is similarly pushed in California he would have to give his affirmative and specific approval. And that eventually could make San Francisco's GOP National Convention July 13 very interesting indeed.

Viet Nam Coup Same Old Story

EDITOR:

The coup in Viet Nam is the same sickening story all over again. Pull the rug out from under the existing government and replace it with a "democracy" — dictatorship of the left. Ben Bella is a recent example. During the fighting in Algiers our controlled wire services and press directed our sympathies to the "Moslems" — as we now know, the Red China and Russian oriented F.L.N.—who were being terrorized by the "dread"

O.A.S., French, high military.

In the Spanish Civil War the Americans were propagandized for the Loyalists, the internationalists or Communists, and blacked out from news of the horrors they perpetrated. That time Franco was the big, bad "bloody dictator."

In the Dominican Republic Trujillo, "dictator," our ally, was assassinated and replaced with Juan Bosch, leftist-dictator, "democratically" (?) elected.

In Laos the pro-Western leader was forced by Moscow Treaty Harriman and withheld-aid into a kiss-of-death coalition with the Communists.

The prime example is China whose first lady was treated to the same "Dragon Lady" smear by our press; then aid was stopped and the Generalissimo's government fell to the agrarian reformers' — Communists. In Viet Nam they are called "Buddhists." In a little while your press will let you in on the secret, as it did in Castro's case.

Where is the concern with religious repressions in Communist Cuba, Poland, Yugoslavia, and Russia?

Diem Deposed, Reds March On

EDITOR:

Your editorial, The Proof is Awaited, was very disturbing. It was disturbing to read, "We will shed no tears for the deposed regime of Ngo Dinh Diem." It is disturbing that editorial writers of great newspapers are apparently exempt from the recent lessons of history as recorded in their own newspapers.

The editorial took the position that judgment would be withheld, a "we'll wait and see" attitude.

Years ago, even as late as the pro-Castro revolution this attitude could be rationalized. But today, it is whistling past the graveyard of experience; it is a head-in-the-sand posture.

With the strong anti-Communists deposed we can expect the cry for "unity" to be raised. (Remember this was the cry before China succumbed—unity between Mao's forces and Chiang's.) Voices will now be heard calling for "unity" between North and South Viet Nam. A "coalition-type" government will be urged for "peace." The United States will remove our limited military force from Viet Nam in due course while continuing financial aid.

And so the war of Communist expansion, having conquered, will move on.

How Long Till Reds Get Viet Nam?

EDITOR:

Well, now that we've pulled the rug from under the Diem government, how long before the Reds take over, like in China and Cuba and heaven knows how many other countries? Six months? Nine months? Three? Wanta lay any bets that they don't within a year?

Bus 'Magician' Casting Spell

William (Frank) Farrell—the transportation magician who has awakened sleeping bus lines in other cities with a flick of his promotional wand—is casting the same old spell in Long Beach.

The fast-moving, fast-thinking new Long Beach bus executive disclosed these plans in an interview conducted as he downed a beef sandwich at lunch.

Long Beach's fleet of 100 light green buses will be replaced within three years by sleek, silver-and-blue "Dreamliner" vehicles. Thirty of the new glass-and-aluminum buses now are in service and 10 more are expected early next year.

The dull gray uniforms of the 190 Long Beach bus drivers are being replaced this week by snappy blue uniforms and caps with pastel blue shirts. Air Force type "wing" insignia decorate the caps.

A "Candy Cane Bus," painted in the familiar Christmas peppermint colors, will service different routes throughout Long Beach beginning the day after Thanksgiving through Jan. 1.

A caravan of 15 Long Beach buses, led by the "Candy Cane," will transport residents to view the Rose Parade in Pasadena Jan. 1. Trip tickets will be sold by Long Beach bus drivers beginning Dec. 1.

The 51-year-old Farrell, who became general manager and executive vice president of the new, non-profit Long Beach Public Transportation System only last September, became noted for curing ailing bus lines in Eureka, Inglewood, Stockton and El Paso with such ideas.

Before moving to Long Beach along with his wife, Judy, his boat "Cloud Nine" and his long, white convertible, Farrell took time to turn the stricken Santa Monica Bus Line into a fat moneymaker.

In Santa Monica, Farrell who does things in a big way, used Jayne Mansfield and other shapely feminine figures to promote his bus line, staged bus parades at the slightest excuse for a celebration, plugged bus-line service with newspaper ads and converted his band of drivers into one of the most courteous in the nation.

He left behind a $1.5-million profit to the city—over and above the $2.5 million in cash for replacing the entire bus fleet—and a giant, new bus garage-administrative headquarters. Bus patronage was up 21.2 percent.

Farrell launched his Long Beach venture by publicizing the city in a cross-country parade of new buses from Detroit, climaxed with a parade through downtown here during the Good Ol' Days celebration.

He has one bone to pick with bus tradition in Long Beach.

"Those badge numbers on the drivers, they're going out," he said. "Our drivers are individuals, not a set of numbers."

Farrell also intends to step up courtesy training of drivers, a pet project with him. One New York newspaper, during his Santa Monica days, wrote admiringly that a Farrell-trained driver is likely to step off the bus to help a lady with her baby carriage and bus field inspectors may personally drop off route schedules at the homes of persons who have phoned for the information.

Other thoughts of the rapid-transit personality: improvement of bus transfer schedules and a personal ride on bus lines "to talk to the passengers."

All these ideas and others—"once I get more settled"—will be the right potion, the transportation magician hopes, to steer the sick Long Beach bus lines onto the patron-pleasing road.

Guest speaker will be James P. Roche, a member of the speakers bureau of the California Democratic Council on the 1964 volunteer effort.

Single-Car Death Cases Under Study

I. P. T. Los Angeles Bureau

The county coroner's office is participating in a statewide study of the involvement of carbon monoxide, alcohol and drugs in single-vehicle fatal traffic accidents, according to Dr. Theodore J. Curphey, chief medical examiner-coroner.

Local police departments and the California Highway Patrol are joining in an effort to find underlying causes of the increasing number of single-vehicle accidents, Dr. Curphey said.

DURING THE 12-month study, which began this month, drivers killed in such accidents will receive blood analyses for carbon monoxide poisoning, alcohol and drugs. Driving records and possible criminal records also will be studied, the coroner said.

The program will be financed by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, which has made funds available to the state's Highway Transportation Agency.

Dr. Curphey said the study will be guided by a steering committee made up of representatives of the State Coroners' Association, State Department of Public Health, State Department of Justice and the CHP.

Temporary Tax Office Jobs Open

I. P. T. Los Angeles Bureau

Because so many property owners are coming in to pay the county tax collector, he is going to have to pay about 55 taxpayers.

Harold J. Ostley, county tax collector, says his office needs to hire about 40 adding machine operators and 15 tellers to work from Nov. 13 to Dec. 10.

Dec. 10 is the deadline for payment, without penalty, of the first installment of property taxes for county, schools, special districts and most cities of Los Angeles County.

BECAUSE more than three million tax payments must be made this year, the tax collector needs the additional temporary help.

Adding-machine operators, who must either have completed a training course or have had six months experience, will be paid $2.10 an hour for the day shift and $2.25 hourly for nights.

Window tellers with at least two years experience in receipting and accounting for large amounts of cash, will be paid $2.16 hourly.

Applicants should go to the Long Beach office, Room 101, Long Beach County Building, 415 W. Ocean Blvd., or the Civil Service Commission office in Room 493, County Hall of Administration, 222 N. Grand Ave., Los Angeles.

EVERYONE INVITED TO BALL

City to Hail Its Famous at Lavish Party Friday

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

Everyone in Long Beach is invited.

The entire city is putting on its best bib and tucker, its most lavish decorations and most exciting entertainment for the biggest public event in Long Beach history.

It's Long Beach's 75th birthday party—the Diamond Jubilee Celebrity Ball slated for Friday, at 9 p.m. in the city's spectacular new Arena.

Included in party plans are Freddy Martin and his "singing saxophone," presentation of 75 local celebrities and a giant birthday cake large enough to serve 3,000 persons!

WILMA HASTINGS
General Chairman

celebrities of Long Beach heritage, selected for the honor by a jury of newspaper wire service officials.

The parade of local headline-makers who have brought fame and acclaim to our city includes movie stars and sports figures, scientists and business tycoons, artists and politicians, authors and educators.

With fanfare during red-carpet ceremonies, they will be presented by local well-known master of ceremonies Marvin Cloyd.

This will be followed with presentation of the city's gigantic birthday cake, with a piece served to each guest.

FREDDY MARTIN
He'll Provide Music

GENERAL chairman Wilma Hastings said she hopes all local citizens will join in the festivities to observe the city's 75th anniversary.

Spectacular entertainment will be provided by world-famous orchestra leader Freddy Martin and his band of 23 entertainers, whose recent engagements have included the Ambassador's Coconut Grove in Los Angeles and the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas.

Martin's silken arrangements of classics, popular standards and show tunes have thrilled music lovers since his first record, "Louisiana Hayride" and "A Rainy Day," made for Brunswick Records in 1934, was an immediate success.

In 1941 he unearthed a musical mother lode that within a matter of weeks made him the most famous and popular orchestra leader in the nation.

The bonanza was Tchaikovsky's "Piano Concerto in B Flat Minor," from which he arranged and recorded a 32-bar dance version. Within a week after its release, it became the country's No. 1 record, and to date, has sold well over three million copies.

The tremendous success of the "Concerto" moved Freddy to adopt it as his theme song and to delve deeper into the classical standards.

Among those he'll play for local party-goers: "Symphony," the Grieg and Rachmaninoff piano concertos, Richard Addinsell's "Warsaw Concerto," and boogie-woogie renditions of Kachaturian's "Sabre Dance."

Featured with the Martin aggregation—which has included such names as Jerry Colonna and the late Tommy Dorsey, also Russ Morgan, Claude Thornhill and Terry Shand—are Johnny Cochran and the Martin Men and the piano artistry of Dave Leonard.

HIGHLIGHT of Friday night's gala ball will be formal presentation of 75

MRS. HASTINGS, emphasizing that the event is open to all Long Beach citizens, said tickets ($10 a couple) are available at the Diamond Jubilee office, 130 Pine Ave. They can be purchased by mail with a check and self-addressed envelope.

Many local organizations and civic groups are planning preball cocktail parties and dinners — among them the Junior League, Century Club, Kiwanis, Rotary, Junior Chamber of Commerce, L.B. Medical Association, Ebells Juniors, Pilot Club and many others.

It is also reported that many planning to attend Community Concerts Inc.'s presentation Friday night of the London Philharmonic Orchestra in Municipal Auditorium will make it a double attraction evening by attending the ball in the adjoining Arena.

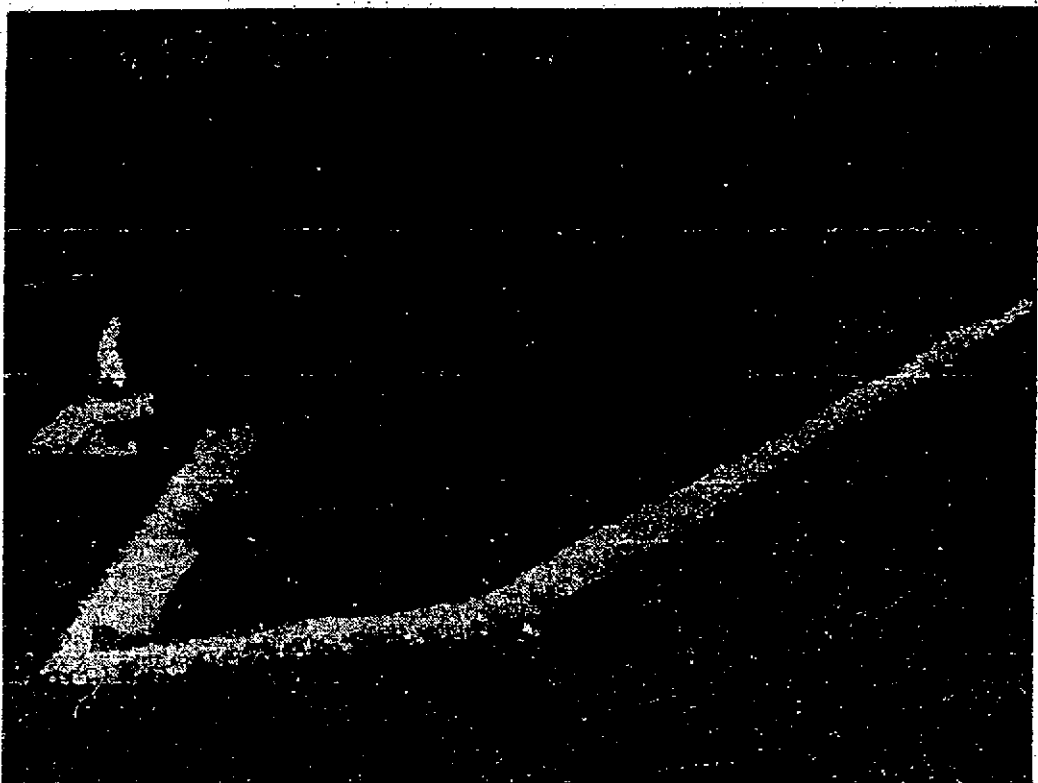

MRS. HASTINGS and her large committee have worked many months to make this the most lavish social event in Long Beach history.

Heading committees are Darrell Neighbors, budget; Dorothy Annis, tickets; Fred Taylor, decorations; Tess Heusel, table arrangements; Bill Lockett, celebrity recognition; Mrs. Ernest Lockwood, celebrity hosts; Howard Conrad, birthday cake; Mrs. Gertrude Hawkins and Mrs. Robert Westmeyer, hostesses (all Women's division members of the local Chamber of Commerce).

Official greeters for the evening will be Chamber of Commerce and Diamond Jubilee board members.

Ball to Europe

PARIS (UPI)—George W. Ball, U.S. undersecretary of state, flew in from New York Saturday for a one-day stop-over on his way to talks in Bonn and London. He returns here Nov. 19 for the meeting of the council of ministers of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

UP FROM THE WAVES

HEAVY RAINFALL CUTS FIRE DANGER

Earliest Opening in 13 Years for Angeles Forest

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Wednesday's soaking rain, coming on top of several earlier rains, brought about the earliest opening of Angeles National Forest in 13 years. Supervisor Sam E. Jarvi, announced Thursday that all fire-closed areas are now open to public entry.

At the same time, it was announced that all fire-closed areas in Los Padres and San Bernardino National Forests had been opened.

However, the fire-closed areas of Cleveland National Forest in San Diego and Orange counties must remain that way until more rains come. The September, October and November rains didn't spread that far south.

There will be no further closing of Angeles Forest until July 1, 1969, unless some drought emergency should develop.

Jarvi said more than three inches of rain already has soaked into Angeles Forest, which lies mostly in the San Gabriel Mountains. In his announcement, Jarvi noted that everybody should continue to use caution in building fires. "Local ordinances regarding no smoking remain in effect," he said. "Open campfires are always prohibited and debris burning and campfire permits are required the year 'round."

"The 1963 forest fire season record was the best since 1957. Only 54 fires occurred in 1963. Highest causes of fires were (1) careless discarding of burning cigarettes, (2) children playing with matches and (3) careless debris burning."

"Total land burned over in 1963 was 3,636 acres of valuable watershed. In the previous year, 90 fires burned over 18,357 acres of watershed land."

Jarvi gave credit to the cooperation of forest visitors and to those living near the forest for their fire-prevention help in 1963. Quick action by U.S. Forest Service crews and firemen of the Los Angeles County Fire Department, plus small-city fire departments, also helped keep the number of acres burned to a minimum.

Jarvi and his rangers are not weather prophets, but they are looking for a wet winter and hoping for plenty of snow in the winter recreational areas.

While on the subject of U.S. National Forests, it might be well to mention that two new wild areas have been created in California. One is the 63,000-acre Dome Lands Wild Area on the Kern Plateau in Sequoia National Forest. The other is the Mokelumne Wild Area, a part of the Eldorado and Stanislaus national forests. The Mokelumne sector is situated near the crest of the Sierra Nevada between Eb-betts Pass and Carson Pass. Highways about 60 miles east of Sacramento.

to preserve the wilderness character. No roads will be built into the areas; travel will be by foot and horseback only. Construction will be limited to trail and camp-ground improvements necessary for safety and health.

Monthly meeting of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Southern Area, will be held Nov. 30 in the Lafayette Hotel and will be highlighted by selection of "Miss NAACP."

"Miss NAACP" will be chosen from among finalists from the 16 girls representing NAACP branches in Southern California, Arizona and Nevada.

Memorial for German Jews Held

DACHAU, Germany (AP) — Solemn memorial services were held throughout Germany Saturday for Jewish victims of Crystal Night—the night 25 years ago when Nazi-led mobs roamed German cities burning synagogues, beating Jews and looting Jewish property.

Special services were held at Dachau and Flossenbuerg, in Bavaria, sites of infamous concentration camps.

West German newspapers devoted an entire page in their Saturday editions to the anniversary.

THE NIGHT of Nov. 9, 1938 became known as Crystal Night because of the smashing of windows in Jewish stores.

It was the first organized, large-scale terror against the Jews in Nazi Germany. Thousands of Jews were taken to concentration camps. Some were released later but others never were seen again.

The Nazi government called the attacks on Jews a "spontaneous reaction" to the assassination by a Jewish refugee of Ernst vom Rath, a secretary of the German Embassy in Paris.

It was the excuse the Nazis had been waiting for to speed up their program against the Jews. The groundwork had been laid some years before with boycotts of Jewish stores and with the Nuremberg racial laws.

WHEN 17-year-old Herschel Grynszpan fired five shots at Vom Rath on Nov. 7, Nazi propagandists began to fan the flame of violence that exploded two days later, when the German diplomat died.

The German Protestant church announced it planned to build a church in Dachau in memory of all victims of Nazism. The infamous camp is still inhabited by refugees. The Bavarian government and the town of Dachau have promised to build them new housing.

Russ Honeymooners Head for Orient

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union's honeymooning cosmonauts, Valentina Tereshkova and Andrian Nikolayev, left Moscow Saturday night for a tour of India, Nepal, Ceylon, Indonesia and Burma.

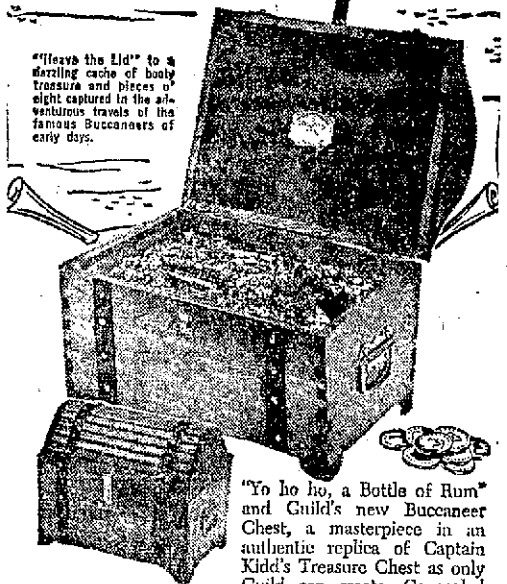

The couple was married in Moscow Nov. 3. Tass said they were accompanied by another cosmonaut, Valery Bykovsky, and his wife.

Recreation Center, 1400 California Ave.

Theme of the area conference is "Salute to Youth." Ernest Campbell, youth director, said the conference will begin with a luncheon and fashion show in the Lafayette. The evening ceremonies will begin at 7 p.m. and will conclude with a dance.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Rocky's Bid Opens 1964 Presidential Season

By SAM FOGG
United Press International
The 1964 Republican presidential season opened formally last week with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York throwing the first hat into the ring. Rockefeller's announcement that he would actively seek the GOP nomination started the political pot bubbling and meant that it will continue to boil for virtually a full year. The climax will come Nov. 3, 1964, when the U.S. electorate names its next president.

ADDING spice to the political cauldron were the results of off-year elections for state and municipal offices in which the Democrats scored victories and the Republicans showed significant gains.

The outcome of the Tuesday grass roots balloting in such key areas as Philadelphia, Kentucky, New Jersey, Indiana, Ohio, New York and San Francisco gave flavor to the traditional political game of interpreting what it might mean.

Rockefeller's long-expected entry into the presidential race was made with a strong note of challenge to two men he will have to beat if he is to move from the governor's mansion in Albany to the White House in Washington.

THEY WERE President Kennedy — the undoubted Democratic nominee for a second term — and Sen. Barry Goldwater, the unannounced, but front running Republican prospect from Arizona.

With the knowledge that he now holds underdog status because of his divorce and remarriage — coupled with his liberal Republican views — the New York governor immediately began campaigning in New Hampshire where the first of the presidential primaries will be held March 10.

NEW YORK GOVERNOR Nelson Rockefeller leads Dixieland band of Dartmouth students during opening of his "Rockefeller for President" headquarters in Concord, N. H., last week.

Goldwater, whose strong conservative views have won wide popular support among many Republicans, held his fire and showed no signs of plunging into the race for the moment.

HIS FOLLOWERS, however, continued confident that he would announce his candidacy sometime in January. They believe he was so far in front that Rockefeller would be unable to derail the Barry-for-president drive.

There was strong speculation during the week on developments on the international front, particularly about cat-and-mouse tactics being practiced by the Russians on the question of Allied military access to Red-encircled Berlin.

A confrontation between a U.S. military convoy and Soviet troops and armor at a West German border checkpoint lasted 41 hours. The Russians, as they had twice in the past, demanded that the U.S. soldiers dismount from their trucks for a head count. U.S. commanders in charge flatly refused on grounds such procedure would violate Allied rights to passage to free West Berlin.

Allied officials claimed victory in the showdown. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev blustered a bit that the United States was skirting on the edge of a warlike explosion.

AT WEEK'S end, Berlin remained a divided camp where the free and the Communist worlds stood only bayonet point apart.

On another cold war front, the United States conferred formal recognition on the new regime in South Viet Nam and set about rallying the people in the southeast Asian country to more vigorous military efforts against Red guerrilla forces.

There was a glimmer of hope that the new government which seized power in a coup from slain President Ngo Dinh Diem might spur the fighting there to a victorious effort.

President Kennedy had another serious cold war problem on his hands closer to home. The Senate, with a bipartisan bloc of critics taking command, was making mince-meat of his foreign aid program.

At issue was an authorization bill setting up the military and economic assistance program for the current fiscal year. Kennedy initially recommended a $4.5 billion authorization. The House slashed this by about $1 billion. The Senate thus far has reduced the proposed program to slightly above $3.7 billion with administration leaders agreeing to most of this in the hope of staying off deeper economies.

Even more vexing to the administration was a series of "rider" amendments which would limit or deny funds to such nations as Yugoslavia, Indonesia and Egypt. Secretary of State Dean Rusk accused Congress of "legislating foreign policy" by the restrictions.

KENNEDY, in a speech in New York City, strongly deplored the congressional attack on his program and warned that inadequate foreign aid could turn minor brush fire hostilities into wars of disastrous proportions.

On a brighter note, U.S. and Russian bargainers worked out an understanding that will open the way for the sale of surplus U.S. wheat to the Russians and their European satellites.

The shipments — which eventually may total $250 million — probably will get started in the next week or so.

Moonflight Hinges on New Rocket Engine

By RALPH DIGHTON

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A rocket engine only four feet high, but assigned a payload that includes U.S. hopes of military superiority in space, will get its first flight test in less than a year.

It's part of a rocket named Transtage, so called because it will transfer from orbit to

1. Inspect and if necessary, destroy strange and possibly hostile satellites.
2. Rescue stranded U.S. spacemen, or repair and re-fuel their vehicles.
3. Carry cameras—possibly even bombs—over enemy territory.
4. Rendezvous with manned orbital stations, shuttling men and supplies between earth and space.

TRANSTAGE is the first rocket in the United States, perhaps in the world, to provide the maneuverability necessary for long-dreamed-of military and scientific missions.

On the success of its new concepts hangs the Apollo moon project. The same engine, only larger, will power the Saturn-boosted service module that carries U.S. astronauts into lunar orbit, dispatches and collects their moon-exploring bug, then shoves them toward home.

Plans call for a 2-million-pound-thrust Titan 3 to blast the first Transtage into space from Cape Canaveral, Fla., in August 1964.

SIXTEEN MORE Titan 3-Transtage tests will follow, and in 10 of them the Transtage is to be topped by an X20. The first X20 flight is set for July 1965. After two tests, the X20s will start carrying a pilot to orbital heights and back to land at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., home of the sub-orbital X15 rocket plane.

Unlike most rocket engines, which have hundreds or even thousands of working parts, the Transtage engine has but one — the valve which controls the flow of propellants into the burning chamber.

It needs no ignition system, no spark plug or starting cartridge, because the propellants are hypergolic — they catch fire when sprayed together into the burning chamber.

Burning stops when the flow of propellants is cut off by the radio-controlled valve, resumes when the valve is opened.

D. N. LONDON, Transtage program manager at Aerojet-General Corp., where the engine is made says: "This is probably the simplest rocket engine ever built. In mass production, we expect to re-tail it for about $35,000. It can be clustered in almost any combination for increased thrust and longer-duration missions, and it can be adapted to different fuels as they are developed."

London says Transtage's 11 tons of fuel makes it possible for a satellite weighing as much as 5,000 pounds to achieve a stationary orbit at a height of 22,000 miles. This is the altitude desired for future communications satellites. At that height they would seem to hover over a selected spot, such as mid-Atlantic, where they could relay messages back and forth between America and Europe.

Filipinos Will Vote Tuesday

MANILA (UPI)—More than 9 million Filipinos will vote in off-year national elections Tuesday following a colorful and dramatic campaign provided largely by the nation's two top leaders who are not running for office.

The principal posts at stake in the balloting are eight seats in the 24-member senate, 56 provincial governorships and 39 city mayorships.

The campaign issues all relate to domestic problems in this tropical island republic which has remained staunchly anti-Communist since it gained independence from the United States in 1946.

But the candidates themselves have been relegated to the sidelines by the two most active campaigners, President Diosdado Macapagal and Vice President Emmanuel Pelaez, who have been pushing the country as if they themselves were up for election.

THE ELECTION drama is heightened by the fact that Macapagal and Pelaez, although both members of the ruling Liberal Party, are campaigning for different tickets. Macapagal is pushing for the election of Liberal Party candidates, while Pelaez is campaigning for the opposition Nacionalista Party.

Macapagal and Pelaez, who ran and won as a team with the Liberal Party in the 1961 elections, parted political ways last July. Pelaez blamed Macapagal for widely publicized allegations linking Pelaez with the activities of deported American tycoon Harry Stonehill and resigned as foreign secretary.

Since then, Pelaez has switched his support to the opposition candidates. He has accused Macapagal of dictatorial tendencies and with tolerating graft and corruption within the government.

IN HIS campaign speeches around the country, Pelaez has claimed that only by strengthening the opposition's hand would the electorate be able to curb Macapagal's "dictatorship."

After weeks of silence, Macapagal fired back at Pelaez by calling him a do-nothing foreign secretary. He also said Pelaez was motivated by selfish reasons in his ambition to become president in 1965.

L.B. State Jolts Fresno, 25-14

IT MUST BE INDIAN RASSLIN' Stanford fullback Glenn Myers has firm grip on face mask of USC's Mike Garrett as he and Jack Lodato make stop after four-yard gain to USC 27. Infraction went undetected by officials.

Indian Errors Aid USC, 25-11

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

If any crazier football games are played than the one in which USC and Stanford were involved Saturday in the Coliseum, Norwalk State Hospital better order more beds immediately.

USC scored a 25-11 victory, but—as 57,035 puzzled witnesses will admit—only because the Trojans registered a few less mistakes and boners than the kids from Palo Alto.

A capsule version of the scoring will give an indication of how wild (and almost ridiculous) was this AAUW contest:

1. Stanford scored the first touchdown as a result of a Trojan fumble, then was helped to the bonus two points when USC was offside. Score: 8-0, Stanford.

2. Stanford notched a field goal two minutes later when USC fumbled the ensuing kickoff. Score at halftime: 11-0, Stanford.

3. USC gained its first touchdown after a bad pass from center that sailed over the Stanford punter's head. Stanford then was penalized on the conversion try and Troy had its first eight points.

4. USC narrowed the gap to 11-10 on a play that will be discussed for months to come: On fourth down and the ball on Stanford's 11, the Indian punter grabbed the ball and trotted out of the end zone for a safety!

5. USC's winning touchdown was scored as a direct result of the free kick allotted Stanford following the safety, when Mike Garrett ran the kick back 44 yards to completely ruin coach John Ralston's strategy. Score with six minutes remaining: 17-11, USC.

6. The insurance Trojan touchdown came in the final 13 seconds after a pass interception . . . and the extra point was made following yet another Stanford penalty.

ADD THAT up for size . . . and you must reach the conclusion that both Ralston and John McKay are ready for those Norwalk beds right now.

Troy's tragedies began mid-way through the second period when quarterback Craig Fertig dropped the ball on USC's 25 and Stanford fullback Tony DeLellis recovered there. Five plays later, DeLellis bulled through center for three yards, and presto, Stanford boasted a 6-0 edge.

Stanford got a bad center pass on its conversion try, but USC wasn't giving up that easily. The Trojans were offside and the Indians got another chance for the conversion, this time Steve Thurlow slipping off tackle for two points.

All wasn't over yet for Stanford as USC still had another big fumble play in its offensive bag of tricks. On the kickoff following the touchdown, back-of-the-game Garrett fumbled and the Indians gained possession on USC's 20.

THIS TIME the Northern Californians had to settle for a field goal as Braden Beck sailed one over the crossbars from 39 yards away.

The half ended 11-0 in Stanford's favor and the USC homecoming crowd already had McKay effigies all ready for the big necktie party around 4 p.m.

The next two quarters were a complete turnabout — the Big Red Machine from Palo Alto began making the crucial mistakes and Troy's fading national champions began to capitalize.

The wheel of fortune favored USC just five minutes into the third period when Stanford center Kent Colberg sent the ball into orbit over punter Dick Ragsdale's noggin. When the missile landed way back on Stanford's 24, USC had possession.

Mixing up his bread-and-butter combination of Willie Brown and Garrett, Fertig moved the ball in eight plays to Stanford's 6. Then McKay went into action by sending in a fourth-down play.

He mixed up Brown and Garrett in different fashion, Mike shotputting the oval into Willie's waiting arms in the end zone.

Clearly, the Indians were caught napping on the reservation.

Fertig blew the two-point conversion try and USC's 25 and Stanford fullback Tony DeLellis recovered there. Five plays later, DeLellis bulled through center for three yards, and presto, Stanford boasted a 6-0 edge.

Homer, LBCC on Rampage

Brjng on Cerritos and Bakersfield. Long Beach City College is ready!

The Vikings can rampant over host El Camino Saturday night, 50-21, before a crowd of 9,500 at Murdock Stadium, witnessing one of LBCC's more devastating offensive shows in a long time.

And leading the way, as usual, was all-America fullback Homer Williams, who scored 26 points and gained 169 yards on 25 carries to become the school's all-time rushing and scoring leader.

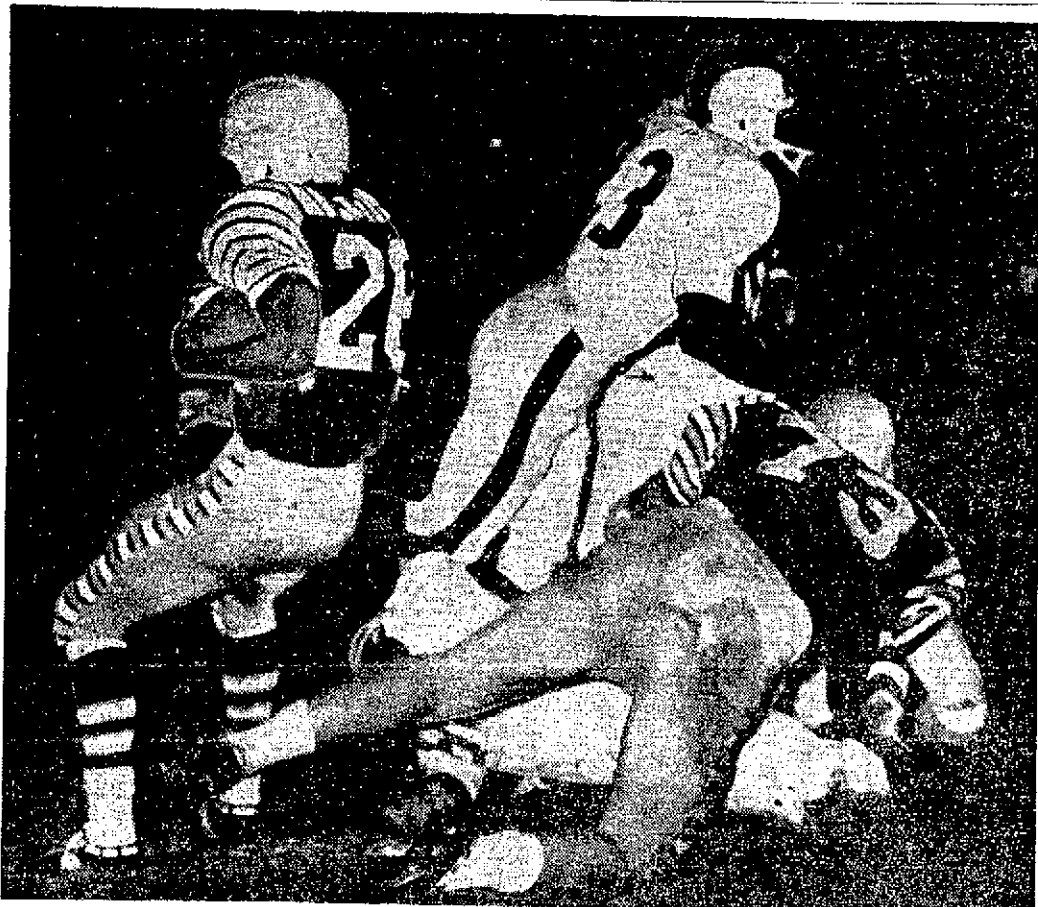

Big Homer passed Dee Andrews' career total of 2,039 rushing yards and 170 points scored in the 1960-61 season in vaulting to the No. 1 spot.

The score could have been worse. After El Camino got off to a 7-0 lead, LBCC rolled up its 50 points in the next three quarters before giving up two harmless fourth-period scores to the Warriors.

Long Beach gained 372 yards rushing and added 73 passing for a net total of 445, while El Camino gained 177 overall.

Thanks to Cerritos' 28-24 win over Bakersfield, the victory put the Vikings on top

Air Force Bombs Bury Bruins

By JEROME HALL
L. P. Staff Writer

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — The downhill slide of the UCLA football team hit bottom here Saturday in an intersectional game played appropriately — at the foot of the Rockies.

An Air Force Academy team that has been one of the nation's most unpredictable this year had one of its sky-high days and applied one of the worst beatings in UCLA history.

The score was 48-21.

Not in more than 30 years has such a mountain of points been piled up against a Bruin team. It may be another 30 years before a UCLA team looks so impotent again.

But then, it may be only one week, because into the L.A. Coliseum next Saturday come the Washington Huskies.

A young fellow named Terry Isaacson, a senior quarterback from Oak Park, Ill., took the Bruins apart this day. He ran for three touchdowns, passed for another and when the game ended he was only four yards shy of the school record for one-game total offense. He accounted for 258 yards, though he sat out much of the second half.

Isaacson was No. 9 in the land in total offense before the weekend games and now has a total of 1,370 yards in eight games. He probably will move up on that list. He got a standing ovation from the crowd of 31,937 who watched in clear, 60 degree weather beneath snow-tipped peaks.

UCLA, which has won only one of its eight games (10-9 over Stanford), got its highest point total of the season as two of the three touchdowns came on breaks.

The Bruins got one score on a Falcon fumble on the four-yard line and another on a blocked punt. The other was on a 94-yard advance on the passing arm of third-string QB Steve Sindell early in the successful. He completed four of 12 for 31 yards and turned in a wobbly effort both in game as the best bet to start the air and on the ground. Unexplainably, the heretofore regular quarterback, back Mike Haffner his first chance as the starting QB. He was effective. He gained 47 yards on three pass connections and 14 on two rushes. His first appearance was with 21 seconds left in the half. By that time the score was four touchdowns to one.

The Bruins, who have completely abandoned any attempt to run with the ball, threw 40 passes. They got 207 yards through the air, a mere 35 rushing. Forty passes is the most ever tried by a UCLA team. Eighteen completions is another school record, even better than the Bob Waterfield teams ever did.

THE BEST Bruin weapon was a screen pass. Sindell used it three times for major gains. The third time it got six points at the end of that long march. The receiver was a soph halfback named — almost unbelievably — Byron Nicklaus Nelson.

The Air Force team, which took a record of four wins and three losses into the game, rolled up a total of 473 yards. The four dozen points that those yards got are the most points scored against UCLA since the 52-0 loss to USC in 1930.

The game started off innocently enough. The Air Force took the kickoff and tried three jabs at the center of the Bruin line, where the resistance this season has been the only thing the UCLAns can be proud of.

Anyway, three jabs got seven yards and the Falcons punted. Since that test failed, the next time the Airmen got

Team Delirious as Title Chances Soar

By AL LARSON

Long Beach State's bristling defense produced five interceptions and two fumble recoveries as the 49ers kept in the CCAA title running by scoring a miracle 25-14 victory over Fresno State Saturday night at Veterans Stadium.

A crowd of 3,762 was delirious when Long Beach, a 10-point underdog, defeated the Bulldogs for the first time in their six-year feud.

Long Beach and San Diego State now are deadlocked in conference play with 3-1 records while Los Angeles State, a 49-0 winner over Cal Poly (SLO), is close behind with a 2-1 mark. The 49ers and L.A. meet next Saturday night in L.B.'s homecoming game.

THE 49ERS scored first in the opening quarter, fell behind 8-7 early in the second period, but came back with a touchdown and field goal to spurt ahead 18-8 at intermission. Neither scored in the third quarter, but Long Beach iced the game early in the last session when Dee Andrews danced 13 yards to hand Fresno its second league loss in a row. It marked the first time the Bulldogs had dropped conference games back-to-back since 1950.

If you think the crowd was happy, you should have seen the bedlam going on in the 49ers' dressing quarters. "We played a flawless game on offense," coach Don Reed shouted over a wild-eyed group of players. "When you don't commit a single fumble against a team as tough as Fresno, you know you've done a job."

Reed was quick to ask "have you ever seen a game like Otterson (Jerry) played?"

The 49ers' junior QB stole the show from the heralded Beau Carter, who went into the game as the CCAA's leading passer and Little All-America ratings in his hip pocket.

But the Fresno sias had five of his arials picked off, three by Pat Brosnan, while Otterson connected on 7 of 16 for 93 yards—with no interceptions.

FIRST QUARTER

Long Beach grabbed a 7-0 lead with 2:33 remaining when Wayne Mickaelian capped a 33-yard drive by flashing the final five yards for the score.

The drive was set up when linebacker Joe Costanza picked off Beau Carter's pass and returned it 13 yards to the 33. From here it took LB only seven plays to negotiate the distance. Mickaelian slipped off tackle for 11 yards. After losing a yard, little Wayne pulled in a short pass from Jerry Otterson in the left flat and peeled off 14 yards and another first down on Fresno's 7. Mickaelian took it to the five and on the next play took a quick pitch, and after breaking a tackle on the four, whirled into the end zone. Larry Womack converted.

By the time the first period had ended, Long Beach had picked up five first downs to Fresno's 1.

SECOND QUARTER

Long Beach's lead didn't stand up long as the Bulldogs took the following kickoff and smashed 63 yards in 14 plays. The big payoff came when halfback Eddie Miyamoto slipped away from two tacklers and barreled 18 yards for the TD. Going to the shotgun formation for the two-point conversion, Carter's pass to Jim Long forged

CRASH LANDING FOR ILLINI

Illinois halfback Jim Warren flips over on his head after being trapped by Michigan line in second quarter Saturday. No. 57 is Michigan tackle John Houtman.

Guard Bill Benson of Michigan State sails over Purdue line in effort to block second-period punt. He was assisted by Purdue's Wallace Florence (64), but still missed.

Illini Dreams End on Bonehead Play

By JERRY WYNN
I. P. Staff Writer
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — The days of wine and roses ended for Illinois Saturday.

Ranked No. 2 in the nation, the fighting Illini had their Big 10 title and Rose Bowl dreams shattered by Michigan's alert Wolverines, 14-8, before 55,818 at Memorial Stadium.

It was the fourth time Michigan coach Bump Elliott and Illinois coach Pete Elliott had engaged in fratricidal battle, and the fourth time Pete got bumped. But for Pete's sake, this was by far the most unbrotherly cut of them all.

THE DEFEAT was the first of the season for the Illini, yet it practically eliminates them from contention in the conference race which shows Ohio State and Michigan State dead-locked for the lead. If Michigan State beats Illinois in their game at East Lansing, Nov. 23, the Spartans will go to the Rose Bowl.

Illinois was ahead of Michigan, 8-7, with less than 10 minutes to play Saturday when it came up with a bonehead play which cost them the game. It was a wide pitch-out attempt from their own 13. Halfback Jim Warren fumbled and John Rowser recovered for Michigan on the Illinois 11.

The battling Wolverines barely made a first down on the one on an extra-effort sneak by talented quarterback Bob Timberlake, and before 55,818 at Memorial Stadium.

Fullback Mel Anthony cracked into the end zone. Frisly Evashevski converted and Michigan had its winning margin.

Since Illinois' strength is in the power thrusts of fullbacks Jim Grabowski and Al Wheatland behind the blocks of all-America center Dick Butkus, the call for the far pitchout was plenty far out.

first half and took a 7-0 lead on a 56-yard, 12-play second quarter drive capped by a three-yard touchdown run by halfback Dick Rindfuss.

ILLINOIS GOT its attack rolling in the third quarter and moved 93 yards in 16 plays in a blitzkrieg advance highlighted by the running and receiving of third-string halfback Ron Fearn. Wheatland scored on a plunge from the 1.

Here, Pete Elliott took a wild gamble and succeeded. Instead of sending in his sure-footed extra point kicker, Jim Plankenhorn, he elected to try for the two-point conversion. Quarterback Mike Taliaferro ran it over on a rollout option for an 8-7 advantage.

Rams' offensive coach Don Heinrich scouted the game, but was more impressed by the bulldog play of Butkus than of any of the backs. "It's too bad he's a junior," he observed. "He could be playing in our league right now."

Buckeye Gamble Misses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Penn State capitalized on a missed first down gamble by Ohio State in the third quarter and Ron Coates kicked a 23-yard field goal that produced a 10-7 upset of the 10th-ranked Buckeyes Saturday.

With the score 7-7 in the third quarter, the ground-eating Ohioans needed only one-half yard for a first down on their own 49, but a line plunge failed and the Nittany Lions, with some sensational passing by quarterback Pete Liske, moved to the Buckeye six. Then Coates booted a 23-yard field goal for the conquest.

PENN STATE, now 6-2, gave Ohio the same opportunity in the second period, surrendering the ball on downs on their own 46. Eight plays later Paul Warfield lunged five yards for a touchdown but that was Ohio's dying gasp.

In the second half, in six attempts with the ball, the hosts failed to reach Penn State territory.

Ohio State, 7-9, 6-10, lost to Penn State 10-7. OS—Warfield 5 run (Vanrahaugh kick). OS—Bowers 12 pass from Liske (Coates kick). OS—FG Coates 23. Attendance: 83,517.

'CATS BADGERED

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Harold Brandt, who had given up his starting quarterback role to Dave Fronek, came off the bench in the fourth period Saturday to lead defending Big Ten champion Wisconsin to a come-from-behind 17-14 victory over Northwestern.

The Badgers, plagued by six fumbles and two interceptions through the first three periods, rolled 89 yards for a touchdown midway through the fourth quarter to tie the score 14-14 and then, with less than two minutes to play, Fronek booted a 27-yard field goal for the victory in the Wisconsin homecoming game.

Northwestern had led twice in the game up to that point — 7-0 on a 20-yard pass from Tom Myers to tackle Tom Ziemke, who had lined up as an end, and 14-7 on Willie Stinson's 63-yard run from scrimmage with less than two minutes played in the second half.

Owls Sneak by Arkansas, 7-0

HOUSTON (UPI)—A freak fumble play and their first pass completion of the day gave the Rice Owls a 7-0 victory over Arkansas Saturday.

The victory, the third against one loss in Southwest Conference play, kept Rice in contention for the conference championship and a possible post-season bowl berth.

The Owls, their feathers flustered most of the afternoon by an aggressive Arkansas defense, penetrated the Razorbacks' 35-yard line only once during the drizzle-dampened game and that came on their successful 58-yard march for the game's lone touchdown.

LAST-MINUTE FIELD GOAL WINS FOR SMU

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—John Richey's 27-yard field goal with a scant 40 seconds left to play gave favored Southern Methodist a 9-7 Southwest Conference victory over Texas A&M Saturday.

The victory was the first in conference play for the Mustangs. It pulled them out of the cellar and shoved the Aggies into it.

The Aggies had led from the start, scoring on their first possession after a 78-yard drive with fullback Jerry Rogers going over from the one-yard line and Bob Lee tacking on the extra point.

Spartans Take Inside Track to Roses, 23-0

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Michigan State threw a blanket over Purdue's aerial offense and converted two Boilermaker fumbles into scores as it beat Purdue 23-0 Saturday.

The victory, coupled with the Illinois loss to Michigan, gave the Spartans sole possession of first place in the Big Ten and made MSU the favorite for a Rose Bowl date probably with Washington.

Michigan State had great difficulty moving against the supposedly loose Purdue defense in the first half and led only 3-0 at halftime on a 28-yard field goal by Earl Lattimer.

A PURDUE fumble had opened the way for that score, and another fumble in the third quarter set up Michigan State's first touchdown. The Spartans put the game out of reach with two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Neither team could cross midfield under its own power in the first half. Michigan

Fullback Mel Anthony cracked into the end zone. Frisly Evashevski converted and Michigan had its winning margin.

Since Illinois' strength is in the power thrusts of fullbacks Jim Grabowski and Al Wheatland behind the blocks of all-America center Dick Butkus, the call for the far pitchout was plenty far out.

L.A. 'Out' for Title Fight

The manipulating taking place to get the Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay fight "on the road" certainly will have a prominent place in any discussions of high finance in sports during the years to come.

Just where the bout will be held next February is still a guess. Best bets are still Las Vegas or Miami... possibly Denver.

Los Angeles? Any possibility of the fight held in California depends on whether a majority of the five members of the state athletic commission have changed their personal feelings of a year ago.

At that time, overtures were made to hold the Liston-Floyd Patterson bout in Los Angeles, but a poll of the commission indicated great disapproval.

What would Sonny have to do to satisfy the California commission to the point where they would issue him a license is not exactly simple, at least in Liston's particular case.

Even before Liston and Clay officially signed for the fight the past week, members of the California Athletic Commission received feelers as to just what Sonny had to do in order to get a license.

The conditions imposed appear to have ruled out the fight in California.

It is said that Liston will never fight in California unless his "books" are made available to the commission and pass a rigid inspection.

This means he must lay out his income tax returns and records that would reveal how his purses have been split.

IF HE DOES THIS and the commission finds everything in order, it would sanction the bout for Los Angeles. But as one boxing man says... "I doubt if Sonny could tell you how his purses are split."

Any light on the purse splits, of course, might prove Sonny's reputed underworld backing.

And that's the real issue behind the license in California for the champion. Very few people believe Liston has severed all connections with his former associates... as he claims.

In the meantime, a powerful foe of the Liston-Clay fight could possibly prevent it being held in California even if the commission should approve it.

He is Sol Silverman, a San Francisco attorney whom Governor Brown appointed to head a state committee on safeguards for professional boxing after the tragic death of lightweight champion Davey Moore last winter.

Silverman, who has the complete backing of the governor, labels the Liston-Clay fight "a dangerous mismatch." He adds that... "not even Joe Louis, now negotiating for the promotion of the match, thinks Clay has any chance."

INCIDENTALLY, IT IS HEARD along Cauliflower Alley that Liston and his advisor, Jack Nilon, would only consider a California bout with Louis as the promoter.

Why? First of all, Liston and Louis have become good friends in the past few months; secondly, Louis' wife, an attorney, handles some legal matters for Sonny, and third and most important reportedly is that the Liston-Nilon combine would like to use the popular Louis as a "front" for Intercontinental Promotions, Inc.

Intercontinental Promotions IS Liston. He's president of the Pennsylvania corporation. The other officers are Nilon's two brothers.

The setup would make Liston the first fighter in history to promote his own fights.

Intercontinental's first venture was to be a Liston-Clay bout this month in Philadelphia's huge Municipal Stadium.

Plans fell through when the Pennsylvania boxing commission surprisingly stepped in and refused to recognize Intercontinental as a legal promotional group after Nilon had thought he had everything set.

WITH THE CALIFORNIA commission's attitude being what it is, several top boxing figures still feel that Vegas ultimately will get the bout.

Furthermore, they think Vegas is the ideal site for the bout.

For one thing, the most important phase of the promotion will be the ancillary rights... namely pay-TV, which will produce an estimated gross gate of from $8 to $10 million.

A TV ban in Vegas, surrounded by hundreds of miles of desert, wouldn't affect the gate... but the usual 300-mile blackout definitely would hurt if the bout was held in Los Angeles.

A Vegas group has offered a $550,000 guarantee of a "live" gate as against a million in Los Angeles, but since the TV "take" in Southern California would amount to more than a live gate, the promotion would "lose" anywhere from a half-million to a million by shutting out the Southland's huge television market.

MEANWHILE, NILON HAS BEEN in Vegas the past week huddling with Mel Greb and Jack Doyle—the two local promoters under whose license Intercontinental Promotions would have to stage the fight if it is held in the Nevada resort center. Greb terms the situation "favorable."

Sonny himself was also in Vegas on another of his frequent visits to "Fun Town" over the weekend. For a man who said he hated the place while training for the Patterson fight, Liston certainly has been spending a lot of time there... a couple, sometimes three, trips a month.

Panthers Prance Past Notre Dame, 27-7

SOUTH BEND (AP)—Half-loss against two victories, turn to the Irish 25. Mazurek back Paul Martha's 92-yard held a 7-6 advantage after then took over and flipped a touchdown ramble on a kick-off return and the passing Leeson's attempted conversion, but from there on in Kuzneski before Leeson tied eighth-ranked Pitt to a Pitt took charge and rolled 27-7 victory over Notre Dame Saturday.

Martha's great run came on the kickoff following Notre Dame's only touchdown. Notre Dame, suffering its fifth game.

The Panthers went ahead 12-7 with a second-quarter touchdown keyed by Eric Crabtree's 45-yard punt re-

Sooners Survive Cyclones, 24-14

NORMAN (AP)—Sixth-ranked Oklahoma spotted the Sooners wasted no time tying the game in the second half. On Iowa State's second play, Gene Condren recovered a wild pitchout on the Iowa State 17. Fullback Jim Grisham bulled over from the one seven plays later.

The scrappy Cyclones raced to a 14-0 lead in the second quarter, driving in after recovering a Sooner fumble on the Oklahoma 14-yard line.

and sprung fullback Tom Vaughan on a 73-yard touchdown run with an Oklahoma punt.

Oklahoma, aided by a 34-yard gain on a pass interception, drove 70 yards late in the second period for its only score before intermission. The Sooners wasted no time tying the game in the second half. On Iowa State's second play, Gene Condren recovered a wild pitchout on the Iowa State 17. Fullback Jim Grisham bulled over from the one seven plays later.

Oklahoma made it 17-14 on George Jarman's 23-yard field goal from an extreme angle, and capped its scoring when Virgil Boll picked off a Cyclone pass and raced 46 yards down the sideline for a touchdown.

The Cyclones held Grisham, who ranked ninth nationally in rushing, to 64 yards in 15 carries. His only lone gainer was a 35-yard burst in the fourth quarter.

Ole Miss Tunes Attack Against Li'l Tampa, 41-0

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—Unbeaten Mississippi, streaking toward another near-perfect season, took to the airwaves Saturday for a 41-0 romp over the University of Tampa in a classic gridiron mismatch.

The powerful Rebels, third-ranked in the nation, got off to a slow start but quickly began picking up steam with two touchdowns in the second quarter, another in the third and three more in the final period. Passes accounted for all but one of the Rebels' scores.

Lothridge-Led Tech Downs Fla. St., 15-7

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI)—came roaring back when Lothridge turned sharpshooter in the second half Saturday and passed Georgia Tech to a 15-7 come-from-behind victory over the stubborn Florida Seminoles.

The Tech quarterback completed 12 of 14 passes in an 18-minute barrage that enabled the hard-pressed Yellowjackets to overcome a 7-3 halftime deficit. Tech's first touchdown, on a 23-yard pass from Lothridge to end Billy Martin, his favorite receiver, came with only 3:30 left in the third period and enabled the Yellowjackets to take the lead at 9-7 for the first time in the afternoon.

Eight minutes later, Tech

'TROUBLED' BUFFS BOW TO MISSOURI

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Missouri took a host of Colorado University troubles, gave their good luck to sophomores Gary Lane and Ken Boston, and turned them into a 28-7 Big Eight Conference win Saturday.

Lane quarterbacked the Tigers to all four touchdowns, scoring three himself, one a 69-yard run. Boston scored the other touchdown.

Each Missouri touchdown came after Colorado bumbles or had breaks, one in each quarter. The first came after pass interference, the second after a bad Buffalo punt, the third after CU missed a first down by an inch, and the fourth following a CU fumble on a fair catch.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI)—Bruising fullback Tom Nowatzke, a 220-pound junior from Michigan City, did about everything here Saturday to lead Indiana to a 20-15 victory over Oregon State before 25,895 homecoming fans.

Nowatzke, also the Hoosiers' big man in their 24-6 conquest of Minnesota last week, picked up 134 yards on 27 carries, kicked two field goals to set a school record for one season with four and booted two extra points. He scored one touchdown and intercepted a pass that stopped a Beaver march at the IU 15.

But it almost was not enough as the Beavers near-

Playhouse Scores With Tale of Battle for Woman's Vote

By SAMUEL A. BOYE
A funny thing happened at the opening of the Community Playhouse "Diamond Jubilee" production, "Right after the champagne they served up a comedy, 'Strange Bedfellows.' A comedy with a social message.

Although this Playhouse was built on comedies in which never was heard a discouraging or disturbing thought, the new presentation did not seem to cause any social heartburn or even a bellicose banker's burp.

Gales of laughter punctuated the presentation of this tale of yesterday's "sit-ins"—the bloomer brigade of the women's suffrage movement.

THE SOCIAL message helped. Without it, "Strange Bedfellows" would be another bit of minted comedy now sweeping this non-involved land.

But Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements wrote it in the you-can't-take-it-with-you era when passion, still in vogue in the arts, made a happy, if strange bedfellow with homespun humor. The result is that the old play holds up in a fairly impressive manner, though one would be out of his mind to call it a G. B. Shaw "Misalliance." It stutters a lot, especially when it is reminiscent of an old movie in which the entry of The Fat Madam with the long list of clients provides the moment of redemption. It is also handicapped by too many exits—the bugbear of non-proscenium staging.

BUT THERE is sparkplug Larry Johns, the Y. A. Tittle (with hair) of local resident directors, to pull off the Muse to one side and grab a saving "trick." In "Strange Bedfellows" he surmounts stumbling blocks by bolstering the production with beautiful people uncannily cast and exquisite costumes—the creation of the Shuman sisters, Charlotte and Katherine.

Then for added effect he builds a finely primitive confrontation scene between two potentially fine actors, worthy of more challenging material. The pair, highly photogenic, Claudene Atkinson (Clarissa Blynn Cromwell), and a Clark Gable brute of a man, Patrick Phelan (husband Matthew Cromwell), capture the nights best sustained moments in a scene in which the husband convinces the wife—after a physical struggle—that a woman's heart comes before a woman's vote. Phelan's skillful playing here was a surprise. During the first half of the night he could not make up his mind whether to be Senator Claghorn or Jumpin' Joe McCarthy—quite a spiritual gap, rather. But in the scene with lovely Claudene he shows he has raw power and in the theater power does not corrupt; it captivates.

Gil Davis as Senator Cromwell and a sure professional, Kathryn Offill, as his razor-tongued wife, Julia, vie with Miss Atkinson and Pat Phelan for the top honors.

As their married daughter, Darline Chaffee (Addie Cromwell Hampton) is a spiritual chip of her father. She accepts the second vice-presidency of the National Association Opposed to the Further-Extension-of-Suffrage-to-Women. The conflict with her sister-in-law Clarissa, the leader of the suffragettes, adds to the play's interest. Miss Chaffee plays the part quite well and as her husband, Nicky Hampton, Mark Atkinson caricatures the British so scorchingly that the next knock on his door might well be from Prime Minister Home (as in For WHOM The Bells Toll).

Aja Zanova, two-time world's figure skating champion, appears in the Ice Capades show opening in the Long Beach Arena Nov. 19.

Olympic, Canada, N.A. Ice Champs Skate Here

Barbara Wagner and Bob Paul, voted the world's greatest athletes after they skated far off ahead of any other competitors with the Olympic Games Pair Championship, will be seen for the first time in Long Beach when the Ice Capades opens an eight-performance engagement at the Arena Nov. 19.

This twosome holds not only the Olympic title, but five successive Canadian and two successive North American crowns. Barbara and Paul captured blue ribbon honors in every competition entered during the three years prior to their joining Ice Capades.

They have been skating together for ten years. But just eleven years ago, they lived just a few blocks apart in Toronto, unknown to each other.

Barbara and Bob started taking instructions under the same pro at a Toronto rink, Sheldon Galbraith, himself a former ice show veteran. Galbraith was struck by their similar style and inspired them to team up.

Magnolia Theater Tryouts Today
Tryouts for Magnolia Theater's production of "A Shot in the Dark," will be held at 2 p.m. today and 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Theater, 2400 Magnolia Ave.

Pat Brown will direct the comedy-mystery. Casting call is for two leading lady types and three mature men. Paula Talbot, wife of TV's Lyle Talbot, will star.

Crosby Has a Tiger by the Tail

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bing Crosby is successful—and he loves nothing better than to fish, hunt and play golf.

So why does he undertake a busy season of television spectaculars and movies. At 59, why doesn't he quit?

"Does a man walk out on responsibilities that have piled up around him—the people, the physical responsibilities that a man accumulates in a lifetime," he asks.

"A man in my position has a tiger by the tail.

TO SING

Anne Barrows, contralto, will appear in recital Nov. 19, 8:30 p.m., at Petroleum Club, 3636 Linden Ave., under auspices of Long Beach Chapter, Executives Secretaries Inc. Of increasing prominence in Southern California music circles, her program will include songs in Italian, French, German and English. Vernon Overmyer, well-known pianist, will be the accompanist. Gardner Roth will be the violinist. Tickets are on sale at Humphrey's Music Store. Morey's Music Store and can be purchased night of recital at Petroleum Club.

your U.S. Savings Bond won't lose its value...or even stop growing

What hasn't happened to U.S. Savings Bonds?

They've been stolen and thrown into a river. Mistakenly left in an oven and baked at 400°. Hidden in a cookie jar and eaten full of holes by hungry beetles. Forgotten in a pair of work pants and washed, bleached and spin dried. Cut into tiny pieces by an irate wife. Gnawed by mice, and gobbled up by goats.

Yet, in spite of all these misfortunes, these Bonds weren't lost to their owners. They didn't even stop growing in value.

The Treasury Department keeps a record on microfilm of every Savings Bond sold. So every bond that's lost, destroyed or stolen can be replaced. The service is free.

The safety is just one of the many reasons why U.S. Savings Bonds are the most widely held securities in the world. Another good reason why you should invest in Bonds is the important job they can do right now in making America safer from the enemies of freedom.

Buy Bonds and see if you don't feel pretty good about it.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity • You can get your money anytime
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen • You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Preview of New Bullock's Lakewood

THIS JUST-RELEASED ARCHITECT'S RENDERING shows how new Bullock's Lakewood store will appear when it is completed in mid-1965 in Lakewood Center. Designed by Welton Becket and Associates, the four-story and basement structure will express elegance through simplicity of exterior design. It will be faced by two shades of textured shell brick. Interior design is currently under way in the Becket offices and will call for elaborate and luxurious settings. The store will be erected at a cost of $7,000,000 including the land.

BULLOCK'S LAKEWOOD TOPS LIST

Stores Expanding in Area

By KEN CHILCOTE
Business Editor

With this area considered one of the best in the nation for retail sales, outstanding expansions of major retail outlets soon will be announced in Downtown Long Beach, Los Altos and Lakewood.

The expansions will see major stores either constructing large new facilities or greatly enlarging the ones now occupied.

Most of the developments are beyond the planning stage and details for many of them will be announced within the next 30 days.

LEADING THIS VAST new retail growth was the recent announcement of Bullock's coming to Lakewood Center with a huge new store at an estimated cost of $7,000,000, including the land.

To be located on the west side of Clark Avenue, about half way between Del Amo Boulevard and Hardwick Street, the four-story and basement structure is designed to be one of the most elegant on the interior in the Southland. Simplicity of design will keynote the exterior.

Construction on the 265,000 square foot store will begin early next year. Plans are now being checked by the Lakewood City Planning Commission as to the ground layout and parking facilities.

TWO MAJOR PROJECTS are set for Downtown Long Beach, both awaiting completion of architect's plans and Building Department approval.

One involves a major expansion of a leading department store, in which adjacent structures will be taken over as the store will add some major departments.

The other will be the complete remodeling of a long vacant downtown corner building into a major bank structure with four-story parking facilities next door.

In Los Altos, where an expansion program has been continuous the past year, the shopping center not only will see many new structures erected in the coming months but some of the present buildings will be expanded by the addition of one or two floors.

CONSTRUCTION is to start soon at Los Altos Center, located at Stearns Street and Bellflower Boulevard, on a seven-acre development which will see such

At Lakewood Center, final plans are in New York awaiting approval on a 165,000 square foot building for a nationwide retail store; and plans are nearly complete on a 30,000 foot structure for a leading California clothing firm.

It is known that Joseph K. Eichenbaum, head of the Lakewood Center development firm, is negotiating with some nationally known, high fashioned ready-to-wear stores for a new mall development.

Plans are complete for development of a big Cinema theater in the center.

A NEW MASS MARKET for top retail sales has developed throughout this area, according to several surveys made by national agencies. Such surveys were used by some of the major concerns now coming into the area.

Sales Management, the magazine of marketing, stressed how the area has become a center of the rising middle income group and the impact of this group will be all-pervasive in touching upon sales strategies, advertising appeals, price lines, store locations and product demand.

The magazine listed 50 metropolitan markets with the largest number of "middle wealthies" or families with incomes of $15,000 and up, and the list showed the Long Beach metropolitan area rated second in the nation.

BUILDERS NOTED the gain in the better income group months ago and began building more homes in the $20,000 to $35,000 class and found a ready market for them.

Sales Management pointed out that top income producers, geographically speaking, tend to bunch up in large clusters. Hence, the rapid success in sales of the high priced homes.

And those homes, plus the new costly high-rise apartments in the Long Beach area, are bringing into the area the better income group, hence, the growth of the retail market and the better grade of retail outlets.

Big Huntington Beach Project Gets Backing

By BOB GEIVET

HUNTINGTON BEACH — A combine of internationally-known firms is now aligned with the Huntington Beach Co. in its planning, designing and financing of multi-million dollar improvements to the company's vast acreage on the city's west side.

Into the major development program have come the Starwood Corp. of New York, a financial consulting firm dealing with complex projects in venture capital; the Royal Street Corp. of New Orleans, a subsidiary company set up as a building firm; Curtis and Davis, architects and engineers of New York and New Orleans; and the land planning firm of Harman, O'Donnell and Henninger, of Denver.

ALL WILL PUT key representatives in the field this week, to begin their part of planning the Huntington Beach Co. projects.

Field headquarters will be built at 2110 Main St., adjoining the Huntington Beach Co. ranch offices.

New Ralphs Market Set

Ralphs supermarket chain has announced plans to build a new store at 10th Street and Cherry Avenue, Long Beach.

The structure is expected to be ready for occupancy next March. When it is completed, the present store building at the corner will be demolished.

The new 24,000-square-foot building is being designed by Leach, Cleveland & Associates of Los Angeles. It will be of split-face concrete block, with terrazzo floors, and will be air conditioned.

E. A. Hartsook, the company manager, and George Sheridan, his land planner, said that the work schedule calls for completion of market research studies in 30 days, the master plan within six months, and construction to be started within 18 months.

Involved is the conversion of 1,400 acres into plush apartment, residential and hotel developments; improvements of beach frontages, and finally the dredging of marsh lands into a major inland pleasure port. It will adjoin Huntington Harbour (cg) and be similar, but more elaborate, in its concept.

HARTSOOK SAID that "by combining forces with the Starwood group, the Huntington Beach Co. will have access to a strong financially-based institution and some of the finest land-planning, architectural and building talent in America today."

Starwood and Royal Street Corp. are headed by Edgar B. Stern Jr. The concerns financed and built the Royal Orleans Hotel in New Orleans and are finishing a $50 million medical complex in West Berlin. The architectural and land planning firms also were involved in those projects.

Hartsook said that the Victor Gruen Associates of Los Angeles, land planners and designers; and Quinton Engineers, Ltd., of Long Beach, will continue in a consulting capacity with Huntington Beach Co.

Lyle Huggins Heads Insurance Agents

Lyle Huggins is the new president of the California Association of Insurance Agents, the first Long Beach man to have been elected to this office. Installation was held at the annual convention of the association at the Hotel del Coronado, San Diego, with Stafford R. Grady, commissioner, California Department of Insurance, as the installing officer.

Huggins, a former president of the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Long Beach, was also honored by the local group who gave him a special hand-made gavel and an antique French telephone. Presentation was made by Art Ebright, president of the local group.

HUGGINS HAS SERVED on the CAIA board of directors since 1958, becoming secretary-treasurer of the association in 1962 and vice president last year. He owns and operates the Lyle Huggins Insurance Agency in Long Beach.

Huggins is a board member of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, a past president of the Long Beach Masonic Club, Travelers' Aid Society, and Community Volunteer Office. He is secretary-treasurer of the Long Beach Community Chest and a member of Kiwanis International. He lives at 5550 Anaheim Road.

Other Long Beach agents who attended the CAIA con-

Head of U.S. National Bank and Westgate to Address Jubilee Event

C. Arnholt Smith, president and chairman of the board of the United States National Bank, and president of Westgate California Corporation, will be featured speaker at the Long Beach Diamond Jubilee Industry Day luncheon Thursday.

During the day commerce and industry in Long Beach will be showcased with events to spotlight companies and individuals who have contributed to the city's economic growth.

The luncheon will be held in the Empire Room of the Edgewater Inn Marina Motel, 6400 E. Pacific Coast Highway, beginning at 12:15 p.m.

"AS CHIEF executive for the two organizations, Smith oversees a total operation of more than 1,200 employees and combined resources of more than $292,000,000," said Fred Dean, Industry Day committee chairman.

Smith has an intimate knowledge and appreciation for the mutual problems and interests of business, industry and the community, and is one of the most prominent exponents of free enterprise to speaking this year in the Long Beach area.

C. A. SMITH
Speaks Thursday

Since its expansion program began in 1950, the U.S. National Bank has grown from a single branch in San Diego to a 28-branch system with offices in the five key counties of San Diego, Orange, Riverside, Los Angeles and San Bernardino.

IN THE last five years, deposits have risen from $108,000,000 in 1958 to $203,000,000 in 1962.

In addition to stock holdings in the U.S. National Bank, Westgate California Corporation owns all buildings and prime business property of 25 of the U.S. National Bank's branches.

Westgate also has extensive holdings in real estate, agriculture, food products, transportation and financial investment.

16 Cities Included in New South Coast Industrial Council

Formation of the South Coast Industrial Development Council, representing 16 communities, was announced the past week.

Neil Fitzgerald, past president of the Lakewood Chamber of Commerce and head of its Industrial Development Committee, is chairman of the new council.

Fitzgerald, a Union Development Company executive, was elected to a one-year term during a recent meeting in Paramount that included adoption of the council's organizational policy and objectives.

He stated one of the group's primary objectives will be improved communication between communities and establishment of a problem-solving environment that could increase the effectiveness of local industrial development programs.

"WE ALSO HOPE that by getting to know each other better we can substantially improve our abilities as salesmen for the entire South Coast region," Fitzgerald said.

Council membership includes Chamber of Commerce presidents and Industrial Development Committee chairmen from the following areas: Artesia, Bellflower, Carson, Compton, Dominguez, Lakewood, Long Beach, Los Alamitos, Paramount, San Pedro, Seal Beach, Signal Hill, Torrance, Westminster and Wilmington.

Westminster Has Gain in Construction

WESTMINSTER — Building activities in Westminster topped the $3 million figure during October to produce the most business of any month this year. The record figure raised the year's total to $10,233,163.

Residential construction led the list of 331 permits granted. There were 113 permits for single family dwellings worth $2,200,895, one triplex for $12,000 and 13 apartments for $495,485.

Three commercial buildings, valued at $149,700 were authorized for construction, and miscellaneous permits included 19 for alterations and additions, valued at $37,000.

During the month, 11 permits for swim pools valued at $28,400 were authorized.

Bixby Co. Builds Office Structure

Under construction at 5453-59 E. Stearns St., Long Beach, is a 5,000-square-foot one-story office structure being built by Bixby Land Co.

Tenants will be Mutual of New York, insurance firm; Claude Ryerson, realtor; and Seaboard Finance Co., it was announced by Llewellyn Bixby Jr.

The building was designed by Killingsworth, Brady & Associates, and Wallace L. Wilson is the contractor.

NLB Realty Club to Hear Tax Facts

The Realty Tax & Service Co., a subsidiary of the Title Insurance & Trust Co., will present a speaker for the North Long Beach Real Estate Club's Thursday breakfast meeting. Subject will be "Real Estate Tax Facts" as they concern brokers and salesmen.

The club meets at 8 a.m. in the "Midnight Sun" restaurant, 5925 Cherry Avenue.

Three Branch Banks Being Remodeled

Construction and remodeling projects totaling nearly $300,000 for three Long Beach branches of Bank of America, have been announced.

Over $170,000 has been allocated for remodeling work at the Long Beach main office at the corner of Pine Ave. and Fourth St., according to vice president and manager, Roland E. Robbins. Robbins said a complete new air conditioning system with a capacity of 73 tons is being installed in the main work at the Third and Long Beach Blvd. branch. The project includes new lighting, fixtures, suspended acoustical ceiling, enlarged mechanical cage facilities, modernized elevator to safe deposit area and redecorating of the building interior.

COMPLETION of the work is set for early next year. The Bixby Knolls branch at 3804 Atlantic Ave. is being enlarged with the main banking area converted into a double sided operation. Construction, at a cost of nearly $40,000, is scheduled for completion this year. Also scheduled for completion this year are the alterations and air conditioning work at the Third and Long Beach Blvd. branch. The project includes new lighting, fixtures, suspended acoustical ceiling, enlarged mechanical cage facilities, modernized elevator to safe deposit area and redecorating of the building interior.

6.3% Sales Gain Hailed

J. C. Penney Company's which prevailed throughout New York City office has announced a 6.3 per cent sales increase for the firm in October. The department store chain said volume climbed to record $151,214,239 against $142,208,920 last year despite unseasonably warm weather.

Sears Will Open New Catalog Store in Lakewood Center

Opening soon of a new Sears, Roebuck & Co. Appliance and Catalog Sales store at 5249 Lakewood Blvd. has been announced by J. G. Lowe, Sears district manager at Los Angeles.

Manager of the Lakewood Center store will be Jack Butcher of Westminster, who has been employed by the Sears Long Beach, Torrance and Compton retail stores, as well as in the Los Angeles district office and Los Angeles Central Service Division of the company, in various assignments.

BUTCHER is a graduate of Wilson High in Long Beach and of Occidental College. "Sears-Lakewood manager will be our local manager in every sense of the word," Lowe said, "and will exercise considerable authority in operating the store. It will be his duty to discharge the responsibility of corporate citizenship for which Sears is noted."

JACK BUTCHER Named Manager

The new Sears-Lakewood Appliance and Catalog Sales Store structure will have a gross area of 5,500 square feet, of which approximately two-thirds will be devoted to selling area.

October Building Permits Tally $8.5 Million at H.B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH—This city scored another booming month in building during October, when permit valuations zoomed to $8.5 million compared to $7.5 million for the like period last year.

Total thus far this year is $68 million. Last year it was $66 million. Up to October, the valuation total was more than the entire year of 1962. It is expected, a Building Department spokesman said, that the 12-month figure for this year will hit the $90 million mark, and it could go even higher. Last year the city's permit valuation was fourth in the state behind Los Angeles, Long Beach and San Diego.

Van Lizen is a past vice president and currently a director of the North Long Beach Realty Club.

The new office is staffed by Marshall Snyder, Marie Hogan, Josie Osborn and Vernon Cupper.

Marketing Forum Set for Thursday

"A broker looks at the market and tells you what he sees" will be the theme of an evening with the firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., Santa Ana branch, of this member of the New York Stock Exchange and other principal stock and commodity exchanges.

"The free forum is open to the public and will be held Thursday in the Tropical room, Elks Lodge, 4101 E. Willow St., Long Beach, commencing at 7:30 p.m.," it was stated by Norman Dahl, resident manager.

HE REMEMBERS WHEN

Long-time Long Beach resident Gustav Schwartz (seated) is helping the city's 75th anniversary program by purchasing a Diamond Jubilee pin, sale of which is sponsored by Long Beach Realtors. Making the sale here are Joe and Midge Balder, members of the Realty Board.

'Oldtimer' Buys Jubilee Pin--Recalls Hitching Posts

Gustav Schwartz of 6116 Lime Ave., a resident of Long Beach since 1909, can recall when Pine Avenue "was all hitching posts."

"I heard California was a glorious land and Long Beach was a seaside paradise," he commented recently when he purchased a Diamond Jubilee pin to help commemorate the city's 75th anniversary, and when asked why he had come to Long Beach 54 years ago. "I wasn't disappointed," he added. "I hope everyone will give support to help make the 75th anniversary of this wonderful city a pip of a success."

Schwartz bought his Jubilee pin from Realtors Joe and Midge Balder in their office at 6066 Atlantic Ave. Long Beach Realtors are cooperating to sell the pins to boost the Jubilee program.

GG Realtors to Hear FHA Man

Members of the Garden Grove Board of Realtors will learn the latest information on FHA conversions when Deputy Director Ray R. Moore addresses the board at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday at Cape Cod House.

Moore has been employed by FHA since 1952, having started at that time as an administrative assistant in San Diego. In addition to several administrative positions, he has had experience in Title I (home improvement) and Mortgage Credit sections. He became a member of the Santa Ana staff when the office opened on Nov. 1, 1961.

The program Tuesday will be presented by W. W. Stewart, first vice president. The board also will hold election of officers and directors for 1964 on Tuesday.

Educator Will Address Realtors

Professor Al Campbell of Mt. San Jacinto College, Beaumont, will discuss "Education in the Real Estate Field" in a talk to Long Beach realtors Tuesday.

Campbell will be guest speaker at the local realty board's 7:15 a.m. breakfast meeting at the Crown cafeteria, according to Millie Coine Sanders, program chairman.

He is a resident of Fullerton and is instructor in several real estate courses.

Deep Freeze Speeds Milling of Metals at Douglas Plant

By LEE CRAIG

Aerospace Editor Freezing super alloy metals to as low as 70 degrees below zero before milling them has enabled Long Beach Douglas plant engineers to fabricate intricate parts 20 times faster.

The sub-zero freezing method, used to make production parts for the new DC-9 transport and other Douglas products, has reduced costs dramatically, a Douglas spokesman said, times.

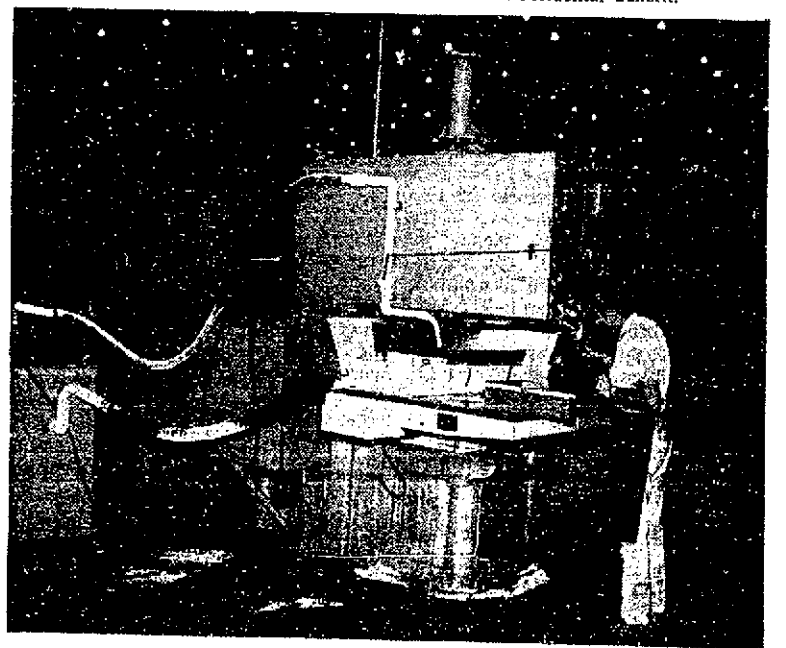

Tooling engineers discovered that tough steels, titanium and the refractory metals become more plastic in super-cold conditions and can be cut more easily.

THE FINISHED PARTS are unaffected by the intense cold, which causes no change in their metallurgical structures.

Another advantage of the method is that operating life of the cutting tools is increased from six to nine Engineers modified a standard milling machine to permit attachment of a deep freeze box to obtain the extremely low temperatures.

In the box, dry ice refrigerates a coolant which is protected through a 1½-inch hose to make contact only with the work metal and the cutting head. A second hose returns the coolant to the box in a continuous cycle, washing away metal chips from the cutting operation as an incidental benefit.

THAT'S FROST ON THE HOSE LINES

Deep freeze box on left provides continuous flow of refrigerated coolant to reduce temperature of an intricate super alloy metal part at the Douglas Aircraft Division in Long Beach. Because these alloys become plastic at extreme temperatures below zero, this technique increases rate of metal removal on a standard milling machine 20 times over previous operations at normal shop temperatures. Douglas operator uses tracing attachment to direct cutting of the part for the Douglas DC-9 "Compact Jet." Frost on the hoses shows the intense cold created by the unique system.

Westmont's Tenth Unit Again Has Bonus Room

Westmont's new "lucky room to grow and wish to fireplace, paneling, large family room, built-in gas kitchen, tile counter tops and eating room as playroom, rumpus area, den or as extra bedrooms.

BESIDES the bonus room, the landscaping, sprinklers and block wall, the Westmont homes also include carpet.

Hailed by the pioneer building firm, George M. Holstein and Sons, as their "lucky unit" because of the four big extras included to buyers, Westmont homes are priced from $22,500 and include landscaping, sprinklers, block wall, and the big 440 square foot bonus room.

The new unit makes available once again all plans and exteriors with the bonus room once more proving a real hit with buyers who need

Twilight Timed for Speed Cut

WICHITA (AP) — The Kansas Highway Patrol daily broadcasts the time the sun sets. "Officers have to know," explained a patrol dispatcher, "because the night speed goes into effect 30 minutes after sunset."

The Westmont location has proved to be one of the planned community's largest appeals to the family home buyer. Centered in the development is a new school site, park, and near by is new shopping and recreation. The beach is less than five minutes from any home, the developers pointed out.

Financing includes FHA, Veteran, and conventional. Models are left of Highway 39 just three miles South of 7th St. and one mile East of the highway on Warner Ave.

NEW WESTMONT HOME

This new three-bedroom home with extra large family room and big over-the-garage bonus room is among those included in the new 'lucky tenth' unit at George M. Holstein and Sons' Westmont community, near Long Beach, in Fountain Valley. They are priced from $22,450.

Friendliness of Small Town Attracts Sun City Residents

SUN CITY—Younger people are finding Sun City more and more attractive every day although residence here is restricted to people who are 50 or more—with partners of any adult age—a sales executive of this retirement community noted.

"Brought to California by opportunity in its booming economy," said W. F. (Bill) Sinsabaugh, general sales manager for the Del E. Webb Corporation, "these younger people, still many years away from retirement themselves, see in Sun City the opportunity of having their parents closer to them, in a healthy, invigorating climate and with facilities for active enjoyment of their retirement years."

"THESE WORKING younger people find for their parents at Sun City," the sales executive declared, "the friendliness and companionship of a small town with all the conveniences of a modern city and an atmosphere of independent and informal country-club living."

Sun City now has an 18-hole championship length golf course, a complete shopping center already scheduled for early expansion, a medical center, Del Webb's Kings Inn where visitors to Sun City

"THE LOCATION of the Webb retirement community, just 22 miles south of Riverside on U. S. Highway 305 and halfway between Los Angeles and San Diego and less than an hour's drive from ocean beaches, mountain resorts and picnic areas," stated Sinsabaugh, "is convenient for family get-togethers on weekends and holidays. Children and grandchildren, although they may not live in Sun City, are frequent and welcome guests."

Sun City homes range in price from $10,950 to $18,650.

Stock Option Plan Approved

FULLERTON — Stockholders of Hunt Foods and Industries, Inc., meeting at the company's Fullerton headquarters recently, reelected the 16 members of the board of directors, approved a stock option plan for executives, and heard Hunt's president, Norton Simon, tell of the new products Hunt is putting into distribution.

Hunt directors declared the regular quarterly cash dividends of 12½¢ on common stock and $1.25 on preferred stock, payable Nov. 29 with a Nov. 18 record date. and models open daily include one and two-bedroom cooperative plan apartments and two and three-bedroom individual homes. PLEASING INTERIOR

Here is a view of the interior of one of the Sol Vista Homes in the Westminster International Home Fair. The dining room, breakfast bar and attractive kitchen have big appeal to the home buyer.

Sol Vista Stresses Increase in Values

"Land values in Orange County have increased steadily for a number of years. The boom has been most pronounced in the past 2½ years," according to John F. Euston, general manager of Alco-Pacific Construction Co. in Westminster. Alco-Pacific builds Sol-Vista homes and is currently developing the 565 homes International Home Fair in that city.

Euston points out, "Improved lots at the International Home Fair have increased in value by more than $1000 in the year the project has been underway."

ADD A VALUE-PACKED home and a fully developed community and Euston figures the International Home Fair is a value difficult to match. The three, four and five-bedroom homes have two and two-and-one-half bathrooms and sell from $23,050 with FHA, Cal Vet and conventional financing available. The homes have one and two stories and new color-coordinated, all-gas Caloric kitchens.

Moods, colors and ideas from all over the world have been incorporated into the International theme of the Home Fair with flags of many nations joining the American and California State flags which fly over a striking sales pavilion where new products and construction features are displayed and demonstrated.

The International Home Fair is located in the center of this growth area at the corner of Bolsa Chica and Westminster Avenue.

Electric Kitchens Win Builder Award

An award for outstanding achievement in all-electric kitchen design has been presented to New Horizons-South Bay, one of the nation's first adult recreation and garden home communities.

The award, a bronze plaque, was presented to Ray Watt, New Horizons-South Bay builder-developer, by Robert A. McWhinney, district manager of Hotpoint, during recent opening ceremonies at the $18 million Gold Medallion project on Sepulveda Blvd. in Torrance.

The electric kitchens include range and oven, dishwasher, disposer, hood and Stantony warming oven. In addition, the award cited New Horizons' use of electric radiant ceiling heating and hot water heating.

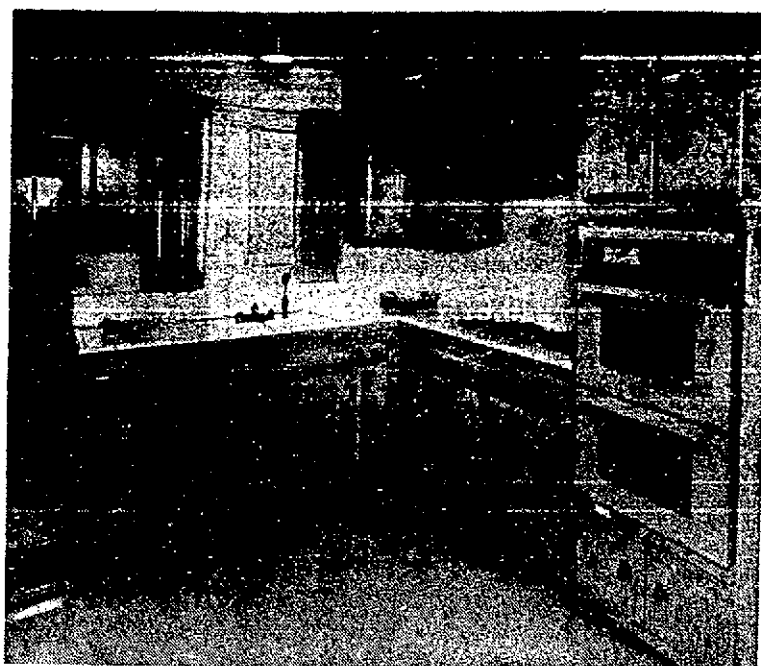

ALSO COMMENDED by Hotpoint were the employment of underground utilities and utilization of a new concept in land planning and development in which complete residential and recreational living is provided by combining advantage of individual home ownership with maintenance-free benefits of apartment living, according to McWhinney.

New Horizons, when completed, will contain 600 garden homes. Already open for A. Watt, New Horizons-South Bay display are the 10,000-square-foot clubhouse and recreation building; a nine-hole 3-par golf course; a putting green surrounded by a lake; swimming pool, shuffleboard, paddle tennis, ping pong, horseshoes and croquet facilities.

Residency, according to Bob Norton, is limited to families in which one spouse must be 35 years old or more, or to single persons 35 years old or more. No children less than 18 may be permanent residents.

Convenient Location Appeals to Garden Park Estate Buyers

proposed community will be within close walking or driving reach of all outside needs," they added.

This would include convenience to schools — from the elementary to college level; handy access to freeways, churches, employment centers, shopping facilities, and diversified recreational activities.

AT GARDEN PARK ESTATES, there are eight schools in the community; Knott's Berry Farm, the ocean and Disneyland are a short drive away; freeways are close; the cities of Long Beach, Garden Grove and Santa Ana provide many job opportunities, and churches of all denominations are well represented in the area.

Along with a desirable location, Garden Park Estates' homes are quality constructed — built to promise a lifetime of service and comfort.

Featured in these homes are red cedar shingle or crushed rock roofs; stone and brick exterior veneer and planters in most plans; sliding glass door and sliding aluminum windows — guaranteed weather tight; lawns seeded front, sides and rear; parkway trees in; street lights and sewers in, and all city utilities in and paid for.

A POPULAR SELLER at Garden Park Estates is the beautiful two-story home. Built with five bedrooms, a large living room and dining room and ample space was included for the divergent needs of the entire family. Priced moderately from $18,975 to $26,250, financing is arranged for the individual buyer. Monthly payments are from $103.00.

Furnished models are open daily at Knott Ave., and Garden Grove Freeway in Orange County.

Lakewood East Homes Designed to Provide Utmost in Privacy

LAKEWOOD EAST HOME

Privacy for all family members, due to a floor plan which avoids all "pass-through" traffic, is what S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders, say this Lakewood East home features.

Homes feature well-planned livability with the accent on privacy for all family members, stated Thomas Richie, marketing director of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders.

"A skillfully designed floor plan which avoids all "pass-through" traffic and the privacy of an entry hall and center hall are the features we stress in these homes," Richie continued. "The upstairs dormer windows in the two-story model give added spaciousness and a pleasant view."

THE FLOOR PLAN of these three and four-bedroom, two-full-bath homes provides an "island" kitchen with breakfast bar leading to the dining-living room in one model. Sliding picture window-doors in aluminum frames leads to the patio. All models stress a large amount of wardrobe and cupboard space. A completely fenced rear yard and a landscaped front yard is provided with each home.

Kitchens have built-in ranges and ovens with a hood and exhaust fan. A disposal unit is also included. Wall-to-wall carpeting is included in the purchase price from $21,100 and down payments from $295.

Builders Exchange to Meet Nov. 18

A symposium on "Today's Answers to Tomorrow's Problems of Automation" will feature the Nov. 18 meeting of Builders' Exchange of Long Beach.

Speaker and moderator will be James O. Plusch, associate dean of the Long Beach City College Business and Technology Division.

The meeting will be at the Lafayette Hotel, with dinner at 7 p.m., preceded by a cocktail hour.

Major items for discussion will be prospects of shorter work week hours for labor, Models are located between Del Amo Blvd. and Centralia Road, one block west of Roselton in the city of Lakewood.

New Director for Hunsaker

S. V. Hunsaker & Sons announce the election of William H. Schwebel to their board of directors.

Schwebel is a veteran of 38 years in the aircraft industry. He spent the larger part of his career with the Fairchild Aviation interest principally with the Fairchild Aviation Corp. and the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., where he guided their financial policies.

Prior to joining Fairchild in 1925 as secretary and treasurer he had acquired five years' experience in industrial and public accounting positions and practices.

New Concept of Living at College Green in Fullerton

College Green, Fullerton's first cluster home development, has opened with thousands attending to review the maintenance-free concept of living. All landscaping, gardening and exterior maintenance of homes and facilities are handled for residents, according to Ted E. Gildred, president of Foresight Homes (subsidiary of Costa Pacifica, Inc., Costa Mesa), developers.

College Green is a "totally planned" development of 140 homes with the first 70 nearing completion.

Individual homes are set in interesting clusters in the garden environment. Exterior elevations vary throughout each group to avoid monotonous sameness. Individual privacy is enhanced through planned placement of houses in a natural environment.

Recreational facilities include swimming and wading pools, cabanas, shuffleboard courts, putting greens and barbecues. There are separate children's play areas.

ONE- AND TWO-STORY homes sell from $21,950 to $26,950 with as little down as $950 and with 30-year 90 per cent financing available. Five floor plans and many elevations offer exciting design innovations such as: two-story living room, balconies,

L.B. Group at New York City

The Long Beach District Board of Realtors was well represented today at the National Association of Real Estate Boards convention in New York City, which opened Friday and runs through Wednesday.

Those arranging to attend: John Webster, president of the Long Beach board; E. T. Moore; Barbara Moss, secretary treasurer of the board; Dorothy E. Annis, executive secretary; Ruby Evland, director; Mr. and Mrs. John Highstone; Harry Newton; Isabel Patterson; Clive Graham, NAREB vice president; Reg Dupuy, NAREB director; and Bill Brooks, president of the California Section of the Society of Industrial Real Estate Boards.

To reach the models, take the Riverside Freeway to College Blvd., travel north to Orangehorpe, right one block to Placentia Ave., north to Palm Drive, right one block to Bradford Ave. and right one block to College Green (Both the Santa Ana and Newport Freeways connect with Riverside Freeway.)

Bellflower Group Among Delegates

BELLFLOWER—The Bellflower District Board of Realtors has seven representatives at the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards now under way in New York City.

President-elect Paul M. Williams and Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Boggs, Gladys Leahy, Lena F. Jenkins and executive secretary Sue E. Harris from the local board joined the 8,000 board members from all parts of the country attending the convention.

Boggs, honorary life member of the local board, is a member of Omega Tau Rho, NAREB.

Mrs. Jenkins, president of the Women's Council, Bellflower board, will participate in a program sponsored by the Women's Council, NAREB, and will represent new councils in a panel discussion of chapter presidents selected from the many Women's Councils in the association. The panel discussion will be held Monday and will present the problems of the councils from five different points of view.

Tiara Estate Home Filled With Luxury

Home buyers should "measure" the residence they plan to purchase to assure that a number of factors are present which will contribute to fine living; and any yardstick applied to Tiara Estates Treasure Series Homes in Garden Grove will more than amply cover its attributes, reports Dick Murray, sales director, Farrow Realty Corp.

At the development individualization of homes creates a fashionable community and builds in property appreciation for future value, he said. Homes, he said, are diverse in floor plans and exteriors, and are set within a well-planned development of split-level, one and one-half-story residences which assures styl-

Meredith Village

Meredith Village's
New Models Appeal

With five completely furnished models, Meredith Village, the 155 community of split-level and two-story homes in Orange County, located between Santa Ana, Tustin and Orange, is drawing enthusiastic home buyers to see their latest offerings. It was announced this week-end by the Meredith Co.

The fine residential community of homes, built by Edy Meredith, president of Meredith Co., features a complete "street of models" with all the landscaping full grown so that the prospective residents of the community may visualize the total effect of a Meredith home.

ONE OF the newest models to draw crowds has been the Craigmont in three different exteriors. One that has excited the most comment from home buyers, features an exterior typical of the Old Colonial charm of the lush mansions of another day. The Craigmont models feature 6 bedrooms and 3,200 square feet with large family rooms, formal dining rooms, large and spacious living rooms, six bedrooms and three baths and two and three-car garages.

In addition to the new six-bedroom models, Meredith Village is also featuring four and five-bedroom homes with three baths in the varying sizes of living space from 2,700 to 2,800 square feet. All the Meredith homes feature three baths and all feature formal dining rooms and all the homes are all electric.

Meredith Village is located on Prospect a few blocks north of 17th Street from Santa Ana.

A First Cast

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Al Schansberg performed a ceremonial first cast recently at the opening of a new park lake. A one-pound bass performed a ceremonial first bite and Schansberg reeled it in.

SOVEREIGN PARK UNIT SHOWN

Sovereign Park Cooperative Apartments are totally electric, including roomy all-electric kitchens which are flameless, clean and cool. At the far end of the adjoining dining area are sliding glass doors which lead to owner's private patio or sundeck.

Sales Start Today on Sovereign Park Units

R. D. Keillor, president of Sovereign Development Co., announced the opening today of a Sovereign Park Estates furnished model apartment home at 5110 Atherton St., Long Beach.

The site is near Clark Ave. on Atherton. Manager of the projected $4 million, 156 unit development is Mrs. Billie M. Hayes.

According to Mrs. Hayes, the model apartment-home will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. weekdays, and from 10:00 to 6:00 Saturdays and Sundays.

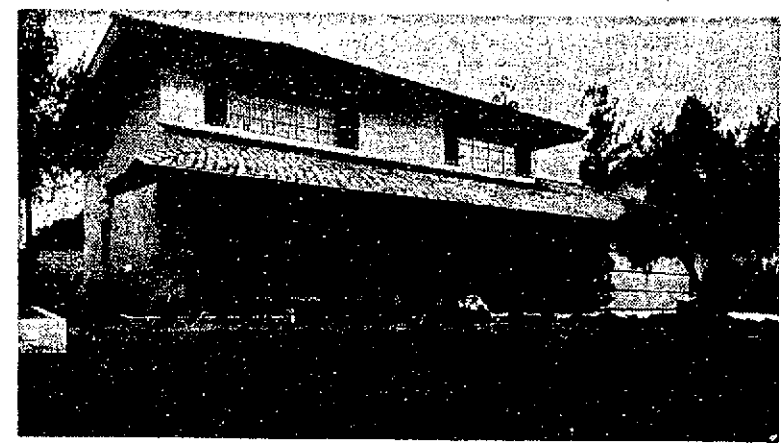

Purchasers will choose from 10 different floor plans, ranging from 730 to 1700 square feet of living area. The luxury appointments of the cooperative apartment-homes will be augmented for future residents by five heated swimming pools and five recreation rooms.

THE UNITS will be sold to future owner-residents prior to construction. Co-operative stock ownership in the Sovereign Park Corp., offers the opportunity of custom design of the apartments, prior to construction. Choice of color schemes, ceramic tile or formica in kitchen and baths, light fixtures, and other custom features is extended to purchasers. These Gold Medalion Apartment-homes feature General Electric kitchens and electric radiant heating.

A resident owner may purchase a share of stock in the Sovereign Park Corp. for as low as $590, with an estimated monthly payment of $114.50. This estimated monthly payment includes prorated payments on principal, interest, taxes, insurance, maintenance and reserve fund, and finance fees. Approximately 65% of the monthly payment is tax deductible in the opinion of counsel.

LANDSCAPED garden areas include patios, barbecues, recreation rooms, and heated pools. All outside areas are maintained from the low monthly payments to enable residents to enjoy the leisure that co-operative apartment-home living provides.

Sovereign Development Co., under president Keillor, has achieved a pioneer position in Southern California in construction of cooperative apartment-homes. Projects completed or nearing completion are the Del Amo Pacific, 3300 W. Carson, Torrance, the Fair-Oaks in South Pasadena, and the Coldwater Peyton in Burbank. Sovereign has on the drawing boards, a multi-million dollar high rise co-operative apartment project in Redondo Beach.

Low-Priced Big Homes Selling Fast

Low move-in price and the total cost of under $20,000 for a three or four-bedroom home with three baths, are big attractions at Cameron Homes in Huntington Beach.

In fact, reports Evan T. Jenkins, the builder, the final unit is now moving rapidly and a sellout is predicted shortly.

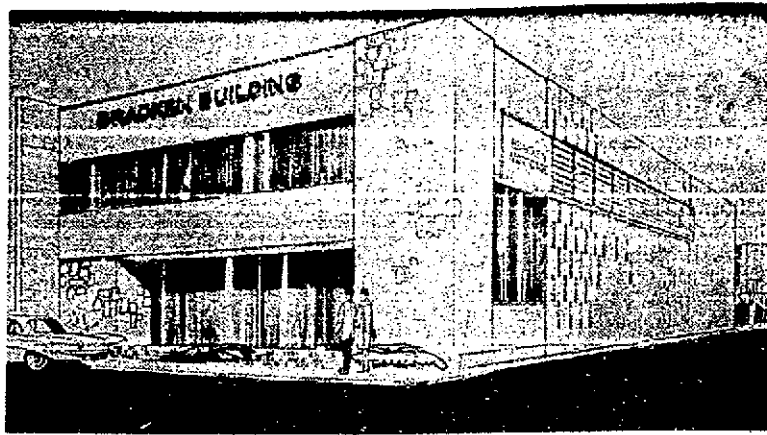

Cameron Home community is located on Newman Ave. just off Beach Blvd., in Huntington Beach. All the homes contain three bathrooms, three or four bedrooms and a family room.

BUILDER JENKINS points out that these are just the principal attractions of the homes.

"We have the usual things other builders include as features: Forced-air heating, vinyl tile floors, pullman lavatories and so on; yet no other builder offers three bathrooms, fencing, carpets, drapes and an inside service porch.

Low move-in costs from $495 prevail.

The models are easily reached from the Long Beach area by taking Seventh east to Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) Turn south on Beach to Newman Street (1/4 mile south of Warner Ave.), turn left on Newman to Cameron Homes in Huntington Beach.

BRACKEN MORTGAGE BUILDING

This two-story office building is under construction on Pacific Coast Highway near Long Beach Boulevard. The building was designed by Kenneth Wing and is being built by Wesley Badger for Glenn R. Bracken.

Office Building for Glenn Bracken

Construction has been started on a two-story office building near the corner of Pacific Coast Hwy. and Long Beach Blvd. for the Bracken Mortgage Co., a third generation business in Long Beach.

The structure was designed by Kenneth Wing and will feature all-electric heating and air conditioning, sound-engineered lighting, stereo music piped to all suites and landscaped parking facilities. The building has been awarded the Gold Medalion by the American Bonded Escrow Co. will be one of the major tenants of the new building. Other rental suites will be available with ample offstreet parking for each.

GLENN R. BRACKEN is the president of the Bracken Mortgage Co. and the owner of the new building. His company is engaged in the investment of funds in real-estate trust deeds for insurance companies, savings and loan associations, trust departments, and private lenders.

Bracken is a graduate of the California Institute of Technology and of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. For three years he was a professor of Real Estate Finance and Investments at the University of Southern California.

Among other civic activities, he is a director of the Long Beach Better Business Bureau.

El Dorado Park Estates Offer Gracious Living at Its Best

AN EL DORADO PARK ESTATE

Here is an artist's rendering of home in El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach. Prestige community is located adjacent to El Dorado Park and golf course and this home is typical of the luxurious three and four-bedroom homes of split-level, one-story and two-story designs available.

El Dorado Park Estates are homes designed to appeal to those who desire more from a home than just a roof, contend the officials of the prestige walled-in community located on Spring and Claremore, adjacent to El Dorado City Park and Golf Course.

Especially planned to answer the home owner's desire for luxury and provide maximum conditions for gracious family living, El Dorado Park Estates present a varied selection of architect-designed customized homes in one, two-story and split-level models. Built in both contemporary and traditional architecture, these spacious plans include three, four and five bedrooms, family rooms, formal dining rooms, master bedroom suites, and two and three baths.

ALL OF the homes have one or two wood-burning fireplaces; the baths have marble-topped pullman lavatories and fine ceramic tile; electrical fixtures are custom designed; and the attractive, functional all-electric kitchens are equipped with a built-in range, double wall oven and fully automatic dishwasher. Quality built with superior products, these estate-like homes are constructed with lath and plaster walls and acoustical ceilings, forced-air heating, insulation, roofs of wood shingle or optional wood shake, exotic planters and exterior veneers of brick, wood and dramatic stone, and concrete patios, service walks and driveways.

Drive east on Spring to El Dorado Park Estates at Claremore, just east of the park.

Family Buys Third Home Built by Watt

When the Wayne Holmes family moves into their Scottsdale Town House residence in December it will mark the third time the 40-year-old Torrance insurance salesman has purchased a home built by Ray Watt, one of the nation's largest community developers and home builders.

Ten years ago Holmes purchased his first Watt-built home, a single family residence in Watt's Sun Ray Estates, Torrance. Four years later he sold it to buy a larger home in the same development.

Last month he decided upon the purchase of a residence in Scottsdale Town Houses because "my wife and I lead very busy lives and we want to spend our spare time in the many recreational pursuits which Scottsdale provides," he said, "and we also felt that the recreational facilities will be ideal for our two sons, Richard, 15, and Daniel, 12."

WHY DID HOLMES seek out a Watt-built home each time? "Because I believe that Watt's homes are soundly built and provide a good value. This I realized when I

Auto Trailer Boom Felt in Industry

DETROIT (UPI)—The call of the open road in America today echoes with the throb of engines and the blare of horns.

It's trailer-travel—one of the fastest growing facets of mobility since the advent of the automobile.

The travel trailer industry and related fields have seen a steady growth in recent years. In 1956 there were only about 15,000 travel trailers produced in the United States. Last year production jumped to 56,000 units and this year trailer builders believe 80,000 units will be constructed.

The manufacturers also speculated that the industry will see a growth rate of about 25 per cent annually so that by 1970 there will be 330,000 units produced annually.

ALONG WITH the growth in the trailer industry, pickup campers and fold-out campers—small trailers containing a tent and other equipment—have seen a corresponding boom.

All indications are that trailering will become more popular than ever.

With the advent of the freeway system across the nation, travel time can be cut considerably. As leisure time increases and retirements come earlier, people will have more time to travel.

Labor unions are pressing for a shorter work week and in the steel industry a precedent has been set for extended vacations to keep the work force of the nation constant.

L.B. Port Tops New York in Steel Imports

The Port of Long Beach edged out New York for the second position in steel imports in the United States during August with 51,283 tons, according to figures released by the West Coast Metal Importers Association.

New York was 50,000 tons. The number one port was Galveston, Tex., with 93,000.

The Port of Los Angeles recorded 22,717 tons. Total tonnage at Long Beach for the first nine months was 9,049,446 tons—a 19 per cent increase over the comparable period a year ago.

Buyers Guide to Medallion Homes

The only electrically modern homes... in every price range

The Medallion Home Award is a cornerstone for modern living—a solid basis for a home's lasting value, today and in the future. Compare the detailed electrical construction requirements for the Medallion Home Award with those for any other type of new home symbol.

You'll discover the Medallion Home Award is the one award that requires a new home to conform to specific and rigid standards, giving important value to the buyer. Here are just some of the qualifications:

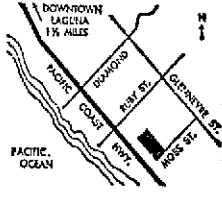

1. A flameless electric kitchen equipped with major appliances, including range and oven.
2. Full "Housepower" Wiring provides capacity for at least twenty circuits, considered a minimum for modern living; large enough wires; 240 volt service for the electrical capacity every home needs.
3. Abundant lighting planned for comfort, convenience and beauty. A total-electric Gold Medallion Home gives you all these benefits plus:
4. Flameless electric home and water heating.

FIVE BEDROOMS, TWO BATHS

One of five floor plans offered at Del Amo Highlands northwest of Long Beach is this two-story house which has five bedrooms and two bathrooms.

Del Amo Highlands Has Location Advantages

Already well accepted by home hunters is Del Amo Highlands, in the heart of the Harbor Area industrial activities, yet strictly residential in living conditions.

Located along Wilmington Avenue north of Del Amo Boulevard, the Highlands development offers five floor plans.

Houses are priced from $24,900 to $33,500; terms are from $500 down, plus closing costs.

DEL AMO HIGHLANDS residents will be comfortably close to beach and metropolitan facilities, with all the Southland's famed attractions "right on tap."

Featured are many built-in appliances; wall to wall carpeting at owner's choice; custom stone and brick fireplaces; paneled living rooms; large walk-in closets; cultured marble pullmans; shake and rock roofs; interior kitchen planters; large garages; decorator designed kitchen cabinet and numerous other conveniences.

The development lies between the Harbor and Long Beach freeways, south of Artesia Boulevard and north of Del Amo, on the west side of Wilmington Avenue.

Prestige Home Sales Continue Fast Pace

IN PRESTIGE HOME

Here is an interior view of a Prestige Home in Huntington Beach showing the kitchen with many built-ins. The homes, priced from $21,200, are selling rapidly.

The fantastic sales success of Prestige Homes in Huntington Beach continues unabated as 13 more were sold last week bringing the total to 49 in the last three weeks. The one and two-story, three and four and five-bedroom homes continue to attract throngs, according to sales manager, Dan Mytinger, of the Doyle & Shields Development Co., Inc.

The first unit of Prestige Homes, 125 homes, was 95 per cent purchased in the first 45 days of sales. Contributing to the sales success is the excellent financing available: fine conventional financing, low FHA terms and a limited number of VA no down loans are available on the homes priced from $21,200. Mytinger pointed out that the Prestige Homes at that figure were the hardest to sell.

Prestige Homes give buyers their choice of 24 different exteriors with six floor plans. Buyers are noting the

BUCCANEER SERIES HOME

Here is one of the models offered in the Buccaneer Series at Sunkist Plaza's newest Huntington Beach development. No down payment and only $100 move-in costs are asked.

From Hong Kong to Copenhagen... the McDermott's have seen it all!

Retired Navy officer Elmer McDermott has sailed the world over during his 21 year career. He and his charming wife Jennie have seen the most beautiful ports in the world, and to them, nothing matches the excitement and charm of their new home in the Sol Vista International Home Fair in Westminster. Elmer is now a Management Engineering Analyst at the U. S. Naval Weapons Station in nearby Seal Beach. Jennie takes pride in the imaginative landscaping of their new home and always manages to find time to keep their yard ship shape. The McDermott's have 3 charming children, two teenage daughters and a son who is now attending college. They are typical of the interesting, successful new families who have bought new homes at the Sol Vista International Home Fair.

Rapid Sellout Seen for Sunkist Homes

Westwind Homes in Westminster is a community of 38 customized homes within driving distance of shopping, schools, beaches and all popular recreation centers of the Southland, a spokesman for the firm said.

"This offers the advantages of city living yet the privacy of a small community," he added. Furnished models can be inspected by driving from Beach Blvd. (Hwy 39) east on Hazard to Bushard. These homes are priced from $18,995.

A SPECIAL feature of the master bedroom is a dressing room boudoir. Wall-to-wall carpeting is included in that bedroom and the living room as well as all hall space.

The three bedroom models have two full baths and two-car garages. Living rooms have over-sized fireplaces. The large kitchen has a dining area for casual meal-time. The built-in ranges and ovens have hoods. Dishwashers are also installed in the kitchens. There are kitchen entrances to the garages. All models have aluminum sliding glass doors leading to a patio area.

Westwind Offering Customized Homes

An informal survey during recent preview showing of the Buccaneer Series of Sunkist Plaza's Huntington Beach development, showed that visitors were impressed with inclusion of Waste King-Universal kitchen appliances.

This was reported by Sy Bram, executive director of Sunkist Plaza Builders, who simultaneously predicted a rapid sellout on the basis of the turnout at preview showings.

This would follow closely in the footsteps of other units of the beach city development. Full price is from $18,995 with no-down to all and only $100 costs.

Waste King features include built-in gas range and oven in color, disposal, range hood and fan—all in matching color.

"THIS IS AN EXAMPLE of the extra value found in our homes," commented Bram. "This is possible only through our mass buying power which we have accumulated through the years, enabling us to build more dollar value into each home."

Three basic floor plans can be incorporated in a choice of 25 exteriors that cover nearly every motif available.

"This is one of the reasons why, all things considered, it is one of the best home values in Huntington Beach," added Bram.

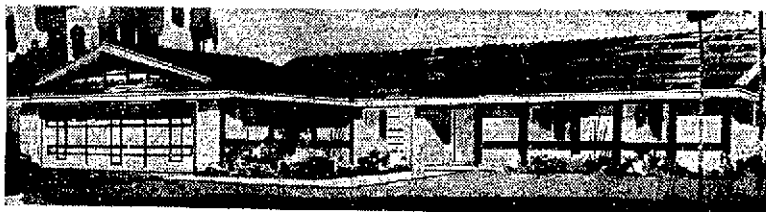

The development is only eight miles from California's finest beach and is "next door" to the various excellent recreational facilities offered by the city.

Schools, shopping centers and employment opportunities are minutes away in one of the fastest growing industrial complexes in the nation.

THE QUALITY residences which feature as a bonus extra completely fenced rear yards also include a separate utility room, genuine Formica counters, natural ash cabinets, forced-air heating with thermostat control, brick fireplaces, aluminum and glass shower doors, sliding wardrobe closets and shades and aluminum screens.

In addition, the homes are on 6,000 square foot lots and are on wide paved streets.

PRICED FROM $18,250

Homes such as this are offered in the Pacifica Series of Springdale South Homes for $18,250 and up with no down payment, only $100 in costs needed by qualified buyers.

Springdale South's Pacifica Series Offered for $100 Cash

Stepped up construction schedules have been necessary to keep pace with the rapid sales of the Pacifica Series of Springdale South Homes in Huntington Beach. This was explained by Sy Bram, executive director of the Sunkist Plaza Building firm. He added that the Pacifica Series is following closely in the footsteps of the Diamond Head series, which sold out in record time.

Springdale South, Pacifica, whose models are at the corner of Bolsa Ave. and Edwards St. in Huntington Beach, features an array of three and four-bedroom floor plans with a variety of exterior designs. Prices start at $18,250 with no down to all and only $100 costs.

Salt Water Conversion Gain Hailed

New equipment designed to produce a 50 per cent increase in the fresh water output of Southern California Edison Company's sea water conversion plant at Mandalay beach, near Oxnard, soon will be ready for operation, according to Mr. A. L. Code, Edison district manager in Long Beach.

Code said the new system will mark "an important step forward" in Edison's efforts to develop an economic method of producing fresh water from the sea.

EDISON ENGINEERS explained that it will enable them to minimize their number one problem in increasing fresh water production from the experimental plant—the formation of scale, which tends to clog in the evaporator just as it does in an ordinary teakettle.

The new system involves adding acid to the sea water before it begins its journey through the multi-stage evaporator. The acid reduces the concentration of scale forming material and releases gases, which are later removed by routing the water through a deaerator. By reducing the scale-formers with acids, Edison will utilize higher temperatures in the evaporator and thereby achieve greater efficiency and increased output.

IT IS ESTIMATED that the continuous output of the sea water conversion plant can be boosted from its present capacity of 100,000 gallons of fresh water per day to 150,000 gallons through this "acid-feeding."

However, Edison officials emphasized their view that sea water conversion is not to be regarded as a substitute for the Feather River project or any other conventional water project. At present, Southern California needs all the water it can get, from all available sources, the report concluded.

BE PREPARED

Don't wait until your boss, the company public relations department or an editor requests your photograph in announcing a promotion or honor. Always keep one available.

So editors of 22 leading business publications indicate, according to a recent survey.

Several noted that if you don't have a photograph ready, you may just lose out. Deadlines are deadlines. And there's nothing older than yesterday's news.

Twenty-one of the 22 publications use head-and-shoulder-type portrait photographs, indicating that's the kind the publicity-conscious executive should have. About half prefer this type photograph. The remainder prefer casual shots of the executive at work.

ALMOST ALL (18 of 22) of the editors indicated problems that fall into three categories of almost equal frequency. Either the subject has no photograph of himself, the photographs he has are of poor quality or they are not recent.

The editors estimate they return about one-third of the photographs they receive.

They advise promotion-minded executives to keep an 8x10 black and white glossy on hand, though 5x7 also is acceptable.

SOME TYPES of photographs they do not like include:

"Group photos from which heads are to be used as individual portraits" ... Material Handling Engineering Magazine. "Snapshot and color photographs" ... Life Association News. "Poorly lighted, poor contrast and bad printing" ... Plant Engineering Magazine. "Passport style" ... The Office. Also "Hat on or too elaborate background." And "Photographs obviously taken 20 years ago."

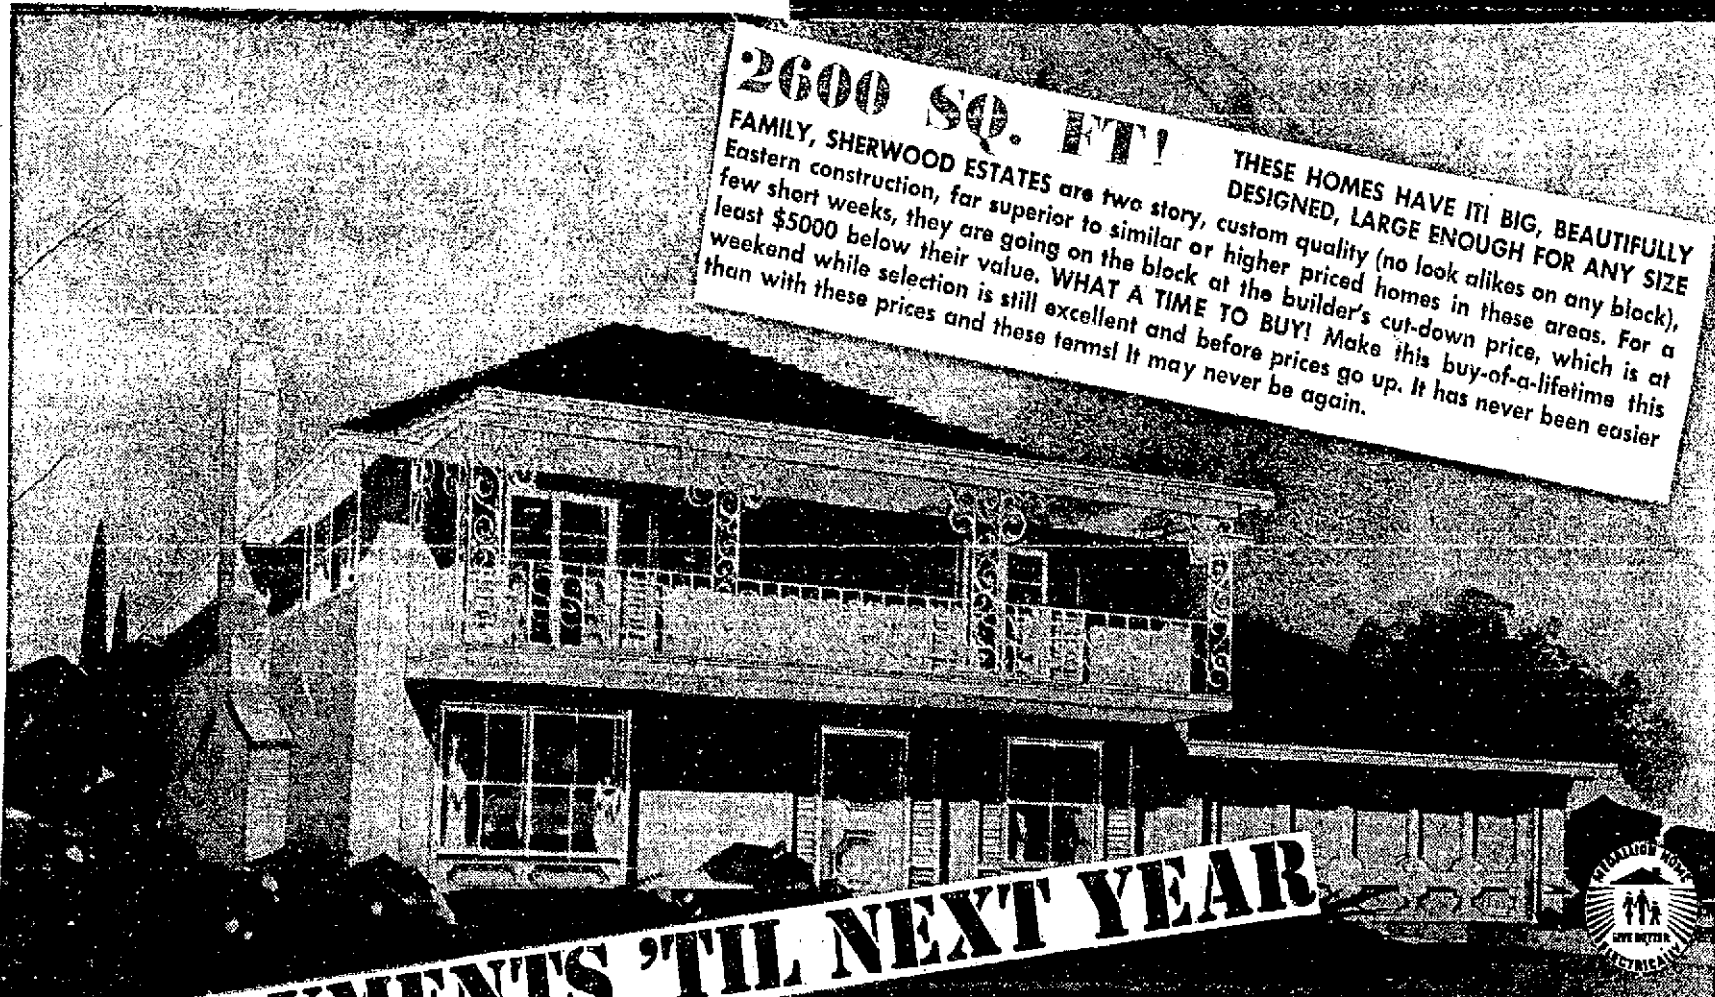

On the average the editors prefer photographs as up-to-date as possible, but no more than three or four years old.

Headdress, It's Old Hat

By MARY NETH

Lace, feathers, jewels, money, old bones, metal, hair, fur, rocks, flowers, skin, shells—

You name it, and you can be sure it's perched atop a head as part of a hat somewhere, sometime.

Next week Long Beach society women will turn loose their creative talents to whip up some real eye-stopper toppers for the annual headdress ball. (See story below). Their originals will be wildly zany but it's doubtful they'll much surpass some of the hats worn seriously in the past.

In modern society, fancy hats are designed primarily for the part of the populace in eyeshadow and high heels.

To men, the thrill of acquiring a showy chapeau is yet another facet of the feminine mystic, they never hope to understand.

BUT, NO MATTER, weirdly wonderful headgear is here to stay. And, furthermore, ornamental headdresses were part of human dress long before man put his foot in a shoe or added a pocket to his pants. They haven't always been the exclusive prerogative of the gals either.

In several ancient societies, a man was cut dead if he went out with out his hat. Quite literally done in.

Take the ancient Indians. For them, forgetting the turban was like leaving the shoot'n irons at home. The owner stuck his fighting knives in the folds. When his hat came off, the war was on. He also found his turban handy for use as an impromptu rope, pillow, girdle—or if things really went bad, to strangle his enemy.

THERE WAS a time in China, too, when not wearing a certain type of hat was more than a breach of etiquette.

That was when the Manchus were in power and their subjects were forced to wear queues to show submission. It follows that going bald was no laughing matter. The man who didn't have his hair swept back in the required do was put to death. An artificial queue was the salvation. There are still some of these strange headdresses around in museums today.

All told, the history of hats doesn't skip

BACK IN UR, just 5000 years ago, this is the way a hat looked. Of gold and beads and ribbon, it topped fashionable wig; wouldn't be bad today.

NO, THEY'RE POMPOMS not rocks. Black Forest straw sometimes weighs three pounds. It's style that started in 1350s.

FOR THE DANCING girls of Siam, high style was towering hat of glittering gold and silver.

A Glamorous Tradition ...Here, an Annual Heady Ball

"This year's 13th annual Headdress Ball will be really spectacular."

That's the promise of Mrs. Geza Krempels, general chairman of the traditional event.

The glamor ball, an evening of elegance when local women parade in glamorous headdresses, will take place Nov. 22 in International Ballroom, Lafayette Hotel.

Theme will be "With a Song in My Heart" with the grand sweepstakes prize going to the headdress best carrying out that motif.

The ball is given annually here by the Long Beach Auxiliary of the Southern California Symphony Association. Leonard B. Greenhalgh, a board member of the association, will act as master of ceremonies this year. The event, a black tie dinner dance, kicks off the social year for the dedicated auxiliary which supports the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra.

Money will be used in three ways, according to Mrs. Krempels. It will purchase concert tickets for Long Beach music students, it will help swell the orchestra's continuance fund and it will pay transportation costs to the annual youth concerts sponsored by the Long Beach Unified School district.

The evening will open at 7 p.m. with a no-host cocktail party followed by dinner at 8:30 p.m. Music for dancing will be provided by Ray Norval and his orchestra. (Norval is well known for engagements at major hotels and appearances on TV.)

She will be assisted in making arrangements by her co-chairman Mrs. Harvey Doody and Meses. Betty Maude Benwell, Duane H. Kuster, Frank Vessels Jr., Earl B. Milton, Harvey C. Doody, and P. Victor Peterson.

The panel of judges will include Bela Biro, professor of Art at Long Beach State College; Pat Walker, local business woman, and Dr. Raymond Kendall, music department of the University of Southern California.

From the 40 to 50 expected entries, awards will be given headdresses selected as most original, beautiful, authentic, and humorous plus the one best carrying out the theme.

Among those entertaining with pre-ball cocktail parties will be: Mrs. Benwell, Messrs. and Meses. LeRoy P. Carlisle, Walter C. Groshong, Edwin Jiffi, Earl B. Milton with the Harvey G. Doodys as co-hosts and the Patrick Scatons and the Stanley Weisses, Drs. and Meses. Krempels and Montie Magree.

One no-host party will be given by the James K. McCalls and Raymond Petersons and another by the Orrin Petersons and Duane Kusters.

Aid League to Brunch Breakfast Is for Public

Lakewood Aid League will entertain at an annual holiday brunch Wednesday at 11 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Rawlin Abrahamson, 3655 Country Club Drive, Lakewood.

Greeting members and guests with the hostess will be Mrs. Joseph Anderson, president, and Mrs. Raymond Larsen, chairman of the event.

There will be a display of original holiday decorations contributed by members. Mrs. Woodrow Smith will present a program outlining the purposes of the league.

LAKESWOOD Aid League has two major projects; the Volunteer Bureau at the Greater Lakewood Chamber of Commerce and the foster children program of the Los Angeles County Bureau of Public Assistance.

Plans for the brunch are being made by Mrs. Larsen and her committee: Mmes. Harry Cossarek, William Palmer, Abrahamson and Edwin Evans.

Open to Public

Long Beach Masonic Temple, 3610 Locust Ave., will be the setting Wednesday, beginning at noon, for a bazaar, luncheon and card party being presented by the Social Order of Beauceant. The affair is open to the public.

El Tanya Court, 61, Ladies of Oriental Shrine, under direction of the Oriental band and dancers, is planning a breakfast, open to the public, next Sunday from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. at the Gay Nineties Restaurant, 2508 Palm Dr.

Entertainment will be furnished, including dancing and the Shriners senior citizens four piece orchestra from Leisure World who will furnish dance music from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the unit or by calling the chairman, Mrs. Charles R. Dooley, 4460 Cerritos Ave. They will also be available at the door.

"Why all the excitement about Paris styles?"

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON
I, P-T Fashion Editor

Rafael, well-known hair stylist for legions of local fashion-conscious femmes, pooh-poohs the idea that Paris is trend setter for the haute coiffure.

"American women wouldn't wear their hairdos," he contends.

Just back from the French capital, where he brushed elbows with the city's leading coiffeurs and combed Paris solons for new ideas, he says it's American women who turn heads in Paris...

And that includes Frenchmen's heads.

PRESIDENT of the Hollywood Hair Design Council, Rafael flew to Paris with his business partner, Mr. Carlo, to attend fall hairstyle showings and meet with Alex Tonio, president of Haute Coiffure Francaise.

After waiting two and a half hours for his pre-set appointment, Rafael had his meeting with Monsieur Tonio. But he went away with ruffled feathers.

With his sketchy understanding of French and the aid of an interpreter, he got the message from Tonio that "Paris creates the hairstyles for the world... the peasantry of the world really should know that"... and, then, the question to end all questions:

"By the way, are they dressing hair in California now?"

LOCAL HAIR STYLIST SOUNDS OFF . . .

Gives Paris the Big Brush

"I went to see, but . . . it's the American women . . . who turn men's heads?"

Rafael contends they're dressing it much better in California than in Paris.

"COIFS modeled at showings (with only the haute coiffeurs welcome, not the small-time operator) involved techniques now on the way out in the U.S.," says Rafael. "They're still over-teasing and doing twists."

About the beauty salons: "They're co-educational. From a common entrance, men go their way, women theirs. A hairstylist may work on both."

About equipment: "Outmoded. Some salons still use shampoo boards, in others women lean forward over a shampoo bowl. Hair is shampooed once, rinsed once—often with a pitcher of water! Dryers are sometimes suspended from the ceiling, none are air-conditioned (as ours are today) and still dry with uncontrolled hot air."

An outstanding difference: "All beauty articles are bought through beauty salons, none are available elsewhere."

Rafael noted that the beauty business has been highly controlled in France; no tints or products for at-home hair coloring are available. Home permanents are just now hitting the retail market.

ABOUT MEN'S hair: "They wear it quite long. That's probably because men's hair cuts are so expensive." (He paid $3 to have his own hair cropped while there.)

About U.S. influences in Europe: "You hear American music everywhere in France and Italy." They're currently in the twist stage. Most all theaters show American movies—with dubbed-in voices.

"It was strange—after watching the movie being filmed in Hawaii last year—to see 'Donovan's Reef' and hear John Wayne and Dotty Lamour spouting their lines in Italian," he laughed.

Most American products can be purchased in both countries, he noted, stating there is concern among some groups that the countries are becoming "over-Americanized."

He recalls a newspaper article in which a group of tourist bureaus, reportedly alarmed over a 15 per cent decrease in tourism in Italy and France, met to consider the problem.

Speaking of newspapers, he brought home a Paris daily featuring American comics—Maggie and Jiggs, the Phantom and Blondie—all speaking French, of course.

Things he particularly enjoyed: the food ("fruits are especially fresh and flavorful; meats are tastier"), the scenery and the Old World atmosphere.

Also: the attractiveness of American women on foreign shores.

"Wherever you go," Rafael said, "you recognize American women for their hairdos, the color of their hair and their smart clothes."

Perform for Children

Junior Programs of Long Beach will present its second program of the season Saturday. Long Beach State College Drama Department will perform Charlotte Chorpenn's adaptation of the French fairy tale, "Sleeping Beauty."

Eva Raber portrays Sleeping Beauty and John Strand, the prince. Herbert Camburn is director. In charge of choreography is Mrs. Rosland DeMille.

Special effects will include animated cobwebs, a magic forest and unusual lighting. The play was chosen for children from five to twelve, but adults and older children are welcome to attend.

The performance is scheduled for 10 p.m. and noon in Long Beach City College Auditorium, with most seating available at the noon performance. Girl Scout, Brownie and Blue Bird leaders are urged to organize their groups and attend.

For tickets and information call Mrs. John Tylicki, 3807 Gaviota Ave. or Mrs. Burl McCollm Jr., 3962 Brayton Ave.

Newlyweds on Trips After Saturday Vows Las Vegas Bridal Trip

Eberhart-Clay

Julie Ann Clay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Clay, 760 Havana Ave., became the bride of Donald Eberhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Eberhart, 2225 Ocana Ave., in a Saturday afternoon ceremony.

Two hundred guests witnessed the nuptial rite in St. Matthew's Catholic Church.

The bride chose a gown of silk organza applied in lace for her vows, and carried white roses with stephanotis.

Mary Clay was the bride's only attendant. Jim Eberhart was best man and ushers were Bob and Bill Eberhart.

The newlyweds will be at home after Nov. 16 in North Long Beach. The new Mrs. Eberhart was graduated

Mrs. Donald Eberhart

Mrs. Arthur Peacock Jr.

Mrs. Mac LeRoy Lyons

Mrs. Evoy Larson Jr.

from St. Anthony's High School and affiliated with Newman Club and Sigma Alpha Iota while a student at Long Beach State College. Her husband, a Millikan alumnus, attended Long Beach City College.

Peacock-Miller

St. Anthony's Catholic Church was scene Saturday morning for the wedding ceremony uniting Marilyn Miller and Arthur Lyle Peacock Jr.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Miller, 3012 San Francisco Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyle Peacock of Auburn, Wash.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin with cathedral train.

Her attendants, in gowns of raspberry peau de soie, were Kathleen Knipp, maid of honor; and Sandra Lancaster and Linda Anderson, bridesmaids. Elaine Knipp was flower girl. Completing the wedding party were Martin Make, best man, and Charles Pitts and Douglas Burton, ushers.

The bride was graduated from St. Anthony's High School and attended LBCC. Her husband received his schooling in Idaho and is a medical corpsman with the U.S. Navy.

Lyons-DeMorest

An original gown of Alencon lace adorned with pearls and sequins was selected by Diana Leita DeMorest for her Saturday afternoon marriage to Mac LeRoy Lyons at St. John's Presbyterian Church, Compton.

Daughter of Mrs. LaVerne DeMorest, 6906 Butler Ave., the bride was attended by her sister, Lynn DeMorest, maid of honor, and Bobbie Lyons and Linda Plemmons, bridesmaids. Attendants to the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Lyons, Lakewood, were E. W. Scrivner, best man; and D. A. Clark Jr., R. W. Wasson, R. Jones and D. Zagarella, ushers.

A Lakewood home awaits the newlyweds on return from a San Francisco honeymoon trip.

Mrs. Lyons was graduated from Jordan High School and her husband is an alumnus of Poly High. Both were graduated from Long Beach City College.

Larson-Nordhagen

Clara Annette Nordhagen, kindergarten teacher at John Muir School here, became the bride of Evoy John Larson Jr. in a Saturday ceremony at Wayfarers' Chapel, Portuguese Bend.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold B.

Nordhagen, San Pedro, and Mr. and Mrs. Evoy Larson, Los Angeles.

The bride chose a silk taffeta gown fashioned with a chapel train, and carried a cascade of lilies of the valley, roses and orchids.

Members of the wedding party were Mrs. Jack Kampschroer, Nonya Newnes, Mrs. Dennis McCosth, Kristine and Jacqueline Kampschroer, Sharon Ainsworth, Victor Dow, George Vanek and Jack Kampschroer.

The newlyweds will reside in Torrance on return from a honeymoon trip to Yosemite.

Mrs. Larson was graduated from Redondo High School, Los Angeles Harbor College and LBCC. She is active in American Association of University Women. Her husband attended Los Angeles State College and is a deputy game warden with the California Department of Fish and Game.

Headdresses, Fun History

much when it comes to human events. They've been worn to ward off evil spirits and demons, to control weather and the mind of the beholder, to bring good luck and assure happiness. They've been used in sacrificial rites, pagan courts, in the intrigues of war and love.

WHEN IT COMES to heady good luck charms, the hat with sleeves—the Mexican huipil grande—probably tops the list.

This face-framing white lace headdress is worn by the women of Tehuantepec. Legend has it that it originated when an Indian woman rescued a white child from drowning in the sea. To celebrate the event, she put the child's gown over her head. Now it's a traditional good luck wear in that part of Mexico.

Of course, the shape of the hat has changed a bit to comply with present usage, but the sleeves are still there.

Hats vary in not only material but size. From the enormous ornate Oriental headdresses (that caused the wearer headaches), they diminish down to the miniatures, mere whips of lace, the French court ladies wore on top of their towering wigs.

THESE BABY-SIZED bonnets played a big part in our history, too. How? They became part of a famous American song—"Yankee Doodle."

Seems the English fops of that period (who called themselves macaroni and represented everything the American colonists didn't like) copied not only the high-rising court wigs but the tiny hats, too. So the song which roundly ridiculed them—"stuck a feather in his hat and called it Macaroni."

But, of all the hats that have been, including the Brelor (that kept away flies), the Serbian bonnet (that brought rain), the Thuringia straw (that guaranteed lots of babies), there's one ancient creation that would have lots of modern appeal.

It's the style worn at one time by the women of the nomadic Bedouin tribe of Saudi Arabia.

Seems, these roving Arabs didn't have banks to deposit their money. So, since molesting a woman's veil meant death, they attached their precious coins to their wife's veil.

One could really say those men put their money on their wife's heads—and just think of all the hats you could buy by taking a crimp in that veil.

What's on the Menu?

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of Nov. 11-15:

MONDAY: Holiday.

TUESDAY: Toasted cheese sandwich, buttered green beans, fresh apple slices, homemade peanut butter cookie and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Taco, buttered carrots, molded fruit salad, whole wheat bread and butter, and milk.

THURSDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, garden peas, chocolate pudding, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

FRIDAY: Tuna-noodle casserole, buttered whole kernel corn, pineapple-cottage cheese salad, whole wheat bread and butter, and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch, 30 cents. Soup and salad from the junior-senior high school a la carte menu are sold in the elementary schools, but they may be purchased by the children only after they have purchased the tray lunch.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH

Monday: Holiday.

TUESDAY: Spaghetti with franks, whole kernel corn, autumn fruit cup, whole wheat bread and butter, and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Ham slice, au gratin potatoes, buttered green beans, garden salad, hot buttered cornbread and milk.

THURSDAY: Pizza, buttered peas, sliced peaches, oatmeal cookie and milk.

FRIDAY: Tuna-noodle casserole or hot meat loaf sandwich with mashed potatoes and gravy, tossed green salad, apricot halves, whole wheat bread and butter, and milk.

Oswald Jacoby Squeeze Saves Day

South's bidding was about as delicate as a rampaging elephant. Of course, he did have 20 high card points including three aces and his partner had opened the bidding so he had some justification for getting right to the no-trump slam.

A look at dummy was not cheering. He could count five spades, three diamonds, two clubs and a heart, but that was only 11 tricks. Where was the twelfth coming from? Some sort of a squeeze might develop and South decided to play for it.

He won the first trick in dummy, led the four of hearts and played his eight after East played low. This deliberate loss of a trick all his three remaining clubs. He was lucky, but he had made the good luck possible.

NEW IN KNITS

Mrs. Richard Dach demonstrates her knitting ability on a machine imported from Switzerland to Mrs. Leon L. Wiltse (left) and Mrs. Albert H. Bristol. The women are preparing for the annual bazaar given by the Women of St. Luke's

to be held Friday at the new Youth Center of the church, Atlantic Avenue and Seventh Street. Hand loomed, decorated sweaters will be among the many attractive items offered.

St. Luke Bet His Boss Won't Be So Understanding Friday

Christmas decorations, antiques, oil paintings, water colors, hand made aprons, home made jam, jelly, cake and cookies—all these and more will be on sale Friday at the annual bazaar sponsored by the Women of St. Luke's.

The looked-forward-to event will take place from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. at the new Youth Center of the church at Atlantic Avenue and 7th Street. There will be no charge for admission.

TICKETS will be available at the door for an English tea to be served from 1 to 4 p. m. A portrait to be painted by the well known local artist, Mrs. Cora Danstrom, will be awarded as a door prize to a tea ticket holder.

A roast beef dinner will be served at 5 p. m., 6 p. m. and 7 p. m. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the guild, from the ticket chairman, Mrs. Robert C. Krause, 3619 Olive Ave. or at the door.

Mrs. Leon L. Wiltse is chairman of Women of St. Luke's. Bazaar chairman is Mrs. Richard Dach and Mrs. Albert H. Bristol is tea chairman.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

What do you do with a 23-year-old husband who won't get up in the morning? For four years I have withstood kicks and punches trying to get him up. He is often late for work. "Tomorrow morning I'll try harder" is what he always says. Tomorrow never comes.

For him to get to work on time I have to drag him forcibly out of bed, and literally dress him. If that isn't enough, while I'm cooking breakfast (which he won't leave the house without) he sleeps on the couch and I have to start all over again.

I'm really desperate. I refuse to baby him any longer. I have real babies to look after. Can you help?

—DESPERATE WIFE

P.S. I have tried cold wash rags and such but he has a pretty mean temper.

DEAR WIFE:

Stop nagging him altogether. As soon as he learns I have real babies to look after, that it is his own responsibility to get up and get going in the morning, the sooner he'll do it on his own.

Oh, I know how you worry about his being late for work and all that. Still you simply can't get on the job for him.

Dear Molly Mayfield

Get up, tend to your babies, let him sleep. Let him be late. Let him pay the penalty. It's the ONLY way he's ever really going to learn.—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I'll try to be brief. When I was married and we bought a house I tried to be a perfect housekeeper. My husband complained then because I was so tired and had no time for him. Then, I cut down on my housekeeping to pay more attention to him, and he complained because the house wasn't kept properly.

Eventually we were divorced. I had to support myself and the children. I still have the house but it NEVER gets cleaned now. It is all I can do to get the kids through school, keep them fed and clothed, and scratch up enough money to keep going.

My ex-husband has often hinted at remarriage. But when he comes to the house and sees the rat's nest we live in, he shies away again. Maybe he is waiting for me to tell him I will be a better wife than before, but all I knew to do then (or know now) was not enough, so how can I expect anything but to go on as we are now?

—BLANK FACE

Dear Blank, no matter how difficult it is (and it is, it is) get some sort of routine, make your kids help, restore order somehow or other. And let your husband woo you again. Give him good cause to. Try to be a proud family instead of a shameful one.—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

We have a dear friend who had a heart attack recently and is still real sick in the hospital.

One night last week her husband and a young fellow came up to our community dance, and, oh, did he have a ball dancing and buying drinks for all the ladies. He asked at least three of the ladies if he could take them home.

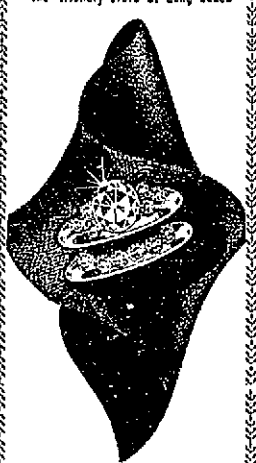

He bragged that he hadn't spent much time at the hospital because he "hated" hospitals. Boy, did he go over like a lead balloon! A lot of people at the dance know his wife and love her. We hope his wife never finds out what a jackass she is married to!—THE THREE (he asked to take home).

DEAR THREE:

Knowing yourselves what a low-grade sort she's married to, why don't you go all out to see that she has cards, flowers, notes, etc., at the hospital, since you know at least that Low Grade is neglecting her?

Fall Exhibits in Galleries

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Three new art exhibits open Thursday at Long Beach State College.

The Fifth Annual Drawing Show in the main gallery will include work by 40 major draftsmen in the Southern California area. In contrast to the four previous shows, which were juried, this year's annual is by invitation of the drawing faculty and the gallery director.

In the small gallery, graphics, films and packaging by the design firm of Morton Goldsoll and Associates will be displayed.

In other gallery space, the work of three LBSC alumni designers will be shown. John Nyquist, Howard Savage and Don McNab have won national recognition since graduation from the college.

The galleries at 6101 E. Seventh St., are open from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays, and 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays. The exhibits will continue through Dec. 17.

LONG BEACH City College will open its Faculty Art Show Wednesday to coincide with Education Day which is being observed as part of the city's Diamond Jubilee.

Most of the art faculty in the college's three divisions—liberal arts, business and technology, and general adult divisions will exhibit work in various media.

The show will open with a public reception from 8 to 9:30 p.m. in the gallery at Faculty Avenue and Harvey Way. It will continue through Dec. 13. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays

Guitarist to Play With Symphony

Long Beach Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Lauris Jenes, will open its 1965-1966 season of Sunday Evening Concerts November 24, at 8 p.m. in Long Beach City College Auditorium. Guest soloist will be the young Spanish guitarist, Angel Romero, who will play Rodriguez' "Concerto di Aranjuez" with the orchestra.

Romero came with his famous family from Madrid in 1962. He began his study of the guitar with his father, Celedonio, as soon as he was old enough to hold the instrument. By the time he was 11 he had joined "The Royal Family of the Guitar" in the concert hall.

THE FAMILY home is

Hootenanny to Attract Local Talent

Two navy men, Virgil Stortoen of the USS Colonial, and Mark Pettit of the USS Dynamic, will take part in the big Diamond Jubilee Hootenanny today at 2 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium.

The hootenanny, sponsored by the publication, Show-News of Hollywood, will spotlight folk singers and musicians from local colleges and service units.

Stortoen, a strapping blond, 6-foot tall, accompanies himself on the guitar, singing many of his own arrangements and compositions. With Pettit, he will try to capture for the navy some of the many prizes being offered.

through Thursdays, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Fridays.

ROGER M. UPTON and his son, Gerald E. Upton, have a joint exhibit at Pacific Coast Club Galleria through the month of December.

A reception, open to the public, will honor the artists next Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. in the gallery, 850 E. Ocean Blvd.

Roger Upton has spent most of his life on Catalina Island and his paintings reflect his love and knowledge of the island. He has won many awards, has exhibited in Europe and has sold paintings in England.

Gerald Upton, reared in Catalina and trained by his father, is primarily interested in color and movement of form and figure. He has won first awards in the Southern California area.

LONG BEACH Art Association's Fall Juried Exhibit will hang during November in the LBAA gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

Marie Bucher won the $50 best of show award for her oil, "The Last One." Second prize of $35 went to Claire Guthmann for a casein, "Sun Swinging."

Other first place winners are Suzanne Ferguson, oils; Robert J. Adams, water color; and Joy Nye Elliott, mixed media. Ralph Tarzian and Wanda Morgan tied for first in the sculpture category.

The show was judged by Elsa Warner.

MISS WARNER herself is a prize winner in the current California Water Color Society exhibit at Otis Art Institute, 2401 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles.

She won the $50 Duncan McIntosh award for her painting, "Recurrent Spring." The top $1,000 Lytton Savings and Loan award went to Rose Baumrucker. Prizes of $500 were given to James L. Odgers, Nick Brigante, Clinton Adams and John Kwok.

The exhibition will continue through Dec. 22. Gallery hours are from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays, closed Mondays.

BUSY MISS WARNER also has a one-man show opening today at International Gifts and Gallery of Arts, 142 Main Street, Seal Beach. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily except Sunday.

The artist recently retired after 25 years of teaching in the Long Beach school system. Prior to retirement, she was chairman of art at Polytechnic High School. She has spent several recent summers in Europe and now makes her home in Los Angeles.

AN EXHIBIT of original art by members and friends marks the 50th anniversary of Long Beach Unitarian Church.

During the anniversary celebration this week, two floor-to-ceiling murals, one on each side of the pulpit, will be completed. They depict 10 men who have contributed to man's fund of religious truths over the past 4,000 years, from the time of Ikhnaton to Albert Schweitzer.

ORANGE COUNTY Art Association will meet Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Hunt Foods Foundation Library, 201 S. Basque St., Fullerton. Four members of the newly-formed Los Angeles Printmaking Society—Conner Everts, Dick Swift, Tom Fricano and Leonard Edmondson—will conduct a round-table discussion.

THERE WILL BE an art reception Saturday and next Sunday from noon to 10 p.m. at Mario's Gallery of the Arts, 1337 South St.

ARTISTS and sculptors in Orange County are invited to exhibit in the first annual Lincoln Arms Center Art Festival Nov. 16 through 23. Paintings will be judged in two categories, traditional and contemporary and cash prizes and ribbons will be given. The third category is sculpture.

Judges will be Ruth Osgood, a director of Laguna Beach Art Association and member of California Water Color Society; Dr. Charles M. Thompson, art professor at Long Beach State College; and Vic Smith, associate professor of art at Orange State College.

The festival, free to the public, will be held in Lincoln Arms Center, 145 S. Westchester Drive, Anaheim.

Artists, Craftsmen Excel in Balboa Show

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

"Artist as Craftsman—Craftsman as Artist" is an important show for several reasons. First, its content is exciting: a wide variety of experimental creations for use in home, garden, or (in the case of jewelry) on the person.

Secondly, the installation

PATRICIA HUGEN

Musicians in Concert at Church

Patricia Hugen, soprano, and Lloyd Holzgraf, organist, will appear in concert today at 7:30 p. m. in California Heights Methodist Church, Orange Avenue and Bixby Road.

The program is the second in a series of inspirational sacred music vespers.

Patricia Hugen has sung before numerous audiences in the city and throughout Southern California as an oratorio soloist and as guest soloist with choral organizations. She will be a soloist again in the annual December Long Beach production of "The Messiah."

Holzgraf, recognized nationally as a musician of unusual ability, is organist at First Congregational Church and at Temple Israel.

is spectacular. A number of artists and volunteers from the Fine Art Patrons of Newport Harbor worked under the direction of sculptural potter Jerry Rothman to turn the loft of the Balboa Pavilion into indoor and outdoor areas suitable for viewing the works which include pots, a fantastic birdcage by the Frankels, fabrics for walls, windows, chairs and floor, blown glass, pure sculpture, ceramic sculpture, enameled metal... to mention just a few of the art forms.

THE THIRD reason is the strong challenge this show poses in the long argument as to where the line can be drawn between art and craft. I note above that I discriminated between "pure" sculpture and ceramic sculpture.

How would one characterize Robert Ramsey's object of beaten slab clay with cement glaze? Is it a pot, or is it a sculptural form?

"It would be impossible to describe Robert Cremean, who also is represented in this show, as a wood craftsman rather than a sculptor, for example, even though his skill in wood mortise is consummate.

ON THE OTHER hand, Sam Malouf's walnut rocking chair visually realizes the exquisite comfort it offers while existing, to me, as sculpture. Jean Ray Laury's stitcheries are surely something more than the quilts that Grandma used to make. Henry Evjenil's chalice of silver, gold, and ivory epitomizes an act of pure religious worship.

The vast number of really dreadful things done in the past, which gave rise to the term "artsy-craftsy" are, mercifully obviated by the excellent objects in this exhibit.

THE SHOW continues through Dec. 8 at the Pavilion, which is open from 1 to 5 p. m. Wednesday through Sunday. Seventy-three artists, all Californians, mostly of the Southern variety, are represented with an average of three works each. A good 10 percent of them are either graduates or faculty members of Long Beach State.

Anecdotes of the Maestros

By RACHEL MORTON
L.A. Music Critic

An interesting booklet reached me a few days ago. It is entitled "Symphony—The Story of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra" and it was written by John Orlando Northcutt.

The preface, called "Symphony Music," is beautifully worded and the content of the book is most informative. I shall hope to reveal some of this to my readers in some future Major & Minor Notes columns.

But, for today, I would like to quote some of the inimitable word pictures Northcutt has drawn of what he calls "Commanders in Chief." He writes:

'King' Cole to Open at Melodyland

Nat King Cole will open his new variety show, "Sights and Sounds '63," Tuesday, Nov. 26 at Melodyland Theater, Anaheim. The show will run one week.

Tickets for opening night may be purchased locally from members of Exceptional Children's Foundation. The foundation is forging its annual door-to-door campaign and has planned a series of fund-raising events instead. The foundation has 89 children in its training program and a waiting list of 16.

COLE HAS been touring the country with his new show which includes a 20-piece orchestra under the direction of Joe Zito; "The Merry Young Souls," an ensemble of 12 attractive young singers; and a new "social-satirical" comedian, Pete Barbuti.

Major and Minor Notes

as he grew older," writes Northcutt.

FIRST OF THE titled Britishers to conduct the Philharmonic was bearded Sir Henry Wood, a conductor full of emotion and sentiment. He urged the players to "SING—gentlemen—SING." So the men put down their instruments and sang!

Seven men in the role of permanent conductor have been: Walter Henry Rothwell, eight years; Georg Schneevoght, two years; Artur Rodzinski, four years; Otto Klemperer, six years; Alfred Wallenstein, 13 years; Eduard Van Beinum, three years; and Zubin Mehta, engaged in 1962.

HALF NOTES: San Francisco Opera performances for the coming week at the Shrine Auditorium are: "The Carmelites," Nov. 12; "Tosca," Nov. 13; "La Traviata," Nov. 15; "La Forza del Destino," Nov. 16; "Mefistofele," Nov. 17 at 3 o'clock. Evening performances begin at 8 o'clock.

IN 45 YEARS the most distinguished conductors of the world have led the Philharmonic as guest conductors. They have come from 25 countries and seven have served as permanent conductors.

Choice anecdotes are told of some of the conductors. Northcutt relates: "The first time Stravinsky appeared with the Philharmonic, he called the first chair men to his dressing room after the performance. He gave each a kiss and a red rose—same shade as the glow on the embarrassed men's faces.

"BRUNO WALTER, Eduard van Beinum and Montreux were the gentlest of all conductors. Molinari was the most destructive. He vented his ire by throwing watches to the floor and smashing them into smithereens. Sir Thomas Beecham, headline maker, master of the quick retort, the uncalculated insult, the pithy and pat rejoinder, was a model of tactfulness and gentle melancholy as a lad. He recovered from this restriction

'Monique' Promises Suspense

"Monique," a suspenseful mystery with a touch of "supernatural" opens Friday at Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave.

A study in the deterioration of human character under devious attack by base passions, the work features Charlotte Milam in the title role. She plays an attractive and domineering woman doctor who ensnares a man of good will (Errol Allan) unhappily married to a shrew (Erica Thotos) who refuses to give him a divorce.

Monique convinces the husband that his wife must be removed, and the two devise an ingenious method of doing away with her. The solution is sure to surprise the audience.

IN THE CAST are Kathie Kelley as Lisette, Peggy Gerard as Henriette, Stuart Cheatham as Merlin, Barry Slavin as Goutteux and Edwin Craig as Andre.

Under the direction of Clay Foster, "Monique" will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday, through Dec. 15. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m.

I. P. T. Food Editor

His talents are accumulative! First and foremost an attorney, he is also a teacher, writer, actor, navigator and can grow roses like crazy. Blaine Nels Simons Jr. has been an all-out participant in life—not just a spectator.

Of Norwegian ancestry, Simons was born in Sioux Falls, S.D. His dad, then and now, an active attorney in Sioux Falls, and his mother (now deceased) a school teacher, set a perfect vocational example for their children. His brother and sister became teachers—the sister eventually retiring to become the wife of a Minneapolis attorney.

A BA degree from the University of South Dakota, LL.B. from Texas U., and a masters degree in history from Long Beach State College, preceded his opening his law office in Long Beach in 1949.

DURING World War II, he served as navigator on an LST in the European Theatre of operations, and participated in D-Day landings in Normandy. He was discharged in 1945 as a Lt.jg.

Married for 18 years to Mrs. S. (Georgia) who is active in the Long Beach Lawyer's Wives and Children's Clinic, they have four daughters and one son. Sandra, 17, and Susan, 15, are both students at Wilson High. Eloise is eight, Marcha, 4; and as of last Dec. 1, Gordon Blaine arrived.

EDITOR of the Long Beach Bar monthly bulletin since 1958, he was president of the Long Beach Bar Association in 1960. He served on the board of directors of the Long Beach Bar from 1958-60, of the Boy's Club, from 1952-58, and of the Long Beach Counseling Service, Inc. in 1958.

Simons also teaches a class in Business Law and American History at Long Beach City College one or two evenings a week, and has made three or four appearances each year for the past four, on "Day in Court," a day time show on ABC-TV.

As to his writing, his articles have appeared frequently in the I. P. T.'s Southland Magazine, and in several national magazines, as well. A New York agent is trying to sell a second novel, but as yet, his first hasn't been accepted. His motto: "keep trying" will serve him well.

IF SIMONS gets any idea of guiding the destinies of a paint brush around the house "Mrs. S." will be doing him a favor, by getting there first. He adheres strictly to orderliness, but has never been known to shut a dresser drawer or a cupboard door.

Our "chef" prefers reading to cooking. In fact, his cooking prowess is limited to whipping up a batch of fudge or a bowl of popcorn. Which he does at least three times a week. He enjoys golf, and is a worthy foe at paddle tennis.

Simons' recipe today was "lifted" sometime ago from a favorite aunt in Pasadena. He says it's very tasty, and equally high in calories.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Chris Noel Wears Aching Heart on Sleeve

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

The lady, and a beauty she is, admittedly is wearing her heart on her sleeve.

"I really don't know what I'm going to do," said blonde Chris Noel, 21. "Maybe if he sees it in print—"

This column normally does not compete with Dear Abby or Molly Mayfield.

But when a lady is wearing her heart on her sleeve and appeals to a columnist for help, what's a guy going to do?

If he's a gentleman and a sucker for blondes, the columnist is going to cooperate.

* * * *

SO TODAY'S column will be in the form of a public-service message. After all, Chris Noel is a member of the public.

And currently, rather a prominent member of the public based on the degree of exposure to the television audience.

For Chris, a former model, generally appears in a different role Saturdays on NBC-TV's "The Lieutenant." From an exposure point of view, Chris dramatically comes over with emphasis aided by 36-23-34 statistics.

So much for identity. Let's get down to the case in point.

The man for whom Chris is carrying the torch is actor Hugh "Wyatt Earp" O'Brian whom she has dated and appeared with in summer stock.

* * * *

"I CARE for Hugh very much," said Noel. "And he's afraid to show how much he cares."

"He goes to a certain extent and then he fights it. He fights it like crazy."

"It makes me very unhappy when a man can't show he cares—holds everything back."

Perhaps Hugh has the idea that Chris is strictly a career woman. Chris, certainly, doesn't have that idea.

"When I get married," she said, "I'll forget my career."

"I'm a woman and that's what a woman is meant to be—married."

* * * *

IT IS A career which, for Chris, is picking up impetus all the time.

In addition to her "Lieutenant" assignments, she appears with Steve McQueen in the motion picture "Soldier in the Rain" and has a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

It is a career which, Chris feels, started climbing up when she turned down $5,000.

The $5,000 is what she was offered about three years ago to pose nude for a center foldzine.

The New York offer came at a time when the lovely model was skipping lunches and sometimes breakfasts because she was almost broke. She was thinking of taking a job as a waitress to get closer to food.

"I JUST couldn't take the offer," said Chris.

"I knew it would have made my mother feel bad. And when I have my own family, I want to be able to hold my head high."

She didn't go to work as a waitress, either. Her agent staked her to $200.

Within the next few days she obtained two modeling jobs and made a television commercial.

Off to a new start, good fortune has smiled at Chris

'Queen for Day' Salutes L.B., Free Tickets

"Queen for a Day" is going to help Long Beach's Diamond Jubilee sparkle.

Jack Bailey, host of the popular ABC-TV daily program, reports that the entire studio has been reserved for Long Beach residents on Nov. 19.

Tickets—1,200 of them — are now available at the All-States Society of Long Beach office, 148 E. Ocean Blvd. Office hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day of the week.

There is no charge for the tickets.

FOR THOSE desiring transportation to Hollywood and back to Long Beach, special busses have been reserved, and will leave at 2 p.m. The transportation cost, round-trip, is $1.50. Bus reservations must be made early, according to Marshall Craig, head of the society.

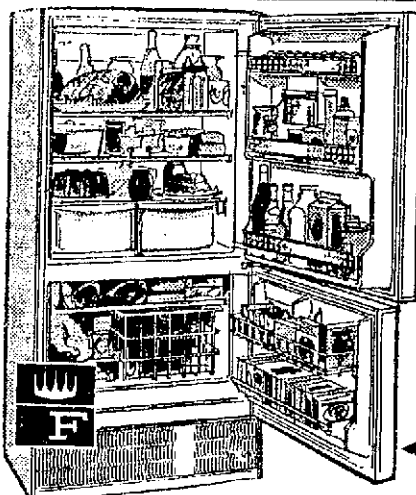

One of the persons attending from Long Beach will be selected as "Queen for a Day."

The program, which airs daily at 3 p.m. on channel 7, is taped at the former Moulin Rouge on Sunset Blvd. near Vine St.

The taped Long Beach program will air Nov. 27.

'YANKS ARE COMING' TONIGHT

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

With the dedication of a historian and the dramatic sense of a suspense-movie author, television producer David L. Wolper has monumentally created a dynamic documentary.

It's called "The Yanks Are Coming." Appropriately, KTTV (channel 11) airs it 10 p.m. today (Sunday), the eve of Veterans Day.

The documentary is about the advent of World War I and America's involvement. I previewed it last week.

IF "THE YANKS ARE COMING" is a page out of history, Wolper makes it a moving page.

The too-frequent method of using still photos to tie in lapses between action is not employed by Wolper. There is no need. There is no lapse.

There is a continuity, a flow, that effectively moves the program along the stream of time without any grinding detours.

What could have merely been a piecemeal collection of old newsreels is, instead, a well-told story.

There are contrasts skillfully augmented by use of background music from the period. To illustrate, "I Didn't Raise My Boy to be a Soldier" and "Johnny, Get Your Gun."

THERE is the solemn voice of narrator Richard Basehart: "Every romantic notion of war is soon crushed by deadly weapons."

There are lighter moments, Doughboys dancing and another song: "How You Gonna Keep Them Down on the Farm After They've Seen Parade."

THESE DEPENDABLE
that's what!

The Maytag Halo of Heat Gas Dryer has the big difference in automatic dryers — a gentle circle of even heat and safe, low temperatures. There are no "hot spots" in a Maytag Dryer so you can dry your most delicate fabrics without worry. Yet the Maytag Gas Dryer is so fast it can dry a load of 32 diapers in 32 minutes. And its full, family-size capacity lets you dry as much as you can wash at one time. Maytag's efficient lint filter eliminates lint problems too.

See the new MAYTAG Gas Dryer with push-button controls including wash 'n wear.

SPECIAL

CALAMITY JANE — Carol Burnett and Art Lund star in a television of the movie about a hoydenish girl of the Old West with a penchant for buckskins and tall tales. Bernie West, Beryl Towbin and Don Chastain are featured, at 9:30 p.m., ch. 2, with new songs added to the original Fain-Webster film score.

ANDY WILLIAMS—Peggy Lee sings "Mack the Knife" in a novelty production number and then teams up with Andy in a blues medley. Buddy Ebsen, accompanied by a few of Elly May's canine friends, becomes a hillybilly-turned-hooper (which he was long before the Clampetts struck oil), and joins Andy in singing "Alley Cat". The Osmond Brothers and the Good Time Singers complete the ch. 4 color hour at 10 p.m.

CAROL BURNETT STARS in the title role of the 90-minute musical comedy special "Calamity Jane" at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday on channel 2. Art Lund plays Wild Bill Hickok.

Chris' Heart Aches for Hugh

since her rejection of the nude layout.

The TV commercial led to her appearance in summer stock and the summer stock led to Hollywood screen tests and the Hollywood screen tests led to "The Lieutenant" and her current starlet status.

CHRIS, because she "just can't do nudes," doesn't consider herself a prude.

"A girl can look just as sexy in a sheath as if she keeps on showing everything," she said.

"What I mean is that a girl should show her figure, but in the dresses she wears. For example, I do wear fairly low-cut dresses."

Some of her dresses are sleeveless, permitting no room for the wearing of an aching heart.

But it's there, nevertheless.

ASTHMA & SMOG

Air polluted by smoke, dust and pollen aggravates recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. At the first sign of difficulty breathing, wheezing, coughing and mucus congestion from such causes, start taking MENDACO to combat allergy, loosen and help remove clogging phlegm, and thus insure a freer breathing and more restful sleep. Most druggists keep and recommend MENDACO.

Hope Fights Back

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Bob Hope finally has put one over on Bing Crosby.

Old Ski Nose and Mrs. Crosby (Kathy) will play husband and wife on Bob's Show at 8:30 p.m. Friday, channel 4. And Hope has sprinkled the script with enough romance to give Bing a case of hives.

In the long, hokey Crosby-Hope "feud," Bob has been a constant loser. Der Bingle is a master of one-upmanship, almost making a straight man out of his comedian buddy.

"YES SIR," said Bob. "Kathy has finally seen the light. Once she plays those romantic scenes with me she will be spoiled for life.

"I guess Bing will just have to go back to school or check with Cesar Romero. I don't know how he can follow an act like mine."

It is a genuine coup for Hope in his long-standing joust with the Old Groaner. Down through the years Bing managed to get the best of Bob on the golf course. He topped the comedian in the children department, too, seven to four.

In their famed "Road to ..." pictures it was always Crosby who got the girl while Hope was left in the lurch.

FINANCES have been another big deal between the two stars. The quips fly thick and fast as to which has the fattest bank book. Each credits the other with being the richest man in the world. "I know Crosby's got more dough than I do," Hope said. "He sends CARE packages to Nelson Rockefeller. Bing's only problem is that he has all his money tied up in cash."

SPECIAL

BOB HOPE SPECIAL — Hope's first filmed-in-color comedy for TV finds him playing screen husband to the real wife of his old "Road" buddy as he teams with Kathryn Crosby and Jill St. John at 8:30 p.m., ch. 4, in the story of a lovable boob and his wife who are "conned" into buying a luxurious Waverly Hills estate next door to a notorious mobster and his frisky moll.

HALL OF FAME—Charlton Heston stars as Thomas Jefferson in Robert Hartung's adaptation of Sidney Kingsley's "The Patriots," at 9:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. John Fraser, Howard St. John and Peggy Ann Garner co-star in the 90-minute dramatization of Jefferson's sacrifices in opposing Alexander Hamilton's Federalist party, and bringing to reality his own concept that the power to govern rests with the people rather than an elite aristocracy.

WILLBANKS

SELLS QUALITY CARPET FOR LESS

The Willbanks Story

The Willbanks Carpet Co. is a departure from the usual carpet specialty shop. It was founded on the premise that quality carpet, backed by expert installation, could be sold at a minimum mark-up in sufficient volume to be profitable. The extension of this premise was to operate without frills and costly fixtures from a low rent and thus low overhead location in a factory warehouse on a side street in Signal Hill. By eliminating high rent and other cost-raising features, the company decided it could afford to pass on to its customers the substantial savings by giving more carpet at less cost.

A Special Buy from Mohawk

Here is an outstanding value. A carpet by Mohawk using Acrylic fibers. A smart, practical carpet that you will be proud of. Being a special buy, there is only a limited supply in stock. There are 3 good decorator colors to choose from: Frost Beige, Gold, Sandalwood.

A Terrific Value at

$4.95
Per Yd.

100% DUPONT CONTINUOUS FILAMENT NYLON

by CORONET

A modern textured, random space-dyed carpet. This broadloom has unexcelled wear and resistance to abrasion. It practically eliminates shedding, pilling and fuzzing. For lasting beauty, you will find this carpet hard to beat. Moth proof and non-allergenic. Colors in stock: Peacock tones, Woodsmoke, Shadow Glow.

Our Price Now Only

$5.95
Per Yd.

HERCULON by Gulistan

One of the strongest man made fibers known today—fashioned into beautiful broadloom that is amazingly soil resistant and easy to clean. . . Absorbs less moisture than any other fiber. The lovely colors are locked in. Will never fade, never change. Rugged, durable and strong. Takes years of hardest wear. We have many colors to choose from both in 2-tone and solid colors.

The Willbanks Price

$6.95
Per Yd.

ALEXANDER SMITH'S ALL-WOOL

Candy Stripe

Through the year the mill accumulates a lot of yarn from their more expensive patterns. In order not to waste this yarn they make up a candy stripe with many beautiful colors. This is a real quality piece of carpet.

Our Special Price

OUR COVER

In the mood of "itchy feet," an expression long indicative of the lover of travel, today's cover by Staff Artist Al Cano is the "bindle" of the rover—but this particular wanderer is far more sophisticated than the American itinerant of the railroad rods or the highwayside. He's been around. Travel today is both easier and more complicated than that of the hobo's sunshine routes of a day gone by. There's now the problem of reservations in a thronging populace on the move, there's the complication of matching connections in the fast-moving air, land and sea transportation of modern days. But it's all made easier by travel agents; air-line, rail and steamship services; speeded up customs procedures; automated registration at hotels and motor inns; superb accommodations—and what will you? Modern travel has also burgeoned out of the summer vacation classification into an all-year activity. And to assist travelers and travel dreamers with a fall outlook on a favorite pastime, consult the travel pages of today's Southland Magazine.

NEXT WEEK

Wine production is a major California industry and the Golden State's wines rank among the world's finest. Soil and climate conducive to viticulture was a finding of the early Mission Padres and their pioneering led to the vast commercial venture that is today's vintner activity. California's grapes have now been harvested and pressed and wine is mellowing in giant casks. Wine makers now have time to spend with their friends and a visit to a winery will reveal a welcome mat. More about wineries and visiting hours in next week's Southland.

was only one part of a 'round-the-world tour which began in Norway and ended in Japan.

Mrs. Doty had planned to ride her motorcycle "Poochie" around the world. But she sold it in Israel after authorities told her that it would be banned in Jordan.

Mrs. Doty, widow of a Baptist minister, set out on her world tour alone in June 1962, with no reservations and no particular plans other than to hike across Norway, buy a motorcycle in Germany and eventually visit friends stationed in missionary fields throughout Africa, India and Japan. The fact that she had never driven a motorcycle before was for Grandma Doty a matter of small importance.

THIS LEAN, wiry enthusiastic woman accomplished everything she set out to do with the exception of visiting the Congo. She hiked across Norway with 20 pounds of luggage strapped to her back, learned to drive "Poochie" with a speed that astonished her German instructor, then whizzed through England, Holland, Belgium, France, Luxembourg, Italy and Spain.

A French woman cyclist challenged her to a 50-mile race across the northern Alps. With a "la-la-America, you can't take me," Grandma Doty's opponent sped by in the first lap of the race. "But she didn't know 'Poochie,'" explained Mrs. Doty. "Poochie" was built for climbing and as soon as the grade steepened we gained on her so much that I never did see her again."

A deeply religious woman, Mrs. Doty says, "the Lord went ahead of me all the way. I never had but one reservation and that was in Tokyo but I always found a place to sleep. Often I would find when coming into a town that all the rooms had been taken but one."

Of the 42 countries, Mrs. Doty visited, Israel impressed her the most. "It's the most promising country on the face of the earth," she said, "as she recalled the highlights of her month-long tour of famed Biblical spots which began with a Christmas Eve visit to Jerusalem.

ISRAEL'S energetic, friendly people took Grandma Doty into their hearts and their officials issued orders that she was to be allowed to drive "Poochie" wherever she pleased.

After a sorrowful parting with "Poochie" Mrs. Doty flew to Jordan and Lebanon for a visit to orphanages she had helped support, and to tour the famed Biblical ruins at Baalbek.

Then she sailed for Egypt, rode a camel to the Pyramids and reported that the animal "swayed like a ship." She toured the Aswan Dam, then made her way by plane and train to the Sudan, Uganda and Kenya where she again visited missionary friends.

"I wanted to enter the Congo," she said, "but officials said that while it was possible to go in they could not guarantee that I would be able to get out."

After Africa came India, Burma, Saigon, Japan, Hong Kong and the Philippines. Japan was reached in the spring when the cherry blossoms were in bloom and Mrs. Doty described them "as the loveliest sight I have ever seen."

FOR THE WOMAN who is afraid to travel alone, Mrs. Doty has this to say. "Get over your fears, there is nothing to be afraid of. I was treated with kindness everywhere.

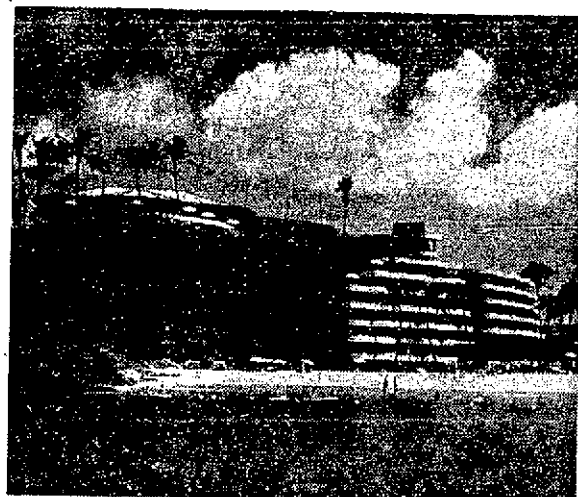

"I was never ill a day on the trip and I believe much of that was due to the fact that I ate lightly. This I would recommend to any traveler."

A fine amateur photographer and artist, Mrs. Doty is now engaged in processing colored slides taken during her travels. The best of these she plans to reproduce on canvas and sell for the benefit of missions "the world over."

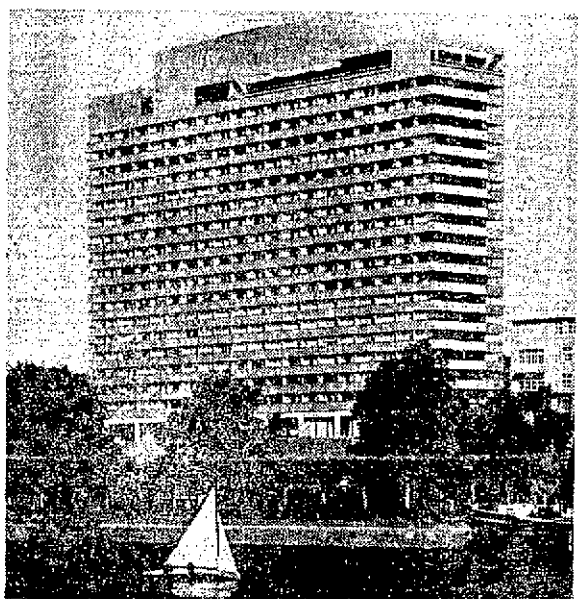

WINTER TRAVEL

Vacation Palaces

Where ever you travel in the next few months, even to the far corners of the world, chances are better than even that a brand-new hotel will be there to greet you. A universal hotel-building binge has been going on for some time, in a feverish attempt to catch up with the ever increasing tide of tourism. Here are a few of these palaces of comfort only recently opened.

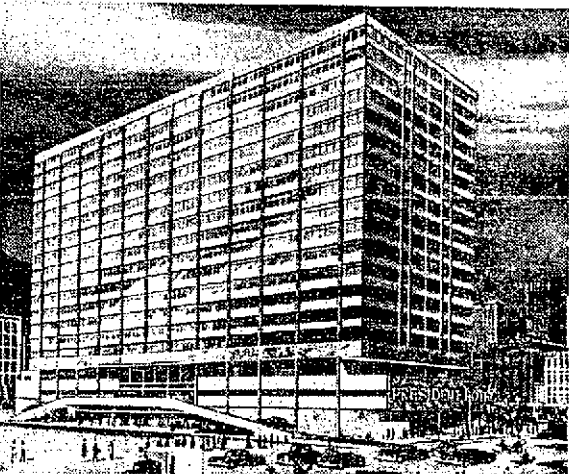

Rising seven stories like a series of ivory ruffles against a dark, lava rock promontory, Hawaii's Sheraton-Maui is unique among hostelryes of the Pacific.

Showplace of modernity, the $10 million Frankfurt Intercontinental Hotel has been opened on Main River in Frankfurt. With 500 rooms, it is Germany's largest.

The President, 800-room palace of oriental elegance, opened Nov. 1 in Hong Kong. Its appointments reflect grandeur and contrast of the teeming Occident.

HOW YOUR CHILD LEARNS

About Long Books

By Howard E. Kent

QUESTION: Should a high school student be expected to read very long books?
ANSWER: Yes, by this time he should be able to do so.

True, his reading assignments in school thus far have been relatively brief—selections that usually could be read at one sitting.

After a diet of essays, short stories, or selected chapters from novels, the prospect of tackling "Moby Dick" or "Crime and Punishment" can be frightening.

He must start by realizing that such books are not supposed to be devoured in one, two, or even a half dozen readings. They have to be read on the installment plan.

Previously, the student could wait until the night before his report to read the assignment. Now he must start weeks before, reading a portion of his book every day.

By pacing himself in this way, he can make the transition from small to big reading assignment with a minimum of pain and a maximum of pleasure.

QUESTION: "Do English courses tend to lay a heavy hand on the enjoyment of literature?"

ANSWER: Unfortunately, we have to agree that they often do.

When students are burdened with excessive literary analysis, literature becomes agony rather than entertainment.

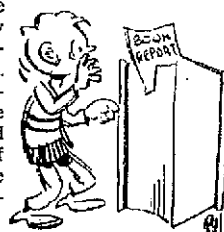

We've noticed that the analysis in many cases is more busy work, adding little or nothing to either the enjoyment or understanding of the piece of writing.

One collection of English literature contains a pookish essay by A. P. Herbert about doodling at meetings. Herbert gives examples of his drawings, including a landscape.

"Somehow or other a man has got into this landscape," he writes, "and, as luck would have it, it is Napoleon. Apart from this it is not a bad landscape."

At the end of the essay, the serious-minded editor of the collection asks, under "Discussion Hints":

"Does the man in Fig. 9 really look like Napoleon?"

"HINTS FOR KEEPING YOUR RUGS CLEAN AND BEAUTIFULLY PRESERVED FOR YEARS"

Three rules for rug beauty and care are: (One) Light daily cleaning with a carpet sweeper or vacuum. (Two) Thorough vacuuming once or twice a week. (Three) Professional cleaning once a year.

Remember, there is a difference between dust and dirt or grime. Dust lays on the surface of a rug, but grime and real dirt get down in the fibers of the rug and actually cut away at them—this grime cutting action is the reason why once-a-year professional cleaning is a must.

Off-season travel
splurge continues

Winter's Gadabouts Get the Bargains

By Fred Taylor Kraft

LIKE A FORMATION of geese, vacationists will start following the sun this month to lands where summer spends the winter.

The hegira will descend upon tropical lands throughout the world to view their wonders of nature, to visit their cities and villages, to become better acquainted with their people and their way of life, to play and tan on their beaches.

In short, these off-season American nomads—travel experts estimate the number will exceed three million—expect to live it up at a time of year when travel and hotel accommodations are not only easier to come by but at rates often much lower than during the summer season. And they'll find service inevitably better, and the atmosphere everywhere more relaxed.

As expected, the most popular destination will be the Pacific—Hawaii, Tahiti and the South Seas, and Japan. (See Page 9.)

MEXICO CONTINUES to gain favor with visitors. Several of the popular resort hotels in the Mexican capital already are booked solid through the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Because much of Mexico is tropical, travel will not be confined to the capital. "Hottest" tourist spot just now is Puerto Vallarta, on the Pacific Coast west of Guadalajara, reported to be the "most unspoiled spot" in the Republic. (Incidentally, a new 140-room luxury hotel, the Posada Vallarta, will open there on Dec. 20.

Central America, notably Guatemala, is on the itinerary of some of the crowd descending upon Mexico.

THE CARIBBEAN, fast becoming a favorite destination for vacationists, will be better patronized than a year ago by West Coast residents. The favored spots seem to be Puerto Rico, Jamaica and the Virgin Islands, though many like to go to the Bahamas.

Most, but not all, off-season junketers are moving with the sun. A notable example is Europe, which, next to the Pacific, will draw more visitors from the Southwest than any other area.

Twenty-one-day "Thrift Trips" by air from Los Angeles to Paris, starting at $697, and all-expense flights covering a half-dozen central European countries (about $993) are stimulating travel to the Continent.

Snow is another factor. One of the most popular winter sports areas will be Val d'Isere, in the French Alps, where the U. S. Olympic Ski Team will train from December through February for the 1964 Games. Others from the West Coast will enjoy this favorite sport in the Swiss Alps, Austria and Italy.

Some European travelers will join other vacationists in a swing through the Mediterranean and the Near East.

(It is interesting to note that more and more tourists, with an eye on their purses, are stretching their budgets by passing up plush European hotels in favor of "that nice little place just around the corner." Europe, of course, is famous for its small but comfortable hostelryes.)

HOW WILL PEOPLE GO?

Steamships are enjoying a resurgence in popularity, not only because more people have more leisure, but also because steamship travel affords "a short spell of being idle, spoiled, and far removed from cares and worries," says an executive of a Pacific line.

Cruises are constantly increasing. Next year, there will be 485 of them out of United States ports alone, a great number of them from the West Coast.

Economy wise, steamship companies are making winter cruises even more attractive with reductions of up to 25 per cent from their regular fares.

The airlines, meanwhile, are stepping up their schedules. As an example, Trans World Airlines is scheduling 13,348 transatlantic jet seats on 94 passenger flights weekly this fall and winter between the United States and Europe and the Mediterranean, the largest number in its history. And Air France, between now and next March 31, will have 37 jetliner departures for Paris per week from North American gateways. The same is true of Pan Am to its far-flung destinations, and Delta Air Lines to points southeast and into the Caribbean.

STEAMSHIP companies and airlines have scheduled some tours which combine cruising with jetting.

Freighter travel, of course, is as always only more so.

But not all gadabouts will be going outside the United States.

The east and southeast coasts are prime targets for the junketer, particularly New York City where entertainment possibilities are unlimited. (See Page 8.) And already there has been travel into the Rocky Mountain region, and even to New England, where the shadow of winter is changing forests into wonderlands of color.

New York City

Next Best Thing to a World Tour

Central Park (left) has worldwide fame and offers year-around appeal. Fashionable Fifth Avenue runs north from Washington Square Arch (right).

Spiral ramp, below, is a feature of Frank Lloyd Wright designed museum.

YOU DON'T have to own a million, be a foreign diplomat or join the Navy to see the world. Just go to New York City.

This mecca of ready mix cultures and myriad nationalities is the next best thing to a trip around the world.

New York is lights and sound and people and music far into the night. It is the Old World, the New World and the World of Tomorrow welded together by bridges, subways, tunnels and ferries, by steel and asphalt and shimmering glass.

It's the variety store of the world—for any price you want to pay.

And soon there's to be an added attraction, an extra bargain for your "instant world" travel dollar: the spectacular, 646-acre, 1964-65 New York World's Fair, scheduled to open April 22.

SPEAKING of your travel dollar, it's an accepted fact that the budget-wise tourist who knows his way around on the Big Town's rapid transit system can sightsee the principal attractions on a dollar bill.

The smart visitor with a thin wallet will select a judicious mixture of the underground subways, surface bus network and the ferries that link the city's watery geography into a vast and intricate web of inexpensive transportation.

By doubling back on his tracks, one resourceful lad recently rode 25 hours and covered 400 miles for a single 15-cent fare on New York's subway system, largest in the world.

The municipally-owned bus system operates

200 routes, traverses more than 600 miles and penetrates into every cranny of the metropolis. Bus fares also are 15 cents.

MANY THINGS in New York are free to see. There is no admission charge to parks and zoos, and one can attend Shakespeare performances and band concerts in summer in Central Park without charge.

Certain other tourist attractions have a nominal charge. You can walk around, through and under Rockefeller Center and its Channel Gardens for free. But there is a charge for a guided tour of Rockefeller Center—$1.50 for adults; 95 cents for children. To go to the observation tower of the RCA Building costs $1; 65 cents for children; to go atop Empire State, it's $1.30, children 65 cents. A guided tour of the U. N. complex costs $1, 50 cents for students. All cheap at half price.

TAKING IN a Broadway show—or two or three—is a "must" on any New York traveler's itinerary. Variety is the spice (and the frustration), for there are nearly 100 theaters, off-Broadway and on, from which to choose.

Hits thrilling audiences this fall include a new vehicle for Long Beach's Van Heflin called "Libel," playing at the Longacre. Also rating rave notices are Meredith Willson's latest

"Here's Love," at the Shubert and "Never Too Late" starring Maureen O'Sullivan at the Playhouse.

GETTING TICKETS can be a problem, so start early. Write either the box office of the show you'd like to see, or contact your hotel for reservations, giving, of course, a choice of dates.

Speaking of hotels, it'll be crowded in New York this year, even though the city has more than 600 hotels and many motels in the environs. To take care of the influx, a housing system has been set up for duration of the Fair.

Hotel arrangements, we are told, can be made through the New York World's Fair Housing Bureau, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, N. Y. Effective Nov. 15, the Housing Bureau telephone will be area code 212, Circle 7-0100.

MORE ABOUT the world-filled atmosphere: Don't miss some of New York's many-nationality neighborhoods with their different tongues and accents, different customs, holidays and ways of life.

In New York's busy, bustling shopping areas you'll find world treasures in dazzling abundance . . . an unlimited selection of the newest fashions, for New York is its own fashion resource . . . the best and most beautiful of home decorations . . . the rarest jewels. You can buy

The Pacific ...Exciting, Astonishing!

By Jack Gabriel
Pacific Area Travel Association

TAKING a horseback ride to Indonesia's volcanic Mt. Bromo, watching firewalkers on Fiji's Beqa Island or seeing the world's greatest rice terraces in the Philippines are only a few of the astonishing things tourists can do in Pacific countries. There isn't time for all the excitement the countries offer in that part of the world, and plans must be made carefully to include as many as possible, according to the Pacific Area Travel Association.

There is nothing more incredible than a water tour of Hong Kong's harbor, where a separate world exists in close proximity to the surrounding land. Thousands of Chinese live on junks and sampans on the water, knowing no other life from cradle to grave. This water existence includes floating markets, churches and schools, or just about everything people could have on land, but it's all unbelievable even when seen.

To say that shopping in Hong Kong is the best in the world is to simplify the entire matter. But almost everything there costs less than it does in the country where it was made, and it would be a shameful waste of money not to take advantage of it. A tailor-made man's suit, completed after several fittings, may cost from $30 to $60, depending on the material, but it's still just about one-half what he'll pay for a ready-made suit at home. There's tailoring for the gals, also, as well as perfume, gloves, jewelry, furniture—everything!

THE RICE TERRACES at Banaue, in the Philippines, are an ancient engineering marvel for, although more than 2,500 years old, they are still operated in a highly efficient manner. The drive from Baguio, the summer capital, to Banaue is high and winding and takes several hours, but all the scenery that is pushed is a tonic to the optic nerves. Tourists usually arrive at nightfall, and to awaken the next morning to the exquisite view from Bill Beyer's small inn near the summit is to form instantly a memory of what is certainly one of the world's really gorgeous vistas.

A ride through Japan's Inland Sea is a passage through charm. Here is a collection of islands as ancient as history and with as much significance. It is something like a ride down the St. Lawrence River with its Thousand Islands, only there is much more of it in the Inland Sea, and more diversification. One cannot help wondering, as each island comes into view, or fades from sight, what the people do who live on them, and what life might be like in such an aura of romance.

NEW ZEALAND'S excitement is spread all over both its North and South Islands. The thermal regions of the former are awesome to the travelers who hear the roar of the steam escaping from the ground near Rotorua, and have its significance explained to them as they stand on earth that seems to shake with the fury of Nature. This cannot be seen anywhere else on so gigantic a scale. The Alpine regions on South Island rival those in Switzerland in their majesty. This is a country unsurpassed for scenic wonder.

Australia has scenery, too, and in abundance, with its Great Barrier Reef to the north and the lovely island of Tasmania off the southeast coast. But, although its unique animals are known to the rest of the world, many of them are still too little known. Here is where the tourists will see the lovable little koalas, endlessly nibbling eucalyptus leaves as they eye visitors to zoos and sanctuaries. In the background, and very accessible, are the friendly kangaroos who will nibble daintily on the potato chips they are offered. The emus, resembling an ostrich, are not dainty, however, and they peck voraciously at the tourists' offerings as if they had not been fed in days. Wallabies will also be on hand, and this amusing relative of the kangaroo will provide some laughs. There is another oddity for the cameras—the platypus, indigenous to Australia—and the fairy penguins, in their habitat near Melbourne, provide endless amusement.

finite variety of interest, from the hotels stretched along Waikiki Beach on the island of Oahu to the pineapple and sugar cane plantations on the islands nearby. The world's largest dormant volcano, Haleakala, towers 10,082 feet above the sea on Maui, and Mauna Loa, a still active one, performs rather too frequently on the island of Hawaii. There is a profusion of beauty in these islands that also have a rejuvenating effect on all visitors who become younger by just being there.

Korea, which is coming up fast on the tourists' routes in the Pacific, has much to offer for this is indeed a spectacular country. The area surrounding Taegu, seat of the Silla Dynasty for 1,100 years, is bulging with historic wonders—a country that is not Japanese, not Chinese, and certainly not a mixture of those two but strictly Korean.

WITH ALL ITS antiquity, Korea also has a new attraction that is one of the greatest of its kind in the world. This is Walker Hill Resort, a hotel complex about 10 miles from Seoul, the capital. Opened in April of this year, Walker Hill has everything any tourist could ask, and more than is ordinarily hoped for. There are swimming pools, bowling alleys, steam rooms, a music library where guests choose their own records, hunting, fishing, boating, and a night club-dining room with a stage at one end and a dance floor that is raised or lowered into the basement, taking with it a bevy of lovely dancing girls, a truly astonishing sight as they disappear. A luxurious two-room suite here rents for about $13 a day.

Also, shopping in Korea is not to be ignored. The brass items made in that country look like pure gold, and a tea or coffee set, for example, with six cups and saucers, coffee pot, sugar and cream containers all on a large brass tray costs less than $15, including postage home.

Borneo, too, is attracting more and more attention. In flying from Singapore to Hong Kong, one might as well go via Borneo and the Philippines. The first stop can be made at Kuching, in Sarawak (and here is where you might look at your map as you read). This small city contains a museum that is one of the finest anywhere. In it are items that portray the history of Borneo in an interesting and educational manner. About 40 miles away is a longhouse, a long wooden structure (as the name implies) in which native families live in a communal manner that is like a human ant hill.

FLYING FARTHER, travelers may stop in Brunei to visit the glorious mosque and the Malay village built on stilts in the river. It may not be as lovely as Venice, but it's equally interesting. A last stop is made in Jesselton, in the province of North Borneo, and here a traveler finds a small, modern city built in the European manner. The postcard and stamp business in Borneo gets its boost from tourists who undoubtedly write: "Bet You Never Got a Card From Here Before," and they're probably right.

WINTER TRAVEL

Palm Springs Is 'Go!'

THE WINTER tourist season is under way—with something like jet propulsion—in Palm Springs.

What's new in Palm Springs since last year?

The Palm Springs $8 million Aerial Tramway, opened last Sept. 14 has outdone any other seasonal opening and it hasn't even slowed down. As word of the thrilling trip gets around, more residents and tourists ride the tram up the rugged side of Mt. San Jacinto and enjoy the breathtaking view from the Mountain Station 8,516 feet up.

Hotels? Palm Springs Spa, built over historic Indian mineral wells and natural hot springs, has opened its $3 million 131-room hotel.

THE RIVIERA Hotel has added 150 rooms, bringing the total of rooms in the hotel to 507. A new convention center on the Riviera grounds accommodates 3,500 delegates.

Distinctive Indonesian architecture sets the Erawan Garden Hotel in Palm Desert apart from other structures. Built at a cost of $3 million, it is patterned after the hotel of the same name in Bangkok, Thailand.

Nearby is the $1 million International Hotel. Innovations include a free car wash, Blue Chip stamps, Continental breakfast served 24 hours a day, king-sized beds and two queen-size beds per double room.

Ocotillo Lodge, recently purchased by Gene Autry, is spending close to a half-million dollars redecorating and refurbishing its 54 villas, 24 bungalows, 52 upper and lower level suites situated on eight acres of beautifully landscaped property.

EL MIRADO HOTEL has completed its new $1½ million, 100-room pool wing, bringing the hotel's total number of rooms to 300.

Golf? Palm Springs is practically synonymous with golf. The new nine-hole course at the Biltmore Hotel boasts the number of magnificent courses to 16, the pride of the Village.

Bermuda Dunes Country Club will complete its third nine holes in December, the first 27-hole course in the desert area.

Canyon Country Club will have a 36-hole course, the club adding another 18-hole championship course to its existing 18. The first new nine will be ready for play in February, the second nine by the end of March.

The Frank Sinatra Golf Tournament, Canyon Country Club, ends Monday with a Tournament banquet at the Riviera Hotel.

The fifth annual Palm Springs Golf Classic will be Jan. 30-Feb. 2 at Eldorado, Indian Wells and Bermuda Dunes Country Clubs.

NIGHT LIFE? It's as exciting and diversified as ever, only more so.

Talented musicians are at piano bars everywhere in town—Ruby's Dunes, Trinidad Hotel, Desert Air Hotel. The versatile Don Miller, for instance, is playing at Ocotillo Lodge.

Song stylist Jesse Davis has returned to the Howard Manor. The Gloria Becker Trio makes fine music at

That John's; Candy Johnson, Queen of Twisters, and the Exciters play to standing room only crowds at the Mirador.

The Chi Chi follows a policy of booking famous performers. Tommy Noonan and Yvonne de Carlo have just closed. Pearl Bailey will return soon.

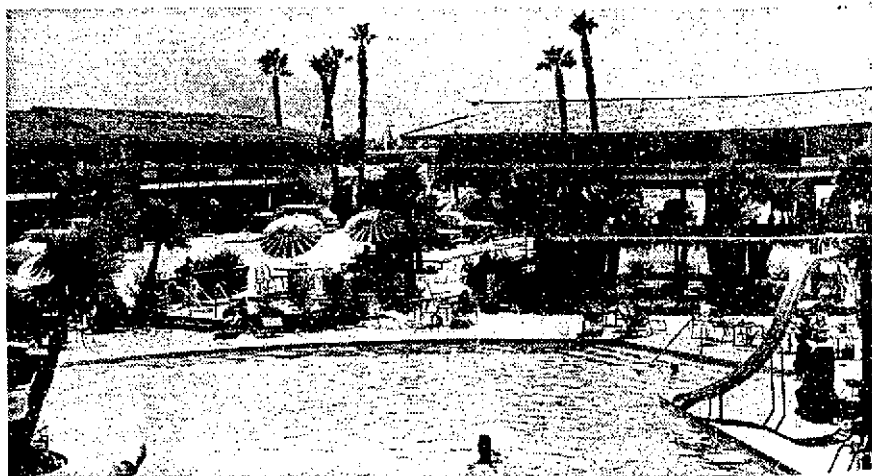

Eddie King's new Metro-pole Restaurant opened Nov. 1 with gourmet dinners and entertainment in the Show Lounge.

WHAT ELSE is there to do in Palm Springs?

Like to swim? At last count (Oct. 1 or thereabouts), Palm Springs had 3,052 swimming pools within the city limits, making it the "Swimming Pool Capital of the World."

Popular with hikers and desert riding groups are the canyons tucked into the folds of the towering San Jacinto mountain range that borders Palm Springs on the west.

The canyons are favorites for early morning western chuckwagon-style breakfasts. Cars may be driven to the canyons. The canyon areas are Indian land, and the owners charge a small fee for entering. The canyons are so beautiful no one minds the fee.

HOMES

It's Modern And Antique

By Stella George

FEW HOMES in the Long Beach area can claim the characteristic that raises the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stanley Bartlett, 5117 E. Lanai St., from the unpretentious to the unique. It is furnished in authentic antiques, some of them family heirlooms and others of later acquisition.

Mrs. Bartlett has assigned a purpose to each item. In other words, she has decorated in a restrained manner, realizing that too many antiques give a cluttered appearance. Her home is completely uncluttered, and would pass the approval of a professional interior designer.

As a clue to the unique quality of the decorating theme, it should be mentioned at the outset that Mrs. Bartlett has a collection of Meissen that probably has few equals in average Southern California homes. Her kitchen utensils are Meissen. These pieces, including the rolling pin, not only grace the walls of the kitchen, but are used every day. So is the potato masher—and the soup ladle.

In the den, a paneled wall of glass is adorned with a collection of bottles. A round pine early West table stands directly in front of window.

An unassuming front is presented by the Bartlett home to the street. Its surprise feature is its interior outfitting by use of antiques.

Victorian sofa faced a marble-topped coffee table in this view of the living room from the opposite side.

There is a wrought iron foot scraper just outside the front door, handy when grandchildren come to visit on rainy days, attractive because it is a decorator's item.

THE KITCHEN is to the left of the small entrance hall, the living room straight ahead. Glass window panes at the far end of the living room provide a view of the garden in the rear, but the visitor's attention is usually diverted to the furnishings of the room. A Victorian sofa faces a carved coffee table. On one side of the room is a French ladies' desk with ormolu brass trim and brown marble shelves, circa 1800. In a corner is a handsome piece which is a surprise to the layman — a coal scuttle from Scotland, made of rosewood with satinwood inlay trim, circa 1830. Other furnishings include a walnut corner cupboard with a nine-pane, hand-blown glass door; a French mahogany card table with inlaid, brass-trimmed top and fluted legs with brass inlay; a Chippendale fireside table of walnut with carved claw-and-ball feet; a pine blanket chest; a cherry Pembroke table with a Meissen tea set upon it; chairs which include a ladies' chair with a mahogany frame and fruit carving on the back, gentleman's chair made of rosewood—all Victorian.

A den is located a step down on the far right of the living room. Opposite the gun collection on the inside wall of the room is the paneled glass wall which faces the garden in the rear. A choice collection of bottles adorns the shelves which frame the windows. In front of this display is a round pine early West table. There is an oak roll-top desk in the room. A pine tea-bin table is against one wall, with a collection of Russell and Remington prints over it.

A ROCKING CHAIR — a hand hewn maple Boston chair with a plank bottom seat—is comfortable beyond belief. A black safe with the large key lock, circa 1830, is another item of interest.

Beds in the two bedrooms have double woven coverlets with dates woven into them, 1854 and 1852. Furnishings in the bedrooms include a Chinese carved teakwood chest; tulipwood chest of drawers with sandwich glass pulls and Bennington cup feet; a mahogany dresser, circa 1860, and a Victorian rocker with spider-web caning.

The kitchen is modern, but also has a pine dry sink; a Pennsylvania Dutch drop-leaf table, circa 1830; plank bottom chairs, and a maple spice cupboard which came from the old Charlie Chaplin estate.

THROUGHOUT this home is the collection of Meissen china that is a part of, and almost dominates, the decor. Dinner in the Bartlett home is served on Meissen. Meals are cooked with Meissen utensils. Lighting is provided with lamps enhanced with Meissen bases. Knickknacks in the bedrooms are Meissen. The history of many of the pieces is unknown to Mrs. Bartlett, but it is likely that the long-ago owners would be proud to have the fine porcelain pieces displayed and used in a cozy home such as this.

MEDICINE AND YOU

New Finding Aids in Surgery

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine's Medical-Science Writer

DRESSINGS may be left off all types of surgical wounds not requiring pressure bandages, two Swedish doctors say.

The doctors compared two groups of patients. One group—105 persons—did not get surgical dressings after operation. Another group—100 persons—received dressings.

Finding: Absence of dressings led to no adverse effects. Patients suffered no discomfort such as increased wound pain. The practice saves time and money, the doctors say in a report in Acta Chirurgica Scandinavica, a medical journal.

ANOTHER research team has reported success in the treatment of glaucoma with a simple technique.

Oral glycerol mixed in fruit juice and soda reduced eyeball pressure dramatically in five patients suffering from acute glaucoma, two British investigators report.

Glaucoma is a disease marked by increased pressure inside the eyeball. The ailment, if not treated in time, can lead to blindness.

Two doctors at Westminster Hospital in London report in British Medical Journal that glycerol, taken by mouth, has been able to reduce intraocular tension in 22 patients with various types of glaucoma. The fall in pressure in the five acute patients was "striking," they say.

Glycerol, they say, is "a very useful drug" and is "safe and accessible."

Earlier, in Rome, a team of researchers reported successful treatment results with 26 patients.

PROLONGED remissions in acute leukemia do occur, but they are extremely rare, a City of Hope physician says.

Dr. Virgil F. Fairbanks tells of three adults whose disease has now been in remission for periods ranging from 2.3 years to 5 years. None of the patients has had to have treatment for 2 or 3 years.

Another researcher, he says, has a patient who has had no sign of leukemia for 9 years. Another patient has had a 5.5-year remission.

Doctors are unable to find any differences in these patients and the ordinary patient who succumbs after a matter of months.

The report is in the New England Journal of Medicine.

VISUAL blurring in both eyes is a common forerunner of stroke, reminds a San Francisco eye specialist in a report to the American Medical Association.

A typical attack is marked by sudden dimming of vision. The patient may attribute this to his glasses, excessive accumulation of tears or a variation in the brightness of a reading lamp.

The patient often describes the blurring as:

"A grayout of vision."
"A sensation of looking through fog or smoke."

"The feeling that someone has turned down the lights."

The specialist, Dr. William Fleicher Hoyt, says:

"An isolated episode may occur in one patient days or weeks before a stroke. Another patient may experience multiple attacks over a period of weeks or months before stroke. In most cases, a stroke eventually occurs."

LIKE FLU vaccines, whooping cough vaccines may not always protect against an infection, a British researcher notes.

Dr. Noel W. Preston of University of Manchester, England, says the nature of whooping cough's causative organism varies.

Consequently, he says, the infecting bacterium may be different from the organism with which a child has been immunized. If so, a vaccinated youngster can contract whooping cough.

Dr. Preston's report is in British Medical Journal.

The World in a Little Black Box

Tokyo's Meiji Shrine contributed this scene to lens memories of two young, world-touring photographers.

By Irving Desfor

WOULD you give up your job, grab your camera and follow the sun and spring around the world?

Would you do it without civilized conveniences—on $5 a day—by using your legs instead of taxis and eating in small native food shops instead of hotel restaurants?

It can—and has—been done and I've just seen the pictures to prove it. Sherwin and Liane Lehrer, a young couple from Cambridge, Mass., are back after a nine-month global circuit during which they converted photographers' day-dreams into colorful slides and artistic pictures.

"Like most photo fans, my secret ambition was to be a full-fledged photographer, even for a short time," Sherwin recalled. "But if you just dream and do nothing about it, you get bogged down in routine living . . . earning a living, raising a family. You've got to make the decision—do it!"

"FORTUNATELY, my wife, also a camera fan, had similar feelings." Here Liane nodded agreement. "We met at the University of California in Berkeley where we got our Ph.D.s in chemistry in 1960. We married, got jobs as chemists and concentrated on saving for our photo trip."

They consulted airlines, travel and government agencies and informative books on the customs of the foreign lands they hoped to visit. The basis of their plans was the fact that you can buy an all-inclusive round-the-world ticket good for one year. This carries the privilege of stopping anywhere along the route in that period and making local flights at your own convenience and pace, at no extra expense.

AFTER TWO years of preparations, they accumulated the basic funds needed. The route and time were plotted to avoid the rainy seasons. With cameras in hand and films the major part of their luggage, off they flew in October 1962, to see the world through a viewfinder.

On arrival at any city, they sought out the government tourist agency to help locate the most economical lodgings. From their own research and on-the-spot probing, they determined the most likely places of photo interest. Using local transportation and with a great deal of walking, they explored the nearby countryside.

Language difficulties were met with a basic vocabulary for each new country.

THEIR EQUIPMENT included a 2 1/4 x 2 1/4 camera for black and white; a 35mm camera for color slides; an inexpensive folding camera for routine or courtesy pictures; a small sturdy tripod for long exposures.

As soon as they reached any shipping point, all exposed film was sent to the U.S. for processing. Color went directly to Rochester with the return address of a friend in their home town. He studied the slides and kept the travelers posted as to the quality. Black and white films went to a Manhattan lab where the negatives were kept safely on the file. Later, to relieve the feeling that they were shooting blind, group contact prints were returned to the Lehrers at a forwarding address.

With a Touch of Mediterranean

By Mildred K. Flanary

Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

TOUCHES of Greek and Italian cuisine in handsome, piquantly flavored Chicken Mousse and Beans Mediterranean should make this main-dish salad especially appealing to the skyrocketing number of Americans fascinated by European cookery.

In pale gold, fluffy mousse with its slivered chicken and seasonings of chicken stock base, lemon juice and mustard owes something to Greece. And the green beans and sliced mushrooms are marinated in Italian dressing and dill weed before going into the center of the chilled ring mold.

With the color and flavor contrasts so delightfully pronounced in this double-feature attraction, it automatically becomes the entree for a special occasion. Ideal for a buffet luncheon party, the mousse may be prepared the previous night and the beans and mushrooms tossed and refrigerated in the marinade a few hours before the party. Good accompaniments would be hot consomme Madrilene and crisp buttered rolls, along with a garnish of tomato wedges, ripe olives and salad greens for the main dish.

Chicken Mousse and Beans Mediterranean

- 2 cans (1 lb. each) cut blue lake green beans
- 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced, or 1 can (3 or 4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1/2 cup Italian dressing
- 1 teaspoon dill weed
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 eggs, separated
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 1/2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 3 tablespoons chicken stock base
- 2 envelopes plain gelatin
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 1/2 cups slivered cooked or canned chicken

Drain beans. In a bowl, toss together beans, mushrooms, dressing, dill weed and salt. Refrigerate several hours, stirring occasionally to blend flavors.

In top of double boiler, beat together egg yolks, water, lemon juice, mustard and stock base. Sprinkle gelatin over top. Cook and stir over boiling water about 5 minutes until gelatin is completely dissolved; chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until stiff. With same beater, whip cream. Fold gelatin mixture into egg whites. Fold in whipped cream and chicken. Pour into 6-cup ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on serving plate. Spoon bean mixture into center of ring. Garnish with greens, ripe olives and tomato wedges if desired. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

As elegant luncheon party fare, Chicken Mousse and Beans Mediterranean is a tasteful main dish choice.

$5 for Your Recipe

SPARERIBS are the basis of the recipe that wins this week's $5 prize for Dr. Thomas L. Rogers, 314 W. 6th St., Long Beach 12. The recipe:

Pork Spareribs De Luxe

- 3-4 lbs. good meaty spareribs
- Ground nutmeg
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Dressing

Dressing or marinade

- 3/4 cup vinegar
- 1 large onion
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup catsup
- Salt and pepper to taste

Blend the vinegar, chopped onion and chopped clove of garlic. Add the sugar and blend, then add salt and pepper to taste. Blend all together for 2 minutes and then seal in jar and refrigerate 48 hours before using.

Roast the spareribs in covered roaster. When nearly done cover well with dressing and add ground nutmeg. Cover and finish cooking.

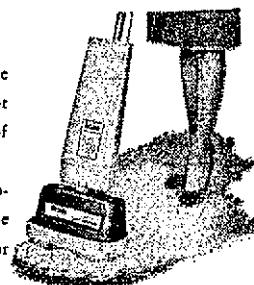

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to: Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

Q. What would happen to the earth if it were to stop revolving? F. S.

A. The late Camille Flammarion, the noted French astronomer, has been quoted on this subject, as follows: "Were the earth suddenly stopped in its course, the shock would be transmitted by recoil, so to say, to all the constituent molecules of the terrestrial globe, as if each received a stunning blow; the whole earth would be instantaneously luminous and burning, and an immense conflagration would devour the world." Even if the world were not thus "devoured," the absence of rotation and revolution of the earth would so change the whole system of tides, currents, rivers, and in fact the general configuration of the earth's surface, that conditions would be unimaginably different.

Q. What nations can veto a resolution in the UN Security Council? D.W.

A. The word "veto" is not mentioned in the United Nations charter. However, voting procedure on substantive matters has been so set up that the equivalent of veto power is held by each of the five permanent members of the 11-member Security Council—China, France, the Soviet Union, the United Kingdom, and the United States. If any one of these five nations casts a negative vote on a substantive issue, the effect is the same as a veto and is popularly called that.

Q. When was the iron lung invented? C. M.

A. The first iron lung (respirator) was invented by Professor Philip Drinker and Louis Agassiz Shaw in 1927 for laboratory use only. It was made of an iron box and two household vacuum cleaners with manually-operated valves for regulating pressure. A second model was first used in 1928 at Children's Hospital, Boston, Mass., on a polio victim suffering respiratory failure.

Q. Do states have laws that limit the height of TV towers? S. A.

A. Many states have laws which limit the height of structures (including radio and TV towers) near airports, and a number of states have laws requiring that a permit be obtained before any unusually tall structure may be erected.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the source of SNODGRASS—V.S., San Pedro.
V.S.: SNODGRASS is strictly an English origin name derived from the old north English phrase "snodgrass" meaning "smooth grass." This portrayal of family land composed of grass covered meadows has been handed down to descendants for more than eight centuries. The Snodgrass shield from Scotland has three black heraldic birds placed one above another between two narrow vertical black stripes on a silver background. Across the top of the shield is an ermine stripe.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give data on BARBARA.—A.B., P.B., Long Beach.

A.B., P.B.: BARBARA is both Spanish and Italian, with the same meaning in both ancestral homelands. Barbara is from the ancient Roman Latin word "barbarus" meaning "foreign or strange." As a family name Barbara referred to an ancestor who was called Barbara because he was a foreigner or stranger in a new locality. Barbara is also popular as a given-name in all countries of the western world.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly analyze LOFTUS and LOFTIS.—N.L., Compton; M.L., Long Beach.

N.L., M.L.: LOFTUS and

LOFTIS ancestry is from Yorkshire, England. Loftus, the namesake town, was so called because of an unusual 10th century house that made this village unique. Loftus meant "house with a loft or upper floor." In the 1300s a family ancestor, Peter Loftus, is recorded. The Loftus shield has a silver chevron between three silver four-leaf clovers on a black background.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the origin of MOULTON?—B.S., Long Beach; E.L., Torrance.

B.S., E.L.: MOULTON had its inception as the old English phrase "Mol-Tun" designating "mole-farmstead or enclosure." A town called Moulton is in Cheshire, England. Ancestors include Agnes de Moulton of Norfolk in A.D. 1273. The Moulton shield, granted to a branch who were titled barons of Gillesland, about 1300, has three red bars across a silver background. Robert Moulton was a witness to a Massachusetts will dated 1637.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give genealogy on MCCONNELL.—W.M., Long Beach.

W.M.: MCCONNELL is based on the old Gaelic-Irish MacCoughal designating "sons of Conflict," or figuratively, "sons of the Butler." Another source was MacDhomhail or "sons of World-Mighty," changed in both Ireland and Scotland to MacDonnell and MacConnell. The Irish MacConnell coat-of-arms has a blue chevron between three blue spurs on a silver shield. The allied O'Connell shield has a brown stag-deer on a shield colored silver on the upper half, green on the lower half, with a green 3-leaf clover in each upper corner of the shield and a silver one on the green lower area.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain KIRK.—D.K., Anaheim; T.K., Long Beach.

D.K., T.K.: KIRK was a name for a north English ancestral dwelling located by a "kirk" or "church." The Kirk family shield has a gold bishop's crozier crossed by a silver sword on a red background. Kirk is also a German surname with the same meaning, but is very rare in records.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze McAULIFF.—J.M., Long Beach.

J.M.: McAULIFF is derived from the Irish clan-name Mac-Amhlaioibh, an unusual Gaelic cognomen for "sons of Olaf." Olaf had the primitive meaning "ancestral relic or talisman." McAuliffs were residents of Fermanagh and Cork, Ireland. Their Castle MacAuliffe was in Cork. The MacAuliffe shield has three blue mermaids, each holding a comb and mirror, placed in a row across the center of a silver background, with three blue stars, two in the upper corners and one in the base of the shield.

'Buffets de Gare'

PARIS—The French National Railroads are offering travelers a new convenience at its famous "Buffets de Gare"—the restaurants at some 120 of France's railroad stations.

Under the new plan, travelers may reserve ahead for a table for lunch or dinner at any Buffet de Gare by simply making a request at the Information Desk or Station Master's Office at their point of departure.

The Buffets de Gare, widely known for their low-cost table d'hôte menus featuring some of France's finest regional specialties, offer two quick-service menus for travelers. The "Menu Touristique" ranges in price from $1.80 to $2.50 and the "Menu Autour d'un Plat" ranges from $1 to $1.40.

Another dining convenience available to travelers in France is a chain of rapid-service, reasonably priced restaurants strategically placed along France's highways. Known as "Restoroutes," the chain now has three restaurants, open 24 hours a day, on the roads from Paris to the Riviera: at Rouvray, Nantua and Montelimar. Motorists may order full-course meals at any time of day or night.

Young builders can move lots of sand with this toy.

By Bill Meyerriecks

WORKSHOP this week helps you plan early to delight a young son (or grandson) with a Christmas toy he'll love.

It's a simply built, very sturdy steam shovel that actually digs. It can be made economically by anyone.

The young lad can sit on the roof of the steam shovel, operate the handle and the shovel will scoop sand or loose dirt. There's a chain to retract the shovel bottom for remote control handling and dumping. The six double wheels turn and the digger rolls from one side to another. With grease in and around the pivot and washer the cab rotates. These are things that a youngster enjoys—action and make-believe and a sense of playing grown-up.

The cab roof is only 12 inches square and stands 12 inches high. The shovel arm and scoop combined measure 24 inches. Larger pieces of the shovel are made of 3/4 plywood. The scoop is half-inch pine and hardboard. There are no metal parts to get rusty and its rugged design can take a lot of rough treatment.

IF YOU are searching for a toy that will delight the youngster at Christmas time, or any time, Workshop's steam shovel is certainly worth consideration. You may obtain the Sketchbook Plan S-133 by sending 50 cents with name and address to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

How Death Stalked Trotsky

By Vera Williams

Southland Magazine Book Editor

IT'S THE belief of Isaac Deutscher that Leon Trotsky will, sooner or later be restored to a top niche in the pantheon of the Communist gods. "By this act the workers' state will announce that it has at last reached maturity, broken its bureaucratic shackles, and re-embraced the classical Marxism that had been banished with Trotsky," says Deutscher in "THE PROPHET OUTCAST—TROTSKY: 1920-1940" (Oxford, $9.50).

The book is the concluding volume of the trilogy on Trotsky's life. It begins with Stalin's exile of Trotsky and ends with Stalin's decision that Trotsky, in Mexico, a leader whose followers had all been exterminated in Russia, a man in feeble health, was still too dangerous to Stalin and hence must die. The murder, by hatchet, and by a man who had been planted in Trotsky's home in Michoacan, Mexico, and had posed as a devoted and trusted follower, is so graphically penned as to resemble the climax of a Wagnerian Wagnurgnacht.

Deutscher takes us every step of the way in Trotsky's harried odyssey after his expulsion from the Soviet Union (a move Stalin later regretted, for he would have preferred to dispatch Trotsky on the spot, but had not yet, in 1929, sufficiently consolidated his power). Trotsky at first went to the island of Prinkipo off Turkey; he sought refuge in Norway, the then democratic Germany, Britain, and these nations managed, frantically, to wiggle out of the right of asylum. And so he settled in Mexico.

Like a Greek tragedy, the book shows death implacably tracking Trotsky and his family, with Stalin as death's prompter. Trotsky's eldest son dies mysteriously in France; there was good reason to suspect poisoning by GPU agents. His younger son is sent to the dreaded Vorkuta labor camp, and eventually executed. A daughter commits suicide.

Deutscher writes well and accurately; his only fault is that he is so devoted to Trotsky that he does not see that, had Trotsky, and not Stalin, won the battle for Soviet power, the path of Russia probably would have been very little different. But it is a fascinating biography.

ANCIENT Greece, a world of pageantry, personal gods, brilliant human achievement, larger-than-life heroes and heroines, and harsh, brutal superstition, is the setting of two new historical novels.

They are "AMBER PRINCESS" by Henry Treece (Random House, $4.95) and

"BESIEGER OF CITIES" by Alfred Duggan (Farrar, $4.95), time honored Grecian tales told in contemporary language and from the viewpoints of modern man.

"Amber Princess," titled "Electra" in its English edition, is set in the period of the Trojan War. Leaning heavily on mythology, it is the tortured history of the House of Atreus: the colossal battle between matriarch and patriarch, the struggle between the earth-mother and the upstart deity, Zeus. The bloody affairs of the Royal House of Mycenae are recounted by a cast which includes such figures of lore as Helen, Agamemnon and Iphigenia.

Duggan's novel is the story of Demetrius, soldier of fortune successor to Alexander the Great who became a man-god among Athenians during the Silver Age of Hellas.

Demetrius plots and wars to restore the Alexandrian Empire during a time in which the Greeks are willing to sacrifice their great political freedoms for material prosperity.

ANOTHER off-beat, for modern historical fiction, novel is "PRINCE ISHMAEL" by Marianne Hauser (Stein & Day, $5.95). This novel, 10 years in the writing, deals with the strange legend of Casper Hauser, who mysteriously appears and then disappears from the scene of 19th Century Bavaria.

There were those who held the hero, who figures in many extraordinary incidents and nearly triggers a major European war, was a prince; others believed that he was an angel and still others who swore he was the devil incarnate.

An eerie story that puts one in mind of the shadowy, nether world prose of Kafka or von Kleist.

IN "ALMOST PARADISE" (Doubleday, $4.95), Mexican novelist Luis Spota turns from the bull ring and from the Mexican masses of his earlier-translated stories to high society—but with the same bitter purpose in mind. He uses the adventures, picturesque as those of any Tom Jones, and the rascalities of the repelling but fascinating phony "Prince Ugo Conti," to searingly damn society as he, Spota, sees it.

"Prince Ugo" meets a rich American, Liz Avrell, uses her yacht, and when her sons move to cut off her allowance, throws her over. Next he is seen in Mexico City's high society, whose denizens eagerly shower him with anything an ex-Neapolitan slum boy would desire. The "prince" is a first class con man but somehow the reader finds himself unable to shed tears for his bored and stupid victims.

WHAT HAPPENS when an intelligent woman of strong principles rejects abortion, refuses marriage and determines to rear her illegitimate child alone? What psychological effect does being born out of wedlock have on the child? Can love and understanding compensate for social insecurity?

These questions are explored by Charles Mercer in his new novel "GIFT OF LIFE" (Putnam, $4.95), the story of a strong-minded woman who defies convention and rears her illegitimate child.

WRITTEN by Hawaiian-born O. A. Bushnell, "MOLOKAI" (World, $5.95) is the unusual story of a group of people in that desolate world from which no one returns. Set in the 1880s, Molokai's theme centers around a historical incident in which a young doctor trying to isolate the leprosy bacterium grafts the skin of a leper on the body of an unaffected human being. This event is recreated through the eyes of three people: a young native girl, who once served at the queen's court, a lawyer whose brilliant career was tragically terminated, and the doctor himself, Central to the entire story are two figures: Keanu, who to gain reprieve from hanging volunteered for the monstrous experiment, and Father Damien, seen as the remarkable human being that he was.

Legends in Cedar

By Kay Dunn

A TOTEM POLE is like a mystery story because no one but the author knows how it is going to turn out. Since the authors of most legends in cedar are no longer with us, the reading of a pole becomes very involved. Not only is the interpretation of a totem pole difficult, the whole subject, including the art itself, is shrouded in mystery.

In a few short years the whole coast of British Columbia and southern Alaska suddenly blossomed with colorful and elaborately-carved totem poles, then just as suddenly the activity stopped and faded out forever.

What strange impulse started the Indians carving so energetically and why did they stop so suddenly?

SOME OF the answers are hidden deeply within the myths and superstitions of their tribal religious beliefs but others have come to light because of recent studies.

Although totemic art appears to have its roots in antiquity it is of comparatively recent vintage, having come and gone within the last century and a half. To trace the origin of the historic carvings, legend takes us back about 50 years to the shores of the Queen Charlotte Islands, off the coast of British Columbia. There a tribe of Indians known as the Haidas made a discovery. They pulled from the sea a strangely carved pole that mysteriously drifted ashore during a storm. Thinking it was sent by the gods, they erected it and began worshipping. Good fortune followed, causing them to believe it had supernatural powers so they used it for a pattern and carved out many more.

Totem poles are mystery stories of the Pacific Northwest, legends in cedar carved by natives of the area.

Eventually other tribes adopted the custom and soon a whole crop sprang into being. The totem pole era had begun.

AT FIRST, each tribe designed and built a totem pole for religious worship. Not content, they soon built others which often symbolized the history of their clan. Then the chieftains and wealthier Indians began to build poles for themselves and before many decades even the commoners were building "prestige" poles, hoping to gain favor from both the gods and their neighbors.

Although each pole is different, many follow a pattern and with a little basic knowledge one may gain enough understanding from this vast totemic mix-up to read a pole fairly well.

If the pole is heraldic (a family or clan history) the top is usually crowned with a family symbol. The thunderbird is a favorite symbol and is often seen atop a 65-foot pole with its powerful wings spread out in regal style.

Reading from the top down, next may come a figure depicting a chieftain or an ancestor. These are followed by a series of grotesque and frightening figures representing characters in myths and legends. Sometimes a killer whale or a sea monster may stare down menacingly from its high perch. The sea monster may have the head of a wolf and the body of a whale (this mythological creature appears in many Haida tales.) Sometimes the features are carved with half-human features. A raven, for instance, may appear as a bird, as a man or half-and-half.

ON DOWN to the bottom of the pole strange shapes and faces stare menacingly out upon the modern world as though daring the space age to produce anything half so frightening as a totem pole.

Without iron tools these works of art would not have been fashioned. Trading with the outside world began to develop early in the 19th Century and about the time the legendary pole washed up on the beach at Queen Charlotte Islands the Indians began trading skins for iron tools. These enabled them to carve out many poles and intricate designs.

But why, after a little more than a half century of energetic carving, they stopped is a mystery. Recent studies have turned up some of the answers. One reason is that a devastating epidemic of smallpox that hit Haidas, reducing the population to about 600 from an original 9,000 or 10,000. Tuberculosis also ravaged the tribes. And about this time they learned to use the iron stove. This changed their lives radically. With stoves consuming much less fuel than open fires the men were free to leave home for long hunting and fishing trips. Their social order kept changing and soon the men became wage-earners, working in the canneries and lumber camps.

Some of the mystery surrounding this original art form has been cleared up but much more remains. Many poles seem to symbolize myths and legends that mystify even the remaining Indians. Most of their secrets have been difficult to decipher and many more may never be known.

Johnson is shown in his Paramount cactus garden, run by himself and two sons. Garden is of worldwide note.

By Earline M. Gladstone

IF YOU ARE a globe trotter you may have seen, in some far corner of the earth, an unusual cactus or a beautiful water lily growing, and upon checking learned that the plant was "born and bred" in Paramount. Harry Johnson and his two sons who own and operate the Johnson Cactus and Water Gardens at 16613 S. Garfield Ave., Paramount, have shipped plants around the world.

You don't have to go abroad, however, to see the Johnsons' famous stock. You are invited to visit this long established California nursery any day of the week except holidays.

It was in 1876 in Bordentown, N. J., that Johnson's grandfather opened the first water lily nursery in the Western Hemisphere. His exhibit of aquatic plants was an interesting feature of the Chicago World's Fair held in 1893. A year later he moved to California and opened a nursery at Los Feliz Boulevard and Western Avenue, in what is now Hollywood.

JOHNSON'S grandfather became interested in California cactus and started cultivating cactus in addition to his water lilies.

In 1921, Johnson returned from Guatemala where he had been in charge of a coffee plantation and soon thereafter took over the management of the cactus and water gardens. Subsequently he moved his nursery to Paramount and began the extensive cultivation of succulents and cacti of all types.

Many of the first cacti and succulents sold in the nursery were grown from seeds imported from Germany. Much of the present day stock, however, originated from seeds and plants shipped from Madagascar, South America, Old Mexico and South Africa, and imports from these countries still come in.

ABOUT 20 years ago, Johnson began experimenting with hybrids in an effort to produce cacti that would bloom earlier and have larger and more brilliant blooms. Many beautiful new types have resulted. Among the more exotic groups are the Paramount Hybrids, sun-loving cacti, with flowers ranging in colors from pink and yellow to orange and bright red. They bloom all summer. The Johnsons have also worked with the shade cacti which grow in glass and shade houses, and have produced many bi-generic and tri-generic hybrids.

At present, the Johnsons have only one pool for raising water lilies. They formerly used five acres for aquatic plants. They have also succeeded in introducing many hybrids in the water lily family. One in particular, Blue Triumph, has a flower up to 12 inches across and can withstand low temperatures of California winter weather. Their water plants flower in pools around the world.

The Johnson gardens cover about 2½ acres and approximately one acre is under glass. Most cacti are grown from seed and it takes two years or longer for a plant to reach the flowering stage.

In the early 1920, Johnson began mailing cactus catalogs and since then thousands of copies have been sent to almost every part of the world, plants following. One customer of note was the Maharajah of Patiala, India, and his air mail shipment expense amounted to several hundred dollars. Principal market is in central and eastern United States, plus a growing Southern California demand.

China's 'Bear Dog' By Eleanor Avery Price

CHINA developed a number of dogs down through the ages and the Chow Chow is one of them. This breed will be in evidence today at the Glendale Kennel Club benching all-breed show and obedience trial at Casey Sten-gel Baseball Stadium, Verdugo Park, Glendale.

The Chow pictured with this article is a fine example of the breed. He is Champion Starcrest Spy owned by Mr. and Mrs. L. Howard Kendall, Poppyland Kennels at 233 W. Sepulveda Blvd., Wilmington. Spy obtained his championship undefeated in the classes before he was a year old. And his career was by no means over. He went on to win numerous best of breed awards and several group placements.

The Chow is not as a rule a noisy animal. Those that I have owned were exceptionally quiet, but the best watch-dogs imaginable. They were able to detect strangers on the driveway before a human could, and they were instantly alert. Once a stranger tiptoed to the rear of the house (unknown to me), and the dog raced to the rear, then whirled and dashed to the front of the house at the same time the stranger returned. He was quiet except for a furious throat warning. The breed is naturally suspicious of strangers as well as aloof to them when in a crowd. He loves his own family if treated well.

ALTHOUGH there are a number of Chinese dogs, the Chow is the one that is used for a variety of purposes. His main duty is to serve as protector, but he also works as a hunting dog. He is so sure-footed and so thickly coated that there is a theory that he descended from the bear. Fanciers, of course, do not seriously believe this theory. But his surefootedness makes him a good companion on rough hikes.

Sometimes I wonder if there is also a bit of elephant in this breed, the dog's memory is so good. A larger dog once attacked a Chow puppy I was walking and severely trounced him in spite of my efforts to protect him. When the puppy was grown he one day jumped the fence and disappeared. I went for blocks hunting him and found that he had returned to the former scene of battle, completely flattened the other dog, and was ready and eager to return with me. He never jumped the fence again.

The Chow is the only dog with a blue-black tongue. Where he obtained it nobody knows for certain. Perhaps, rather than being a cross of Tibetan dogs and the sled dogs as some believe, he is a basic breed and the ancestor of the dogs that resemble him — the Keeshond, Samoyed Eskimo, Norwegian Elkhound, Pomeranian, etc.

NEXT SUNDAY the dog event platter is full, so help yourself. The Southern California Obedience Council Convention will be held at Glendale Country Club, Sherman Oaks. Locally, the Lakewood Obedience Club has a match at the American Legion Hall grounds on Garfield Avenue, Hollywood. Scotch Terrier fanciers gather at Cambria Lodge, Santa Ana.

Beachhead in Dope Addiction War

By Aubrey B. Haines

TWICE DAILY groups of men gather at the California Rehabilitation Center at Corona to talk over their problems in hour-long sessions.

"I'd like to throw this problem to the group," one man says. "I was denied appearing before the parole board for three months. Why should this be?"

"I think you're ready," a second man says. "Your counselor is trying to get even."

"Why did your counselor deny you the appearance?" a third man asks.

"Because he didn't like me!" the first man affirms.

The group is now ready to evaluate the first man's reactions. As the men grow, they become better qualified to look at each other's problems objectively. This is a beachhead in California's fight to rehabilitate men "hooked" on narcotics.

"THE GROUP SESSION is designed to create as nearly as possible the kind of reaction a man will get on the outside," says Father Patrick H. Guillen, Catholic Chaplain of the Corona Center. All narcotics addicts, the participants have been placed at Corona for compulsory rehabilitation. A professional counselor—trained in psychology, social work, or sociology—presides over their discussions, which range from searching questions about themselves to criticism of the institution.

For years narcotics addiction has been a growing social problem. California has tackled the menace with vigor and determination. There are between 12,000 and 24,000 addicts in the state, it is estimated. The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department says that 82 per cent of state narcotics arrests are made in Southern California—68 per cent in Los Angeles County.

The men arise at 6:30 a.m. and retire at 10:10 p.m. seven days a week. They work around the institution, attend trade school, engage in sports, and watch television. Interspersed are hour-long therapeutic discussions. On September 23 addicts from the California Institution for Women at Frontera were moved in. Arrangements are being made to accommodate 1,900 men and 400 women at Corona.

PERSONS ARE committed to the program for a period of from six months to seven or ten years. The average stay is from ten to eleven months. After that a man goes on parole. Three years of clean living on the streets tell authorities that he has been rehabilitated. The Narcotics Addict Evaluation Authority, the parole board, determines when that point arrives—not the man himself. Under the program parolees are required to submit to a naline test. Naline is a drug which, injected beneath the skin, reveals the presence of narcotics in a man's system by dilating his pupils. A special parole agent is assigned to each thirty parole addicts.

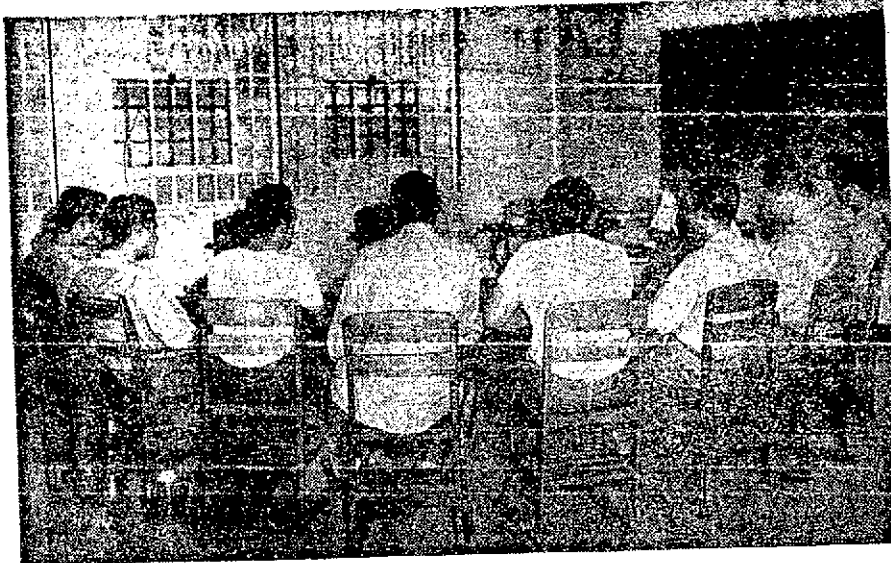

Men who undergo treatment at Corona are committed by civil courts—not by criminal courts to prison as are ordinary felons. The differences between criminal and civil commitment and sentence are so narrow that men who undergo the rehabilitation cannot see the distinction. To the man who gets the prison term, there is no difference between mandatory treatment and incarceration. He is not allowed to go home for holidays or out on liberty until paroled.

"California's plan differs from a federal system of hospitals," says Roland W. Wood, superintendent at Corona. "Under the federal system the committed addict may leave if he becomes extremely nervous or gets a strong urge to go. After he leaves, there is no parole or any trained agent to whom he reports regularly for guidance. California officials believe that this is a weakness. The California plan goes farther than any narcotics treatment in existence or contemplated by any other state."

MANY ADDICTS feel guilt. A man may be laid off his job because business is slow, but he refuses to accept that as the reason. He thinks that he did something wrong or that he is being discriminated against. As a result he begins taking narcotics. "All the men I've counseled with show a decided lack of self-confidence," Fr. Guillen observes.

Helping the men cope with the pressures of society, envision their problems, and unravel them sensibly is a part of rehabilitation. Group therapy accomplishes much of this. Another aspect is a long period of enforced abstinence from stimulating drugs. A drug-free environment, work, recreation, good food, and group therapy are expected to rehabilitate the men.

A young man from Los Angeles recalls: "I've been in this rehabilitation program for eight months and have made plenty of progress. I don't think that I'm an addict now or that I'm in imminent danger of becoming one any longer. I got to know myself in the past eight months. Before that I was using 'hard stuff' off and on since 1948, when I wasn't in jail, which was about half the time. Investigators found marks on me, and there were other changes. I feel better than I have in fourteen years. I feel that I'm being reborn."

An East Los Angeles youth says: "I've been here only a short time. I suppose that if I could get out now and felt the need for a 'fix,' I'd take one. But I'm getting along all right here without narcotics. It's the first time I've been in confinement where I've been treated like a human. The atmosphere is different. We're serious here. There's no joking around. I think I'll get to the point that I'll not need narcotics."

When last-May Gov. Brown dedicated the center, he said: "The addict must not continue to plague society or be forever an inmate of our prisons. I think that we can learn how to keep these people from becoming wasted human beings." California officials would like to see other states follow their lead.

Pass to a Passport

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

FOR SOME strange reason, many people who expect to travel to foreign countries for the first time seem to think that obtaining a passport is an almost overwhelming chore.

It isn't at all. But Uncle
Sam does lay down a few rules that must be followed to obtain one of these necessary documents.

Biggest hurdle for most applicants is presenting proof of United States citizenship.
This is particularly true of some older citizens who find, upon inquiry, that their native state did not record births at the time they came into the world.

Miss Gene Burke, agent in charge of the Passport Office of the Department of State at 500 S. Figueroa St., Los Angeles (Phone 688-3283) says that if a birth certificate is not obtainable at the time application for a passport is made, a baptismal certificate or a certified copy of the record of baptism will be acceptable.

IF SUCH primary evidence is not obtainable, then such secondary evidence as census records, newspaper files, school records or affidavit of persons having a personal knowledge of the facts of the applicant's birth should be submitted. A statement by local authorities certifying that no birth record exists must be submitted with secondary evidence.

All documents must include the place and date of the applicant's birth, and bear the seal of the office and signature of the person before whom the documents were executed, or by whom they were issued.

(Persons born abroad but claiming United States citizenship should contact the Passport Office as to documentary evidence required of them. Space does not permit explanation here.)

IN ADDITION to proof of citizenship, the applicant must present two duplicate photographs, both signed by the applicant and taken within the previous two years. These may be in black and white or in color, must not be more than three inches square, nor less than 2½ inches square (black and white prints which have been tinted or otherwise colored are not acceptable).

All residents of the Long Beach area who live in Los Angeles County must make application at the Los Angeles office. Residents of Orange County (only) should apply at the office of the county clerk in Santa Ana, and their applications will be sent to the Los Angeles office where all passports in the Southland (except those for government employees) are issued within about three days.

IT IS INTERESTING to note that, during last April, 12,000 passports were issued at the Los Angeles office, a new high for any month.

Passports are issued for a period of three years, and may be renewed for two years, making a total of five years for the life of one of these documents. The original passport costs $10, a renewal $5.

To renew a passport, send the document to the Passport Office with the $5 fee, requesting renewal. It will be returned, renewed, within two or three days.

Agent Burke points out that travelers shouldn't rush to get their passports renewed upon expiration unless they intend to travel immediately.
Passports may be renewed at any time and, by waiting until you actually need yours, you extend its life; after a passport has been valid five years (including the two-year renewal period) a new one must be obtained at a cost of $10.

THE PASSPORT Office
urges all travelers to be vaccinated for smallpox before leaving the United States.
The reason for this is that

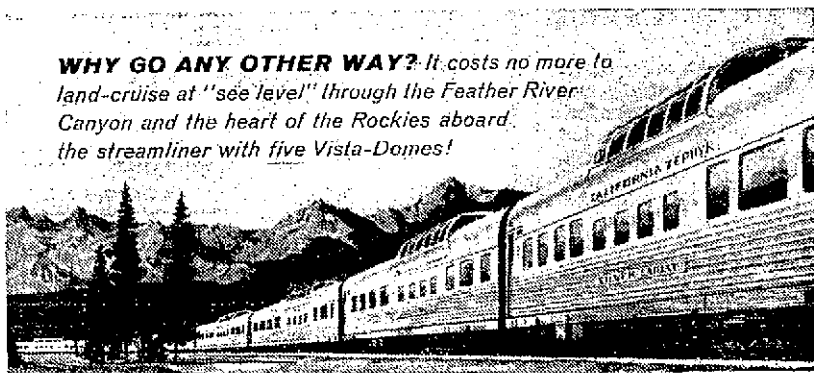

JOHN D. STEWART

American Express Co.
vice president John D.
Stewart was guest of honor at last week's opening of his firm's new headquarters at Town and Country,
Orange. He is acknowledged as one of the world's top authorities on international travel. Manager of the Orange office will be Richard G. Gabbart.

all travelers are required to present a vaccination certificate proving immunity to smallpox, issued within three years prior to their re-entry into the United States. Failure to do so may cause delay and vaccination upon re-entry.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

"Can you give us a good guide book on Mexico? We have been using 'Terry's Guide.'"

THERE'S John Wilhelm's guide for all Mexico. And his guide to Mexico City is the best there is. Any tourist hotel newsstand in Mexico City.

"Could you tell me jobs available to college graduates in Switzerland?"

JOBS OVERSEAS are just like jobs for foreigners in the U.S. You have to have a work permit. Usually dependant on there being no person in that country who can do the job you want to do—a tall order. It can be done. But the first thing to do is ask the consulate of the country what the rules are. They vary in different countries.

My passport in England, for example, was always stamped: "Not permitted to work."

"Can you send me a list of small towns in Mexico for retirement?"

THE MAGAZINE, "Mexico This Month" recently had a complete issue on this. Towns with garden atmosphere. Towns near the seashore. Mexican rules for entering and staying. Write to "Mexico This Month," Atenas 42, Mexico, D. F. for a reprint.

"What clothing do we need for New Year's Eve in Hawaii? We have reservations at Hanalei on the island of Kauai. Evening gown? Dinner jacket?"

I DON'T KNOW how much Gus Guslander gussies up Hanalei Plantation House on New Year's Eve. I never found I wanted any more than a linen jacket and tie. Cocktail dresses seemed to be the thing for evening.

"My brother is stationed in Iceland but will have to go to Ireland. Is there some inexpensive good buy that could be sent to me?"

LACE AND LINEN are good buys in Ireland. And the best place I know is Brown-Thomas—either right on Grafton street in Dublin or just off it. (That's a short street. He can find it easily.)

"I understand there is a directory listing 'Huyseed Hill tons'—farmers who take in paying guests."

YOU WRITE "Farm Vacations" at 7734 Herschel Ave., La Jolla, Calif.

"Is it better to buy or rent a car in Europe? If we are to be there two months. I mean the buy - and - sell - back method."

MOST AGENCIES say you do better to buy if you are staying more than three months. Rent if less than three months.

However, it seems to me if you are going to do a lot of mileage, the buying would be better. Your rent costs depend on how much you drive, not the time.

I notice that the AAA has a new rental program for off-season (winter.) it runs $99 for three weeks. Unlimited mileage in France and 600 miles in other countries.

"Do we get an adapter for an electric iron to use in Europe?"

YOU NEED something to switch electric irons in countries that don't use 110 volt current—England which is on 220 is an example. But I don't think there is any adapter made. You have to get an iron that has a switch that takes it from one current to another.

One that looked good to me is made by General Electric. Used both currents with a switchover and works both steam and dry. Light weight.

"Can you tell us a good shop to buy a man's watch in Switzerland?"

WATCH PRICES in Switzerland are fixed by agreement and gold content by law.

So you can buy anywhere with assurance. Some houses case the works under their own name and these are sometimes cheaper.

An excellent house with shops in most tourist towns is Gubelin. Turler cases watches under the house name and so does Bucherer.

WINTER GAVE

Christmas in the Holy Land

TARGET for thousands of winter gadabouts from America will be the Near East and one of the attractions, of course, will be the Holy Land during the Christmas season. For nowhere can Christmas be celebrated with greater spiritual uplift than on the soil which Jesus trod.

The town of Nazareth with its narrow cobblestone streets and bustling market place, the Sea of Galilee where fishermen still cast their nets, and Mt. Tabor, the site of the Transfiguration—all of these are so little changed by time and yet so near because of jet-age transportation.

A HIGHLIGHT of a visit to Israel during the coming yule season will be a pilgrimage to Nazareth. It was here that Jesus spent his early years and a walk along its narrow streets will carry the traveler back to the early days of Christendom.

Nazareth, nestled in the picturesque hills of the Galilee, will be aglow Christmas Eve. Its main streets will be lighted and Christmas trees will be decorated. A holiday air will prevail as loudspeakers in the town transmit Yuletide songs. A special reception is planned in the community center with clergymen greeting travelers, and later Mass will be celebrated in the various churches.

Special Holy High Mass will be celebrated at the Dumes de Nazareth Church for tourists only. Other churches celebrating Midnight Mass will be St. Joseph's, the Church of the Salesian Order and the Chapel of the Order of the Claretians. The Baptist Church will hold service for Protestants.

(ADMISSION to the reception and the churches for the celebration of the Mass will be only by invitation because of space limitations. Travel agents are requested to write to Israel Government Tourist Office, 2 Bal-four St., Haifa, notifying it of their clients' intention to visit Nazareth Christmas Eve so invitations can be prepared.)

About 15 miles from Nazareth stands Mt. Tabor. Nearer Nazareth, along the Sea of Galilee, are several points of interest: Capernaum, where Jesus first preached; Kfar Kana, where He performed the miracle of wine; and the River Jordan.

In Jerusalem, visitors will be privileged to visit additional holy sites. On Mount Zion is the room where the Last Supper took place, and there is a monument on the spot where Mary was reported to have fallen into her eternal sleep. Also in the vicinity of the new city of Jerusalem is the Valley of the Cross and Ein Kerem, birthplace of St. John the Baptist.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS in the Near East are Greece, Iraq, islands in the Mediterranean Sea easily accessible on tours, and Egypt.

Cairo, the colorful and cosmopolitan capital of Egypt, is a city of hundreds of mosques. Most of them are magnificent works of art. Not far distant is the Sphinx and the famed Pyramids.

Inscrutable as ever, the Sphinx continues to be an attraction for tourists visiting the city of Cairo, Egypt's capital.

Living It Up During Christmas at Sea

Christmas celebrated at sea aboard a great ocean liner is memorable in many ways, but perhaps the holiday feature that receives the most glowing plaudits from passengers is the sumptuous banquet prepared by the chefs on Christmas Day.

Although the famed "Presidential" cuisine is a daily highlight for passengers sailing aboard any of American President Lines' luxurious trans-Pacific liners, Christmas dinner is always a festive occasion.

During the current Christmas cruises to the Orient aboard the Presidents Cleveland, Wilson, Roosevelt and Hoover, the chefs are planning menus replete with gourmet dishes and specialties guaranteed to delight every discerning appetite. An eight-course fare will feature dozens of tempting hors d'oeuvres and appetizers, soups, salads, an entree with side dishes and condiments. Complimentary wine is served.

The chefs take particular pleasure in creating their own special holiday desserts, which are served with champagne.

Walk around the deck anyone?

Mexico's Mayaland

The "Caracol," ancient Mayan ruin thought to have been an observatory, in Chichen Itza, Yucatan.

By Peter J. Celliers

THE TEMPERATE climate that blesses most of Mexico makes travel into the majority of areas within the country a year-round pleasure.

There are, however, interesting places along Mexico's 5,000 miles of coastline, and in areas devoid of cool mountains that are more enjoyable to visit in the winter months.

Two striking examples are the Yucatan peninsula, located at the extreme southern tip of Mexico, and the island resort of Cozumel, only an hour's flying time from Merida, Yucatan's capital city.

The Yucatan is often referred to as "Mayaland" because it is the seat of the highly developed Maya Indian culture and the entire peninsula is rich in history, folklore and tradition.

MAYAN history has been traced back 3,000 years by archaeologists, and the well-preserved ruins of 50 ancient Maya cities are a great attraction to tourists.

Most of these ruins are within comfortable driving distance from Merida. The most famous sites are Chickhen Itza, Uxmal and Kabah.

Merida itself is a city noted for its Spanish-Moorish architecture, and is so bright and clean that it's widely known simply as the "white city." The landscape is artistically dotted with windmills to collect the chilled water that runs in innumerable underground caverns that honeycomb the peninsula.

TWELVE MILES off the eastern coast of the Yucatan peninsula, sitting in the Caribbean, is small and unspoiled Cozumel Island.

Although Cozumel is just now beginning to attract tourists from outside Mexico, the island is well equipped with good hotels which pride themselves on their food and friendly, easy-going atmosphere created by the islanders.

Naturally, the island abounds with every type of water sport. Skin-diving is an advanced game on Cozumel, and the thrills are enhanced by the discovery of numerous sunken ships in the immediate area. Expeditions can be arranged with experts on the island to hunt for gold and artifacts buried for years under the sea. Because of this, many sportsmen have turned archaeologist, and many scientists have turned skin-diver.

THE FISHING is a dream, and facilities are inexpensive and accessible. Swimming is popular either in the clear waters of the Caribbean, or at a jungle-rimmed lake just outside Cozumel's principal town of San Miguel.

Among unique sports are exploring the hidden Maya ruins located on Cozumel by bicycle, or tortoise hunting just off the coast.

Life is simple and easy in the southern part of "South of the Border," but this seems to be what many people are looking for today.

Wherever you travel in Mexico, you'll find unforgettable examples of life lived at easy pace.

The Pacific

mere 45 minutes at the airport. The servicemen of World War II may not have appreciated this lovely island at the time, but they would now. The first "tourist" to visit Guam was Ferdinand Magellan, on March 6, 1521. For many years after WW II, Guam was "off limits" to all but military personnel or civilians with legitimate business interests. Now, anyone can visit and explore the tangled tropical jungle portions of the island, roam valleys that are choked with coconut palms or inspect the oddly-shaped latte stones, the prehistoric ruins believed to be cornerstones for ancient ceremonial buildings. Little is actually known about these bewildering objects,

But their existence alone is good reason for a visit to this island that has enough beauty spots for far more than its 206 square miles.

New York City

OF COURSE, all New York can't be done in one vacation span, probably not in a life span. Even the Gothamites never get around to all their city's attractions.

So . . . one should plan to hit the high spots, then concentrate on the special interest areas.

Beauty--And Bargains

WHAT'S best about a Caribbean cruise?

No two people agree. The vacationing business executive usually will say it is the gorgeous weather and complete escape from the tensions of his business life.

His wife probably will rave about the superb food, the gracious way in which her every need is fulfilled and the opportunity to wear "party" dresses most evenings.

But ask any weary customs inspector and he will point to the great mass of shopping bags, boxes and baskets with the traveler's luggage and he'll insist: "Don't believe them, I think most of them just go to do their shopping."

ACTUALLY, the delights of cruising the Caribbean in the winter months are all of these things. But it is hard to deny that bargain shopping is one of the exciting parts of any cruise.

The variety and price range of shopping bargains in the Caribbean compare with the largest stores in the United States. However, due to the "duty free" purchasing possible in most of the islands, the prices run from 25% to 60% less than the same item purchased in the U.S. The islands permit imports from all over the world to enter without payment of duty, and this saving is passed along to the purchaser.

The Jamaica, Virgin Islands, Curacao and a number of other islands offer items imported from Europe at great savings. English bone china may be purchased at prices less than in England. Swiss watches, German and Japanese cameras, cashmere sweaters, doeskin gloves and glassware of all types fill the store windows, at low, low prices. In Trinidad, cruise passengers also find an exotic array of engraved East Indian brass items. And the French island of Martinique specializes in a variety of imports from the mother country.

OF COURSE, one should not forget the bargains in liquor which are available in the duty-free ports. Each returning traveler is permitted to bring in one gallon of spirits without payment of duty. Scotch whisky may be purchased for about $3 a bottle, and imported liqueurs which sell for $8 or $9 a bottle in the U.S. may be purchased for $3 to $4. Rum, the "wine of the islands," may be purchased in Trinidad, Jamaica, Barbadoes and Puerto Rico for as little as 75 cents a bottle.

Today, each returning traveler is permitted to bring in $100 worth of goods at the wholesale price if he has been out of the country for 12 days. In addition, he may bring in another $100 worth of goods purchased in the U. S. Virgin Islands.

Get Going!

According to the New Zealand Geological Survey, travelers planning to see Cook Strait, the waterway that separates New Zealand's North and South Islands, should waste no time. The South Island is moving north about an inch a year, so that in some two million years Cook Strait will disappear.

Going Places

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

(Q) "My husband and I are interested in going to Rome and would like to know about the least expensive air transportation to Europe. Do you know of any charter flights we can get on?"—Mrs. R. J. H., Omaha.

(A) This is just one version of a question that is being asked of us and everybody else in the travel field over and over these days, and it is a sign of the public's confusion over the welter of air fares being offered.

A charter flight is a reduced fare flight which operates under certain complex and very specific conditions. The fare is lower because the airline sells out the whole plane in one fell swoop—wholesale, in other words. Now, if everyone could buy wholesale—"get on" a charter flight—there would be no need for retail, represented by the airlines' regular published tariffs.

TO TRAVEL on a charter, you must have been for six months or longer a bona fide member of the organization which chartered the plane. The organization must not have been formed just for the purpose of the charter, and it must not be a vague or phony group in any other way.

If by subterfuge you can and do get a seat on a charter where you don't belong, the flight can be canceled without notice, even if you're at the airport ready to go, and even if you've already made the first leg of your trip, in which case you'll have to buy a regular ticket back. Admittedly, these regulations are being violated all the time. But there are signs of the government cracking down harder. Anyway, we'd never take the risk of being stranded and certainly we'd never recommend that anybody else do so.

If you want to get to Europe cheaply, there are off-season fares, family plan fares, propeller flights, group tours and other legitimate ways of saving money.

In full operation are the Space Needle, Pacific Science Center (formerly U. S. Science Pavilion), the Stadium, Opera House, Playhouse, Arena, Exhibition Halls, International Fountain and the monorail.

The Coliseum, which housed the Fair's theme exhibit, is being converted into a sports and trade show center, and will reopen next spring.

(Q) "I plan on going to the Orient by ship and will have 10 days in Japan, 5 or 6 in Hong Kong. Is this too long in each place? Also, can I get a good buy in cultured pearls or can I do better here at home?"—Mrs. H. B., Miami, Fla.

(A) For the average tourist, five or six days in Hong Kong is usually enough, but 10 days in Japan would scarcely scratch the varied and subtle fabric of this fascinating land. It's one place almost everybody wants to go back to in order to see what he missed the first time.

Cultured pearls were invented in Japan and offer better buys than at home, but there is scarcely anything that comes from anywhere that you can't buy cheaper in Hong Kong—especially if you're a good bargainer. (Copyright 1963, General Features Corp.)

Skiing and other snow sports will be big attractions on this continent as well as in Europe, notably in California, Sun Valley in Idaho, Colorado and other mountain areas of the West—and Alaska.

The deserts of the Southwest will draw a multitude of sight-seers and fun-seekers. And so will the cities in the desert—Palm Springs (see Page 10), Las Vegas, Phoenix and Tucson.

Others will vacation in their own back yard, the Southland, from Santa Barbara to San Diego. For here-in are sights that, jaunting every day, it would take a year to see.

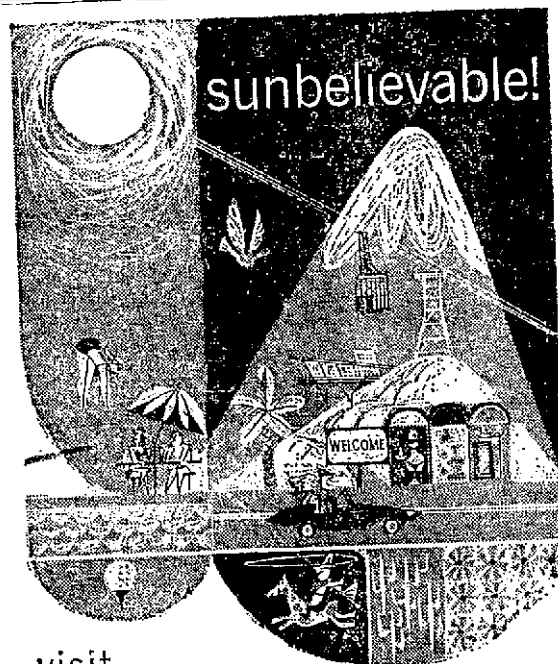

Happy traveling, wherever YOU go!

Plant With a Silhouette

FINGER ARALIA (Aralia elegantissima) is a distinctive and artistic indoor plant which gives beauty to any room. Its finely cut, feathery leaves make a most attractive silhouette against a wall or window. Placed in front of a window, it has a lacy quality that enhances the view.

The Finger Aralia starts as a table top or window-sill plant, says the Living Plant Growers Association of Southern California, and will become a specimen plant that sits on the floor to grow in a large container with plenty of space around it.

Finger Aralias grow rapidly in a bright location when planted in a loose, porous planting medium and fertilized regularly. The planting medium should be kept moist, but not wet, and the foliage should be sprinkled occasionally. They thrive in comfortable living temperatures.

As cut flowers or to brighten color-bare corners, calendulas yield bright yellow and orange blooms.

YOUR GARDEN

Color-Rich Calendulas

By Joe Littlefield

CALENDULAS lack the fragrance of some blooms but they will provide bright yellow and rich orange blossoms when patios are color-bare, and they'll give an impression of sunshine even when the weather is dreary and overcast. Mass them by the dozen for the best effect. They make good cut flowers, too.

Many gardeners don't know that calendula tops may be cut back to force dwarf growth. This means that gardeners may plant them in pots and have compact plants with masses of winter and spring color for the patio and to brighten a porch. The pots may be buried in sunny garden areas where color is needed quickly.

NOVEMBER still is a busy bulb planting month. Daffodils, Dutch iris, Watsonias, Dutch hyacinths, grape hyacinths, freesias, ixias, tritonnias and several other bulbs should be set out as soon as convenient.

You're missing a good bulb investment if you pass up planting some scale lilies. The bulbs are composed of individual scales that form the complete bulb. Set them out where tops benefit from sun, but where the bulbs and the base of the plants are in partial shade.

Tulip bulbs benefit from a couple of weeks refrigeration. Should the weather be considerably colder than normal for this season of the year, gardener may pass up refrigerating the newly purchased bulbs, because the soil is cold and the bulbs won't sprout quickly. One of several causes for short stemmed tulips is, abnormally fast root growth due to warm weather, another is lack of enough moisture as bulbs are growing. Tulips may be planted in partial shade, too, even in heavy damp soil, provided the bulbs are cushioned on sand and covered by sand before the soil is filled in around them.

NURSERIES and garden centers have ranunculus and anemones well sprouted in plant bands ready to grow as soon as you plant them out. No fuss and bother about soaking bulbs, or putting a protection over tender new foliage against bird damage.

Sweet peas, too, are already sprouted and growing in plant bands ready to be set out, where they'll continue to grow as if the seeds were sown, and actually bloom sooner.

Earlier set out sweet peas should be watched closely for aphids or mildew. Be careful not to water them too much, otherwise, some of the plants may rot off.

Cyclamen in pots or plant bands set out in shade garden provide lots of color during the winter, along with camellias, and saxifrage that may be starting to bloom. Be sure to mix premoistened peat moss, leaf mold or planting mulch into the soil before planting, and—top of the bulbs should be slightly above the surrounding garden soil level.

Dorothy Digs

Our mail includes many requests for information on what to do for yellowing foliage on leafy shrubs.

Gardenias, and especially the mystery variety, seem to be the greatest problem. Mystery gardenia, which was developed to withstand more direct sunlight than the "Veichi" type, goes through a certain amount of normal leaf drop and this could easily be mistaken for some other ailment of the plant.

Basketful of Joy

By Lorena Fleissig

DELICATE plastic berry baskets may take a colorful part in each season's festivities.

For the summer months, there are pink, white and green baskets to adorn with blossoms, real or otherwise, and pastel bows of ribbon and net. Butterflies and bees or birds ornament the handle.

For the fall, the green baskets may feature the colors of yellow, bronze and gold in ribbons, cones, acorns, ivy or maple leaves and small fruits.

For the Christmas tables, baskets of red, white and green may be trimmed with red or green velvet ribbon and chenille. Holiday corsages, the bright tie-ons saved from gifts and glitter make the baskets especially gay.

TO PREPARE, have twice as many baskets on hand as you plan to use. Have 50 baskets if you wish to decorate 25.

Wash in suds with a kitchen brush. Choose the brightest and sturdiest baskets to work with and lay to the side the ones slightly broken for they will be of use, also.

Cut away the bottoms of the poorer set of baskets leaving the square base rim attached for firmness. Snip open each corner of the square and lay it crosswise on the top of the basket to be decorated. Force the open corners of the square gently across the side bars of the basket just beneath the rim. It fits snugly and will hold decorative ornaments in place.

TRIM OFF the wide top rim from the now bottomless basket, to make a three sided handle. It is simply to be fastened at the basket's sides with fine wire and covered with ribbon bows to conceal the joining, or lacy gift tie ribbon may be gathered and fitted around the rim underside.

According to the season, place the baskets on simple mats or doilies.

NOTE: If the affair is a benefit, a small gift may be placed inside under the lattice square. Or it may contain samples of lipsticks, toilet water, cigarettes or other articles.

JACK BASS
Lots of Compliments

SHORTLY AFTER returning from a gala European tour, which included visits to Spain, Portugal and Italy, a Long Beach couple dined at Jack's Corsican Room, 5430
E. Second St., Naples.

"We had a wonderful time abroad," they told Jack Bass, owner of the Corsican Room.
"But do you want to know something else? The dinner we just had here was the best meal we've had in months, better than anything we found in Europe."

JACK WAS PLEASED but not surprised by their comment, because he receives such compliments regularly.
The couple had just enjoyed tender, succulent slices of his prime rib au jus, an entree which is praised by everyone who tastes it. Jack, a veteran chef, has an artist's touch with that dish. First, he buys the finest, most carefully and scientifically aged beef obtainable. Then he works his magic over it, roasting it with painstaking care and creating a thin au jus gravy which is a miracle of gourmet flavor.
Offered rare, medium rare or well done, the prime rib is served for $4.50 with Jack's marvelous soup, large crisp salad, baked potato or French fries, ice cream or sherbet and beverage.

Equally high compliments are given Jack's superb charcoal-broiled steaks ($4.75 to $5.25). And the guests also rave about Jack's continental specialties, such as coq au vin rouge, which is chicken cooked in wine; stuffed cabbage rolls with sweet and sour raisin sauce (outstanding), and veal scallopini prepared in Marsala wine. The continental items are $2.75 to $3.25 on the complete dinner.
The Corsican serves daily and Sunday from 4 p.m. on. It's closed Mondays.

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Is it true that if Neville Chamberlain had not capitulated to Hitler in 1938 on the Sudeten crisis the anti-Hitler generals in Germany would have used the crisis as an excuse to get rid of Hitler? — R. C. Walsh, Bethesda, Md.

A. True. The fact is that anti-Hitler generals sent an emissary, General Ewald von Kleist, to London to urge Chamberlain to take a strong stand against Hitler. But General von Kleist was ignored by Chamberlain, and consequently Europe was thrown into war.

Q. What individual owns the most telephone stock in the U.S.? — Penny Ward, Denver, Colo.

A. One of the largest shareholders is showman Billy Rose, who owns 80,000 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph, worth $10,000,000.

Q. The movie Stolen Hours with Susan Hayward— isn't that a remake? — Jen Babcock, Portland, Me.

A. Yes, of the Bette Davis starrer, Dark Victory. It concerns a woman with an incurable brain disease who marries her doctor.

Q. Does anyone know the average number of advertisements the average American is exposed to every day? — Fred Paul, Louisville, Ky.

A. A good guess: 1,500.

Q. I would like to know if Audrey Hepburn is a millionaire and where her home is. Can you help? — Ellen Ostrup, Newark, N.J.

A. She is easily a millionaire; lives in Burgenstock, Switzerland.

Q. Who is responsible for the Jerry Lewis TV show on Saturday nights? I mean, who authorized it? — T. R., Los Angeles, Calif.

A. Leonard Goldenson, chief of the ABC-TV network.

Q. Gene Autry, the cowboy star, just bought the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco. Where is he getting all the money? — G. L. P., Baltimore, Md.

A. Autry heads an investing syndicate which owns the Los Angeles Angels, the Los Angeles Rams football team, the Sahara Inn in Chicago, the Continental Hotel in L.A., and several other properties. He is a millionaire in his own right.

Q. Has singer Kate Smith retired? — Harvey Ditson, Chicago, Ill.

A. No, she recently made a Carnegie Hall appearance and does occasional guest shots on TV.

Q. I would like to know why ex-President Eisenhower, when recently giving a list of 10 possible Republican Presidential candidates, omitted the name of Richard Nixon. — Ernest Cent, Rockingham, N.C.

A. Eisenhower says he was convinced that when Nixon announced he was finished running for political office the former Vice-President meant it.

Q. Is it on the level that Shakespeare's famous love sonnets were written by him to a boy and not to a girl? — Ted Switzer, Cambridge, Mass.

A. Among authorities that is the generally held belief. The two earliest known editions of the sonnets are the Thomas Thorpe quarto of 1609 and the John Benson octavo of 1640. Benson went through the sonnets changing "he" to "she" and "him" to "her" in all cases; the sonnets were subsequently printed and reprinted in that manner. The sonnets were dedicated to "W.H.," who variously has been identified as William Herbert, Henry Wriothesley, William Hall and William Holgate, this last the 17-year-old son of an innkeeper at Saffron Walden where Shakespeare was supposed to have acted in 1607.

Q. Is Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture under Eisenhower, chief of the John Birch Society in Utah? — Ole Hansen, Salt Lake City, Utah.

A. No, his son is.

Q. How much did sportsman John Galbreath pay for Swaps? Wasn't it the highest price paid for any horse? — John Lee Pennell, San Diego, Calif.

A. Galbreath paid $2,000,000 for Swaps, the highest price paid to date for any thoroughbred.

Q. Who said: "Love is the delusion that one woman differs from another"? — Dave Gates, Miami, Fla.

A. H. L. Mencken, American writer, editor and critic (1880-1956).

Q. I understand that Bing Crosby has put up for sale his Palm Desert house with a sign, "The President Slept Here." How much does Crosby want for his house, and is that sign really there? — J. T., Riceside, Calif.

A. The Crosby house in Palm Desert carries no such sign. It is for sale, however, at $186,000. Five years ago it cost $40,000 to build, but Crosby has made several improvements. President Kennedy slept there twice.

Q. Where does Howard Hughes hang his hat now? — Bette Stockman, Friendship, N.Y.

A. In Los Angeles County.

Q. Errol Flynn's son, Sean—why no word about the young lover from Hollywood and his riotous doings? — Diana Merlow, New York, N.Y.

A. Sean Flynn is in Venice working in a low budget Italian film, See Venice and Die.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by JAY JASON

EDITOR'S NOTE: Comedian Jay Jason is a college professor who went wrong. Born in Rochester, N.Y., he attended the University of Rochester and majored in languages, wanted to be a professor. He worked his way through college as a caddy, but he took a turn from his scholastic career when he entered and won amateur stage shows by doing impressions and dialects. Working as a waiter in his family's restaurant, he told the customers jokes. Then Jay's parents sold the restaurant and went into real estate. They would buy one house at a time, and if they couldn't sell it, the family would move in. In one year Jay recalls that they lived in six different houses. His mother also ran the house they lived in as a boarding house, and whenever the family moved, so did the boarders. There was one lucky period when the family sold all their houses, packed up and moved to Washington. Jay has played most of the major night spots throughout the country. He is married to a former Cleveland librarian and they have two children. Here are some of his favorite funnies:

I think the President is making a big mistake in not having the armed services draft married men. After all, these are the only recruits they get who really know how to take orders!

Asking a woman her age is like buying a used car. You know the speedometer has been turned back, but you don't know how far.

What really worries me is the case of poor-little-rich-girl Gamble Benedict and her André. I mean, how do an heiress and a chauffeur split their community property? She's got this 20-million-dollar trust fund—and he's got his driver's license.

A Texas cowpuncher was visiting London and ordered a steak at a restaurant. The waiter brought it in, and it was very rare. The Texan took one look and demanded that it be returned to the kitchen at once and cooked.

"Sir," replied the waiter haughtily, "it is cooked."

"Cooked—nothing," was the reply. "I've seen cows hurt worse than that and get well!"

The husband suddenly found himself at the Golden Gate. St. Peter was there to welcome him.

"My goodness!" exclaimed the man. "How did I manage to get to this place?"

"Don't you remember?" St. Pete gently chided. "Your wife said to you, 'Be an angel and let me drive.'"

"Now, really," sneered the sergeant to the private, "I ask you! In civilian life, would you come to me with a puny complaint like this?"

"No," answered the private softly. "In civilian life I wouldn't come to you about anything. I'd send for you!"

My neighbor has a 10-year-old boy who watched baseball on television all summer long. He still doesn't know much about the game, but he shaves beautifully!

The traveler found a strange insect in his compartment while taking a train trip across the country, so he promptly dispatched a letter of complaint to the railroad company. When he arrived at his home a few weeks later, he was delighted to find an apologetic letter from the line's public relations officer expressing regrets about the unfortunate incident. But his smile soon vanished when he also found in the envelope a piece of paper which had obviously been slipped in by mistake. It read: "Send this quack the bug letter."

An Englishman, an Irishman and an American were flying low over the Sahara Desert.

"Beastly place!" said the Englishman.

"The devil's home," said the Irishman.

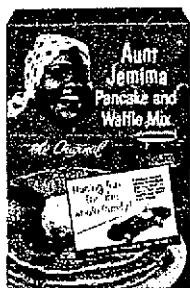

"What a parking lot!" said the American.

AN ON-THE-SPOT REPORT

What's happening

KHABAROVSK, U.S.S.R.

One of the most significant political developments of modern times has been the growing hostility and the barrage of name-calling between the two titans of Communism, Soviet Russia and Red China. While the world watches agog, these one-time political comrades face one another with increasing malice and menace across their common 3,250-mile border, which stretches from the steppes of western Siberia to the marshlands of the Far East.

To Americans, accustomed to the tricks and turns of the Cold War, two questions about this development have been particularly puzzling.

1. Is the quarrel between the Russians and the Chinese genuine and lasting? Or is it temporary and possibly even a trick to deceive the West?

2. If there is a complete rupture, might it lead to war between these Communist giants?

Seeking the answers to these questions, I have just traveled 10,000 miles to this most inaccessible border, rarely visited by Westerners. Here, in this bustling modern city less than 40 miles from China, I tried to learn the truth about the strained relations between these former allies. I interviewed the people, observed the local situation and talked to officials. And I found hard facts that are of importance to all Americans.

1. The Soviets are apparently concentrating far more military strength here than they would on a peaceful border.

2. There are even more indications and evidence of deteriorating Chinese-Soviet relations than the press has reported—border incidents, a sharp decline in the number of Chinese visitors and a scarcity of Chinese manufactured products, which at one time were plentiful in Khabarovsk stores.

3. The people themselves, glancing over their shoulders at their big and aggressive neighbor, are apprehensive and puzzled, but at the same time they are not the least bit fearful. All have heads-up confidence in their nuclear might.

Everywhere I went people were willing and even eager to discuss the rift.

"That man Mao must be crazy," repeated bewildered Russians, unable to understand why Red China's Mao Tse-tung has turned on his Russian ally. And I heard expressed again and again the feeling that Mao is dogmatic and unable to understand the meaning of peaceful coexistence.

"Khrushchev is right and Mao is wrong," said Genadi Nesterov, an electric drill operator. "There are many ways of committing suicide. War is one of them. I think Mao's mistake stems from the fact that he and Stalin were friends. He still believes Stalin's theory that a war with the West is inevitable."

Says Adrian Agafonov, a director of youth activities: "The Chinese people are still our friends. But the Russian people want peace, and we don't approve of Mao and his tricks."

Schoolteacher Rita Lubshanidza sees the problem with the Chinese as a family quarrel. "The Chinese and Russian people are friends, and we will solve our problems. We both want to build socialism. Even among the best of friends there are differences. All will be settled peacefully."

School principal Dmitry Pavlovich Churekov is less optimistic. He is particularly concerned about the troubles on the border. "The Chinese have made a lot of trouble on the border recently, and we can expect them to make even more in the future," he complains. "We are happy about Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence policy and cannot understand the ridiculous attitude of Mao."

MOSCOW CONFERENCE DEALS WITH RIFT

Top-level meetings currently being held in Moscow during the 46th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution are expected to make one more effort to heal the rift between the Russians and the Chinese. Previous efforts have been fruitless.

Border incidents are the most dramatic evidence of deteriorating relations between China and Russia. The worst flare-ups have been armed flurries between border patrols in Western Siberia, far from Khabarovsk. The Russians also are reported to be arming and encouraging China's rebellious Turkish tribes, the Kazaks and Uighurs, who have been harassing the Chinese Communists with guerrilla attacks.

On some of these borders which are particularly troublesome today, there is a history of Sino-Soviet co-operation prior to the present rift.

In friendlier days, for example, the Chinese and Russians mined pitchblende together in Sinkiang, on the Chinese side of the border. Thousands of miners, including deportees from the Baltic countries, labored under the blazing summer sun and in the bitter winter cold to mine the high-grade ore. It was processed into fissionable material for the Soviet Union's atomic program. In return, the Chinese claim the Soviets agreed in 1957 to help the Chinese make their own atomic bomb, a promise which they managed to renege on two years later.

In another area of former co-operation, less than 40 miles from Khabarovsk, the Soviets recently arrested Chinese fishermen, who had set up a fishing camp on disputed islands in the fork of the Amur and Ussuri rivers. The Soviets claim the islands are Soviet territory; the Chinese argue the islands are theirs.

The Russians suspected that the Chinese were fishing for far bigger catch than salmon. It looked suspiciously like the first hook into a slice of Siberia, which the Chinese Communists claim should be theirs by heritage. They refer back to the musty pages of history to prove that the Black Dragon River country, as they call the rich Khabarovsk region, was deeded to the Chinese in 1654.

Indeed, the Chinese emperor K'ang Hsi drove the Russians out and exacted a pledge from Peter the Great that the territory would remain Chinese forever-presence in such large numbers indicates more military activity than would be normal on a peaceful border.

more. Later czars decided that two centuries was "forever" enough and took the Amur Basin back from a tottering Chinese empire in 1860.

Mao and his men look upon the 1860 treaty of Peking as an "imperialistic" document, but the Kremlin refuses to be convinced by editorial claims that "use as arguments such ancient data and the graves of their forefathers."

Apprehensive nonetheless, the Russians feel the hot eyes of the Chinese on Siberia. Today, more than ever, this vast, empty country must look like green pastures indeed to China's bursting population.

A Siberian doctor said to me, "If you let a few Chinese in, they—how do you say it?—will multiply like rabbits." And even though the Russians continue to claim friendship for the Chinese, there is anti-Chinese prejudice among them that dates back to the time of the czars.

HISTORY OF CO-OPERATION

Until recently, both the Chinese and the Russians pointed with pride to the zigzagging Amur River and Khabarovsk region—a sparsely settled area one and a half times the size of France—as a showplace of mutual help and co-operation. Not too long ago, after a 6-year co-operative study, a group of Chinese and Russian specialists recommended flood control projects on the Amur River, which overflows its banks every summer, to help develop 5 million additional acres of arable land on the Soviet side of the border and 25 million acres on the Chinese side. They had hoped in this way to share in the wealth of this region, which is rich in fish, tin, coal and gold. Nothing further has been heard of this plan.

With the strain in relations has come a decrease in air and train travel between Russia and China. Today, on a once-a-week basis, a Russian jet flies between Moscow and Peking, and a two-engine Chinese piston plane flies between Peking and Irkutsk. The train also makes its 77-hour journey between Peking and Irkutsk (Siberian trade center) once a week, and significantly the Russian and Chinese crews now change at the Manchurian border.

Also significant in the bitter feud is the dramatic decline in the number of visiting Chinese delegations. In former years, these tourists were a common occurrence. But in 1963, only three Chinese groups visited the area. The last delegation came in August and created many street incidents in Khabarovsk and other Siberian cities, praising Mao and attacking Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence policy.

Curiously, each side has refrained from jamming the other's short-wave programs. Thus one can hear the same kind of criticism, in both Russian and English, against Nikita Khrushchev in nightly broadcasts

Engineer Sibedskia Magadan tells why he believes in Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence: "We must settle all problems peacefully," he says, "especially now when war can be so destructive. I think sooner or later Mao will come to understand that he is not behaving correctly."

Dr. Eugene Ladichikov, shown on a Khabarovsk park bench with his wife, thinks the Chinese should be grateful to the people of the Soviet Union "for helping to build the Chinese economy. It's unfriendly and indecent of them to make incidents." Many Russians are opposed to giving aid to other countries. "One more ally," these Russian critics contend, "and we'll go broke."

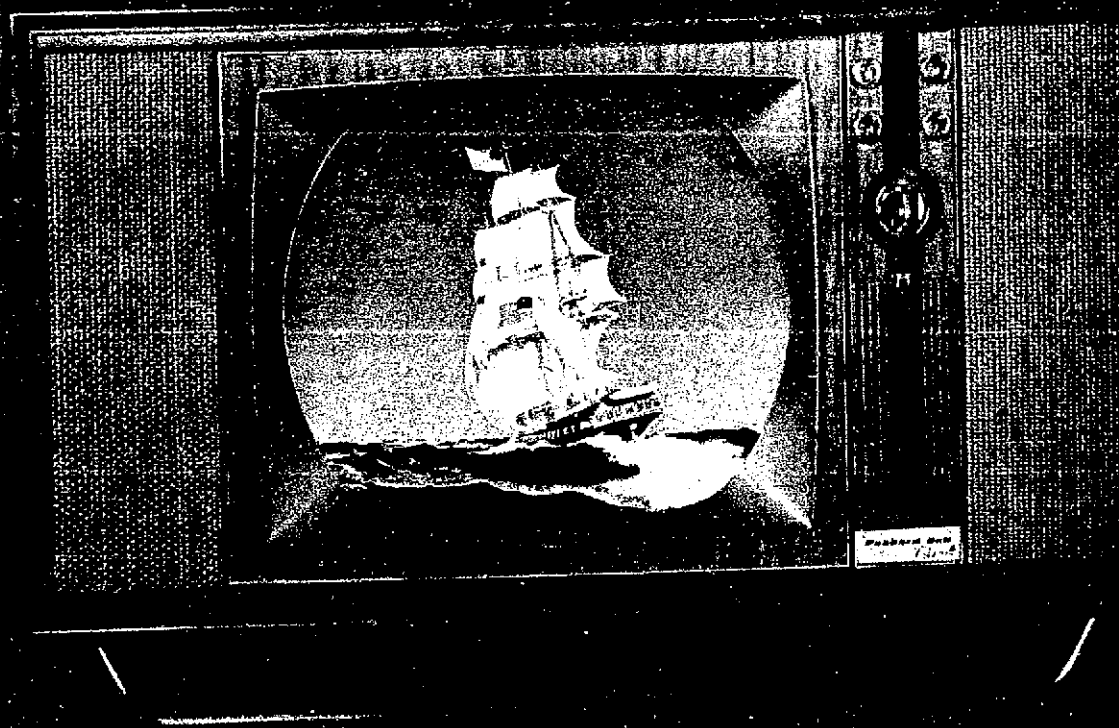

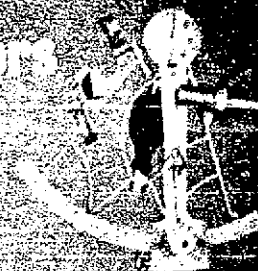

Paul Andreevich Grushko, director of the Amur Cable Factory, believes "all countries must live in peace even though their political systems are different. The Chinese people will not become our enemies." Chinese products are now scarce in Khabarovsk stores, but Grushko proudly claims: "We filled this year's cable quota to China; they sent us a full supply of talc."

Valentina Khrepkova, machinist in a food factory, pleads for peaceful coexistence, because "we have put a lot of labor into making a better life. If there is a war nothing will be left. I am surprised that the Chinese government opposes our policy; all problems can be settled peacefully."

Russian stores are now

from Peking. I listened to several of these diatribes on my short-wave radio in which Khrushchev was denounced for repudiating Stalin. "Why does Khrushchev shift all the blame onto Stalin and whitewash himself?" asks Radio Peking. "Why has Khrushchev made a 180-degree turn in his evaluation of Stalin?" Khrushchev is also often ridiculed as "Old Baldy."

Perhaps Chinese-Soviet relations are best reflected in Khabarovsk by the number of soldiers in the streets and by what is available in the stores. Historically and geographically, the city has always been a border outpost to guard against the Chinese; it was founded in 1858 to protect Siberia against the Chinese emperor. Its growth was slow, and in 1926 the population was only 26,000. Since then, however, it has mushroomed into an industrial city—it is now about the size of Ft. Worth—and is also the headquarters of government agencies which administer most of the Soviet Far East territory. Today, the city's broad streets abound with uniformed soldiers; nor are they simply border guards—they give evidence of belonging to line infantry and artillery units.

NO MORE TASTY APPLES

In palmier days, the local citizens could buy a large number of Chinese products. But now many of them are scarce or unavailable. "It's impossible to get those tasty Chinese apples any more," one woman told me. Other items hard to buy include embroidered tapestries, cardigan sweaters and scarves, fountain pens, bed sheets, trinkets, raincoats, silk dresses and canned pork. And Russian-Chinese trade has dropped 60 per cent between 1960 and 1962. However, the Russians have not curtailed their vital petroleum shipments to China.

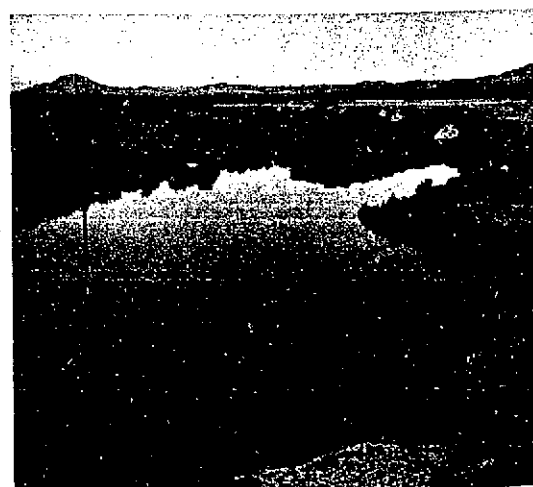

I continued my investigation in other parts of the Soviet Union, talking to the man on the street and knowledgeable people familiar with the various aspects of the rift. From these reports and my own observations, I have been able to draw some conclusions about Soviet-Chinese relations.

1. Both sides would really like to avoid an open break, but the chances seem slim. There are rumors that Mao may step down. Even if he does it will probably have little or no effect on the rift. At this point, conciliatory groups on both sides are totally submerged.

2. The struggle between Russia and China is becoming more and more a racial issue. Mao Tse-tung, who is personally bitter against the white race, is particularly responsible for stirring up racial friction in Asia and Africa.

3. The border probably is not as violent as the Soviets say. The main theme of Soviet propaganda has been to picture the Red Chinese to the world as dangerously militant and aggressive, and some feel the border stories may have been exaggerated.

Marshlands in the Khabarovsk region. Plans for flood control for this area on both sides of the border have been abandoned.

offering very few Chinese products for sale.

gerated as part of a systematic campaign to malign Red China. But the Kremlin insists that "Chinese servicemen and civilians have repeatedly violated the Soviet frontier. In 1962 alone, over 5,000 violations of the Soviet border were recorded." On the other hand, Chinese propaganda claims that the present boundaries are unjust.

4. There is a good possibility of a real border war, particularly on the Sinkiang frontier, but experts doubt that there will be a deep penetration on either side. The Russians are believed to be applying pressure on the Sinkiang border deliberately in order to pull the Red Chinese back from India. A Chinese attack against India would be a slap in Khrushchev's face.

5. Most experts I talked to felt that the best course for the United States to follow in the feud is noninterference. If we do meddle, we might divert the two antagonists from one another.

6. We must remember that the snarling bear and dragon are not disputing whether Communism should take over the world but rather how it should be done. Nevertheless I found, as I had on my four previous trips to the Soviet Union, that the United States has a tremendous reservoir of goodwill among the Russian people—who, I am convinced, like us a great deal more than they do the Chinese.

Few Chinese products are now available in Russian stores. One exception is this unattractive silk cloth on special sale.

Time to give your house a
"check-up"

■ Most folks today realize that a periodic physical check-up can help keep them in shape, and hopefully ward off illness and big medical bills. "It's the same with houses," says home-planning authority, A. M. Watkins, author of "The Complete Book of Home Remodeling, Repair and Improvement," and other books and articles in his field. Mr. Watkins has now prepared a booklet especially for the New York Life Insurance Company, "How to Hold Down Home Maintenance Costs."

Avoid Unnecessary Repair Bills. "Certain stitch-in-time maintenance checks can pay off in handsome dividends," he points out. "They can sharply cut your annual house operating bills, as well as forestall a major repair bill." By keeping a home in tip-top shape, you preserve its resale value, and also reap the most living enjoyment.

In a detailed, easy-to-follow analysis, Mr. Watkins lists the key problem areas to look out for in plumbing, electricity, heating and such—and what to do about them.

When to "Do-it-yourself." Many major repairs and emergency service calls stem from a few basic causes, the booklet explains, and so a check-up plus preventive maintenance can often help you stave them off. The average person can take care of numerous small difficulties himself. Mr. Watkins tells you the type of repairs you generally should not attempt to handle yourself, and how to hold down costs when you do hire specialists for repairs and improvements.

A Booklet You'll Want to Keep. Anyone who owns a home, new or old, will find dozens of worthwhile tips in this booklet, including many ideas that can save the home owner money. For your free copy of this new booklet, use coupon, or ask your New York Life Agent.

The New York Life Agent in Your Community is a Good Man to Know.

New York Life and Housing. The New York Life Insurance Company now has more than $2 billion invested in mortgage loans throughout the United States and Canada including almost 150,000 loans on individual homes. More than 3/4 million people reside in private homes and apartments financed by New York Life funds.

Old-Fashioned Brown Bread

by Beth Merriman Parade food editor

Here's a really simple method for making a truly great bread—Boston brown bread. Generations ago, New England housewives took endless pains to make this bread. They steamed it in big kettles, watched it carefully. Today, using tin cans for molds, baking this hearty bread is a breeze.

Heirloom Boston Brown Bread

- |                                    |                        |
|------------------------------------|------------------------|
| 2 cups graham or whole wheat flour | 1 teaspoon salt        |
| ½ cup all-purpose flour            | 2 cups buttermilk      |
| 2 teaspoons baking soda            | ½ cup molasses         |
|                                    | 1 cup seedless raisins |

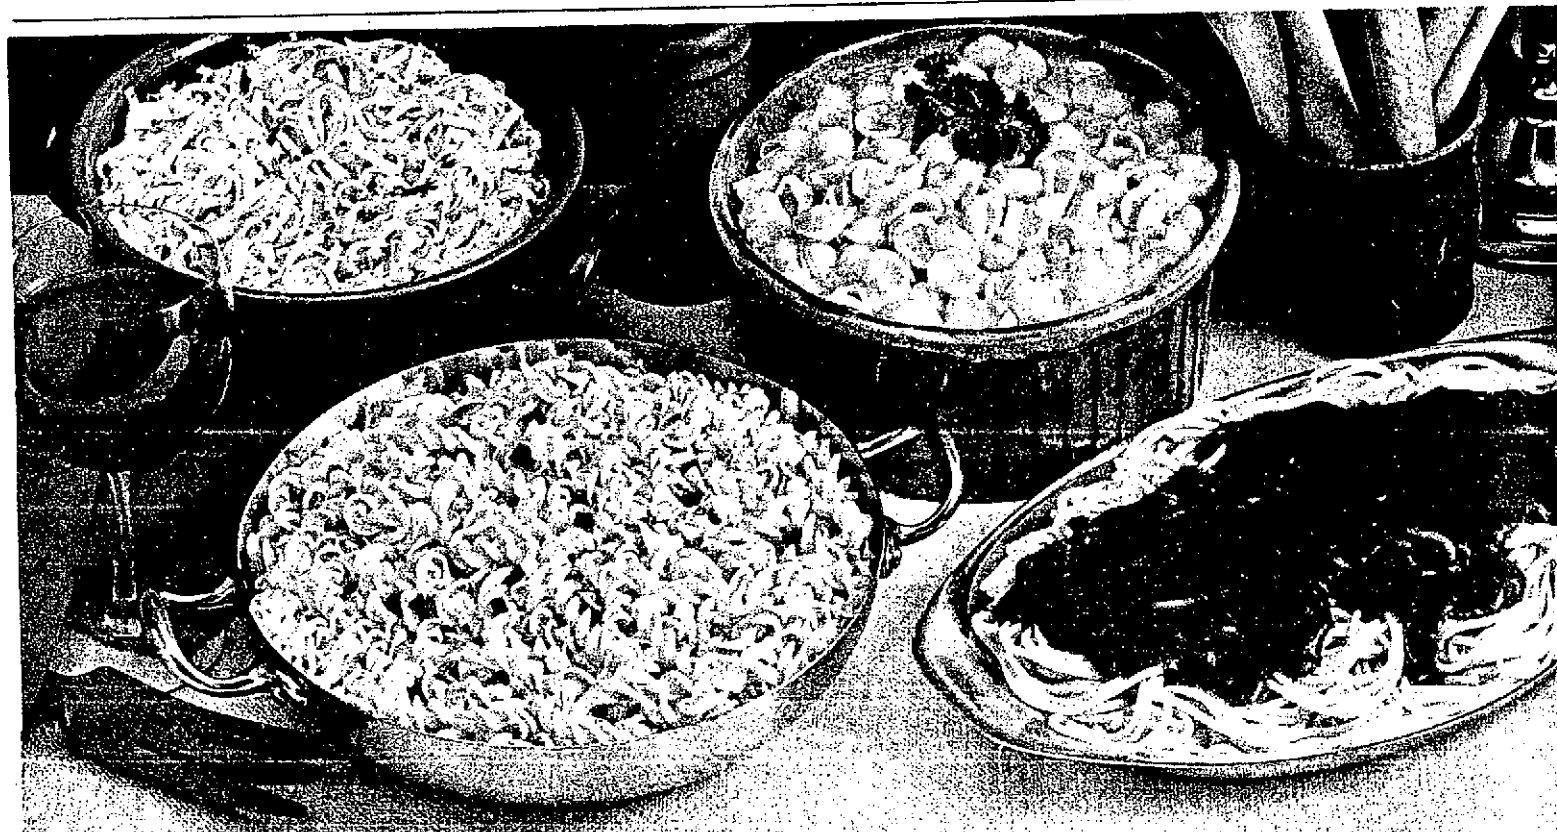

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Spoon into three well-greased #303 (1-lb.) tin cans. Let stand ½ hour. Bake at 350° for 45 to 50 minutes or until cake tester comes out clean.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?*

If you take vitamins, yet still feel tired—you may need more than vitamins to restore your normal strength and energy. Check with your doctor. He may tell you that your worn-out feeling can be due to a shortage of iron.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! That's because GERITOL not only contains 7 vitamins but, in addition, supplies the amount of iron needed to build iron-rich red blood. Just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid, contain twice the iron in a pound of calves' liver! Seven times the iron in a pound of spinach! It is this rich source of iron, that makes GERITOL such an effective strength-building tonic. In only one day, GERITOL-iron is in your bloodstream carrying strength and energy to every part of your body!

Proved By Medical Tests!

Patients diagnosed with iron-deficiency frequently were pale, nervous, irritable and easily tired. After patients took GERITOL daily, doctors reported definite clinical improvement. Remember, vitamins alone can't do it! But GERITOL, with its rich source of iron, can help you regain your strength and energy.

Check with your doctor. And if iron-poor blood is your problem, you should take fast-acting GERITOL every day. Feel stronger fast—in just 7 days—or your money back from the maker. Get high-potency GERITOL, liquid or tablets, today!

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

■ George Jessel, one of the most widely traveled characters in show business, returned to Hollywood recently from an overseas jaunt. He ran into Jack Benny at the Hillcrest Country Club, where most of the comedians hang out.

"How did your wife like those back-scratchers I sent?" George asked Jack. "Oh!" exclaimed Benny. "So that's what they are. Mary's been making me toss salad with them ever since they arrived."

Good things come in 3's

SUGGESTIONS FROM MRS. DAN GERBER

There is something new under the sun! Delicious, nutritious and educational, too. Gerber® Chicken Sticks, a scrumptious finger food, are made from tender poultry selected by Armour, plus nonfat dry milk.

The Chicken Sticks are high in protein (the helping hand of growth) ... low in fat and mildly seasoned to a toddler's taste. Nicest way in the world to help your self-feeder's hand-to-mouth co-ordination. For a change of taste, don't forget Gerber Meat Sticks, made of pork and beef.

Goodies, too, from the cooky zoo: Gerber Animal-Shaped Cookies for Toddlers. Crispy, crunchy, cinnamon-y, they're fun to munch right down to the last precious crumb. Good things, too, in the way of nourishment. Gerber Cookies have twice as much protein as most other cookies, plus B-vitamins in the icing. Perfect tastemates for your toddler's dessert or a bright flavor accent with a snack of any Gerber Fruit Juice. Real fun way to teach your toddler animal names.

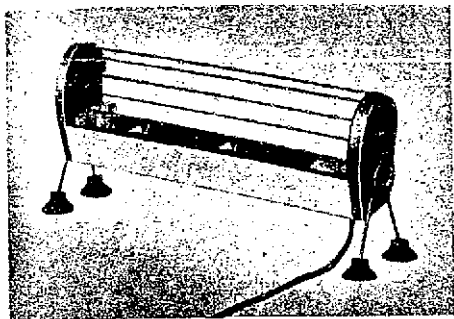

Protection par excellence. Perfect way to keep lap-sitters, creepers and runabouts comfortably dry and socially acceptable—Gerber Baby Pants. There are good reasons why. These "protective measures" are made of soft-as-silk polyvinyl film that's waterproof, leak-proof and acid-proof to spare laps, rugs, etc. For baby's comfort, they're amply cut to allow for freedom of movement and growth ... bound in downy nylon to protect tender legs and waist.

Gerber Baby Pants are machine-washable, will stay soft through washing after washing. Medium, large, extra-large and toddler sizes, in snap-on or pull-on styles. At supermarkets everywhere.

Make life easier—take a look at these new ideas for your home and family ■ BY PETER DRYDEN

Auto defroster: No need to stand in the cold to chip ice from the car windshield when you use this electric de-icer. It plugs in cigarette-lighter socket, fastens to windshield via suction cups—and emits infrared heat that melts the ice seal in minutes while you sit comfortably in car. 9-foot cord reaches rear windows. $6.95. Osrow, Dept. PP, Hazel St., Glen Cove, N.Y.

Music all day: Here's a tape cartridge recorder-playback system that provides stereo music—automatically, continuously—for up to 15 hours. You can load it with as many as 20 prerecorded cartridges—and it automatically threads, plays, rewinds each one, then goes on to the next. Details: Revere-Wollensak Div., 3M Co., Dept. PP, 320 E. 21 St., Chicago 16, Ill.

Automatic book ends: To eliminate the nuisance of toppling books and falling ends, this new book end unit is spring-loaded. Whenever you remove a book from it, the ends automatically pull closer together to hold the remaining volumes neatly in place. Solid walnut. 15" x 6" x 7". $9.95. Kunkler's, Dept. PP, 4525 Errington Road, Columbus 27, Ohio.

BRINGING UP BABY,* HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF FIVE

Home is where the heart is happy

Your baby's playpen is his own little "home within a home." If it's kept a happy haven he'll find contentment (not resentment) there. Happifying hints:

- If you change the location of the playpen from time to time, baby will enjoy the change of scenery. Frequent smiling visits from you make pen time a social time.
- The pen should never be used as a punishment for a minor misdeed of an older tot. Most acceptable playpen times are those when baby's on his best behavior.
- A happy home is equipped with things to look at, listen to and do. Bright objects tied to pen, or Gerber Swiss Bells strung across pen, will enchant your baby. A daily change of do-something toys will keep an extra-active baby busy.

P.S. A well-timed snack will often forestall fussing. Gerber Juices are good for this. An older tyke will like Gerber Cookies with his juice.

Table talk. Your baby's in for a double dividend in pleasure and nourishment with Gerber Oatmeal or Mixed Cereal with Applesauce and Bananas. First, the flavors are subtly lip-smacking... the texture marvelously moist and smooth. Second, iron and important B-vitamins contribute to the nutritional goodness of these palatable cereal surprises in jars. Serve "as is" or top with a bit of milk. There will probably be summons for seconds.

Enough's enough. Some babies, like the take-it-easy type, may be content to put in regular playpen time even after they toddle. Inquisitive babies often rebel at the pen as soon as they creep. Important thing to remember is that when dissatisfaction at being cooped up becomes a constant thing, it's not wise to keep your darling confined for prolonged periods.

Tasteful topics. Most people like fruit, and babies are no exception. Gerber Strained and Junior Fruits are so downright delicious, they've won more popularity contests than you can imagine. There's a good reason why. It's because they're flash-cooked to preserve Mother Nature's sun-kissed flavor-goodness and lively colors. Great when served straight. Doubly appealing when used as a topping for Gerber Vanilla Custard Pudding.

For your baby's well-being: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

Relief at Last

Mrs. Berry Finds Relief at Last From Itching "My husband spent hundreds of dollars," writes Mrs. Thelma Berry of Gary, Ind., "trying to find relief for the awful itching, burning hellfire and torment of my irritated skin. We tried everything, including many doctors' prescriptions. "Then I tried RESINOL Soap and RESINOL Ointment. The fiery itching eased, the cracked, irritated skin felt soothed and relieved. I continued using RESINOL, telling myself—this is too good to be true. Now my hands and skin are smooth, white, with no trace of trouble."

PARADE'S SPECIAL

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

WILBUR MILLS. One of the most influential congressmen in the country is Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Chairman of the important Ways and Means Committee of the House. The rumor persists in Washington that Pres. Kennedy is so grateful to Mills for getting his tax reform and reduction bill through the House that he will appoint him to the Supreme Court, possibly as a replacement for either Justice Hugo L. Black, 77, or Justice William O. Douglas, 65, both of whom are expected to resign. Mills was graduated from Hendrix College in Conway, Ark., and attended Harvard Law School but was never graduated. He was admitted to law practice in Arkansas in 1933, and the next year, when he was 21, was elected a county judge. In 1938 he ran successfully for Congress and has been in the House ever since.

SWEDISH STEEL. Not many Americans know it, but the stainless steel used in new stainless razor blades comes from Sweden. Sandvik Steel, 130 miles north of Stockholm, provides the carbon steel for Gillette, and Uddeholm Steel supplies the stainless for Wilkinson Sword Ltd., the British company whose blades began the intense competition in this country. Of late, Japanese steel-makers have moved in on the Swedes, offering to supply quality steel for camera parts at lower prices.

EX-PRESIDENTS. The U.S. Senate has amended its rules to permit ex-Presidents to address the Senate, providing the appearance of the former chief executive has been cleared with the Senate's presiding officer. This means it is now possible for Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower to come before the Senate and express their views on a variety of subjects.

EXERCISE MORE VITAL. The amount and nature of diet fat may be less important in coronary artery disease than the amount and nature of man's exercise. This is the report of a study of 153 pairs of brothers -- one of each pair living in the U.S., the other in Ireland. The study was undertaken by teams from Trinity College in Dublin and the Harvard School of Public Health in Cambridge to determine why the U.S. men had a greater mortality (2.6 times as great) from coronary heart disease than their Irish brothers. Although the Irishmen consumed an average of 600 calories a day more than their brothers in Boston and their intake of animal fat was 10% higher, the Irishmen weighed on the average 8% less than the Americans. The investigators concluded that the Irishmen were physically more active than the Bostonians and suggested this as their major protective factor.

DISILLUSIONMENT. U.S. foreign aid may have reached its peak this year. Congressmen who try to keep a sensitive finger on the pulse of their constituents report that folks back home are getting disillusioned with our foreign aid program. Since World War II we have pumped $10 billion worth of aid into France. Result: De Gaulle's constant opposition to our policies. We've pumped millions into South and Central America. Result: uprisings everywhere and the cancellation of democratic elections. We support the economy of Vietnam, and the ruling clique is intransigent about religious freedom. We vote Indonesia millions in aid each year, and now Sukarno wants to war against Malaysia. The whole program seems a sorry mess, and if Kennedy can get $4,000,000,000 out of this Congress for foreign aid, he will be doing well.

Because of volume of mail received, it is impossible for PARADE to answer queries in connection with this column.

This Veterans Day, in many American homes, hearts and eyes will turn toward a steel-engraved, vellum, framed certificate like that illustrated above. Something new on the U.S. scene, it represents a national gesture of gratitude to every man who ever served this country under arms. Called the President's Memorial Certificate, it goes to the veteran's survivors when he dies. More than 200,000 such certificates have been sent out since the program was begun 18 months ago.

Actually, the award was President Kennedy's own idea. It all started one day in the White House, when he and his long-time secretary, Evelyn Lincoln, were seated in his office at the end of the day. Observing a photo of the President's brother, Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., who was killed in a World War II bombing raid, Mrs. Lincoln remarked about the horrible costs of war. The President agreed, but pointed out that everyone who wears the uniform accepts these risks. Just then an idea struck him: why should there not be some means of permanently honoring, on their deaths, all those who served in our military forces?

From this chance conversation, the President's Memorial Certificate program was born. It is carried out through the Veterans Administration, which keeps posted on America's 22 million veterans. When a veteran dies, the VA notifies the White House. The President then signs a certificate, and the award goes out in a White House envelope.

Although the awards have been little publicized, they have been gratefully received by the veterans' families. Many have written back to the White House to say how much they appreciate the gesture. "I want to thank you for the certificate honoring my late husband," wrote Mrs. Margaret L. Schell, of Canon City, Colo. "It brought tears, not only because of the content of the award itself, but also for the realization that the head of a nation so big could put importance on details so small. It fills me with an overwhelming love of country."

"I am 10 years old and in the fifth grade," wrote Darrell Brandon, son of veteran Glen Brandon of San Antonio, Tex. "I know how busy you are, so we appreciate it even more that you take time to be thoughtful in comforting us."

But it remained for a Roman Catholic nun, Sister Mary Sophie of the Sisters of Mercy, Windham, N.H., to sum up best what the new award means to veterans' families and their military memories to the old soldiers themselves.

"My father, John Henry Clifford," she wrote, "was one of the last of the United Spanish War Veterans, an old-time Marine who refought the battles of Cuba, the Philippines, Guam and Samar every time he had the chance. His country was indeed next to his God. There was always a flagpole where he lived, and the beloved colors went up regularly. He did not miss a Memorial Day parade for 60 years; even as he lay dying the exercises took place under his window."

Share with a child

Last year Elizabeth Ann almost got a present for Christmas

This year you can put a smile on her face. Through General Mills' Share With A Child Fund and The Salvation Army, you can help a lonely or neglected child when you buy a General Mills product.

Here's how: (1) Look for the General Mills symbol on every package of General Mills foods you buy—on Big G cereals, Betty Crocker products, Gold Medal flours and Bisquick. (2) Cut out symbols. (3) Drop them in the Share kettle in your food store before December 21st.

Each symbol is worth money toward gifts for children who might otherwise not get any.

The Salvation Army has agreed to distribute the presents your symbols will buy. For example, just 40 symbols will buy a toy panda bear for a child. 20 symbols will buy a pair of mittens. And for 200 symbols a needy family will enjoy a Christmas dinner.

To be sure gifts arrive by Christmas, General Mills has started the Share With A Child Fund with $100,000. With your help, it can grow to much, much more.

Drop General Mills symbols in the Share kettle at your food store or mail to Share Fund, Box 6, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Tonight, Judy Garland will launch the General Mills' Share With A Child Fund on The Judy Garland Show, CBS TV Network. See your TV listings for time:

flag

TUCSON, ARIZ.

They've taken the tackle out of football here, and the result is a delight to mothers who worry about injuries and a godsend to small school administrators with limited budgets. It's catching on with the kids, too, because it's almost like the football the big boys play.

They call the game "flag football." Actually it isn't new, but it's just now been developed to the point where it's beginning to sweep the country. In Tucson alone, more than 15,000 boys and men, ranging from 8 to 30, play the game, and it has spread to 48 of the other 49 states.

Unlike touch football, which has been played on sandlots and school yards for years, flag features all the thrills of big-time football except bone-crunching tackles. To "down" a ball-carrier all a defensive player must do is pull out one of the two flags every player has dangling from his belt and hold it aloft for the referee to see. With the runner twisting, turning and dodging, this isn't as simple as it sounds. In fact, it can be as difficult as grabbing an opponent and throwing him to the ground.

The story of flag football really goes back to the '30s. Until then junior high boys played tackle football. But then school authorities decided the game was too rough for tender bones. They substituted touch football, but found it was a completely different type of game. Because even the shiftiest halfback can't run through a line without at least one hand touching him, touch football was almost exclusively a passing game. It also called for different blocking and line play.

DEVELOPING THE GAME

Coaches began to search for another substitute. No one knows who first thought of tucking a flag into a player's belt. However, the idea didn't catch on immediately, because there seemed no way to standardize it. Some flags were easier or harder to pull than others. Then two young coaches, Porter Wilson and Norm Adams, began a campaign to make the game uniform. They spent 10 years experimenting with various metal snaps, buttons and clips. Finally, about two years ago, they came up with the present combination: nylon flags attached to an adjustable plastic belt by a ball-and-socket device also made of plastic. The flag always pulls away with the same amount of effort, and the equipment lasts three years.

Today flag football has almost as big a following here as the regulation game. It gets notice in newspapers and draws crowds. It's exciting for fans and spectators, for it has—as the photos show—body contact, deception, ground plays and power and all the other ingredients of the big-time game. Coaches praise it because it's just like tackle with only minor rules changes for safety, such as bans on leaving your feet when blocking, or straight-arming above the chest. A few "alumni" of the program have already gone on to star in the regulation game.

Right now, flag football is standard in elementary and junior high, city and county recreation programs, high school physical education classes and the University of Arizona fraternity league. Air Force recreation programs use it, and so do Arizona prisons and reform schools.

Even girls are playing. Janice James, a physical education instructor at Sahuarita School, has introduced it in her classes and plans a girls' league next year. "It's a safe way to give girls a better understanding of the game and make better fans of them," she says. What's tackle got to compare with that?

Why girls love Washington

by JACK ANDERSON

Washington secretary, Pat Nicklaus, takes dictation from

WASHINGTON.

Would you let your daughter come here to work? No other city offers Girls Friday such high pay, varied opportunities, stimulating experiences. But perhaps you have read that hoodlums prowl the nation's capital, often striking within the shadows of the Capitol building itself. Would your daughter be safe here?

Complains a top State Department official: "During the past half century, I have lived in many foreign cities, including Geneva, Paris, Berlin and London. I have never lived in a great city as lawless as Washington. It is the only capital city in which I have been apprehensive about opening my door at night. In my [upper crust] neighborhood, women think twice about walking alone after dark."

Sixty federal agencies recently conducted a recruiting drive for typists, stenographers and clerical workers (salaries beginning at $3,560 a year); most of the recruiters complained that their work was hampered by Washington's reputation as a crime-ridden city. In a frank statement to PARADE, Civil Service Commissioner L. J. Andolsek admitted: "Some parents kept their daughters from coming to Washington even after the girls had passed the tests. Recruiters were asked about crime in Washington not only by parents but by the girls themselves."

Yet on today's cover appear three Capitol Hill secretaries who claim the crime stories don't scare them a bit. They love the city and their jobs, agree they couldn't be so happy working anywhere else.

What is the truth about crime in the capital? There's no denying this city is experiencing the worst crime scare in its history. Here are a few incidents which have jolted residents in recent months:

- Mary Lou Kisterlitzky, assistant to Congressman Frank Becker (R., N.Y.), was stabbed nine times in the back by a purse snatcher as she prayed in St. Peter's Catholic Church a few steps from the Capitol.

- Newell Ellison, Jr., son of a prominent Washington attorney, was shot to death by young thugs as he walked his dog across the street from the French Embassy. The crime took place within a block of the homes of such famous people as Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

- Congressman Harlan Hagen (D., Calif.) was attacked and robbed in a dimly lit alley after leaving a downtown jazz joint. His assailants slashed his trouser pocket, got away with $80 in cash and $500 in traveler's checks.

- Congresswoman Martha Griffiths (D., Mich.) had her purse snatched as she entered her apartment building early in the evening. Indignantly she warned her constituents: "May I suggest that when you are sightseeing [in Washington], don't carry large amounts of money and stay in groups of two or three."

- Mrs. Brooks Hays, petite 65-year-old wife of a Presidential assistant, was menaced with a pair of her own scissors as she sat sewing in her home near the Capitol. The thief stole $12 and broke Mrs. Hays' wrist in the struggle.

- Actress Ella Raines, wife of an Air Force colonel, was upstairs in her Georgetown apartment when she heard noises. She grabbed a 12-gauge shotgun and fired at a man fleeing the house.

Similar incidents occur every day in every major U.S. city, but they don't happen to such prominent people. Not infrequently, victims of simple crimes like purse-snatching and pocket-picking have big names, so the crimes get headlines far bigger than they would if they had happened to ordinary citizens in a less glamorous city.

CRIMES ARE OVERPLAYED

Says D.C. Police Commissioner Walter Tobriner: "We can't condone whatever crime we have here. But our record is played up beyond its real significance. If a crime is committed in the capital, it becomes super-sensational."

According to the Department of Justice, Washington ranks 11th among the 20 major cities of the U.S. in all crimes. This is better than some cities, worse than others, but no top official pretends that it is anything to be proud of. At the same time, Washington may be getting a bad name simply because it has a big name.

Everett J. Boothby, president of the Metropolitan Board of Trade, says with full justification: "Many of us have lived in Washington a lifetime and have never been molested. Many millions of Americans and visitors from abroad have enjoyed trips to Washington without incident. All but an infinitesimal number of our hordes of visitors and the two million people who live in, around, and work in Washington have found this to be a pleasant, delightful and orderly community."

Sen. Kenneth Keating. She's been in Washington for three years.

Take PARADE's three cover girls:
Avis Brateng, 26, secretary to the Senate Interior Committee, came here 8 years ago from North Dakota. Her salary of better than $6,000 a year allows her a tasteful efficiency apartment with a large balcony overlooking the city. Her building also has a swimming pool.
Says Avis: "I'm not the least bit afraid of Washington. Neither I nor any of my friends have had any contact with crime. If I'm late leaving the job, as I often am, I take a taxi home—not because I'm afraid on the streets. I just like riding in taxis and take one whenever I can find a good excuse."

A MATTER OF HABIT

Pat Nicklaus, 25, of New York, has been in Washington 3 years. She had a year of graduate work in political science at George Washington University before joining the staff of Sen. Kenneth Keating (R., N.Y.). Pat says: "I never go out at night alone. I'm not scared, but I was brought up to think that young women should never travel alone after dark."
Natalie Martin, 27, comes from Indiana, works for Sen. George Smathers (D., Fla.), has been in Washington nearly 3 years. Like Pat, she doesn't believe in going out alone at night, nor did she do so in Indiana. Her apartment building has a swimming pool. She also golfs and skis.
All three career girls explode another Washington myth as well: that there are more girls than men, so it's hard to get dates. They have all the dates they want. They find Washington social life more exciting, because of its international flavor, than that of any other American city. All agree that salaries and opportunities here are better, too.
As for crime control, Washington has one of the finest police forces in the world. The 2,934 officers and men cope with a tremendous work load, for in addition to keeping law and order they must handle the police chores for federal functions, international affairs and political demonstrations.
But keep the peace they do—as well as the peace is kept in any comparable city. And for the girl in search of a career or a husband, Washington is filled with prospects.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE

Only 50¢ A MONTH

Independent Press-Telegram

It costs a whale of a lot to be laid up by an accident—any kind of accident. When the family bread-winner is hurt and can't work, his income is usually reduced or stopped entirely. Result? The family savings are drained so much that it may take years to recover from the high accident costs.

Bills for medical treatments, X-rays, hospital rooms, wheel chairs and a dozen other unexpected expenses, take a big chunk out of anyone's hard-earned savings.

This insurance is designed to help you solve the Accident Expense Problem. You may find it hard to believe, BUT this policy—at a cost of little more than a penny a day does pay the benefits shown below, for accidents at work, at home, in your automobile, on the street, and even at play.

Hundreds of claims are paid every week to men and women, like yourself, who never expected to be hurt. But they realized that, since one American in every 12 gets hurt each year, they just couldn't afford to be without this low-cost protection.

Poor Congressmen Aided by Oldsters

SABINSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Most people write letters to their congressman when they are unhappy about government, but not the senior citizens of this tiny Pennsylvania town.

They sent a package of old clothing to the House Ways and Means Committee.

It was their way of protesting a proposed $10,000-a-year salary raise for the congressmen and the delay on the vote for President Kennedy's medical care for the aged program.

"We're going to send more packages, too," promised Victor Swanson, a retired motel owner who celebrated his 74th birthday Friday.

"We hope the clothing will tide the congressmen over until they have time to vote on the bill giving themselves a raise," he said.

Swanson said the package, sent earlier this week, contained underwear, pajamas, socks and shirts all collected from citizens over 65 in Sabinsville, Tioga County.

UNKNOWN NUMBER OF MINERS TRAPPED

527 Dead in Japanese Mine, Train Disasters

TOKYO (AP)—A coal mine explosion and a three-train wreck killed or injured hundreds of persons Saturday, giving Japan one of its worst shocks since the fire and bombs of World War II. The death count for both disasters reached 527 this morning.

Officials of the Mitsui Mining Co. said the death toll from the mine explosion reached 363 with at least 433 miners injured. No one knew how many others were still trapped in the recesses of the mine.

Many miners who tried to reach safety in isolated chambers of the mine were apparently killed by a giant fireball touched off by the explosion. Deadly carbon monoxide gas also took a toll. The mine is located on Japan's southernmost island, Kyushu.

The official toll in the train wreck was 164 dead and more than 60 injured.

The nation anxiously waited to see what the twisted steel of the train wreck and the blackened, shattered mine would yield. Police feared both would hold more bodies.

It was shift changing time in the mine when the explosion occurred at 3:15 p.m. A giant fireball zoomed through the passages, burning miners and causing cave-ins that crushed others.

The train wreck occurred Saturday evening when a passenger train jammed with weekend commuters struck a derailed freight train, and then swerved across the tracks and knifed into another commuter train traveling in the opposite direction.

Cars telescoped as steel sliced through steel, mangling passengers. Power lines along the tracks tumbled down in a glare of light that was followed by darkness punctuated only by the screams of trapped passengers.

At least one American was in the twisted wreckage—28-year-old William Scott of Colorado Springs, Colo., a student at a Tokyo university. His body was taken to a small Buddhist temple where priests chanted prayers and waved incense over American and Japanese victims alike.

Until the double tragedies struck, it had been a perfect weekend in Japan. Weather in most of the nation was crisp and clear, luring hundreds of thousands of Japanese to the mountains and seashores.

The attention of the nation has been riveted on West German President Heinrich Lübke, now visiting Emperor Hirohito as the first European head of state to tour Japan since World War II.

However, Japanese newspapers and television quickly focused on the mine disaster and, six hours later, added the new horror of the train wreck.

TELEVISION CAMERAS showed the anxious faces of Japanese scanning casualty lists, or watching rescue teams at work with cutting torches on the train wreckage or stumbling from the mine entrance with the twisted, blackened bodies of dead miners.

American navymen from the U.S. base at Yokosuka helped care for victims of the train wreck.

Confusion arose over the number of men killed in the mine, with officials declaring there was hope some

125 Safe as Jet Engine Tears Off

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—An engine was torn out of a jetliner with 125 persons aboard when it flew into buffeting Texas winds Saturday. Its pilot pulled it out of a sharp descent and made an emergency landing at an Air Force base here.

At least 17 persons—including four who were hospitalized—were injured as luggage, clothing and loose items tumbled on passengers. The plane plunged 6,000 feet in a few seconds.

"It felt like somebody cut an elevator cable," said Robert L. Monihan, a 43-year-old passenger from Ocean City, N.J. "I just went straight up. I was glued against the ceiling."

THE DC8, en route from New York to Mexico City, had taken off from an unscheduled refueling stop at Houston, Tex., when it struck turbulent air and its inside starboard engine was ripped off.

Capt. Mel K. French of Huntington Station, Long Island, N.Y., flight captain, said the big jet ran into severe turbulence 45 miles south of Houston.

He said he did not know what caused the engine to be ripped off but that the turbulence was the worst he ever has encountered.

The jet had climbed to 20,000 feet. When it hit the turbulence, it plummeted to 14,000 feet in a few seconds.

Monihan, a real estate man, said he and two other passengers—one of them Mrs. Dorothy Griffith—were walking from the rear when the craft plunged.

SMALL luggage, clothing, pillows and other loose items clung to the ceiling. When the plane leveled off, they fell on the passengers.

French said he decided to turn back and head for Barksdale Air Force Base, about 200 miles northeast of Houston, because the base has crash equipment.

The flight to Barksdale was "smooth," he said.

"I've never been so scared in my life," Monihan said. "But there was no panic on the plane."

MONIHAN said Capt. French prepared the passengers for a crash landing, talking to them over the public address system in an effort to maintain calm.

Passengers held their heads between their knees. Women took off their shoes. The plane circled the air base for about 30 minutes while T33 chase planes went up to be sure the landing gear worked.

As soon as the jet's wheels were extended, French announced it would be a normal landing.

Air Dead Identified

Names of two at-first unidentified victims of a fiery plane crash in Torrance Friday that killed four persons were revealed late Saturday night by Civil Aeronautics Board investigators.

Charred beyond recognition but identified through dental records were Linda Clay, 23, of 8371 Manitoba Ave., Playa del Rey, a United Air Lines stewardess, and David Shalkford, 27, of 648 Marine Ave., Manhattan Beach.

Torrance police previously had identified the pilot and co-owner of the twin-engine aircraft, Charles Vogler, 41, of 645 19th St., Manhattan Beach, a UAL pilot, and Charles Orrin Ransford, 25, of 2218 Manhattan Beach Blvd., Manhattan Beach, also a UAL employee.

Deviates' Penalties Conflict

(First in a series examining the problems of child-molesting.)

By WILLIAM JONES

As in the Tower of Babylon, confusion explodes from the many tongues spoken by educators, doctors, police and judges when they deal with one of society's most repulsive crimes.

The crime: child molesting.

The bewildering differences among officials in handling of the sex deviate has paved the way for many psychopaths to roam the communities freely.

HERE IS the scoreboard: The courts have been blasted for lenient treatment of the degenerates.

Parents are accused of withholding complaints of child-molesting crimes.

Police do not even keep a breakdown of these crimes in their annual reports which officially tabulate other crimes, such as auto theft.

Prosecutors are dismayed at the prospects of immature victims as witnesses.

Psychiatrists are at odds with treatment of the offenders.

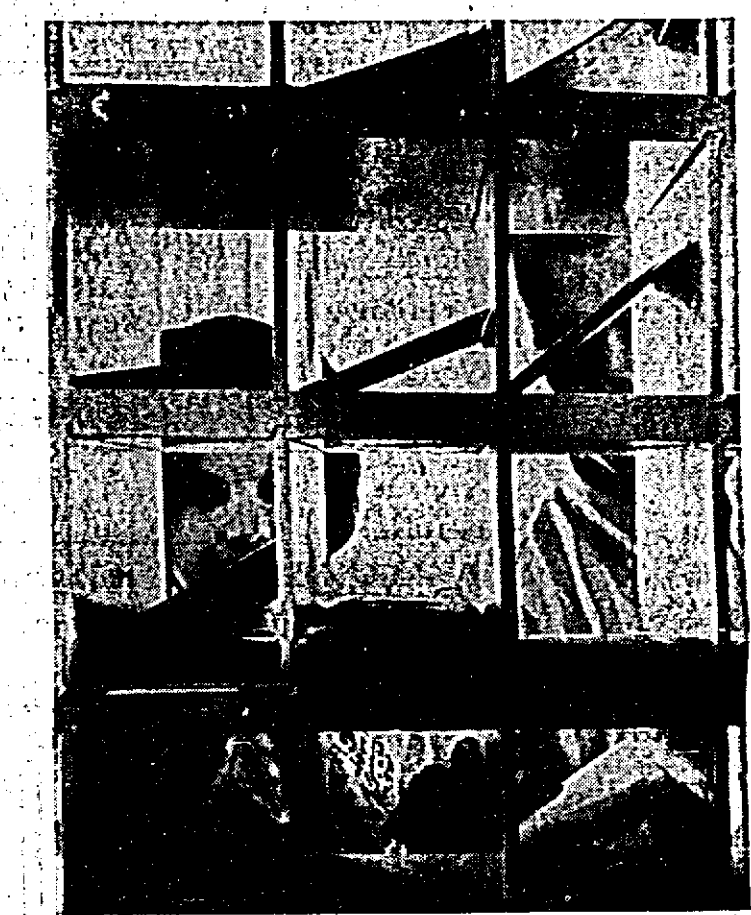

OUT OF THIS wilderness, one crusader, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, has exclaimed:

"We raise millions of dollars every year, and properly so, to combat cancer, heart disease and other diseases of the body, but as a nation we take almost no steps to cure the sick minds of those who prey upon innocent children."

Alarmed at the increase, Hoover has hammered away at the problem in bulletins to law enforcement officers and has alerted his offices throughout the nation. As a result—at the request and with the cooperation of local FBI agents—The Independent Press-Telegram launched this study.

HOWEVER, the FBI cannot step into a child-molesting case unless the victim has been missing for more than 24 hours, this on the presumption the child has been taken across state lines. In most cases, the tots are violated in their neighborhoods and released.

24 Alarms Separate Them

MEN, WOMEN SHARE NEW DORMS AT LBSC

By BOB WILCOX
L.P.T. Education Editor

"A wonderful idea," says a sociologist.

"It teaches you to really know men," enthuses a coed.

"A real education in living," lauds a male resident.

Dut, says the mother of an appealing blonde grade-schooler:

"Never—and I repeat never—will I EVER let my daughter live in one of those."

The disagreement is over Long Beach State College's first "coeducational" dormitories where 450 men and women are living in separate wings under carefully controlled conditions.

The two privately owned residence halls were opened on Pacific Coast Highway about 1½ miles from campus this fall. They are the second "experiment" of their type in the state.

In each dorm the men and women share downstairs study and recreation areas, will soon splash happily in a common pool. They have a mass "dinner date" two meals a day in each dorm's cafeteria. All-dorm dances are common.

The place is guarded like the Bank of America. Eight resident adults oversee the operation. Twenty-four burglar alarms are at the ready.

"No-man's land" on the second and third floors of each coed wing actually, for fire reasons, connects with the male quarters. The "barrier" is a carefully rigged door.

It cannot be opened from the male side. There are no handles. On the coed side, it sets off an alarm reminiscent of wartime Britain.

"This door is never supposed to be opened," says Mrs. Olive Rankin, resident manager. But three times a maid opened it accidentally. Two other times the cause remained a deep mystery.

The other alarms control coed hours. The men come and go as they please. But the girls sign out, must report by 11 on week nights and 2 o'clock on weekends.

After these hours, the coed wings and the "common areas" are locked. A housemother waits an hour for a late-arriving girl, then phones her home.

Four L.B. People Are Living Because Yo-Yo Kept Yapping

An 15-month-old toy poodle, Yo-Yo, Saturday was credited with saving the lives of four members of a Long Beach family after a clogged heater vent spread deadly carbon monoxide gas through their home.

And Navy Chief Petty Officer James T. Harden, 36, of 2012 W. Spring St. says, "That little mutt is the only reason we are alive."

Harden said he was partially awakened by the dog Saturday morning. "I heard him yapping and barking. I was pretty foggy and everything was vague. He kept barking and I got to my feet."

"He kept running from my bed into the bathroom and into my daughter's room. I stumbled through the house and found my wife and son both lying on the bathroom floor."

Harden said he was nearly overcome by the gas. "But Yo-Yo kept barking and kept me awake. I dragged them out into the open air. Just as I was getting them out, my daughter staggered out of bed and collapsed in the hallway."

Harden managed to drag his wife Lucille, and two children into the open air, throw open the windows

Pregnancy Fear Led Mother to Try Killing Tots

By VINT MADER

Two attempts of a Marine Corps wife to kill her infant children and herself failed Saturday and brought her arrest on charges of attempted murder.

Sheriff's deputies theorized that a second try by Constance Joy Strong, 22, might have been successful, except that her 3-year-old daughter became ill after the mother fed her about 15 aspirins, and refused to take any more.

Mrs. Strong, of 1161 Via Wanda in the Carmelitos county housing project, later said she became afraid the little girl would not survive and called Lakewood sheriff's station for help.

THE TWO were sped to St. Helen's Hospital, Bellflower, in a squad car, along with 13-month-old William Arthur, who had swallowed about 70 aspirins and a number of sleeping pills.

Deputies who burst into the apartment about 10:20 a.m. were met with a strong odor of gas from the woman's earlier try to accomplish the deaths by asphyxiation.

Det. Sgt. George J. Cooper said she told him later she tried to kill the children because she has painful pregnancies and "wanted to spare my daughter from such suffering and my boy from seeing such suffering."

Currently, four months advanced in another pregnancy, she told Cooper that besides her two children, who were described as attractive and healthy, she lost three other babies through miscarriages.

SHE SAID all five caused her great difficulty and added, "I just can't endure this pain any longer."

Sgt. Cooper said she called her doctor Friday and sought assistance in getting her husband home from Japan.

The husband, William, 26, a staff sergeant, already was en route home from Pearl Harbor aboard the attack transport USS Bexlar, due in San Diego Nov. 18.

Mrs. Strong reiterated to deputies her plea to have her husband's return hurried. Cooper said he transmitted the request to the Navy, which will have the Red Cross handle it.

The two children were

Veterans Step Off in Parade

The first of 175 units in the Long Beach Veterans Day Parade will step off at 1 p.m. today from Ocean Boulevard and Alamitos Avenue.

Thirty musical groups, including the Sixth Army Band of San Francisco, will participate in the martial spectacular along with uniformed Shrine units of El Bokal Temple in Long Beach.

The top Army commander in the U.S., four-star General John K. Waters, commander of the Continental Army Command, will be grand marshal.

OTHER dignitaries participating in the salute to the more than 22 million veterans in the nation will include:

Navy Admirals T. F. Caldwell and W. H. Groverman; Coast Guard Admiral N. W. Spow; National Guard Generals Charles O. Ott and Glenn C. Ames; and veterans' leaders Edmund M. Gulewicz, national commander of AMVETS; Mrs. George Monasterio, national president of AMVETS Auxiliary; Walter W. Thompson, state commander of the VFW and William K. Kreitz, state commander of the American Legion.

Fred Nessler, parade director, said that Long Beach is one of five cities in the U.S. designated by the Department of Defense and the Veterans' Administration to hold Veterans Day parades.

The parade will proceed west on Ocean Boulevard to Pine Avenue, north on Pine Avenue to Broadway and west on Broadway to Chestnut Avenue.

Tonight at 5:30 a banquet hosted by the City of Long Beach and the Long Beach United Veterans Council, will be held at the Lafayette Hotel. Gen. Waters and Gulewicz will be speakers.

L.A.C. Says: Foreign Aid to 111 Countries

One of our readers suggested we print a list of the countries and amounts of foreign aid we have provided since the end of World War II. We wrote Congressman Craig Hosmer for the latest information. He sent us the breakdown as given in the Library of Congress reference service. It gives the data in a 27-page report.

The trouble is that it would take about three of my average-length columns to list the countries and amounts of money we have given away. It tells us aid has been given to 111 countries—many of which we never heard of because they did not exist a decade ago as separate nations.

The Library of Congress report starts off by pointing out that the $103 billion we have given away in 17 years has been administered by 37 different departments and agencies of the U.S. government. It gives us the impression that these 37 bureaucratic agencies have quite a job to pass out the money and to find new prospects. In addition to the $103 billion postwar aid programs, it shows another $49 billion we gave Russia, Britain and other allies during the war with Hitler and Japan. Thus, a total of over $152 billion of U.S. taxpayer money has been involved.

This writer just cannot visualize or understand how much this means. But a few examples give us an idea. One is that this $152 billion is just about half the federal national debt at this time. This means it is costing U.S. taxpayers around $4 billion a year in interest alone for this amount of foreign aid we have passed out. This is about equal to the amount the President insists we must provide for additional foreign aid in this fiscal year.

Most of this money went to Western Europe and Japan. The result has been a fabulous economic recovery and prosperity. But we continue to spend billions of dollars a year there in military programs which were supposed to be taken over by these countries when they had recovered their ability to do so. Now they have the greatest prosperity ever enjoyed by them. But there is no apparent desire or intent by them to assume their responsibility as long as we assume it for them.

There is a real battle in Congress to reduce the President's foreign-aid demands for this fiscal year. Congress may pass a measure this week calling for a small reduction to around $3.5 to $4 billion. But many legislators feel it is time to start major cutting of our military costs in Europe—and our continued aid to the 111 countries by whom we have come to be looked upon as a perpetual relief agency.

The supporters of continued large foreign-aid gifts say it is the only way to stop communism—and to assure strong allies throughout the world. Assuming they are right—the real point is that we cannot continue this program without endangering—or destroying—our own security and standard of living. Our own people are now entitled to a little relief. We have given of our money and products to an extent that endangers the value of our own money throughout the world.

We would like to list the countries and money we have given. Space just does not permit us to do so. That, however, is an indication of the world-wide philanthropy that has guided our actions over the past two decades. Like many individuals who have used their resources to help others, we will be condemned when we say we can no longer continue. But it is time to let others start taking care of some of their responsibilities. That is the basis for the fight in Congress to start cutting down on these gifts.—L.A.C.

Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess said thousands of people who women's county jail in the see the structure from the nation, and has a capacity of Long Beach and San Ber- 800 inmates. The county's female jail population now averages about 550 inmates.

"Unfortunately," Pitchess explained, "if the crime rate continues at its present rate, expansion of the new jail will be necessary within the next 10 years."

Bookings of new prisoners, release on completion of terms, photographing and prisoner property control are all handled within the facility. It has a complete hospital—except for surgery—a branch of the county library and a chapel for all faiths.

Recent federal legislation and state action to extend the assistance programs to more needy persons accounted for a large part of the 4-percent increase, it was reported.

Most of the increase occurred in the state programs of aid to families with dependent children—a net gain of 247,000, or 6.7 percent, to a total of 3,935,000.

HERO AND HIS OWNERS

Yo-Yo, the toy poodle can take all the credit for the sparkle in the eyes of Vickie Lynn Harden and her brother, Rusty, 13. Yo-Yo saved their lives Saturday morning.

and call a telephone operator, who in turn summoned an ambulance and police.

The boy, Rusty, 13, first to collapse, said, "I got up feeling real bad and went into the bathroom. When I was coming out, mother came in... then I don't know what happened. I guess I just passed out. "When I came too, Yo-Yo was on my chest licking my face and that woke me up."

THE DAUGHTER, Vickie Lynn, 15, said, "He's a wonderful dog! I heard a crash and got out of bed. I had a terrific headache. When I got into the hall, I couldn't balance and I fainted." Harden said the family had given Yo-Yo to his wife for her birthday. "I guess it's the best birthday present we ever gave her," he said. "She said she is going to give him a steak for for supper."

Brandt to Kenya

CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI)—West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt left Saturday by plane for Kenya after a five-day visit to the United Arab Republic. During his stay, Brandt met with U.A.R. officials, including President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Suspend 2 in Probe of Phone Tap

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department confirmed Saturday that two officials who have acknowledged that the telephone wiring in Otto F. Otepka's office was rigged for eavesdropping will go on "administrative leave" Tuesday.

The leave will be indefinite, an official said, depending on the termination of an inquiry by the department into the incident.

A department source called it a "complicated and potentially serious matter" and said the department will "move as promptly as possible" in the inquiry. He declined to say when it would be completed.

The two officials who will go on leave Tuesday—Monday, Veterans Day, is a government holiday—are John F. Reilly, deputy assistant secretary of state for security, and Elmer Dewey Hill, chief of the division of technical services in the department's office of security.

THEY AND David I. Belisle, special assistant to Reilly, told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that wires were connected to Otepka's telephone to permit eavesdropping on conversations in his office.

The three officials also said no actual interception of conversations took place, none was authorized and that the wiring was disconnected within 48 hours after a test of the reception showed it unworkable.

The subcommittee also made public excerpts from earlier secret testimony of the officials denying knowledge of the installation of any listening devices in Otepka's office.

Otepka, a veteran State Department security officer, was notified Tuesday of his dismissal on charges of unbecoming conduct. Among other things he had been accused of supplying the subcommittee with information from confidential employee loyalty files.

Harvey Grapples Robbers, Slugged

Leo Harvey, 78-year-old owner of the multimillion-dollar Harvey Aluminum Co., Torrance, his maid and a nurse were tied up by two bandits wearing stocking masks Saturday in Hollywood.

Harvey, police said, jumped out of his bed and grappled with one of the intruders but was clubbed to the floor with a gun or a piece of pipe.

The two men took $210 and drove off in Harvey's expensive automobile.

POLICE said the pair entered Harvey's 20-room home in Hollywood through the garage. They waked the maid, Elizabeth Ann Morris, 38, and asked her where the safe was. She told them there was no safe.

They forced her to take them to Harvey's room. They asked him the same question and received the same answer.

Harvey leaped from bed, grappled with one intruder and was clubbed to the floor. The nurse, Rose Amel, 50, was with Harvey's bedridden wife, Lena, 73.

POLICE said the robbers tied up Harvey, the maid and the nurse with bed sheets and fishing line, ransacked the house and took $200 from Harvey's wallet and $10 from his wife's room. Then they took the keys to his Lincoln Continental and drove off. They wore black clothes and rubber gloves.

Harvey struggled loose 45 minutes later and called police.

The aluminum company, founded by Harvey in 1914, has gross sales of about $76 million annually. It has branch plants at The Dalles, Ore., and Adrian, Mich., with one under construction at St. Croix, Virgin Islands.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Soviets' Nuclear Aims Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet scientists probably are seeking a breakthrough in the field of "anti-matter" which theoretically could lead to a bomb with explosive power thousands of times mightier than today's most formidable weapons.

This is among other suggestions advanced Saturday in a review of "Soviet nuclear strategy," prepared by the center for strategic studies at Georgetown University.

Director of the center is retired Adm. Arleigh Burke, former chief of naval operations. The Soviet strategy study was made by a 17-man panel of military men, scientists, university faculty members and writers.

Burke, in talking to newsmen, said: "One thing for certain is that the aggressive Soviets have neither changed their views nor their intention to use nuclear weapons. . . . If they ever think the use of nuclear weapons will permit them to dominate the world, they will use them."

Petition by 'Slapping Judge'

KASSON, Minn. (AP)—Dodge County Probate Judge L. A. Paulsruide, who is charged with assault for allegedly slapping an 11-year-old girl, has filed a petition requesting a change of venue to the nearest salaried judge.

The nearest salaried judge would be Paulsruide himself. He acknowledged Saturday that he can't try himself. He said he was "holding court in the streets" when the slapping incident occurred.

Slaying of Child Probed

HARDIN, Mont. (AP)—Big Horn County authorities said Saturday night they are questioning a young man in the sex slaying of a 8-year-old girl.

Authorities said Robert Wilson, county attorney, took the man to Billings for questioning. Apparently, Wilson decided to conduct the questioning in Billings because of high local feeling. Billings is 50 miles west of Hardin, a small southeastern Montana ranching and farming center. The slain girl, Signe Stormy Timberman, was abducted from her home late Friday.

Spy Sentenced

BERLIN (AP)—A 24-year-old American soldier, admitting that he copied military secrets and tried to defect with them to Communist East Germany, was sentenced by a court martial Saturday to five years at hard labor.

The accused man was Sp. 5 Jerry Caldwell, of Kansas City, Kan., who worked in the office of the U.S. Commandant in Berlin, Maj. Gen. James Polk.

Mexico Probes American's Death

TUJANA (AP)—An international search by Mexican authorities and the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation Saturday was seeking a Morro Bay, Calif., couple for questioning in the death of an American youth found dead on Rosarito Beach. The victim, Kenneth Steed, 21, reportedly worked at a hospital in Morro Bay near San Luis Obispo. An autopsy indicated he died of head injuries suffered in a beating.

Carlos Cameros, head of the state judicial police at Rosarito Beach, said Francis N. Macri, 22, and his wife, Beverly, 21, of Morro Bay were wanted for further questioning.

Allies for Viet Regime

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Two hundred armed rebels of the formerly outlawed Social Democratic Party have rallied to the new revolutionary government with all their weapons, the government announced Saturday night.

Buddhist leaders called Saturday for support of the new regime by the nation's Buddhist millions. A once powerful religious sect that Diem crushed, the Cao Dai, was reported planning to give its backing and reorganized a private army of 2,000 to 3,000 men.

Mine Blast, Three-Train Crash Kill 500 and Injure Hundreds of those unaccounted for had found their way to safety in the maze of tunnels underground.

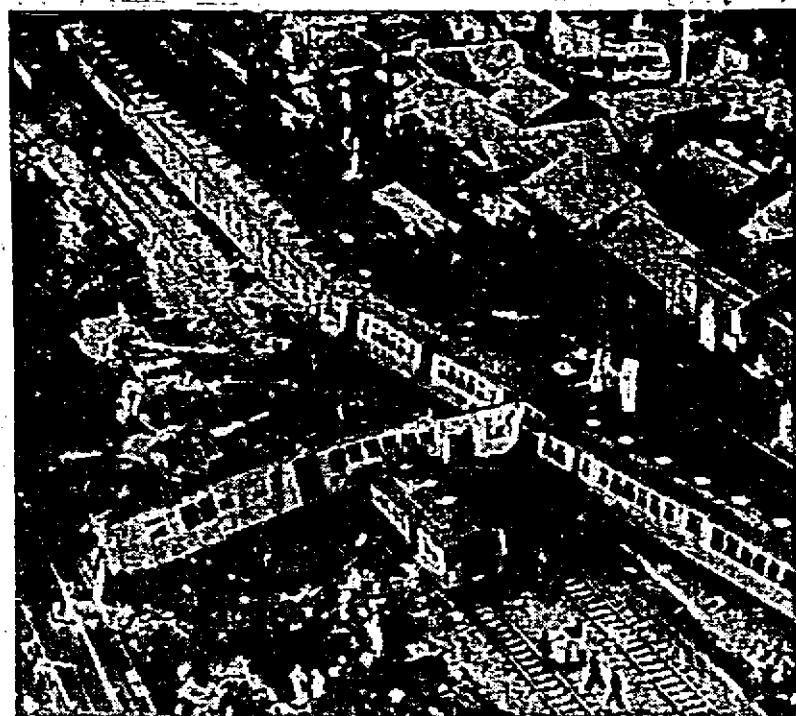

The mine blast, which spread destruction both above and below ground at the big modern Mitsui Miike Colliery, cast a pall of mourning over the prosperous port city of Omura, 600 miles from Tokyo.

Thousands of persons—rescue workers, many of them half naked and themselves bruised and scratched from their labors, families and survivors—turned the mine area into a bedlam.

It was the worst Japanese mine accident since World War II. Seventy-one persons died in a fire-swept mine in Fukuoka, in 1961. The worst in Japan's history killed 687 in 1914.

The dead miners and those imprisoned below the surface were in a long, slightly slanting gallery extending 2,400 feet from the mine mouth.

The explosion, which smashed buildings above ground, sent hundreds of tons of earth cascading down, walling off one of the three exits. Lethal coal gas choked the gallery. The blast cut off the power, plunging the mine into darkness through which some of the injured crawled and fumbled their way to safety.

WRECKAGE OF THREE-TRAIN crash is scattered across tracks between Tokyo and Yokohama. More than 150 persons were killed when passenger trains speeding in opposite directions slammed into a derailed freight.

Ryuichi Komori, 39, a mine tunnel's mouth, he said, were my eyes away," he said. Suffocating from dust and gas, he made his way back to the surface.

"I couldn't help but turn my eyes away," he said. Suffocating from dust and gas, he made his way back to the surface.

Texans in Runoff for House

DALLAS (AP)—Democrat J. J. (Jake) Pickle, political friend of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, and Republican Jim Dobbs captured the two top spots for a U.S. House seat Wednesday night and will meet in a runoff.

Unofficial but complete returns showed Pickle with 14,493 votes and Dobbs with 13,720.

LIBERAL Democrat Jack Ritter ran third with 13,112 after being in second place during some of the tabulations.

The 2-1 vote margin for Democrats in the 10th Congressional District indicated hard sledding for Dobbs in the runoff, which probably will be set for mid-December.

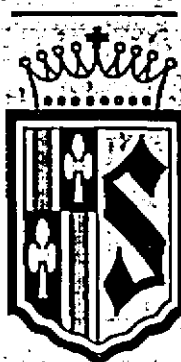

The 10th District is traditionally Democratic and gave 59 percent of its vote to the Democratic presidential ticket in the 1960 elections.

At the same time, voters shocked state political leaders by soundly smashing a proposal to repeal the poll tax as a requirement for voting.

The poll tax repeal proposal trailed 284,422 to 221,938 with reports from 232 to 254 counties, 166 complete.

Republicans captured two more seats in the 181-member legislature to bring their number to 11. Both GOP victories were in Dallas County.

transferred to Los Angeles County General Hospital children's division, where they were reported in "good condition" Saturday night.

SGT. COOPER said they are being held in protective custody and would be moved to MacLaren Hall juvenile facility when sufficiently recovered.

Mrs. Strong was held briefly in the county hospital jail ward and booked into the sheriff's central jail. Cooper said she had taken only a small number of pills and suffered few ill effects.

Found in the two-story, two-bedroom apartment, were three letters written by her. One was to a neighbor and the others to her husband.

Cooper said the letters to Sgt. Strong told of her difficulties in childbearing and her intent to spare the children "suffering." The letter to the neighbor was written on the assumption that it would be found when the three of them were dead and gave instructions for calling deputies and warning them that inflammable gas was present.

Cooper said the woman told him she committed herself voluntarily to Long Beach's Memorial Hospital as a psychiatric patient for 14 days last summer after an attempt to leap out of a cocktail bar window. Her husband came home on leave from Japan at that time.

Disappearance of UC Coed, 18, Baffles Police

ALBANY (UPD)—Two promising clues to the disappearance of University of California coed Judith Williamson apparently ran dry Saturday and police focused their efforts on finding a white-topped convertible and its as yet unidentified driver.

"Except for the car, we have nothing, absolutely nothing, to go on," said Insp. Vernon Freeman. "We probably won't know what happened until we find Judith, or her body."

The attractive 18-year-old premedical student last was seen 11 days ago when she left her home to attend classes at nearby Berkeley.

Mothers Set March of Dimes Lunch

Elaine Whitelaw, national director of women's activities for the March of Dimes, will be the speaker at the kick-off luncheon for the Mothers March to be held at noon Wednesday at the Edgewater Inn.

Miss Whitelaw is currently working in New York with Helen Hayes, national chairman of women's activities, in supervising the enlarged corps of volunteers during the annual March of Dimes and is active in the group's program of patient aid in the field of birth defects and arthritis.

Nearly 100 mothers — district Mothers March captains in Long Beach, Lakewood and Signal Hill, will attend the luncheon, according to Mrs. Albert Smith, local Mothers March chairman.

Mrs. Walter George, president of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers, will deliver the opening message.

Hilda Rector, a local mother of three young children and an arthritis patient being aided by the March of Dimes, will be introduced as the Long Beach March of Dimes Mother of the Year.

Civil Rights Topic at Church Forum

Dr. Horace Rains, vice chairman of the Long Beach Human Relations Committee, will speak on Civil Rights at a forum and coffee hour Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Church, 5450 Atherton St. The event is one of several taking place this week in commemoration of the church's 50th anniversary in Long Beach and is open to the public.

Dr. Rains is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, past president of the local NAACP and served as head of the United Rights committee. He is president-elect of the Tuberculosis and Health Association of Long Beach.

Birch Group Growing in California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—He doesn't cite specific figures, but former Congressman John Rousselot says the John Birch Society is growing rapidly in California.

Rousselot, now western district governor of the conservative group, said its California membership has doubled this year and its San Francisco roster is now six times what it was last June.

A newspaper ad brought 500 responses and an announced number of new Birch members in San Francisco, he said.

L.A. County Recruits Early for Hospitals

Intense competition among the nation's hospitals in re-county general hospital recruiting resident physicians. L. E. Hollinger, chief county and interns has caused Los Angeles County to start now planned that the two hospitals in signing up 24 new staff have been forced, by competitors for next fiscal year, to submit themselves to eleven of the new residents hire individuals for 1964-65 and interns will join the staff before the budget for that year of Harbor General Hospital is adopted.

Torrance. The other 13 will County supervisors last week agreed they would provide the additional places at budget time.

Hollinger said the additional residents and interns are required to meet increased admissions to the two hospitals. Largest increase, 10 resident physicians, will be at General Hospital's psychiatry department.

At Harbor General Hospital, four of the nine residents to be added are to reinstate positions deleted by the supervisors in this year's budget trimming. The other five are to meet an increased patient load, Hollinger said.

GROUPS QUESTIONED

Cultural Survey of City Started

Questionnaires aimed at obtaining a cultural profile of the city are in the mails this week.

The questionnaire, prepared by the Municipal Arts Committee, is being sent to all cultural groups in the city, seeks information which will make it possible to set a program for strengthening the cultural life of the city, said Mrs. Herman H. Ridder, chairman of the committee.

Questions covered include membership, purpose, principal activities during the past year, how financed, coordination with other groups. Comment on what the principal needs are for strengthening the city's cultural program is sought.

THE SURVEY is the first undertaken, said Mrs. Ridder and the information is needed in order to establish a citywide program which best will fill the needs of the various organizations.

Mrs. Ridder said it is hoped that information obtained will be useful in furthering the cultural center and art museum projects and information obtained can be used to fit plans for these projects into the programs and requirements of the people.

Through unification of the cultural groups in the city—some estimates place their number at about 300—Mrs. Ridder said, the city cultural life will be strengthened and a program can be carried which will make Long Beach a cultural center.

QUESTIONNAIRES have been sent organizations on a list compiled by the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Ridder urged those groups who may not have received a questionnaire to call The Independent Press-Telegram operator and give the name and address to which questionnaires should be sent. The operator will forward the information to the Municipal Arts Committee.

Rafferty Blasts Racists' 'Gimmick' Use of Schools

By SHERN WILLIAMS

Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, charged in Long Beach Saturday night that schools are being used as "gimmicks" in the effort to end de facto segregation in the state.

In a blistering speech before the California Council for Adult Education in the Edgewater Marina Inn, Dr. Rafferty said, "There is a trend toward using schools to solve problems which really have nothing to do with the schools."

"The tendency," he said, "is to use the schools as a gimmick rather than as the long-range means of solving the problem."

RAFFERTY also decried "the absence of any trend in the state toward smaller class sizes in elementary schools" and what he termed use of "the sordid game of politics" in spelling out educational policy.

In de facto segregation, Dr. Rafferty said, "the schools themselves are not at fault. It is a neighborhood problem caused by the fact that neighborhoods since the war have become increasingly segregated because of the refusal of certain Americans to sell and to rent and to lease property to certain other Americans."

"AS A RESULT," he said, "the neighborhoods have become all black or all white and the schools, as they always do, reflect the makeup of the neighborhood they were created to serve."

"I suggest," Rafferty said, "that the artificial bussing of pupils from one point of a great city to another across crowded freeways and industrial areas is not the best way to solve this problem."

"I say that what we really need to do is to have the schools teach the American principles of tolerance and equal opportunity, which alone can defeat this tremendous problem of de facto segregation."

SWITCHING to politics, he said, "There is no question but what desirable education legislation in the legislature, designed to help solve the dropout problem has been coldly and cynically meddled with by high figures in our state government."

"The legislative leaders of both the Assembly and the Senate have played politics with education bills during this past year in order to gain temporary personal or political advantages," he said.

"THIS SORT of thing," Rafferty said, "is just no good. Education should be above the sordid game of politics."

Turning to the sizes of classes in elementary schools and lack of a trend toward smaller classes, he said, "We will cut the high school dropout rate proportionately if we can improve the reading ratio, and the principal reason why our children don't learn to read very well in the elementary schools is because California is in 45th place in the nation in its class size."

Rafferty based his talk on "seven good trends in education in California and five bad trends."

The good trends he noted were:

—The trend away from the life-adjustment philosophy of progressive education.

—The trend toward multiple choice of textbooks by local districts.

—The trend toward more emphasis on subject matter and less emphasis on methodology in teacher training.

—The trend toward foreign language instruction in California elementary schools.

The bad trends, he said, were these:

—The withdrawal of the state from financing public education.

—Increase of state control over local education.

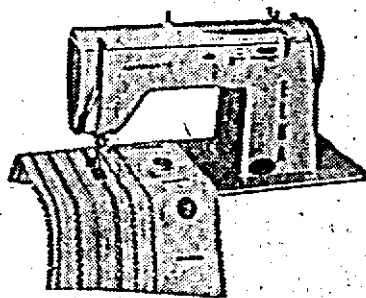

—Using schools as gimmicks in efforts to end de facto segregation.

—Lack of a trend toward smaller class sizes in elementary schools.

The Southern Section of the California Council for Adult Education opened a series of conferences in Edgewater Marina Inn Friday. They will continue through today.

STUDENT MUSICIANS, DANCERS

Talents for Jubilee

The more than 80,000 students of Long Beach's 78 public schools will join thousands of community residents Wednesday in celebration of "Education Day," a major feature of the city's Diamond Jubilee.

The day will be climaxed with an evening program at the Long Beach Arena featuring 3,000 student musicians and modern dancers.

IT IS the largest indoor musical event in the history of the Long Beach public schools.

At the schools, special programs will be presented during the day in all educational levels with the general public invited to attend.

The 90-minute Arena program, "Schools on Parade," will start at 7:30 p.m. Performing will be choral groups from 25 fifth-grade classes, the Long Beach City College Viking Band, senior high school a cappella choir, modern dance classes, the junior high school brass choir and the All-District Senior High School Orchestra.

The program will be keyed to Long Beach history with the modern dancers providing a highlight with an interpretation of the 1933 earthquake.

History also will be the keynote of the daytime presentations at the various schools which will range in the elementary schools from a 30-photo exhibit at the new Newcomb School to "predictions for the future" at Naples School.

VISITORS to Hill Junior High School will tour the historic Bixby Ranch. Lindbergh Junior High School will conduct a luncheon "Meet the Press" program. Among the high schools, Millikan's art and drama departments will present an assembly depicting major events in the community's history.

Directing the day-long event are Warren C. Perea, chairman of the Diamond Jubilee "Education Day" Committee, and Fred Ohlendorf, supervisor of music for the Long Beach Unified School District.

SCHOOL participation in the Diamond Jubilee will continue throughout the celebration, according to W. Odie Wright, superintendent of schools.

Drill teams will march with senior high school bands at the parade this Saturday; commemorative coins will be sold at the football games; and school-industry assemblies will be held at the high schools Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Port Officials Name Oaklander

SAN DIEGO UP — The executive director of the Port of Oakland, Ben E. Nutter, was elected president of the California Association of Port Authorities at its annual meeting Friday at Coronado.

George Hench, director of the Port of Stockton, was named vice president.

Other new officers are Steve J. Meyer, traffic director of Parr-Richmond Terminal Co., Richmond, treasurer; and Rich Compton, secretary to the Port of Oakland Commission, secretary.

Motel Pools Little Used

CHICAGO (UPI) — Most guests never go near the water at motel swimming pools, although one of every five motels in the nation now has a pool.

Manager Dan Pavis of O'Hare Inn said only 10 per cent of his guests used the pool last summer, although a survey showed 90 per cent of the guests were attracted by the pool.

"A pool brings business but doesn't do any," Pavis said.

China, Pakistan Meet

KARACHI (AP) — Communist China and Pakistan would open talks in Karachi last of commercially produced week on a trade agreement (urea (carbamide)).

State Hospital's 'Psychiatrist' Held for Mental Observation

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI)—A man accused of posing as a psychiatrist at a state mental hospital for nine months was committed today for mental observation. Authorities also claimed he is a bigamist.

Harold E. MacMillan, Jr., 33, who allegedly passed himself off as a psychiatrist at Worcester State Hospital as Dr. William M. Blackwell of Fargo, N.D., was arraigned on a charge of practicing medicine illegally. He did not enter a plea in central district court.

HAROLD E. MacMILLAN
'Doctor' for Nine Months

MacMILLAN was sent to Bridgewater State Hospital to undergo 35 days of mental observation. Officials said they learned he has been married three times and still has two wives.

Dr. Richard W. Nelson, assistant administrator at Worcester State Hospital, said MacMillan had been hired as a staff psychiatrist after his credentials checked out.

A real Dr. Blackwell does exist in North Dakota.

MacMillan was arrested Friday when he returned home from Europe following an extensive European honeymoon with his new bride, the former Carol G. Bengtsson of Worcester, a registered nurse at the hospital.

MacMillan's father arrived here Saturday from Portland, Maine, with Geneva MacMillan, the legal wife of Harold Jr.

was a companion of the real Dr. Blackwell at Bowdoin, lived at the hospital, worked with other staff psychiatrists. His knowledge of psychiatry and medicine never was doubted, Nelson said.

SCHOOL officials checked their records and found that Blackwell was in Fargo, N.D. State police were notified and investigation began.

MacMillan, who reportedly served as a jet pilot in the Air Force, went to high school and a junior college in Portland, Maine, and Bowdoin, Maine. A strapping 6-foot-4, 235 pounds, MacMillan also studied law at Drake University, law school and Boston University school of law.

Dr. Nelson said MacMillan, a resident in training who lived at the hospital, worked with other staff psychiatrists. His knowledge of psychiatry and medicine never was doubted, Nelson said.

Stay Uncommitted, Nixon Urges GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon is reestablishing contacts with Republicans in all sections of the country and urging them to withhold 1964 presidential nomination commitments.

The former vice president, who lost the presidency by a hairline margin in 1960, is described by associates as spreading the doctrine that it is too early to tell what is going to happen in the nomination scramble.

In his conversations with Republican leaders, Nixon has bowed to the line that he is not a candidate himself and does not foresee any likelihood that he will be injected into the contest.

will be little prospect of organizing any such movement. Rockefeller, who has proved to be stubborn about such things, has said repeatedly he is in the nomination contest to stay. He concedes he is an underdog now.

Goldwater's friends hope they can get the senator to put on the kind of curb-hopping, handshaking campaign Rockefeller has begun with two days spent in New Hampshire this week. But they don't have any commitments from him yet beyond his informal approval for the opening of headquarters in the state.

BUT HE has made it clear he is less than enthusiastic about either New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who had formally entered his name, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who is expected to do so later.

His theme has been that time may bring forward a candidate more acceptable to middle-of-the-road Republicans and one with a better chance of being elected. Thus far he hasn't mentioned any names.

One party leader familiar with the situation said he credits Nixon with sincerity in his declarations on non-candidacy.

"I think he is trying to preserve his contacts with the party to be in a position where he can have some influence on the kind of platform we adopt and the kind of candidate we nominate," this leader said. "But, like anyone else, if the nomination were offered him he would take it."

Another party leader, who, unlike his colleague, opposes Goldwater, voiced the opinion that as long as Rockefeller stays in the contest it will be difficult to develop any strength for a third runner.

His conclusion is that those who don't want either Goldwater or Rockefeller can't really get moving until after the March 10 New Hampshire primary.

A POOR showing by the governor in that primary, he feels, would be certain to spark an effort by GOP leaders in the big industrial states to pool their strength behind a candidate to stop Goldwater.

On the other hand, he thinks that if Rockefeller either wins the primary or makes it a close race, there

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Nauts making voyages to the interplanetary monitoring probe—or "IMP", for short, set for late 1963 or early 1964.

The goal is to keep at least one IMP moonlet in space at all times between now and 1969.

Scientists hope to put the 138-pound IMP into a tricky, cigar-shaped orbit.

"Most serious Complaints about payment of insurance claims were made by people who had not insured their homes thru local, established agents"

says Legislative Investigating Committee.

The responsible performance came from those companies represented by independent agents, said the Committee of the Texas House of Representatives in its Official Report of loss adjustments made in the wake of Hurricane Carla. Here are some actual quotations from that Official Report:

"Consistently those policyholders who were represented by local facilities and agents received better treatment and service than those who were not.

"The most serious complaints heard by the Committee were told by those witnesses who did not have the services of an insurance agent with whom they were personally acquainted. Many were uncertain whom to contact about their loss, stating their insurance... had been bought by mail.

"The persons most confused and dissatisfied were those... without service of a local agent."

How to Protect Yourself

When your home, car or business is damaged, will you have an independent agent who made sure you had the right kind of insurance with the right kind of company in the first place, and who will make sure you are paid promptly and fairly? You will if you insure your home, car or business through a man who displays the "Big I" seal. The Big Difference in insurance is the continuing personal attention of an independent agent.

The week of November 10-16 is Protection Week, a good time to get a free check-up on your insurance from your independent insurance agent who is a member of the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Long Beach.

Evil Shadow of the Child Molester

when the lust of the pervert has been satisfied.
Despite this, the FBI since 1955 has flooded the nation's elementary schools with more than 20 million "coloring sketch" warnings—1.7 million in Los Angeles and more than 100,000 in the Long Beach area. There is no charge for the little picture and rules.

OUTSIDE of this, the preventative program against child molesting is in the throes of the Babylonian confusion.
Assistant Superintendent George Gelger of Long Beach elementary schools told The L.P.T. one local committee studying the problem questioned whether children should be given stern warnings about strangers.
The warning against strangers, according to a state research committee, "may be futile. . . . It may also have harmful effects on the social and emotional lives of some children by creating vague fears and a sense of alienation and estrangement from people."

LONG BEACH Detective Sgt. Robert L. Itson of the felony-morals detail said in many cases "it's not the stranger, anyhow, but a relative, friend or neighbor—even the father."

Police Lt. M. Z. Wishon said the preventative program is hampered by the age of the children.
"Many of them," he flatly said, "just don't know the difference between right or wrong." Statistics point out that many children are willing participants in the sexual violations.

MOST parents and courts are not helping, the two officers add.

"It's my belief that for every child-molesting case reported by the parents," said Sgt. Itson, "five other cases go unreported."

Speaking of the defendant in court, Lt. Wishon said, "Nobody is a criminal now days. He is sick. He wants the judge to find him to be nuts. He is sent to a medical center and then released."

"Hardly a day passes," J. Edgar Hoover has said, "that a serious crime is not committed somewhere by a degenerate who, in the past, has been convicted over and over again for similar crimes."

CITY Prosecutor James Starr points out the difficulties with small children on the witness stand. In one recent case, the child-molester went free in court when a young girl burst into uncontrollable tears and could not testify.

Though a child-molester under California law can be imprisoned on a felony conviction from one year to life, he generally is charged with a misdemeanor as a vagrant because of the unreliability of the witness. The maximum penalty for a vagrant annoying or molesting a child: six months imprisonment and a $500 fine.

ONE LOCAL court case underscores the delicate concern of the prosecutors and courts with child-molesting.

March 29, 1950—Charges were dropped against a 20-year-old student after four witnesses one-by-one took witness stand to testify he was at a different location when the alleged child-molesting took place. The complainant, a 13-year-old girl, gave conflicting stories in her testimony.

But by the time he appeared in court, the young man's reputation in the community already had been blackened.

BUT EVEN if the right person is identified, convicted and sent to a medical institution for treatment, the problem does not cease.

One psychiatrist said, "Use of hormones, frontal lobotomy" (severing of a brain nerve governing thought), electrical shock and similar treatments are not producing permanently beneficial results.

NEXT: Traits of the molester.

Revision of L.B.'s Fire Code Nears Final Council Approval

ARCHITECTS SKETCH OF ALAMITOS BAY YACHT CLUB

TO BE READY BY NEXT MAY

New Clubhouse of Yacht Club to Display 19th Century Designs

A $125,000 clubhouse reminiscent of some of Long Beach's earliest shoreline buildings will be constructed by Alamos Bay Yacht Club early next year at the east end of bay peninsula, adjacent to the new Marina Basin 5. Plans for the structure have been approved by the City Council, along with $50,000 in site improvements also to be financed by the club.

Club officers said they hope to begin construction in January and move into the building not later than May. They will then abandon and clear away the old clubhouse at Bay Shore Drive and Ocean Blvd. That property will be converted to public beach use.

THE PROPOSED new building was described by its architect, Charles Kober, a former commodore of the club, as a "contemporization" of a clubhouse design dating back to the 19th century, with overtones of Southern Colonial. Rising two stories high, it is flanked by broad porches and topped by a cupola penthouse with a "widow's walk" for observing boats in the bay. The social room, lounge, kitchen and other facilities will be used by members of the Leeway Sailing Club, a youth affiliate, as well as the yacht club members. The club has been granted a long-term lease for a 2.35-acre city-owned site with access to the marina. Under the lease terms, the club was obligated to spend a minimum of $100,000 for building improvements.

249-Page Draft Has Panel's OK

By GEORGE WEEKS

A comprehensive revision of the Long Beach Fire Prevention Code, the first since 1947, is on its way to becoming law.

The 249-page draft submitted by Fire Chief Leonard V. Foster was approved last week by the City Council's Ordinance Committee and will go before the full council Tuesday.

Despite its length, it will have little or no effect on most property owners, Chief Foster said.

But the rewriting jobs does bring up to date the control of hazardous materials, processes and occupancies, many of them developed since 1947. The new code is patterned after recommendations of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the California Fire Chiefs' Association.

BESIDES stricter regulations over special hazards, it removes a few obsolete provisions.

One of the latter is a requirement that a photographer obtain a city permit before taking a flash-powder picture indoors. Since this technique is no longer used except in old movies, it is deleted from the code.

On the side of stringent protection, the new ordinance provides more detailed coverage of such establishments and materials as tire rebuilding plants, bowling alleys and pin refinishing rooms, junk yards and waste-materials handling plants, cellulose nitrate motion picture film, combustible fibers, bulk oxygen systems, grain elevators, airports and heliports, fruit-ripening processes, fumigation and insecticidal fogging, processing of hazardous chemicals, lumber yards and woodworking shops.

ONE NEW SECTION applying to places of assembly will "make it possible to control crowds, keep exits open and prescribe definite rules for the use of open-flame devices," Chief Foster said.

Another introduces more modern controls for the maintenance of fire extinguishers in buildings.

Seven other Southern California cities have already adopted essentially the same code, with minor changes to fit their specific needs, Foster reported.

Setting Up Coin-Laundry in Russia Offers a Real Challenge to Santa Anan

By JACK BALDWIN and KEN KNIGHT

How to keep glued-together Russian garments from coming apart at the seams is only one of many problems faced by a Santa Ana technician setting up the first do-it-yourself dry cleaning establishment in Moscow.

Faced with this, and a dozen or more other problems, is C. D. Baxstreser, 37-year-old mechanic-turned-salesman for a Los Angeles manufacturing firm.

Not the least of Baxstreser's problems is that he can't speak Russian. In spite of this, he was selected to make the installation of the pilot plant in the Russian capital because of his 15 years experience in the dry cleaning industry.

Another problem faced by the dry cleaning expert is how to convince a Russian — who can't understand English any better than Baxstreser can understand Russian — that customers should not snip off all the buttons before putting the garments into the machines for cleaning.

Baxstreser and a fellow American, Fred Huber of La Crescenta, battled with the Russian commissars on two other issues — winning one and yielding on another.

THE RUSSIANS, accustomed to few luxuries, wanted only hard wooden benches for customers to sit on while waiting for their clothing being cleaned. The Americans insisted on upholstered chairs. Chairs it is to be.

However, the Americans lost to a long-standing Russian policy of cash in advance. Mrs. Moscow Housewife will have to plunk down her two rubles ahead of time for clothes left for cleaning by the company.

Another problem was with the counter girls who will man the conventional dry cleaning plant in conjunction with the coin-operated machines. The girls wanted to make out a slip for each garment instead of listing all of a customer's clothing on a single slip. The Americans won.

Baxstreser described some of his problems to his wife, Alice, and three children who remained behind at the family home, 13291 Malena Dr., in tape recordings he mailed to the U.S.

"I am very disillusioned by Russia. While Moscow is beautiful, conditions are bad. The people have nothing at all. The women all look like Mrs. Khrushchev," according to Baxstreser's recording.

Baxstreser may have been taking a verbal swipe at Mrs. K. because she is the main reason he is in Russia.

The premier's wife was impressed with coin-operated dry cleaning establishments she saw in New York during a visit to the United States in 1959. Dry cleaning facilities in Russia are so poor that many of the big-wigs — who can afford it — have their clothing cleaned in Helsinki, Finland.

THE RUSSIANS have become more conscious of personal cleanliness since World War II and have been expanding their dry cleaning and laundry facilities. The pilot plant which Baxstreser is setting up is the first of many the firm of Romaine and Associates hope to sell to the Russians.

Last year the firm sold and installed 28 coin-operated washing machines.

"The customers are lined up like slot machine players at Las Vegas," Baxstreser said.

He predicts the same thing will happen to the dry cleaning unit, which will also include 24 self-service laundry machines, plus dryers.

While waiting for their clothes to tumble dry, Russian housewives can shampoo their hair and dry it under two electric dryers.

Low cost of service offered by the new rubles-activated machines will be welcomed by budget-conscious wives and mothers.

The average worker earns about 4.1 rubles a day — or about $4.55 in American money. It costs a Russian worker a half-day's wages to have a caviar-stained suit dry cleaned. The machines now being installed will handle about 6.6 pounds a machine, or two to three suits, for two rubles.

In the event word doesn't get around the Soviet capital that the new plant is open for business, the American backers have erected an 80-by-4-foot bright neon sign on the front of the building.

SALESMAN C. D. BAXSTRESSER Blames Mrs. Khrushchev

A Los Angeles sign company twisted the hot glass tubing to read "Keemeechesdaya Cheestka Samo-obsluzhevaneya," and "Steerka Samo-obsluzhevaneya." (No wonder the sign is 80 feet long!) Translated, the sign reads: "Self Service Dry Cleaning and Self Service Laundry."

THE AMERICAN-BUILT machines will be demonstrated for two-weeks before going into service. Technicians from throughout the Soviet Union are being brought to Moscow to inspect the mechanical wonders.

When Baxstreser was recruited for the job, the family discussed whether Mrs. Baxstreser should accompany her husband. They took one look at the $1,500 air fare and decided against it.

Mrs. Baxstreser keeps her husband informed of local events by mail. Letters cost 50 cents a half ounce. The last one cost $1.50.

"At this rate if he doesn't get back pretty soon, I just might as well have made the trip," she said.

REMARKABLE response followed a request here for World War II ration books to be used in a Franklin Junior High School History class.

They've got so many ration books out there they are ready for another war.

Barbara Shira, the teacher who asked me to ask for the books, is deeply grateful. She says she not only got ration books and stamps, but a lot of other wartime mementoes that will help her students to understand what civilian living was like during the big fight.

It was amazing that so many people had kept the old ration materials, but Barbara was also surprised at how much they had forgotten about the war days. Many called her on the telephone but they were hazy about how rationing worked and other details of the early 'forties period.

WELL, you can't say people aren't hospitable around here. Henry Hogan was enjoying a before-breakfast walk the other day, and on passing an entrance to an alley near the beach observed a man in the alley beckoning to a bewhiskered passerby.

"Whiskers" went into the alley and was immediately offered a drink from what looked like a wine bottle. As Hogan was pondering such generosity he heard a call and realized that he, too, was being invited into the alley for a nip.

He declined but went his way, wandering. Back at home, he looked in the mirror.

"What I saw didn't look like the sort of person who would indulge in wine-bibbing in an alley," he said, recounting the incident. "Why do you suppose he accosted me in that fashion? Could it be that we're all bears under the skin?"

Could be, Henry, don't worry about it. I've noticed that the grape, whatever else may be said about it, tends to spark generosity in some users. In fact, I've known people who were belligerently generous when slightly lit. Refuse to take a drink with them and they want to fight.

THOSE Sacramento people who wanted to camp in Long Beach are going to do it.

Industry Experts at L.B. Seminar

More than a score of experts from industry, government and education will participate in a workshop, "The World of Technical Writers," Friday and Saturday at the Business and Technology Division of Long Beach City College, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Hwy.

A dozen concurrent seminars on various aspects of technical writing will start at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Friday and at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Exhibits and closed circuit television also will be featured.

Among the industry speakers will be Dwight E. Berry, technical director of the Titan missile program for the Space Technology Laboratories; Ralph DePaul, director of the Aero Geo Astro Corp.; John Sykes, training supervisor, Douglas Aircraft Co.; Ken Paden, supervisor of planning and requirements, North American Aviation; John Fawcett, supervisor of technical publications, Martin Co.

Several technical writers, educators and newspaper representatives also will speak.

SHE'S A TOP SWIMMER, TOO L.B. Teen-Ager Begins Career as Record Artist

Pegi Boucher, a 15-year-old Long Beach mezzosoprano—who also is regarded as a prodigy swimmer—is launched on a record career.

Cutting records, that is. The young artist, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George O. Boucher, 4383 Linden Ave., has been signed by Del-Fi Records of Hollywood on a five-year contract, eight records a year. The first, "That Shade of Red" and "Belle of the Ball," will be cut this week.

"This girl is a real find," says Howard Hayes, 263 Ximeno Ave., her teacher for three years. "She has a flair for selling a song. The first record company that heard her signed her. We look for TV and personal appearances, as well as records."

Pegi, who started swimming competitively when she was 10 years old, has won 55 blue ribbons, 23 medals and three trophies.

Last year she became active in Long Beach Virginia Country Theater, playing Rosie in "Comrade Birdie" (a version of "Bye Bye Birdie") and the title role in "Wildcat."

She is a sophomore at Poly High School, where she is a member of the a cappella choir. Also, she is an A student.

British Ship Oronsay to Dock in L.B.

The 23,000-ton SS Oronsay of the P&O Orient Lines will call at the Port of Long Beach Monday.

The big British passenger ship, carrying 1,311 persons, will dock at Pier D, Berth 24 at 8 a.m.

Oronsay arrives here from Sydney, Australia via Auckland, Suva, Honolulu and San Francisco. She departs at 3 p.m. and will sail for London via the Panama Canal, Caribbean ports and Spain.

There will be 125 passengers disembarking and 210 embarking at Long Beach.

Southland's Summit Meeting to Hold Fate of Rapid Transit

A summit meeting of Southland officials trying to reach agreement on a mass rapid transit proposal will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. in the county supervisors' hearing room, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

The meeting was called by Chairman Warren M. Dorn of the supervisors with the hope it will "bring a united front on the part of all individuals and organizations."

Gov. Brown has announced he will put rapid transit on the agenda at the 1964 special session of the state legislature if the cities, county and civic groups of the area can agree on a plan.

Invited to the session, in addition to the supervisors, will be directors and staff members of the Metropolitan

Transit Authority; State Sen. Thomas M. Rees of Los Angeles County; Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh; the president of the Los Angeles County Division of the League of California Cities; the Los Angeles mayor and City Council president; and officials of the Los Angeles

Chamber of Commerce and Automobile Club of Southern California.

In Sacramento, an agreement between the state and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District for cooperating in the building and use of 3.5 miles of an Oakland freeway, was announced Saturday by Gov. Brown.

He indicated he thought Los Angeles officials who haven't been able to agree on a rapid transit plan could learn something from the agreement.

The rapid transit trains will run down the center strip of the section of the Grove-Shafter Freeway, between 24th Street and Golden Gate Avenue. Brown said the joint use of the right-of-way will save the taxpayers between $75 and $100 million.

Fibrosis Group Raises $5,397

A total of $5,397.77 was raised by the Long Beach Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation in September, the organization reported Saturday.

The money, raised by a door-to-door campaign, benefit dance and other events, will be used to further research into the disease.

Politics Also Art of Unlikely

AT THIS POINT, many Republicans consider a ticket composed of Rockefeller and Goldwater (or Goldwater and Rockefeller) the strongest that could be fielded by the GOP — and the most improbable.

It would be strong because it would have wide geographical appeal, offer a haven for both liberals and conservatives, and feature two attractive and well-publicized personalities.

It is improbable because of the sharp differences between the two men on vital political issues, including foreign policy and civil rights, and because neither seems to be a man who would be content with second place.

Yet, political history — indeed, recent political history — shows that it is quite possible to fuse seemingly incompatible political metals.

We refer to the Kennedy-Johnson alloy.

IN 1960, IT WILL be remembered, the likelihood of Lyndon Johnson being selected as the vice presidential candidate (or of Lyndon Johnson accepting that nomination) was considered extremely remote.

Johnson had called Sen. Kennedy immature and too inexperienced to be president. Johnson had scorned the idea of accepting second place on the ticket and had suggested Kennedy for that job because the vice presidency "is a good place for a young man who needs experience."

Meanwhile, Johnson was cordially disliked by the Democratic party's liberal wing, which was supposed to carry a lot of weight with Kennedy.

In brief, when the 1960 Democratic National Convention began, anybody suggesting the possibility of a Kennedy-Johnson ticket would have been considered naive.

HOWEVER, THE OUTCOME of the convention is a matter of historical fact. Mr. Kennedy offered Mr. Johnson the vice presidency, and the man who had asserted, "I wouldn't want to trade my job of leadership for a relatively inactive role," accepted the nomination, said he was proud to be on the bandwagon, and said of Kennedy: "A new star has been born in the leadership skies of the nation."

Thus, a complete reversal occurred in a matter of hours. Far apart in so many ways, Kennedy and Johnson reconciled their differences, capitalized on their combined appeal, and went on to win the election.

Looking back on this, one should not rule out the possibility of a Rockefeller-Goldwater (or Goldwater-Rockefeller) ticket. Men change their minds, or at least their political tunes. Politics, described as the art of the possible, is often the art of the unlikely.

LBJ Salves Hurt Pride With Trips

1, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Lyndon Johnson is off again, this time to the Benelux countries. Presumably he is going to spread a message of goodwill, and all that, something that can't be done by phone call or letter, it is quite obvious, because it would be too cheap. Also, they like to find things for Johnson to do. As a matter of fact, he insists upon it.

Johnson, the vice president, is one of the strange phenomena of the New Frontier. Although there are protests to the contrary, he doesn't seem to be a part of it. This once powerful man, who, as majority leader, was once able to lead noted senators about by the nose, now can only rap the Senate to order and rule on an occasional parliamentary question.

THE QUESTION WAS RAISED once about the possibilities that the Kennedy administration would have found him more useful as majority leader, considering the weak leadership that exists at the present time and the state of the President's legislative program.

But a Democratic senator, to whom this was addressed, said no.

"Do you think that arm-twisting bunch would want a strong man like Lyndon running the show here? Why, he'd take those congressional lobbyists of theirs and, if he wanted to, could make them crawl up the steps of the Capitol and kiss his foot before he'd do anything for them. I think they like it just fine the way it is."

It is popularly considered that Johnson was put on the ticket to lead an air of Southern conservatism to it, but then again they may have wanted to put him in a spot where he couldn't challenge the administration for power.

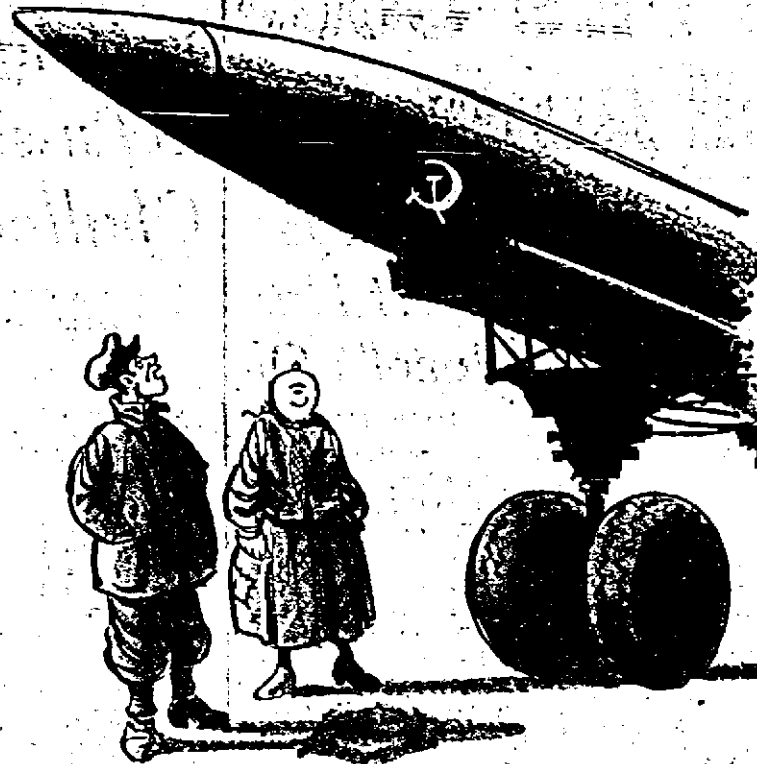

Well, the forms are preserved. Johnson is consulted, or rather informed of impending action to preserve a fiction. In no way has he been made a part of the administration.

BUT IT IS OBVIOUS THAT Johnson doesn't like it. Despite the just-folks friendliness he displays on all public occasions, he is a proud and arrogant man who wants his chunk of whatever it is that is being passed around.

This is one of the reasons for the junkets. He asserts himself and is demanding. Regardless of his true role and status, his pride must be satisfied, and the only openings these days are for global statesmen.

Though the trips do keep Johnson happy and occupied, and allow him and his wife to fill up the Air Force jets with duty-free goods and souvenirs from abroad, it is difficult to cite one noteworthy contribution he has made to what has come to be known as World Understanding. Reports suggest that it is just as well he speaks to a rather limited audience on these trips, the folks who come out to the airport to meet him.

His campaigning, Texas style, amazed and amused most Scandinavian observers and in some places was called in bad taste. He solved the Berlin question last year by distributing LBJ ball-point pens to the street crowds who came to look at him.

Freeway Opponents Begin Waving Flag of Surrender

1, P-T Sacramento Bureau
 SACRAMENTO — Freeway revolters face concrete silence — and fiscal punishment.

That is the latest tactic of embattled state freeway planners. And already the white flags are beginning to wave in some communities that blocked state freeway planners in recent years.

Sacramento city, where powerful community interests battled against a north-south cross-town freeway for years, caved in recently. Surrender came after the state built freeways to the edge of central Sacramento, and dumped a freeway tangle of traffic on major north-south roads in the heart of Sacramento.

The cross-town north-south freeway in Sacramento would have been completed by now, but the state has adopted a policy of delaying freeway construction when there is violent community opposition.

Sacramento's freeway revolters made peace with the state only a year ago. Some revolters switched sides to pro-freeway as the traffic tangle grew from outer freeways.

THE FREEWAY — which could have been built by now — isn't budgeted for completion until the fiscal year of 1964-65. In the meantime, the route is torn up like a battlefield scene and there is traffic chaos.

THE MOST famous freeway revolt occurred in 1959 when the San Francisco Board of Supervisors declared in a resolution that San Francisco didn't want any more freeways unless the board could pick the route.

San Francisco contended the state was building ugly starkly utilitarian freeways which blocked such sacred Bay area landmarks as the Ferry Building.

Already, San Francisco is beginning to change lanes in its freeway revolt. The shocker was the $577 million state highway construction budgets for 1964-65, doing out only $22 million to San Francisco.

Editorialized one San Francisco daily newspaper: "That is a part of the continuing price the city has had to pay for its freeway revolt, an event that has long since outlived the useful purpose it originally served."

"Unless the freeway deadlock is resolved soon, San Francisco will lose all of $250 million allocated there under the federal interstate highway program."

Meanwhile San Francisco's 300,000 vehicle owners go right on paying a tax of 11 cents on every gallon of gas — plus other highway user taxes — to help build freeways elsewhere.

The state had announced that freeway money that had been allocated to San Francisco instead would go to neighboring counties.

Long Beach is likely to face similar pressure on the controversial cross-town leg of proposed Pacific Coast Freeway. Some route sections of Pacific Coast Freeway already are adopted, and within the next decade freeway traffic is due to be dumped on Long Beach's already congested east-west roads, according to tentative freeway-building timetables.

As presently constituted, communities cannot do battle and win a total victory from the California Highway Commission. Some communities win concessions.

But most freeway-revolting communities merely fight delaying actions. The result: under the current ground rules they merely prolong the uncertainty and disruption which are associated with freeway building.

How Brass Hats Get Their Way

WASHINGTON — If you want to see why the brass hats of the armed forces get what they want out of Congress and why armed service appropriations continue to soar, despite the efforts of Secretary of Defense McNamara to hold them down, take a look at the entertainment schedule worked out for congressmen at the recent Army-Air Force game in Chicago.

It was as detailed as the schedule for the Normandy landing on D-day.

The football schedule, however, was brimming over with VIP treatment for the visiting congressmen.

The congressmen invited by the Army and Air Force to take the free flight to Chicago were members of the Armed Services Committee and the Military Subcommittees of the Appropriations Committee. The first committee sets military policy for the Congress; the second votes the money.

The carefully prepared schedule read:

"0830 EST guests arrive Andrews AFB and are met and escorted to aircraft."

"0850 all members of party on board aircraft. Seating as desired."

"0900 wheels up. Flying time: 2 hours, 55 minutes. Light luncheon served in flight."

"1055 (CST) arrive Midway Airport, Chicago, Met by CG, Fifth U.S. Army."

"1105 board charter buses for Soldier Field. Seating as desired. Buses will be marked by Army mule and Air Force falcon."

"1200 arrive Soldier Field."

Escorted to seats by Army or Air Force escorts."

Then after the game the same details were outlined for the VIPs' trip back to Washington with dinner served en route.

At the bottom of the schedule were these significant notes:

"Army and Air Force legislative liaison offices will arrange sedan transportation for accompanying members of Congress and all personnel to and from Andrews AFB as required."

"Office, C of S, Army and Office, VC of S, Air Force, will arrange or coordinate transportation for all members of the party other than congressmen and L and L personnel to and from Andrews AFB as required."

"Blankets and rain gear will be available in the stadium."

All this is one reason why the generals can run up to Congress to sell the boys on the hill regarding TFX contracts or big bombers or the Skybolt when their civilian chiefs in the Pentagon overrule them.

REP. RON Cameron, newly re-elected California Democrat who defeated John Birchite John Roesselot in Nixon's home town, Whittier, writes:

"Have just read your column on congressional wives on the payroll. I have two comments: 1—You left out my wife, Connie. She receives about $245 a month. 2—I believe that a column such as this serves exactly the opposite purpose for which you stand. . . . There are many congressmen whose families make the best help they can find and who could be hurt by such a column. They are generally the ones who are doing the best job."

Congressman Cameron is correct. Some of the wives and family members do perform the best job—as I have frequently noted. They are familiar with the congressman's work and his political position, therefore can operate more efficiently than an outsider. Among them are Mrs. George Miller and Mrs. George E. Brown Jr., both of California. There are others. But also there are relatives who never come near the office, some of them even students in college, drawing the taxpayers' money for work they never perform.

SOVIET farmers are reported so short of fodder they are slaughtering their cattle. The food shortage is expected to get worse this winter. . . . State Department officials have shut off

Affidavit Is Only Way Out of Oregon Primary Election

POT BOILING too soon for you in the presidential stew? Well, just consider that the names of the first batch of contenders will be committed to a ballot in less than 12 weeks. Filing deadline for the nation's first primary—New Hampshire's—is Feb. 1.

All it takes to get on the N.H. ballot is a petition of about 100 signatures. The name stays on the ballot unless the candidate asks its removal within 10 days of the filing deadline. Date of the N.H. primary is March 10.

Although California Republicans are tuning up for a Goldwater-Rockefeller primary June 2, a decisive loss by either in New Hampshire might deter the loser from pressing his case in California. This state's filing deadline is April 3.

In any case the big names in politics have not much longer to be coy. And, if Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield is correct in his statement of last week that the Republican party is on the verge of death, that coyness must be replaced by dynamism.

But Oregon has its own instrument for separating the Hatfields from the coys. The instrument is Oregon's Secretary of State Howell Appling Jr.

The names of candidates for president and vice president are printed on the Oregon primary ballot.

"BY DIRECTION of the Secretary of State who shall place the name of such a candidate upon the ballot when he shall have determined in his sole discretion that such candidate's candidacy is generally advocated or recognized in national news media throughout the United States, unless such candidate shall execute and file with the Secretary of State an affidavit stating without qualification that he is not now and does not intend to become a candidate for said offices at the forthcoming presidential election."—Oregon Election Laws.

However, petitioners may get a candidate's name on the ballot if they can get enough signatures. They don't need more than 1,000. In this method a candidate also may withdraw with the same kind of unqualified affidavit.

MIR. APPLING says he will make his determination of what candidates he'll place on the ballot by regularly reading a representative cross-section of leading national newspapers throughout the United States, as well as leading national news magazines.

In response to our query, Appling wrote: "The key phrase in this statute is 'GENERALLY advocated.' The legal definition of the word 'generally' is 'pertaining to many persons, places and occasions.'"

"The substance of the Oregon law, then, is to rule out early favorite sons, publicity seekers, eccentrics, and the like, and to more nearly make the Oregon Preferential Primary a real contest between the real contenders."

APPLING has declined to speculate on what candidates would be on his ballot if he were making up the list now. He feels that if he regularly engaged in such rumormongering speculation "it might considerably influence the activities and actions of some of the candidates and I do not feel that that is my proper role."

"I shall seek instead to merely judge, in my best discretion, the status of the various candidates as it exists on the filing day designated in the Oregon laws."

A candidate's silence in New Hampshire or Oregon means his consent to have his trial run made in the primary. But silence does not mean consent in California. So, for example, if Richard M. Nixon should be petitioned onto the N.H. and Oregon ballots he could ride free, contending that he didn't wish to intrude on either state's affairs to the point of formally withdrawing his name.

But if he is similarly pushed in California he would have to give his affirmative and specific approval. And that eventually could make San Francisco's GOP National Convention July 13 very interesting indeed.

Viet Nam Coup Same Old Story

EDITOR:

The coup in Viet Nam is the same sickening story all over again. Pull the rug out from under the existing government and replace it with a "democracy" — dictatorship of the left. Ben Bella is a recent example. During the fighting in Algeria our controlled wire services and press directed our sympathies to the "Moslems" — as we now know, the Red China and Russian oriented F.L.N. — who were being terrorized by the "dread"

O.A.S., French, high military.

In the Spanish Civil War the Americans were propagandized for the Loyalists, the internationalists or Communists, and blacked out from news of the horrors they perpetrated. That time Franco was the big, bad "bloody dictator."

In the Dominican Republic Trujillo, "dictator," our ally, was assassinated and replaced with Juan Bosch, leftist-dictator, "democratically" (?) elected.

In Laos the pro-Western leader was forced by Moscow Treaty Harriman and withheld-aid into a kill-or-death coalition with the Communists.

The prime example is China whose first lady was treated to the same "Dragon Lady" smear by our press; then aid was stopped and the Generalissimo's government fell to the agrarian reformers — Communists. In Viet Nam they are called "Buddhists." In a little while your press will let you in on the secret, as it did in Castro's case.

Where is the concern with religious repressions in Communist Cuba, Poland, Yugoslavia, and Russia? E. HAYES

Diem Deposed, Reds March On

EDITOR:

Your editorial, The Proof Is Awaited, was very disturbing. It was disturbing to read, "We will shed no tears for the deposed regime of Ngo Dinh Diem." It is disturbing that editorial writers of great newspapers are apparently exempt from the recent lessons of history as recorded in their own newspapers.

The editorial took the position that judgment would be withheld, a "wait and see" attitude.

Years ago, even as late as the pro-Castro revolution this attitude could be justified. But today, it is whistling past the graveyard of experience; it is a head-in-the-sand posture.

With the strong anti-Communists deposed we can expect the cry for "unity" to be raised. (Remember this was the cry before China succumbed—unity between Mao's forces and Chiang's.) Voices will now be heard calling for "unity" between North and South Viet Nam. A "coalition-type" government will be urged for "peace." The United States will remove our limited military force from Viet Nam in due course while continuing financial aid.

And so the war of Communist expansion, having conquered, will move on.

How Long Till Reds Get Viet Nam?

EDITOR:

Well, now that we've pulled the rug from under the Diem government, how long before the Reds take over, like in China and Cuba and heaven knows how many other countries? Six months? Nine months? Three? What a lay any bets that they don't within a year?

Bus 'Magician' Casting Spell

William (Frank) Farrell—the transportation magician who has awakened sleeping bus lines in other cities with a flick of his promotional wand—is casting the same old spell in Long Beach.

The fast-moving, fast-thinking new Long Beach bus executive disclosed these plans in an interview conducted as he downed a beef sandwich at lunch.

Long Beach's fleet of 100 light green buses will be replaced within three years by sleek, silver-and-blue "Dreamliner" vehicles. Thirty of the new glass-and-aluminum buses now are in service and 10 more are expected early next year.

The dull gray uniforms of the 190 Long Beach bus drivers are being replaced this week by snappy blue uniforms and caps with pastel blue shirts. Air Force type "wing" insignia decorate the caps.

A "Candy Cane Bus," painted in the familiar Christmas peppermint colors, will service different routes throughout Long Beach beginning the day after Thanksgiving through Jan. 1.

A caravan of 15 Long Beach buses, led by the "Candy Cane," will transport residents to view the Rose Parade in Pasadena Jan. 1. Trip tickets will be sold by Long Beach bus drivers beginning Dec. 1.

The 51-year-old Farrell, who became general manager and executive vice president of the new, non-profit Long Beach Public Transportation System only last September, became noted for curing ailing bus lines in Eureka, Inglewood, Stockton and El Paso with such ideas.

Before moving to Long Beach along with his wife, Judy, his boat "Cloud Nine" and his long, white convertible, Farrell took time to turn the stricken Santa Monica Bus Line into a fat moneymaker.

In Santa Monica, Farrell who does things in a big way, used Jayne Mansfield and other shapely feminine figures to promote his bus line, staged bus parades at the slightest excuse for a celebration, plugged bus-line service with newspaper ads and converted his band of drivers into one of the most courteous in the nation.

He left behind a $1.5-million profit to the city—over and above the $2.5 million in cash for replacing the entire bus fleet—and a giant, new bus garage-administrative headquarters. Bus patronage was up 21.2 percent.

Farrell launched his Long Beach venture by publicizing the city in a cross-country parade of new buses from Detroit, climaxed with a parade through downtown here during the Good Ol' Days celebration.

He has one bone to pick with bus tradition in Long Beach.

"Those badge numbers on the drivers, they're going out," he said. "Our drivers are individuals, not a set of numbers."

Farrell also intends to step up courtesy training of drivers, a pet project with him. One New York newspaper, during his Santa Monica days, wrote admiringly that a Farrell-trained driver is likely to step off the bus to help a lady with her baby carriage and bus field inspectors may personally drop off route schedules at the homes of persons who have phoned for the information.

Other thoughts of the rapid-transit personality: improvement of bus transfer schedules and a personal ride on bus lines "to talk to the passengers."

All these ideas and others—"once I get more settled"—will be the right potion, the transportation magician hopes, to steer the sick Long Beach bus lines onto the patron-pleasing road.

Demo Club Set for 1964 Ballot

By BOB HOUSER

Eleanor Roosevelt Democratic Club will elect 1964 officers at its 8 p.m. Wednesday meeting in Ruth Bach Library, 4055 Bellflower Blvd., acting president Donald Greenfield announced.

Guest speaker will be James P. Roche, a member of the speakers bureau of the California Democratic Council on the 1964 volunteer effort.

Demo Study Club

The Women's Democratic Study Club will have a $1 donation card party and bazaar gift table event at 11 a.m. Tuesday in Mottell's Garden Room. The bazaar starts at 11 a.m., luncheon at noon and then cards.

Chairmen are Agnes Prough, Doris Rumsey and Rose Mountain.

Single-Car Death Cases Under Study

L. P. T. Los Angeles Bureau

The county coroner's office is participating in a statewide study of the involvement of carbon monoxide, alcohol and drugs in single-vehicle fatal traffic accidents, according to Dr. Theodore J. Curphey, chief medical examiner-coroner.

Local police departments and the California Highway Patrol are joining in an effort to find underlying causes of the increasing number of single-vehicle accidents, Dr. Curphey said.

DURING THE 12-month study, which began this month, drivers killed in such accidents will receive blood analyses for carbon monoxide poisoning, alcohol and drugs. Driving records and possible criminal records also will be studied, the coroner said.

The program will be financed by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, which has made funds available to the state's Highway Transportation Agency.

Dr. Curphey said the study will be guided by a steering committee made up of representatives of the State Coroners' Association, State Department of Public Health, State Department of Justice and the CHP.

Temporary Tax Office Jobs Open

Because so many property owners are coming in to pay the county tax collector, he is going to have to pay about 55 taxpayers.

Harold J. Ostley, county tax collector, says his office needs to hire about 40 adding machine operators and 15 tellers to work from Nov. 13 to Dec. 10.

Dec. 10 is the deadline for payment, without penalty, of the first installment of property taxes for county, schools, special districts and most cities of Los Angeles County.

BECAUSE more than three million tax payments must be made this year, the tax collector needs the additional temporary help.

Adding-machine operators, who must either have completed a training course or have had six months experience, will be paid $2.10 an hour for the day shift and $2.25 hourly for nights.

Window tellers with at least two years experience in receipting and accounting for large amounts of cash, will be paid $2.16 hourly.

Applicants should go to the Long Beach office, Room 101, Long Beach County Building, 415 W. Ocean Blvd., or the Civil Service Commission office in Room 493, County Hall of Administration, 222 N. Grand Ave., Los Angeles.

2 Duck Hunters Shoot; Duck

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Two duck hunters stood up in the same boat at the same time Saturday and fired. Both fell into the Connecticut River.

Police rescued Kenneth Hood, 20, of Seymour, and Richard McCormack, 23, of Coventry, after another hunter heard their cries for help. Both were treated at Hartford Hospital for exposure.

The fate of the ducks was not determined.

Seal Beach Yachtsmen Announce Club Plans

The Seal Beach Yacht Club hosted a cocktail party and dinner for members at the Huntington Harbour Beach Club.

The club commodore, Tom Orr, introduced Seal Beach attorney Laurence A. Peters, who was appointed judge advocate of the club.

The third year of the club was celebrated with an announcement that plans are under way for a $150,000 clubhouse east of Anaheim Landing.

More than 200 Long Beach and Orange County Yachtsmen are in the Seal Beach club.

EVERYONE INVITED TO BALL

City to Hail Its Famous at Lavish Party Friday

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

Everyone in Long Beach is invited.

The entire city is putting on its best bib and tucker, its most lavish decorations and most exciting entertainment for the biggest public event in Long Beach history.

It's Long Beach's 75th birthday party—the Diamond Jubilee Celebrity Ball slated for Friday, at 9 p.m. in the city's spectacular new Arena.

Included in party plans are Freddy Martin and his "singing saxophone," presentation of 75 local celebrities, and a giant birthday cake large enough to serve 3,000 persons!

WILMA HASTINGS
General Chairman

celebrities of Long Beach heritage, selected for the honor by a jury of newspaper wire service officials.

The parade of local headline-makers who have brought fame and acclaim to our city includes movie stars and sports figures, scientists and business tycoons, artists and politicians, authors and educators.

With fanfare during red-carpet ceremonies, they will be presented by local well-known master of ceremonies Marvin Cloyd.

This will be followed with presentation of the city's gigantic birthday cake, with a piece served to each guest.

FREDDY MARTIN
He'll Provide Music

GENERAL chairman Wilma Hastings said she hopes all local citizens will join in the festivities to observe the city's 75th anniversary.

Spectacular entertainment will be provided by world-famous orchestra leader Freddy Martin and his band of 23 entertainers, whose recent engagements have included the Ambassador's Coconut Grove in Los Angeles and the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas.

Martin's silken arrangements of classics, popular standards and show tunes have thrilled music lovers since his first record, "Louisiana Hayride" and "A Rainy Day," made for Brunswick Records in 1934, was an immediate success.

In 1941 he unearthed a musical mother lode that within a matter of weeks made him the most famous and popular orchestra leader in the nation.

The bonanza was Tchaikovsky's "Piano Concerto in B Flat Minor," from which he arranged and recorded a 32-bar dance version. Within a week after its release, it became the country's No. 1 record, and to date, has sold well over three million copies.

The tremendous success of the "Concerto" moved Freddy to adopt it as his theme song and to delve deeper into the classical standards.

Among those he'll play for local party-goers: "Symphony," the Grieg and Rachmaninoff piano concertos, Richard Addinsell's "Warsaw Concerto," and boogie-woogie renditions of Kachaturian's "Sabre Dance."

Featured with the Martin aggregation—which has included such names as Jerry Colonna and the late Tommy Dorsey, also Russ Morgan, Claude Thornhill and Terry Shand—are Johnny Cochran and the Martin Men and the piano artistry of Dave Leonard.

HIGHLIGHT of Friday night's gala ball will be formal presentation of 75

MRS. HASTINGS, emphasizing that the event is open to all Long Beach citizens, said tickets ($10 a couple) are available at the Diamond Jubilee office, 130 Pine Ave. They can be purchased by mail with a check and self-addressed envelope.

Many local organizations and civic groups are planning preball cocktail parties and dinners—among them the Junior League, Century Club, Kiwanis, Rotary, Junior Chamber of Commerce, I.R. Medical Association, Ebell Juniors, Pilot Club and many others.

It is also reported that many planning to attend Community Concerts Inc.'s presentation Friday night of the London Philharmonic Orchestra in Municipal Auditorium will make it a double attraction evening by attending the ball in the adjoining Arena.

MRS. HASTINGS and her large committee have worked many months to make this the most lavish social event in Long Beach history.

Heading committees are Darrell Neighbors, budget; Dorothy Annis, tickets; Fred Taylor, decorations; Tess Heusel, table arrangements; Bill Lockett, celebrity recognition; Mrs. Ernest Lockwood, celebrity hosts; Howard Conrad, birthday cake; Mrs. Gertrude Hawkins and Mrs. Robert Westmeyer, hostesses (all Women's division members of the local Chamber of Commerce).

Official greeters for the evening will be Chamber of Commerce and Diamond Jubilee board members.

Ball to Europe

PARIS (UPI)—George W. Ball, U.S. undersecretary of state, flew in from New York Saturday for a one-day stop-over on his way to talks in Bonn and London. He returns here Nov. 19 for the meeting of the council of ministers of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

UP FROM THE WAVES

HEAVY RAINFALL CUTS FIRE DANGER

Earliest Opening in 13 Years for Angeles Forest

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Wednesday's soaking rain, coming on top of several earlier rains, brought about the earliest opening of Angeles National Forest in 13 years. Supervisor Sam E. Jarvi, Angeles Forest Supervisor, announced Thursday that all fire-closed areas are now open to public entry.

At the same time, it was announced that all fire-closed areas in Los Padres and San Bernardino National Forests had been opened.

However, the fire-closed areas of Cleveland National Forest in San Diego and Orange counties must remain that way until more rains come. The September, October and November rains didn't spread that far southward.

There will be no further closing of Angeles Forest until July 1, 1964, unless some drought emergency should develop.

Jarvi said more than three inches of rain already has soaked into Angeles Forest, which lies mostly in the San Gabriel Mountains. In his announcement, Jarvi noted that everybody should continue to use caution in building fires. "Local ordinances regarding no smoking remain in effect," he said. "Open campfires are always prohibited and debris burning and campfire permits are required the year 'round."

"The 1963 forest fire season record was the best since 1957. Only 54 fires occurred in 1963. Highest causes of fires were (1) careless discarding of burning cigarettes, (2) children playing with matches and (3) careless debris burning."

"Total land burned over in 1963 was 3,635 acres of valuable watershed. In the previous year, 90 fires burned over 18,357 acres of watershed land."

Jarvi gave credit to the cooperation of forest visitors and to those living near the forest for their fire-prevention help in 1963. Quick action by U.S. Forest Service crews and firemen of the Los Angeles County Fire Department, plus small-city fire departments, also helped keep the number of acres burned to a minimum.

Jarvi and his rangers are not weather prophets, but they are looking for a wet winter and hoping for plenty of snow in the winter recreational areas.

While on the subject of U.S. National Forests, it might be well to mention that two new wild areas have been created in California. One is the 63,000-acre Dome Lands Wild Area on the Kern Plateau in Sequoia National Forest. The other is the Mokelumne Wild Area, a part of the Eldorado and Stanislaus national forests. The Mokelumne sector is situated near the crest of the Sierra Nevada between Ebetts Pass and Carson Pass only. Construction will be limited to trail and camp-ground improvements necessary for safety and health.

to preserve the wilderness character. No roads will be built into the area; travel will be by foot and horseback only. Construction will be limited to trail and camp-ground improvements necessary for safety and health.

Memorial for German Jews Held

DACHAU, Germany (AP) — Solemn memorial services were held throughout Germany Saturday for Jewish victims of Crystal Night—the night 25 years ago when Nazi mobs roamed German cities, burning synagogues, beating Jews and looting Jewish property.

Special services were held at Dachau and Flossenbürg, in Bavaria, sites of infamous concentration camps.

West German newspapers devoted an entire page in their Saturday editions to the anniversary.

THE NIGHT of Nov. 9, 1938 became known as Crystal Night because of the smashing of windows in Jewish stores.

It was the first organized, large-scale terror against the Jews in Nazi Germany. Thousands of Jews were taken to concentration camps. Some were released later but others never were seen again.

The Nazi government called the attacks on Jews a "spontaneous reaction" to the assassination by a Jewish refugee of Ernst vom Rath, a secretary of the German Embassy in Paris.

It was the excuse the Nazis had been waiting for to speed up their program against the Jews. The groundwork had been laid some years before with boycotts of Jewish stores and with the Nuremberg racial laws.

WHEN 17-year-old Herschel Grynszpan fired five shots at Von Rath on Nov. 7, Nazi propagandists began to fan the flame of violence that exploded two days later, when the German diplomat died.

The German Protestant church announced it planned to build a church in Dachau in memory of all victims of Nazism. The infamous camp is still inhabited by refugees. The Bavarian government and the town of Dachau have promised to build them new housing.

Russ Honeymooners Head for Orient

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union's honeymooning cosmonauts, Valentina Tereshkova and Andrian Nikolayev, left Moscow Saturday night for a tour of India, Nepal, Ceylon, Indonesia and Burma.

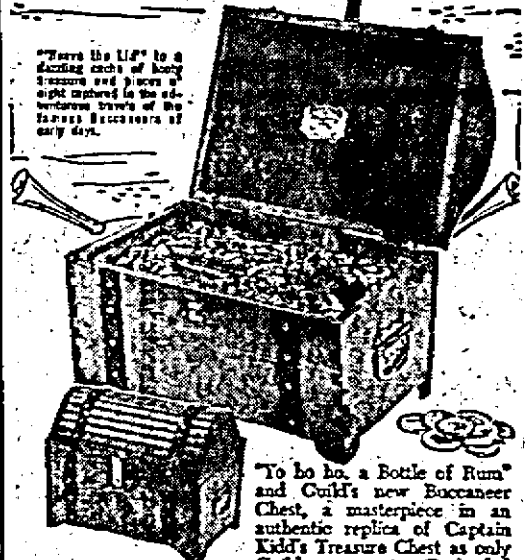

The couple was married in Moscow Nov. 3. Tass said they were accompanied by another cosmonaut, Valery Bykovsky, and his wife.

Recreation Center, 1490 California Ave.

Theme of the area conference is "Salute to Youth." Ernest Campbell, youth director, said the conference will begin with a luncheon and fashion show in the Lafayette. The evening ceremonies will begin at 7 p.m. and will conclude with a dance.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Rocky's Bid Opens 1964 Presidential Season

By SAM FOGG

The 1964 Republican presidential season opened formally last week with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York throwing the first hat into the ring.

Rockefeller's announcement that he would actively seek the GOP nomination started the political pot bubbling and meant that it will continue to boil for virtually a full year. The climax will come Nov. 3, 1964, when the U.S. electorate names its next president.

ADDING spice to the political cauldron were the results of off-year elections for state and municipal offices in which the Democrats scored victories and the Republicans showed significant gains.

The outcome of the Tuesday grass root's balloting in such key areas as Philadelphia, Kentucky, New Jersey, Indiana, Ohio, New York and San Francisco gave flavor to the traditional political game of interpreting what it might mean.

Rockefeller's long-expected entry into the presidential race was made with a strong note of challenge to two men he will have to beat if he is to move from the governor's mansion in Albany to the White House in Washington.

THEY WERE President Kennedy — the undoubted Democratic nominee for a second term — and Sen. Barry Goldwater, the unannounced, but front running Republican prospect from Arizona.

With the knowledge that he now holds underdog status because of his divorce and remarriage — coupled with his liberal Republican views — the New York governor immediately began campaigning in New Hampshire where the first of the presidential primaries will be held March 10.

NEW YORK GOVERNOR Nelson Rockefeller leads Dixieland band of Dartmouth students during opening of his "Rockefeller for President" headquarters in Concord, N. H., last week.

Goldwater, whose strong conservative views have won wide popular support among many Republicans, held his fire and showed no signs of plunging into the race for the moment.

HIS FOLLOWERS, however, continued confident that he would announce his candidacy sometime in January. They believe he was so far in front that Rockefeller would be unable to derail the Barry-for-president drive.

There was strong speculation during the week on developments on the international front, particularly about cat-and-mouse tactics being practiced by the Russians on the question of Allied military access to Red-encircled Berlin.

A confrontation between a U.S. military convoy and Soviet troops and armor at a West German border checkpoint lasted 41 hours. The Russians, as they had twice in the past, demanded that the U.S. soldiers dismount from their trucks for a head count. U.S. commanders in charge flatly refused on grounds such procedure would violate Allied rights to passage to free West Berlin.

Allied officials claimed victory in the showdown. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev blustered a bit that the United States was skirting on the edge of a warlike explosion.

AT WEEK'S end, Berlin remained a divided camp where the free and the Communist worlds stood only bayonet point apart.

On another cold war front, the United States conferred formal recognition on the new regime in South Viet Nam and set about rallying the people in the southeast Asian country to more vigorous military efforts against Red guerrilla forces.

There was a glimmer of hope that the new government which seized power in a coup from slain President Ngo Dinh Diem might spur the fighting there to a victorious effort.

President Kennedy had another serious cold war problem on his hands closer to home. The Senate, with a bipartisan bloc of critics taking command, was making mince-meat of his foreign aid program.

At issue was an authorization bill setting up the military and economic assistance program for the current fiscal year. Kennedy initially recommended a $4.5 billion authorization. The House slashed this by about $1 billion. The Senate thus far has reduced the proposed program to slightly above $3.7 billion with administration leaders agreeing to most of this in the hope of staying off deeper economies.

Even more vexing to the administration was a series of "rider" amendments which would limit or deny funds to such nations as Yugoslavia, Indonesia and Egypt. Secretary of State Dean Rusk accused Congress of "legislating foreign policy" by the restrictions.

KENNEDY, in a speech in New York City, strongly deplored the congressional attack on his program and warned that inadequate foreign aid could turn minor brush fire hostilities into wars of disastrous proportions.

On a brighter note, U.S. and Russian bargainers worked out an understanding that will open the way for the sale of surplus U.S. wheat to the Russians and their European satellites.

The shipments — which eventually may total $250 million — probably will get started in the next week or so.

Moonflight Hinges on New Rocket Engine

By RALPH DIGHTON

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A rocket engine only four feet high, but assigned a payload that includes U.S. hopes of military superiority in space, will get its first flight test in less than a year.

It's part of a rocket named Transtage, so called because it will transfer from orbit to orbit new spacecraft designed orbital stations, shuttling men and supplies between earth and space.

1. Inspect and if necessary, destroy strange and possibly hostile satellites.

2. Rescue stranded U.S. astronauts, or repair and re-launch their vehicles.

3. Carry cameras—possibly even bombs—over enemy territory.

4. Rendezvous with manned

TRANSTAGE is the first rocket in the United States, perhaps in the world, to provide the maneuverability necessary for long-dreamed-of military and scientific missions.

On the success of its new concepts hangs the Apollo moon project. The same engine, only larger, will power the Saturn-boosted service module that carries U.S. astronauts into lunar orbit, dispatches and collects their moon-exploring bug, then shoves them toward home.

Plans call for a 2-million-pound-thrust Titan 3 to blast the first Transtage into space from Cape Canaveral, Fla., in August 1964.

SIXTEEN MORE Titan 3-Transtage tests will follow, and in 10 of them the Transtage is to be topped by an X20. The first X20 flight is set for July, 1965. After two tests, the X20s will start carrying a pilot to orbital heights and back to land at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., home of the sub-orbital X15 rocket plane.

Unlike most rocket engines, which have hundreds or even thousands of working parts, the Transtage engine has but one — the valve which controls the flow of propellants into the burning chamber.

It needs no ignition system, no spark plug or starting cartridge, because the propellants are hypergolic — they catch fire when sprayed together into the burning chamber.

Burning stops when the flow of propellants is cut off to different fuels as they are developed.

resumes when the valve is opened.

D. N. LONDON, Transtage's program manager at Aerojet-General Corp., where the engine is made, says: "This is probably the simplest rocket engine ever built. In mass production, we expect to re-tail it for about $35,000. It can be clustered in almost any combination for increased thrust and longer-duration missions, and it can be adapted

London says Transtage's 11 tons of fuel makes it possible for a satellite weighing as much as 5,000 pounds to achieve a stationary orbit at a height of 22,000 miles. This is the altitude desired for future communications satellites. At that height they would seem to hover over a selected spot, such as mid-Atlantic, where they could relay messages back and forth between America and Europe.

Filipinos Will Vote Tuesday

MANILA (UPI)—More than 9 million Filipinos will vote in off-year national elections Tuesday following a colorful and dramatic campaign provided largely by the nation's two top leaders who are not running for office.

The principal posts at stake in the balloting are eight seats in the 24-member senate, 56 provincial governorships and 39 city mayorships.

The campaign issues all relate to domestic problems in this tropical island republic which has remained staunchly anti-Communist since it gained independence from the United States in 1946.

But the candidates themselves have been relegated to the sidelines by the two most active campaigners, President Diosdado Macapagal and Vice President Emmanuel Pelaez, who have been stumping the country as if they themselves were up for election.

THE ELECTION drama is heightened by the fact that Macapagal and Pelaez, although both members of the ruling Liberal Party, are campaigning for different tickets. Macapagal is pushing for the election of Liberal Party candidates, while Pelaez is campaigning for the opposition Nacionalista Party.

Macapagal and Pelaez, who ran and won as a team with the Liberal Party in the 1961 elections, parted political ways last July. Pelaez blamed Macapagal for widely publicized allegations linking Pelaez with the activities of deported American tycoon Harry Stonehill and resigned as foreign secretary.

Since then, Pelaez has switched his support to the opposition candidates. He has accused Macapagal of dictatorial tendencies and with tolerating graft and corruption within the government.

IN HIS campaign speeches around the country, Pelaez has claimed that only by strengthening the opposition's hand would the electorate be able to curb Macapagal's "dictatorship."

After weeks of silence, Macapagal fired back at Pelaez by calling him a do-nothing foreign secretary. He also said Pelaez was motivated by selfish reasons in his ambition to become president in 1965.

Team Delirious as Title Chances Soar

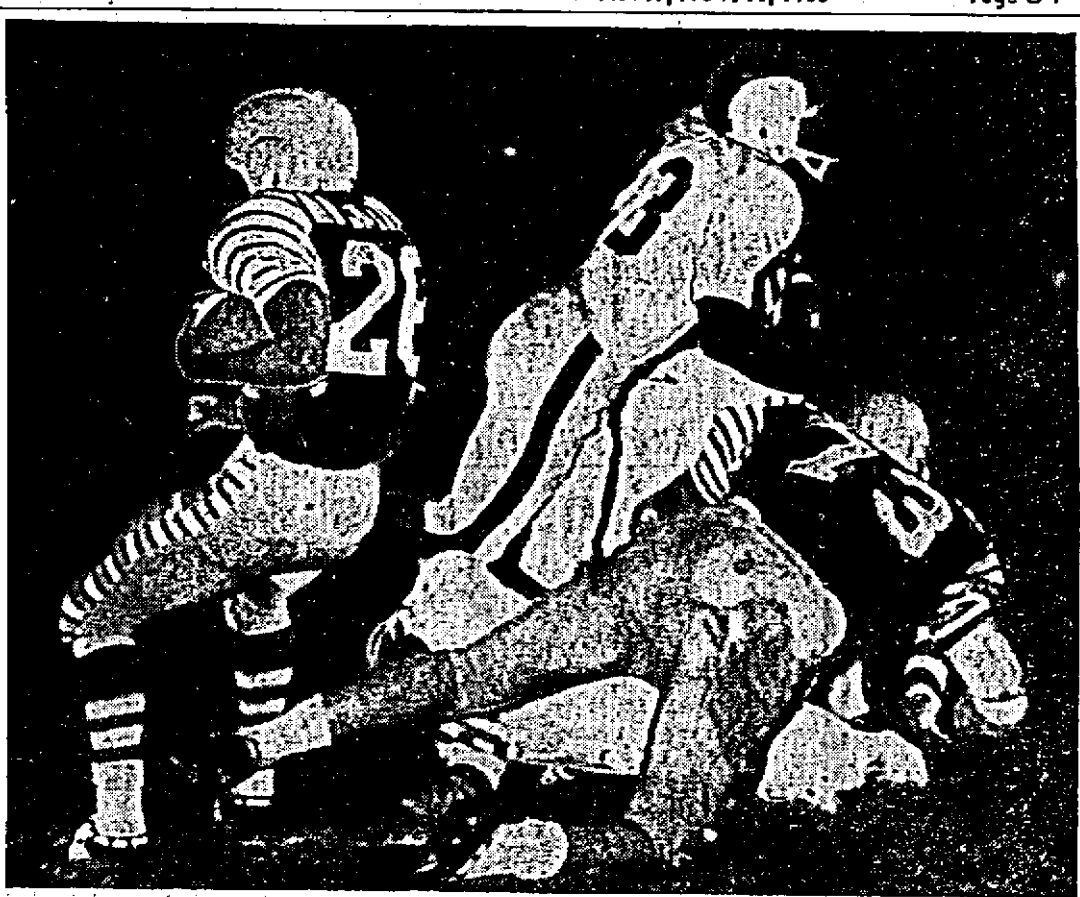

By AL LARSON
Long Beach State's brilliant defense produced five interceptions and two fumble recoveries as the 49ers kept in the CCAA title running by scoring a miracle 25-14 victory over Fresno State Saturday night at Veterans Stadium.
A crowd of 3,762 was delirious when Long Beach, a 10-point underdog, defeated the Bulldogs for the first time in their six-year feud.
Long Beach and San Diego State now are deadlocked in conference play with 3-1 records while Los Angeles State, a 49-0 winner over Cal Poly (SLO), is close behind with a 2-1 mark. The 49ers and L.A. meet next Saturday night in L.B.'s homecoming game.
The 49ers scored first in the opening quarter, fell behind 8-7 early in the second period, but came back with a touchdown and field goal to spurt ahead 18-8 at intermission. Neither scored in the third quarter, but Long Beach iced the game early in the last session when Dee Andrews danced 13 yards to hand Fresno its second league loss in a row. It marked the first time the Bulldogs had dropped conference games back-to-back since 1950.
If you think the crowd was happy, you should have seen the bedlam going on in the 49ers' dressing quarters. "We played a flawless game on offense," coach Don Reed shouted over a wild-eyed group of players. "When you don't commit a single fumble against a team as tough as Fresno, you know you've done a job."
Reed was quick to ask "have you ever seen a game like Otterson (Jerry) played?"
The 49ers' junior QB stole the show from the heralded Beau Carter, who went into the game as the CCAA's leading passer and Little All-America ratings in his hip pocket.
But the Fresno star had five of his aeriels picked off, three by Pat Brosnan, while Otterson connected on 7 of 16 for 93 yards—with no interceptions.
FIRST QUARTER
Long Beach grabbed a 7-0 lead with 2:33 remaining when Wayne Mickaelian capped a 33-yard drive by flashing the final five yards for the score.
The drive was set up when linebacker Joe Costanza picked off Beau Carter's pass and returned it 13 yards to the 33. From here it took L.B. only seven plays to negotiate the distance. Mickaelian slipped off tackle for 11 yards. After losing a yard, Little Wayne pulled in a short pass from Jerry Otterson in the left flat and peeled off 14 yards and another first down on Fresno's 7. Mickaelian took it to the five and on the next play took a quick pitch, and after breaking a tackle on the four, whirled into the end zone. Larry Womack converted.
By the time the first period had ended, Long Beach had picked up five first downs to Fresno's 1.
SECOND QUARTER
Long Beach's lead didn't stand up long as the Bulldogs took the following kickoff and smashed 63 yards in 14 plays. The big payoff came when halfback Eddie Miyamoto slipped away from two tacklers and barreled 18 yards for the TD. Going to the shotgun formation for the two-point conversion, Carter's pass to Jim Long forged

IT MUST BE INDIAN RASSLIN'
Stanford fullback Glenn Myers has firm grip on face mask of USC's Mike Garrett as he and Jack Lodato make stop after four-yard gain to USC 27. Infraction went undetected by officials.

Indian Errors Aid USC, 25-11

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor
If any crazier football games are played than the one in which USC and Stanford were involved Saturday in the Coliseum, Norwalk State Hospital better order more beds immediately.
USC scored a 25-11 victory, but—as 57,035 puzzled witnesses will admit—only because the Trojans registered a few less mistakes and boners than the kids from Palo Alto.
A capsuled version of the scoring will give an indication of how wild (and almost ridiculous) was this AAWU contest:
1. Stanford scored the first touchdown as a result of a Trojan fumble, then was helped to the bonus two points when USC was offside. Score: 8-0 Stanford.
2. Stanford notched a field goal two minutes later when USC fumbled the ensuing kickoff. Score at halftime: 11-0 Stanford.
3. USC gained its first touchdown after a bad pass from center that sailed over the Stanford punter's head. Stanford then was penalized for the conversion try and Fertig dropped the ball on Troy had its first eight points. Score at end of third quarter: 11-8 Stanford.
4. USC narrowed the gap to 11-10 on a play that will be discussed for months to come. On fourth down and the ball on Stanford's 11, the Indian punter grabbed the ball and trotted out of the end zone for a safety!
5. USC's winning touchdown was scored as a direct result of the free kick allotted Stanford following the safety, when Mike Garrett ran the kick back 41 yards to completely ruin coach John Ralston's strategy. Score with six minutes remaining: 17-11 USC.
6. The insurance Trojan touchdown came in the final 13 seconds after a pass interception... and the extra point was made following yet another Stanford penalty.
ADD THAT up for size... and you must reach the conclusion that both Ralston and John McKay are ready for those Norwalk beds right now.
Troy's tragedies began midway through the second period when quarterback Craig on the conversion try and Fertig dropped the ball on USC's 25 and Stanford fullback Tony DeLellis recovered there. Five plays later, DeLellis bulled through center for three yards, and presto, Stanford boasted a 6-0 edge.
Stanford got a bad center pass on its conversion try, but USC wasn't giving up that easily. The Trojans were offside and the Indians got another chance for the conversion, this time Steve Thurlow slipping off tackle for two points.
All wasn't over yet for Stanford as USC still had another big fumble play in its offensive bag of tricks. On the kickoff following the touchdown, back-of-the-game Garrett fumbled and the Indians gained possession on USC's 20.
THIS TIME the Northern Californians had to settle for a field goal as Braden Beck sailed one over the crossbars from 39 yards away.
The half ended 11-0 in Stanford's favor and the USC homecoming crowd already had McKay effigies all ready for the big necktie party around 4 p.m.
The next two quarters were a complete turnabout—the Big Red Machine from Palo Alto began making the crucial mistakes and Troy's fading national champions began to capitalize.
The wheel of fortune favored USC just five minutes into the third period when Stanford center Kent Colberg sent the ball into orbit over punter Dick Ragsdale's noggin. When the missile landed way back on Stanford's 24, USC had possession.
Mixing up his bread-and-butter combination of Willie Brown and Garrett, Fertig moved the ball in eight plays to Stanford's 6. Then McKay went into action by sending the ball into the end zone.
He mixed up Brown and Garrett in different fashion. Mike shotputting the oval into Willie's waiting arms in the end zone.
Clearly, the Indians were caught napping on the reservation. Fertig blew the two-

HE WENT THATAWAY
Fresno State's Herman Hamp (white jersey) seems to be running away from Long Beach ball carrier Dee Andrews (26) early in second quarter of CCAA clash. Marty Johnson (73) applies block which helped move Andrew to Bulldogs' four-yard line from where 49ers scored on next play.

Homer, LBCC on Rampage

By KEN PIVERNETZ
Bring on Cerritos and Bakersfield. Long Beach City College is ready!
The Vikings ran rampant over host El Camino Saturday night, 50-21, before a crowd of 9,500 at Murdock Stadium, witnessing one of LBCC's more devastating offensive shows in a long time.
And leading the way, as usual, was all-America fullback Homer Williams, who scored 26 points and gained 163 yards on 25 carries to become the school's all-time rushing and scoring leader.
Big Homer passed Dee Andrews' career total of 2,039 rushing yards and 170 points scored in the 1960-61 season in vaulting to the No. 1 spot.
The score could have been worse. After El Camino got off to a 7-0 lead, LBCC rolled up its 50 points in the next three quarters before giving up two harmless fourth-period scores to the Warriors.
Long Beach gained 372 yards rushing and added 73 passing for a net total of 445, while El Camino gained 177 overall.
Thanks to Cerritos' 23-24 win over Bakersfield, the victory put the Vikings on top of the league.

Air Force Bombs Bury Bruins

The Bruins apart this day. He the passing arm of third-string Saturday and he was less than successful. He completed four of 12 for 31 yards and turned in a wobbly effort both in the air and on the ground.
Unexplainably, the heretofore regular quarterback Larry Zeno, was used little. He was effective. He gained 47 yards on three pass connections, and 14 on two rushes. His first appearance was with 21 seconds left in the half. By that time the score was four touchdowns to one.
The Bruins, who have completely abandoned any attempt to run with the ball, threw 40 passes. They got 207 yards through the air, a mere 35 rushing. Forty passes is the most ever tried by a UCLA team. Eighteen completions is another school record, even better than the Bob Waterfield teams ever did.
THE BEST Bruin weapon was a screen pass. Sindell used it three times for major gains. The third time it got of 12 for 31 yards and turned in a wobbly effort both in the air and on the ground.

Unexplainably, the heretofore regular quarterback Larry Zeno, was used little. He was effective. He gained 47 yards on three pass connections, and 14 on two rushes. His first appearance was with 21 seconds left in the half. By that time the score was four touchdowns to one.
The Bruins, who have completely abandoned any attempt to run with the ball, threw 40 passes. They got 207 yards through the air, a mere 35 rushing. Forty passes is the most ever tried by a UCLA team. Eighteen completions is another school record, even better than the Bob Waterfield teams ever did.

Man to Man
HENRY

By JERRY WYNN
CHICAGO — His Ram teammates call him Rock because of his resemblance to Rock Hudson, opponents have tagged him Hollywood Mike and his coach has referred to him as Night Life.

But by any name, Mike Henry of the Rams leads an unusual double life. An outstanding middle linebacker in a game of physical violence, Henry also is an aspiring actor under contract to Warner Bros.

The 6-3, 230-pound Los Angeles native and USC alumnus, as distinguished by his pleasant personality as by his handsome looks, has appeared on television in such popular shows as 77 Sunset Strip, Cheyenne, Hawaiian Eye, and Surfside Six.

Do you take a ribbing, Mike, from the other players because of your acting career?

"Yes, but kidding never bothers me. When players like and respect you, they'll kid. When they stop, you have to worry."

The Rams as well as the Dodgers, Angels and Lakers have been referred to as "Hollywood" by players and writers in other cities. Is there anything to this?

"Nothing at all. I've heard it many times and it must be just jealousy. I guess they like our weather better and I don't blame them. A football player's life is the same everywhere. I know. I played four years in Pittsburgh."

Do you feel you are as mean and tough a linebacker as they have playing in Green Bay or Detroit?

"Yes, I know I am. Playing for the Rams is an added incentive because I want to live and work in the Los Angeles area. It's a good motivation to do your best."

Who do you consider to be the best linebacker today?

"One of my favorites and one of the best is John Reger of the Steelers. He doesn't have a big name, but ask anyone around the league how good he really is. The greatest defensive player I ever saw was Big Daddy Lipscomb. As a football player and a guy, I thought he was tops."

Who is the toughest runner for you to bring down?

"Jim Brown. I hate to join the chorus of hurrahs, but he is the greatest all-around runner in football."

Has Harland Svare, a former linebacker, been a help to your development?

"Very much so. He is a fine coach and has taught us a new system of defense which I think is the best. Instead of reacting to the play of the offense, we play defense by a system of keying to a play before it happens. You have to play defense offensively today."

Has being a football player helped your acting career?

"Yes and no. It helps to have your name known, but it is a hindrance to have some people think of you as a football player-actor instead of the other way."

Who are your favorite actors and actresses?

"I like Spencer Tracy and Anthony Quinn. They are what we might call in football old pros. My favorite actress is Maria Schell. She has inner beauty as well as outer beauty. I also will put a plug in for Maureen O'Hara. We worked together in Spencer's Mountain. She's one of my favorite people and a fine actress."

What has been the greatest thrill of your football career?

"Just that I've been able to play professional football. That was a life-long ambition and I've attained it."

When are the Rams going to have a winning team?

"It will come some day soon. I'll say within three years, we'll have a championship team. And when it comes, the nucleus of this team will be the reason. All we need is the right combination."

And when it comes, handsome Mike Henry will be one of the reasons.

Field Goal Decisive for Orange

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A 32-yard, fourth-period field goal by guard John Paglio enabled Syracuse to edge a stubborn West Virginia football team Saturday, 15-13.

A Mountaineers' gamble for a tie in the closing minutes failed when a conversion pass from quarterback Jerry Yost fell out of the hands of fullback Dick Leftridge. Left-ride had caught an eight-yard aerial from Yost for the touchdown.

Paglio's decisive field goal came at 4:32 of the final quarter after the ball had been moved from the 10 to the 15 because of a delay-of-game penalty.

The Orange moved ahead in the third quarter when halfback Mike Koski took a punt on the 34 and scampered 66 yards to score.

BEARS' TUNEUP

Lowly Rams Wade Into Monsters' Den

By JERRY WYNN

CHICAGO — Having completed their preparatory course at Blake's School For Boys, the Rams today invade Chicago's den of monsters, Wrigley Field.

Awaiting them there for a 11:05 (Southern California television time) kickoff will be the mighty Chicago Bears, pro football's Monsters of the Midway and the same team which mauled the Rams, 52-14, at the Coliseum last month.

So it comes as no surprise to find the Rams so lightly regarded that the game is being billed as a tuneup.

WYNN'S WINNER: Bears 30, Rams 17 for the Bears for their big game against the Green Bay Packers here next week. That game has been sold out for more than a month, and today's contest also will draw a capacity crowd of 43,000.

CHICAGO FANS HAVE A RIGHT to be frantic over the Bears these days. The team with the greatest winning tradition in the National Football League, Chicago hasn't won a championship since 1956. But the men of George Halas now are headed in that direction with a record of 7-1 and a share of the Western Division lead with Green Bay.

Moreover, the Bears hold the only victory over the Packers, their defense has become the terror of the league,

Television, Channel 2, 11:05 and they have an offense which makes up in short yardage tenacity what it may lack in long striking velocity.

And as it took the Rams four touchdowns to learn in their last game with the Bears, the Bill Wade-to-Mike Ditka passing combination rates with the greatest.

But as the Rams also know, Chicago can be had. This is not an overpowering team such as the Packers. The lowly San Francisco 49ers proved it when they caught the Bears hibernating three weeks ago and jabbed them with a 20-14 pitchfork.

COACH HARLAND SVARE no doubt referred to this game many times during the Ram practice sessions in Minneapolis. However, Halas isn't letting the Bears forget it either, and their drillfield battle cry this week was: "Remember San Francisco."

Svare also has in mind a few pitchforks of his own to spur his team out of its weekly Sunday third-quarter siesta.

If nothing else today, look for the Rams to come out snarling after the halftime intermission. Lineups:

Maryland Sunk by Jolly Roger & Mates, 42-7

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Roger Staubach and Skip Paskevich provided the offensive fireworks and Navy's defense did the rest Saturday as the fourth-ranked Middles crushed Maryland, 42-7.

Staubach scored two touchdowns and passed for one in turning in another spectacular job of quarterbacking before leaving the game early in the third quarter.

HIS SEVEN pass completions in 12 attempts tied a Naval Academy season record at 94 completions, with two games left. His 104 yards passing and 20 rushing boosted his total offense for the season to 1,544 yards.

Paskevich, a sprinter on the track team, turned in the most spectacular run of the day by racing 76 yards for a touchdown after intercepting a Dick Shiner pass. It was one of four pass interceptions by the Middles. The Navy defense also recovered three fumbles.

NAVY BROKE the game wide open with three touchdowns in the second quarter. Gary Kellner recovered a fumble to start one of the drives from the Maryland 43. Paskevich scored minutes later with his pass interception and Staubach led another charge with a 50-yard pass to Kellner and then tallied from the three.

PRINCETON SHOCKED BY HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Once-beaten Harvard throttled Princeton's potent running game Saturday and tumbled the Tigers from the nation's thinning unbeaten ranks in a stunning 21-7 Ivy League upset.

The Harvards, who two weeks ago shattered Dartmouth's longest-in-the-nation major college winning streak, were handing Big Three rival Princeton its first loss after six straight victories.

Princeton had been one of three major unbeaten teams in the country going into the game.

Kemp Heads Big Win for Bills, 27-17

BUFFALO (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills, steered by Jack Kemp's three touchdowns passes and a 14-yard scoring dash by the red-haired quarterback, created a three-way

Army team sent Stichweh into the line. He just made it.

Dick Heydt, Army's kicking specialist, missed three field goal attempts of 42, 32 and 45 yards before the Cadets finally pulled it out.

It was the seventh win in eight starts for Army which still has Pittsburgh and Navy ahead.

log-jam atop the American Football League's Eastern Division Saturday night with a 27-17 victory over the Denver Broncos.

The triumph before 30,989, Buffalo's third straight and fifth in six games, gave the Bills a 5-4 record and moved Lou Saban's team into a deadlock with Boston and Houston. It marked the first time in Buffalo's four-year, AFL history that the Bills climbed so high in the standings, and was the first home win over Denver in four years.

Illini Dreams End on Bonehead Play

By JERRY WYNN
L. P. T. Staff Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — The days of wine and roses ended for Illinois Saturday.

Ranked No. 2 in the nation, the fighting Illini had their Big 10 title and Rose Bowl dreams shattered by Michigan's alert Wolverines, 14-8, before 55,818 at Memorial Stadium.

It was the fourth time Michigan coach Bump Elliott and Illinois coach Pete Elliott had engaged in fratricidal battle, and the fourth time Pete got bumped. But for Pete's sake, this was by far the most unbrotherly cut of them all.

THE DEFEAT was the first of the season for the Illini, yet it practically eliminates them from contention in the conference race which shows Ohio State and Michigan State dead-locked for the lead. If Michigan State beats Illinois in their game at East Lansing, Nov. 23, the Spartans will go to the Rose Bowl.

Illinois was ahead of Michigan, 8-7, with less than 10 minutes to play Saturday when it came up with a bonehead play which cost them the game. It was a wide pitch-out attempt from their own 13. Halfback Jim Warren fumbled and John Rowser recovered for Michigan on the Illinois 11.

The battling Wolverines barely made a first down on the one on an extra-effort sneak by talented quarterback Bob Timberlake, and scored on the next play when fullback Mel Anthony cracked into the end zone. Frosty Evashevski converted and Michigan had its winning margin.

Since Illinois' strength is in the power thrusts of fullbacks Jim Grabowski and Al Wheatland behind the blocks of all-America center Dick Butkus, the call for the far pitchout was plenty far out.

Michigan dominated the first half and took a 7-0 lead on a 56-yard, 12-play second quarter drive capped by a three-yard touchdown run by halfback Dick Rindfuss.

ILLINOIS GOT its attack rolling in the third quarter and moved 93 yards in 16 plays in a blitzkrieg advance highlighted by the running and receiving of third-string halfback Ron Fearn. Wheatland scored on a plunge from the 1.

Here, Pete Elliott took a wild gamble and succeeded. Instead of sending in his sure-footed extra point kicker, Jim Plankenhorn, he elected to try for the two-point conversion. Quarterback Mike Taliaferro ran it over on a rollout option for an 8-7 advantage.

Rams' offensive coach Don Heinrich scouted the game, but was more impressed by the bulldog play of Butkus than of any of the backs. "It's too bad he's a junior," he observed. "He could be playing in our league right now."

Neither team could cross midfield under its own power in the first half. Michigan scored, and another fumble in the third quarter set up Michigan State's first touchdown. The Spartans put the game out of reach with two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Buckeye Gamble Misses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Penn State capitalized on a missed first down gamble by Ohio State in the third quarter and Ron Coates kicked a 23-yard field goal that produced a 10-7 upset of the 10th-ranked Buckeyes Saturday.

With the score 7-7 in the third quarter, the ground-eating Ohioans needed only one-half yard for a first down on their own 49, but a line plunge failed and the Nittany Lions, with some sensational passing by quarterback Pete Liske, moved to the Buckeye six. Then Coates booted a 23-yard field goal for the conquest.

PENN STATE, now 6-2, gave Ohio the same opportunity in the second period, surrendering the ball on downs on their own 46. Eight plays later Paul Warfield lunged five yards for a touchdown but that was Ohio's dying gasp.

In the second half, in six attempts with the ball, the hosts failed to reach Penn State territory.

CATS BADGERED

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Harold Brandt, who had given up his starting quarterback role to Dave Fronek, came off the bench in the fourth period Saturday to lead defending Big Ten champion Wisconsin to a come-from-behind 17-14 victory over Northwestern.

The Badgers, plagued by six fumbles and two interceptions through the first three periods, rolled 89 yards for a touchdown midway through the fourth quarter to tie the score 14-14 and then, with less than two minutes to play, Fronek booted a 27-yard field goal for the victory in the Wisconsin homecoming game.

Northwestern had led twice in the game up to that point — 7-0 on a 20-yard pass from Tom Myers to tackle Tom Ziemke, who had lined up as an end, and 14-7 on Willie Stinson's 63-yard run from scrimmage with less than two minutes played in the second half.

Spartans Take Inside Track to Roses, 23-0

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Michigan State threw a blanket over Purdue's aerial offensive and converted two Boilermaker fumbles into scores as it beat Purdue 23-0 Saturday.

The victory, coupled with the Illinoi loss to Michigan, gave the Spartans sole possession of first place in the Big Ten and made MSU the favorite for a Rose Bowl date, probably with Washington.

Michigan State had great difficulty moving against the supposedly loose Purdue defense in the first half and led only 3-0 at halftime on a 28-yard field goal by Earl Latimer.

A PURDUE fumble had opened the way for that score, and another fumble in the third quarter set up Michigan State's first touchdown. The Spartans put the game out of reach with two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Neither team could cross midfield under its own power in the first half. Michigan ready for Michigan State's scathback, Sherm Lewis, but they got a free lesson early. On the third play of the game he slipped off tackle and went all the way from the Michigan State 35-yard line, but a penalty for illegal procedure nullified the run.

LEWIS NEVER got loose like that again, but he set up two touchdowns with good runs. He drove 30 yards to the one-yard line in the second quarter and carried 14 yards to the Purdue four in the fourth period. Roger Lopez scored both times on one-yard plunges.

State got the ball in Purdue territory twice on a pass interception and a fumble recovery and drove to the Purdue 12-yard line for the field goal attempt.

LATE STRIKES BY HUSKERS RIP KANSAS

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska retaliated with two quick touchdowns, after Gale Sayers sped 89 yards for a Kansas touchdown, and rolled to a 23-9 Big Eight football triumph over the Jayhawks Saturday.

Sayers came in as Nebraska's first star, and he lived up to the first half. Gary Duff's conversion kick missed and Kansas trailed 10-9.

Minutes later, an eight-yard touchdown run by Willie Ross, his first touchdown of the season, put Nebraska on safer ground.

LSU Trounces Frogs

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Sophomores Joe Labruzzo and Donald Schwab galloped through the Texas Christian University line Saturday night to give Louisiana State a 28-

14 come-from-behind victory. Labruzzo, a 5-9, 170-pound halfback, scored three touchdowns in the second half on three, 10 and 45-yard runs. Schwab, a 190-pound fullback, scored LSU's first touchdown in the opening minutes of the game with a 45-yard run through the middle of the TCU line.

L.A. 'Out' for Title Fight

The manipulating taking place to get the Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay fight "on the road" certainly will have a prominent place in any discussions of high finance in sports during the years to come.

Just where the bout will be held next February is still a guess. Best bets are still Las Vegas or Miami... possibly Denver.

Los Angeles? Any possibility of the fight held in California depends on whether a majority of the five members of the state athletic commission have changed their personal feelings of a year ago.

At that time, overtures were made to hold the Liston-Floyd Patterson bout in Los Angeles, but a poll of the commission indicated great disapproval.

What would Sonny have to do to satisfy the California commission to the point where they would issue him a license is not exactly simple, at least in Liston's particular case.

Even before Liston and Clay officially signed for the fight the past week, numbers of the California Athletic Commission received feelers as to just what Sonny had to do in order to get a license.

The conditions imposed appear to have ruled out the fight in California.

It is said that Liston will never fight in California unless his "books" are made available to the commission and pass a rigid inspection.

This means he must lay out his income tax returns and records that would reveal how his purses have been split.

IF HE DOES THIS and the commission finds everything in order, it would sanction the bout for Los Angeles. But as one boxing man says... "I doubt if Sonny could tell you how his purses are split."

Any fight on the purse splits, of course, might prove Sonny's reputed underworld backing.

And that's the real issue behind the license in California for the champion. Very few people believe Liston has severed all connections with his former associates... as he claims.

In the meantime, a powerful foe of the Liston-Clay fight could possibly prevent it being held in California even if the commission should approve it.

He is Sol Silverman, a San Francisco attorney whom Governor Brown appointed to head a state committee on safeguards for professional boxing after the tragic death of lightweight champion Davey Moore last winter.

Silverman, who has the complete backing of the governor, labels the Liston-Clay fight "a dangerous mismatch." He adds that... "not even Joe Louis, now negotiating for the promotion of the match, thinks Clay has any chance."

INCIDENTALLY, IT IS HEARD along Cauliflower Alley that Liston and his advisor, Jack Nilon, would only consider a California bout with Louis as the promoter.

Why? First of all, Liston and Louis have become good friends in the past few months; secondly, Louis' wife, an attorney, handles some legal matters for Sonny, and third and most important reportedly is that the Liston-Nilon combine would like to use the popular Louis as a "front" for Intercontinental Promotions, Inc.

Intercontinental Promotions IS Liston. He's president of the Pennsylvania corporation. The other officers are Nilon's two brothers.

The setup would make Liston the first fighter in history to promote his own fights.

Intercontinental's first venture was to be a Liston-Clay bout this month in Philadelphia's huge Municipal Stadium.

Plans fell through when the Pennsylvania boxing commission surprisingly stepped in and refused to recognize Intercontinental as a legal promotional group after Nilon had thought he had everything set.

WITH THE CALIFORNIA commission's attitude being what it is, several top boxing figures still feel that Vegas ultimately will get the bout.

Furthermore, they think Vegas is the ideal site for the bout.

For one thing, the most important phase of the promotion will be the ancillary rights... namely pay-TV, which will produce an estimated gross gate of from $8 to $10 million.

A TV ban in Vegas, surrounded by hundreds of miles of desert, wouldn't affect the gate... but the usual 300-mile blackout definitely would hurt if the bout was held in Los Angeles.

A Vegas group has offered a $550,000 guarantee of a "live" gate as against a million in Los Angeles, but since the TV "take" in Southern California would amount to more than a live gate, the promotion would "lose" anywhere from a half-million to a million by shutting out the Southland's huge television market.

MEANWHILE, NILON HAS BEEN in Vegas the past week huddling with Mel Greb and Jack Doyle—the two local promoters under whose license Intercontinental Promotions would have to stage the fight if it is held in the Nevada resort center. Greb terms the situation "favorable."

Sonny himself was also in Vegas on another of his frequent visits to "Fun Town" over the weekend. For a man who said he hated the place while training for the Patterson fight, Liston certainly has been spending a lot of time there... a couple, sometimes three, trips a month.

Panthers Prance Past Notre Dame, 27-7

SOUTH BEND (AP)—Half-back Paul Martha's 82-yard touchdown ramble on a kick-off return and the passing and running of Fred Mazurek led eighth-ranked Pitt to a 27-7 victory over Notre Dame Saturday.

Martha's great run came on the kickoff following Notre Dame's only touchdown. Notre Dame, suffering its fifth loss against two victories, held a 7-6 advantage after John Meyer blocked Dick Leeson's attempted conversion, but from there on in Pitt took charge and rolled to its sixth victory in seven games.

The Panthers went ahead 12-7 with a second-quarter touchdown, keyed by Eric Crabtree's 45-yard punt return to the Irish 25. Mazurek then took over and flipped a seven-yard pass to Martha and an 11-yard pass to Joe Kuzneski before Leeson bowled over from the one-yard line.

PITT PUT the game beyond reach in the third quarter. Leeson intercepted a Notre Dame pass and on the next play Mazurek hit Martha with a 40-yard pass to the Irish 10. Mazurek then ran over for the touchdown and the senior quarterback faked an extra point kick and ran over for two more points.

Leeson's 12-yard run (kick failed).
 Mazurek 10 run (Mazurek run).
 Crabtree 45 punt (Lucas line).

NORMAN (AP)—Sixth-ranked Oklahoma spotted Iowa State a pair of touchdowns Saturday, then rallied for a 24-14 Big Eight Conference football victory.

The scrappy Cyclones raced to a 14-0 lead in the second quarter, driving in after recovering a Sooner fumble on the Oklahoma 14-yard line.

Oklahoma made it 17-14 on George Jarman's 23-yard field goal from an extreme angle, and capped its scoring when Virgil Boll picked off a Cyclone pass and raced 46 yards down the sideline for a touchdown.

The Cyclones held Grisham, who ranked ninth nationally in rushing, to 64 yards in 15 carries. His only lone gain was a 35-yard burst in the fourth quarter.

Oklahoma, aided by a 34-yard gain on a pass interception call, drove 70 yards late in the second period for its only score before intermission.

 The Sooners wasted no time tying the game in the second half. On Iowa State's second play, Gene Condren recovered a wild pitchout on the Iowa State 17. Fullback Jim Grisham bulled over from the one seven plays later.

SALTON CITY

Southland Pair Sets '500' Pace

By DAVE TAYLOR

Rudy Ramos' celebrated world record holding dragster, Golden Thing, and Willis Wilson's U-69 finished Saturday's running of the $23,000 Salton City '500' neck-and-neck in front of a field of 80 of the world's fastest speedboats.

Golden Thing, piloted by Doug Fowler of North Hollywood, and U-69, driven by Wilson, also of Hollywood, finished 74 laps of the 125-lap 500-mile before a crowd of 25,000 fans who packed the stands at the desolate desert community. Both boats are powered by Ford engines.

Saturday's racing saw all but 30 of the 80 boats which started drop out before the 3:30 p.m. finishing gun. The race is run over a four-mile triangular course.

Chuck Merserau of Miami, former Long Island marathon champion and Alaska-Seattle marathon champion, leads the fleet of 40 outboard racers.

Also short of luck was Long Beach's Mickey Thompson, the famed auto racer, who suffered a burned hand when a cup of gasoline he was holding caught fire. Thompson picked up 48 laps Saturday and will reportedly be in the finals today.

MERSERAU had 68 laps to his credit at finishing time Saturday while Bob Ogle of Fullerton and Colorado River marathon king Jack Oxley of Long Beach were tied for second with 65 laps each.

Oxley emerged as the man to watch in the outboard running with a consistent speed far exceeding any of his competitors. He was held up Saturday by persistent engine trouble.

Bolt, Rookie in Sinatra Tie

PALM SPRINGS (UPI)—Tommy Bolt, who fired two eagles in a four-under-par 67 round, and Frank Beard, a young Kentuckian, tied for the lead after 54 holes of the $50,000 Frank Sinatra Open.

The 45-year-old Bolt sank an eight-iron shot for an eagle two on the par-four 15th hole, and then on the 17th sank a 15-foot putt for an eagle three.

TRIOUBLED' BUFFS BOW TO MISSOURI

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Missouri took a host of Colorado University troubles, gave their good luck to sophomores Gary Lane and Ken Boston, and turned them into a 24-7 Big Eight Conference win Saturday.

Lane quarterbacked the Tigers to all four touchdowns, scoring three himself, one a 69-yard run. Boston scored the other touchdown.

Each Missouri touchdown came after Colorado bumbles or had breaks, one in each quarter. The first came after pass interference, the second after a bad Buffalo punt, the third after CU missed a first down by an inch, and the fourth following a CU fumble on a fair catch.

Hoosiers Nudge Oregon St., 20-15

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI)—Bruising fullback Tom Nowatzke, a 220-pound junior from Michigan City, did about everything here Saturday to lead Indiana to a 20-15 victory over Oregon State before 25,895 homecoming fans.

Nowatzke, also the Hoosiers' big man in their 24-6 conquest of Minnesota last week, picked up 134 yards on 27 carries, kicked two field goals to set a school record for one season with four and booted two extra points. He scored one touchdown and intercepted a pass that stopped a Beaver march at the IU 15.

But it almost was not enough as the Beavers near-

SEARS PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

Every Sears tire is guaranteed against all failures (no limit of any kind as long as there is tread on it). If it fails for any reason during this guarantee period, return it to our nearest retail or mail order store and we will, at our option, repair it without cost to you—or in exchange for the tire, replace it with a new tire, charging only for the tread wear.

In addition, we guarantee the life of the tread of each tire for a given monthly period. If the tread wears out before the time period expires, an extra set dollar allowance will be given on the purchase of a new tire of similar kind. The extra allowance is a reduction from the current exchange price (regular retail price plus Federal excise tax less trade-in at time of return).

LAST BIG WEEK to WIN an AVANTI 1964 Studebaker

GRAND PRIZE

Who Can Win. Sears ALLSTATE Tire customers will receive an official entry blank with each new ALLSTATE Tire purchased from October 14th through November 16th, 1963. One entry blank for each tire.

Store Prizes, too. Entries in each participating Sears retail store will be judged separately for individual store prizes. Store prize will be your choice of a set of 4 new ALLSTATE tires or on a $100 Sears Gift Certificate.

"ALLSTATE Tires are your best buy because..." In 25 Words or Less!

GRAND PRIZE WINNER. The Studebaker Avanti will be awarded to the small store winner whose entry is judged the best among all those competing in this area. Then the GRAND PRIZE WINNER will also be a STORE PRIZE WINNER.

How to qualify. Visit your local Sears retail store. Enter the ALLSTATE Tire Contest, and learn the winning entry and performance power for ALLSTATE Guardsmen Nylon Tires. Purchase your ALLSTATE Tires and get your entry blank.

Contest of skill. Enter the Contest by completing the contest questionnaire at direction. Entries will be carefully judged for appropriateness, freshness, clarity and accuracy by the Robson H. Donnelly Corp.

Playhouse Scores With Tale of Battle for Woman's Vote

By SAMUEL A. BOYEA
A funny thing happened at the opening of the Community Playhouse "Diamond Jubilee" production. Right after the champagne they served up a comedy, "Strange Bedfellows." A comedy with a social message. Although this Playhouse was built on comedies in which never was heard a discouraging or disturbing thought, the new presentation did not seem to cause any social heartburn or even a bellicose banker's burp.

Gales of laughter punctuated the presentation of this tale of yesterday's "sit-ins"—the bloomer brigade of the women's suffrage movement.

Then for added effect he builds a finely primitive confrontation scene between two potentially fine actors, worthy of more challenging material. The pair, highly photogenic, Claudine Atkinson (Clarissa Blynn Cromwell), and a Clark Gable brute of a man, Patrick Phelan (husband Mather Cromwell), capture the nights best sustained moment in a scene in which the husband convinces the wife—after a physical struggle—that a woman's heart comes before a woman's vote. Phelan's skillful playing here was a surprise. During the first half of the night he could not make up his mind whether to be Senator Claghorn or Jumpin' Joe McCarthy—quite a spiritual gap, rather. But in the scene with lovely Claudine he shows he has raw power and in the theater power does not corrupt; it captivates.

Gil Davis as Senator Cromwell and a sure professional, Kathryn Offill, as his razor-tongued wife, Julia, vie with Miss Atkinson and Pat Phelan for the top honors.

As their married daughter, Darline Chaffee (Addie Cromwell Hampton) is a spiritual chip of her father. She accepts the second vice-presidency of the National Association Opposed to the Further Extension of Suffrage to Women. The conflict with her sister-in-law Clarissa, the leader of the suffragettes, adds to the play's interest. Miss Chaffee plays the part quite well and as her husband, Nicky Hampton, Mark Atkinson caricatures the British so scorchingly that the next knock on his door might well be from Prime Minister Home (as in For WHOM The Bells Toll).

BUT THERE is sparkplug Larry Johns, the Y. A. Tittle (with hair) of local resident directors, to pull off the Muse to one side and grab a saving "trick." In "Strange Bedfellows" he surmounts stumbling blocks by bolstering the

Aja Zanova, two-time world's figure skating champion, appears in the Ice Capades show opening in the Long Beach Arena Nov. 19.

Olympic, Canada, N.A. Ice Champs Skate Here

Barbara Wagner and Bob Paul, voted the world's greatest athletes after they skated far off ahead of any other competitors with the Olympic Games Pair Championship, will be seen for the first time in Long Beach when the Ice Capades opens an eight-performance engagement at the Arena Nov. 19.

This twosome holds not only the Olympic title, but five successive Canadian and two successive North American crowns. Barbara and Paul captured blue ribbon honors in every competition entered during the three years prior to their joining Ice Capades.

They have been skating together for ten years. But just eleven years ago, they lived just a few blocks apart in Toronto, unknown to each other.

Barbara and Bob started taking instructions under the same pro at a Toronto rink, Sheldon Galbraith, himself a former ice show veteran. Galbraith was struck by their similar style and inspired them to team up.

Magnolia Theater Tryouts Today

Tryouts for Magnolia Theater's production of "A Shot in the Dark" will be held at 2 p.m. today and 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Theater, 2400 Magnolia Ave.

Pat Brown will direct the comedy-mystery. Casting call is for two leading lady types and three mature men. Paula Talbot, wife of TV's Lyle Talbot, will star.

Crosby Has a Tiger by the Tail

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bing Crosby is successful—and he loves nothing better than to fish, hunt and play golf. So why does he undertake a busy season of television, spectaculars and movies. At 59, why doesn't he quit?

"Does a man walk out on responsibilities that have piled up around him—the people, the physical responsibilities that a man accumulates in a lifetime," he asks.

"A man in my position has a tiger by the tail. I can't let go."

TO SING

Anne Barrows, contralto, will appear in recital Nov. 19, 8:30 p.m., at Petroleum Club, 3636 Linden Ave., under auspices of Long Beach Chapter, Executives Secretaries Inc. Of increasing prominence in Southern California music circles, her program will include songs in Italian, French, German and English. Vernon Overmyer, well-known pianist, will be the accompanist. Gardner Roth will be the violinist. Tickets are on sale at Humphrey's Music Store, Morey's Music Store and can be purchased night of recital at Petroleum Club.

Ship Hosts 55 Youth at Services

A group of 55 young people, members of California Heights Methodist Church, is scheduled to tour a Long Beach-based destroyer and attend religious services with members of the crew this evening.

Cmdr. Robert M. Berry, commanding officer of the USS Cowell, invited the high school and college-age church members to visit the ship. They will be guests of the Cowell officers and men who will conduct a guided tour of the destroyer prior to evening services.

Lt. Charles R. Ward, chaplain for Destroyer Division 132, is coordinator for the visit. Chaplain Ward will conduct the services for personnel of the division and the guests.

Following the services, the church group will be served refreshments in the destroyer's mess.

L.A. Schools to Open Racial Affairs Office

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles City School System will open an office of urban affairs Tuesday to deal with racial issues, school dropouts and grievances against minority group employees or students.

The Board of Education established the office on recommendations of the board's special committee on equal education opportunity.

What hasn't happened to U.S. Savings Bonds?

They've been stolen and thrown into a river. Mistakenly left in an oven and baked at 400°. Hidden in a cookie jar and eaten full of holes by hungry beetles. Forgotten in a pair of work pants and washed, bleached and spin dried. Cut into tiny pieces by an irate wife. Gnawed by mice, and gobbled up by goats.

Yet, in spite of all these misfortunes, these Bonds weren't lost to their owners. They didn't even stop growing in value.

The Treasury Department keeps a record on microfilm of every Savings Bond sold. So every bond that's lost, destroyed or stolen can be replaced. The service is free.

The safety is just one of the many reasons why U.S. Savings Bonds are the most widely held securities in the world. Another good reason why you should invest in Bonds is the important job they can do right now in making America safer from the enemies of freedom.

Review of New Bullock's Lakewood

THIS JUST-RELEASED ARCHITECT'S RENDERING shows how new Bullock's Lakewood store will appear when it is completed in mid-1965 in Lakewood Center. Designed by Welton Becket and Associates, the four-story and basement structure will express elegance through simplicity of exterior design. It will be faced by two shades of textured shell brick. Interior design is currently under way in the Becket offices and will call for elaborate and luxurious settings. The store will be erected at a cost of $7,000,000 including the land.

BULLOCK'S LAKEWOOD TOPS LIST

Stores Expanding in Area

By KEN CHILCOTE
Business Editor

With this area considered one of the best in the nation for retail sales, outstanding expansions of major retail outlets soon will be announced in Downtown Long Beach, Los Altos and Lakewood.

The expansions will see major stores either constructing large new facilities or greatly enlarging the ones now occupied.

Most of the developments are beyond the planning stage and details for many of them will be announced within the next 30 days.

LEADING THIS VAST new retail growth was the recent announcement of Bullock's coming to Lakewood Center with a huge new store at an estimated cost of $7,000,000, including the land.

To be located on the west side of Clark Avenue, about half way between Del Amo Boulevard and Hardwick Street, the four-story and basement structure is designed to be one of the most elegant on the interior in the Southland. Simplicity of design will keynote the exterior.

Construction on the 265,000 square foot store will begin early next year. Plans are now being checked by the Lakewood City Planning Commission as to the ground layout and parking facilities.

TWO MAJOR PROJECTS are set for Downtown Long Beach, both awaiting completion of architect's plans and Building Department approval.

One involves a major expansion of a leading department store, in which adjacent structures will be taken over as the store will add some major departments.

The other will be the complete remodeling of a long vacant downtown corner building into a major bank structure with four-story parking facilities next door.

In Los Altos, where an expansion program has been continuous the past year, the shopping center not only will see many new structures erected in the coming months but some of the present buildings will be expanded by the addition of one or two floors.

CONSTRUCTION is to start soon at Los Altos Center, located at Stearns Street and Bellflower Boulevard, on a seven-acre development which will see such

Big Huntington Beach Project Gets Backing

By BOB GEIVET

HUNTINGTON BEACH — A combine of internationally-known firms is now aligned with the Huntington Beach Co. in its planning, designing and financing of multi-million dollar improvements to the company's vast acreage on the city's west side.

Into the major development program have come the Starwood Corp. of New York, a financial consulting firm dealing with complex projects in venture capital; the Royal Street Corp. of New Orleans, a subsidiary company set up as a building firm; Curtis and Davis, architects and engineers of New York and New Orleans; and the land planning firm of Harman, O'Donnell and Henninger, of Denver.

ALL WILL PUT key representatives in the field this week, to begin their part of planning the Huntington Beach Co. projects.

Field headquarters will be built at 2110 Main St., adjoining the Huntington Beach Co. ranch offices.

New Ralphs Market Set

Ralphs supermarket chain has announced plans to build a new store at 10th Street and Cherry Avenue, Long Beach.

The structure is expected to be ready for occupancy next March. When it is completed, the present store building at the corner will be demolished.

The new 24,000-square-foot building is being designed by Leach, Cleveland & Associates of Los Angeles. It will be of split-face concrete block, with terrazzo floors, and will be air conditioned.

stores as Barker Bros., Thrifty Drug, Glendale Federal Savings & Loan and Foreman and Clark as occupants.

At Lakewood Center, final plans are in New York awaiting approval on a 165,000 square foot building for a nationwide retail store; and plans are nearly complete on a 30,000 foot structure for a leading California clothing firm.

It is known that Joseph K. Eichenbaum, head of the Lakewood Center development firm, is negotiating with some nationally known, high fashioned ready-to-wear stores for a new mall development.

Plans are complete for development of a big Cinema theater in the center.

A NEW MASS MARKET for top retail sales has developed throughout this area, according to several surveys made by national agencies. Such surveys were used by some of the major concerns now coming into the area.

Sales Management, the magazine of marketing, stressed how the area has become a center of the rising middle income group and the impact of this group will be all-pervasive in touching upon sales strategies, advertising appeals, price lines, store locations and product demand.

The magazine listed 50 metropolitan markets with the largest number of "middle wealthies" or families with incomes of $15,000 and up, and the list showed the Long Beach metropolitan area rated second in the nation.

BUILDERS NOTED the gain in the better income group months ago and began building more homes in the $20,000 to $35,000 class and found a ready market for them.

Sales Management pointed out that top income producers, geographically speaking, tend to bunch up in large clusters. Hence, the rapid success in sales of the high priced homes.

And those homes, plus the new costly high-rise apartments in the Long Beach area, are bringing into the area the better income group, hence the growth of the retail market and the better grade of retail outlets.

HUNTINGTON BEACH Co. will have access to a strong financially-based institution and some of the finest land-planning, architectural and building talent in America today.

Starwood and Royal Street Corp. are headed by Edgar B. Stern Jr. The concerns financed and built the Royal Orleans Hotel in New Orleans and are finishing a $50 million medical complex in West Berlin. The architectural and land planning firms also were involved in those projects.

Hartsook said that the Victor Gruen Associates of Los Angeles, land planners and designers; and Quinton Engineers, Ltd., of Long Beach, will continue in a consulting capacity with Huntington Beach Co.

Lyle Huggins is the new president of the California Association of Insurance Agents, the first Long Beach man to have been elected to this office. Installation was held at the annual convention of the association at the Hotel del Coronado, San Diego, with Stafford R. Grady, commissioner, California Department of Insurance, as the installing officer.

Huggins, a former president of the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Long Beach, was also honored by the local group who gave him a special hand-made gavel and an antique French telephone. Presentation was made by Art Ebricht, president of the local group.

HUGGINS HAS SERVED on the CAIA board of directors since 1958, becoming secretary-treasurer of the association in 1962 and vice president last year. He owns and operates the Lyle Huggins Insurance Agency in Long Beach.

Huggins is a board member of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, a past president of the Long Beach Masonic Club, Travelers' Aid Society, and Community Volunteer Office. He is secretary-treasurer of the Long Beach Community Chest and a member of Kiwanis International. He lives at 5530 Anaheim Road.

Other Long Beach agents who attended the CAIA con-

Head of U.S. National Bank and Westgate to Address Jubilee Event

C. Arnholt Smith, president and chairman of the board of the United States National Bank, and president of Westgate California Corporation, will be featured speaker at the Long Beach Diamond Jubilee Industry Day luncheon Thursday.

During the day commerce and industry in Long Beach will be showcased with events to spotlight companies and individuals who have contributed to the city's economic growth.

The luncheon will be held in the Empire Room of the Edgewater Inn Marina Motel, 6400 E. Pacific Coast Highway, beginning at 12:15 p.m.

"AS CHIEF executive for the two organizations, Smith oversees a total operation of more than 1,200 employees and combined resources of more than $292,000,000," said Fred Dean, Industry Day committee chairman.

Smith has an intimate knowledge and appreciation for the mutual problems and interests of business, industry and the community, and is one of the most prominent exponents of free enterprise to appear this year in the Long Beach area.

C. A. SMITH
Speaks Thursday

Since its expansion program began in 1930, the U.S. National Bank has grown from a single branch in San Diego to a 23-branch system with offices in the five key counties of San Diego, Orange, Riverside, Los Angeles and San Bernardino.

IN THE last five years, deposits have risen from $108,000,000 in 1958 to $203,000,000 in 1962.

In addition to stock holdings in the U.S. National Bank, Westgate California Corporation owns all buildings and prime business property of 25 of the U.S. National Bank's branches.

Westgate also has extensive holdings in real estate, agriculture, food products, transportation and financial investment.

16 Cities Included in New South Coast Industrial Council

Formation of the South Coast Industrial Development Council, representing 16 communities, was announced the past week.

Neil Fitzgerald, past president of the Lakewood Chamber of Commerce and head of its Industrial Development Committee, is chairman of the new council.

Fitzgerald, a Union Development Company executive, was elected to a one-year term during a recent meeting in Paramount that included adoption of the council's organizational policy and objectives.

He stated one of the group's primary objectives will be improved communication and establishment of a problem-solving environment that could increase the effectiveness of local industrial development programs.

"WE ALSO HOPE that by getting to know each other better we can substantially improve our abilities as salesmen for the entire South Coast region," Fitzgerald said.

Council membership includes Chamber of Commerce presidents and Industrial Development Committee chairmen from the following areas: Artesia, Bellflower, Carson, Compton, Dominguez, Lakewood, Lomita, Long Beach, Los Alamitos, Paramount, San Pedro, Seal Beach, Signal Hill, Torrance, Westminster and Wilmington.

CORE OF the South Coast region, as identified by the Research Department of Security-First National Bank, is a 290-square mile area bounded by Torrance on the west, by Artesia Boulevard on the north, Orange County on the east and the Long Beach-Wilmington-San Pedro-Palos Verdes area on the south.

Described as one of Southern California's most diversified areas, it embraces 22 percent of the county's industrial acreage. Present population of 800,000 is expected to reach 900,000 by 1970.

Three commercial buildings valued at $149,700 were authorized for construction, and miscellaneous permits included 19 for alterations and additions, valued at $37,000.

During the month, 11 permits for swim pools valued at $28,400 were authorized.

WESTMINSTER — Building activities in Westminster topped the $3 million figure during October to produce the most business of any month this year. The record figure raised the year's total to $10,233,163.

Residential construction led the list of 331 permits granted. There were 113 permits for single family dwellings worth $2,200,895, one triplex for $12,000 and 13 apartments for $195,485.

Three Branch Banks Being Remodeled

Construction and remodeling projects totaling nearly $300,000 for three Long Beach branches of Bank of America, have been announced.

Over $170,000 has been allocated for remodeling work at the Long Beach main office at the corner of Pine Ave. and Fourth St., according to vice president and manager, Roland E. Robbins.

Robbins said a complete new air conditioning system with a capacity of 73 tons is being installed in the main office. Other rehabilitation work includes new lighting fixtures, suspended acoustic ceiling, enlarged mechanical cage facilities, modernized elevator to safe de-

COMPLETION of the work is set for early next year. The Bixby Knolls branch at 3804 Atlantic Ave. is being enlarged with the main banking area converted into a double sided operation. Construction, at a cost of nearly $40,000, is scheduled for completion this year.

Also scheduled for completion this year are the alterations and air conditioning work at the Third and Long Beach Branch. The project there will cost over $75,000. In all cases, customer service will continue as usual during construction.

Yule Savings Checks to Be Mailed Friday

Santa Claus will arrive early for some 20,000 residents in the Long Beach area this week when Christmas savings checks will be distributed.

Banks operating in the Long Beach Clearinghouse Association announced that Christmas savings checks will go into the mail next Friday.

The checks will amount to $3,084,846 and will go to 20,857 depositors.

$11,400 in Permits Issued at Stanton

STANTON — Six building permits for construction totaling $11,400 were issued by the Stanton Building Department during the week.

D. M. Chambers, Dana Point, took out a $7,000 permit to repair fire damage on a commercial building at 10571 Beach Blvd.

Other permits were issued to William DeForest, 10432 Courson St., storage room addition to garage, $1,350; Wilshire Oil Co., Los Angeles, commercial sign at 10660 Magnolia Ave., $1,500; Charles Martin, 5883 Stardust Lane, aluminum patio cover and screen-in, $350; Clayton Hodge, 10645 Beach Blvd., sign for radiator repair shop, $250; and Foster & Kleister, Los Angeles, sign at 10961 Court St., $450.

Westmont's Tenth Unit Again Has Bonus Room

Westmont's new "lucky room to grow and wish to" fireplace, paneling, large family room, built-in gas kitchen, tile counter tops and eating bar, and each home is located on a deeded 7200 square foot lot.

BESIDES the bonus room, the landscaping, sprinklers and block wall, the Westmont homes also include carpet.

Hailed by the pioneer building firm, George M. Holstein and Sons, as their "lucky unit" because of the four big extras included to buyers, Westmont homes are priced from $22,500 and include landscaping, sprinklers, block wall, and the big 440 square foot bonus room.

The new unit makes available once again all plans and exteriors with the bonus room once more proving a real hit with buyers who need to grow and wish to fireplace, paneling, large family room, built-in gas kitchen, tile counter tops and eating bar, and each home is located on a deeded 7200 square foot lot.

The Westmont location has proved to be one of the planned community's largest appeals to the family home buyer. Centered in the development is a new school site, park, and near by is new shopping and recreation. The beach is less than five minutes from any home, the developers pointed out.

Financing includes FHA, Veteran, and conventional. Models are left of Highway 39 just three miles South of 7th St. and one mile East of the highway on Warner Ave.

Twilight Timed for Speed Cut

WICHITA (AP) — The Kansas Highway Patrol daily broadcasts the time the sun sets.

"Officers have to know," explained a patrol dispatcher, "because the night speed goes into effect 30 minutes after sunset."

NEW WESTMONT HOME

This new three-bedroom home with extra large family room and big over-the-garage bonus room is among those included in the new "lucky tenth" unit at George M. Holstein and Sons' Westmont community, near Long Beach, in Fountain Valley. They are priced from $22,450.

FINE KITCHENS CITED

Electric Kitchens Win Builder Award

An award for outstanding achievement in all-electric kitchen design has been presented to New Horizons-South Bay, one of the nation's first adult recreation and garden home communities.

The award, a bronze plaque, was presented to Ray Watt, New Horizons-South Bay builder-developer, by Robert A. McWhinney, district manager of Hotpoint, during recent opening ceremonies at the $18 million Sepulveda Blvd. in Torrance.

The electric kitchens include range and oven, dishwasher, disposer, hood and Stantony warming oven. In addition, the award cited New Horizons' use of electric radiant ceiling heating and hot water heating.

ALSO COMMENDED by THE GARDEN HOMES include one bedroom and convertible den, two-bath; two-bedroom de luxe, two-bath; and two-bedroom and convertible den, two-bath plans ranging up to 1215 square

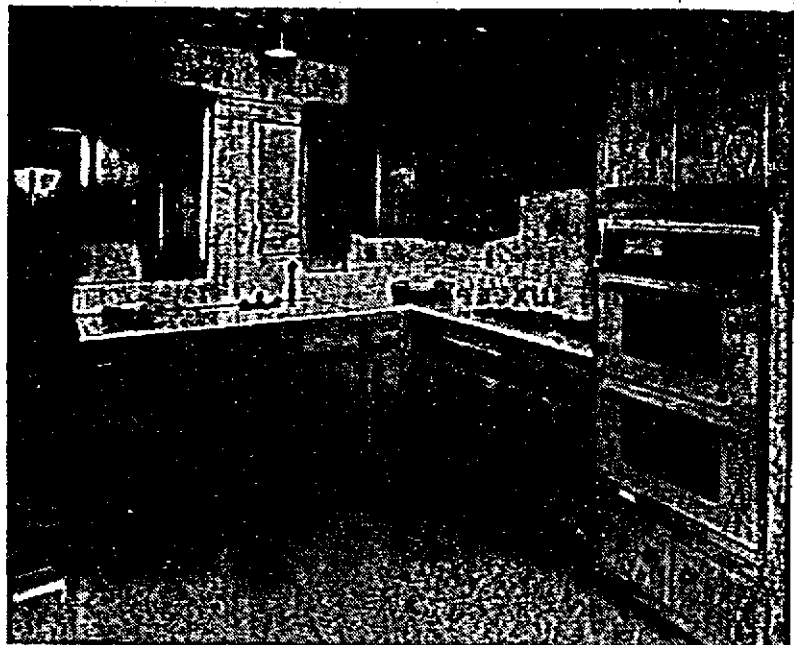

Living is provided by combining advantage of individual home ownership with maintenance-free benefits of apartment living, according to McWhinney.

New Horizons, when completed, will contain 600 garden homes. Already open for display are the 10,000-square-foot clubhouse and recreation building; a nine-hole 3-par golf course; a putting green surrounded by a lake; swimming pool, shuffleboard, padel tennis, ping pong, horse shoe and croquet facilities.

Residency, according to Bob Norton, is limited to families in which one spouse must be 35 years old or more or to single persons 35 years old or more. No children less than 18 may be permanent residents.

He said a monthly fee will pay for all exterior painting of garden homes, care of lawns, shrubs, trees, sidewalks, parking areas, sprinkler system and other common area maintenance at New Horizons.

Convenient Location Appeals to Garden Park Estate Buyers

GARDEN PARK ESTATE KITCHEN
 Handy kitchen in home at Garden Park Estates in Garden Grove is pictured here. Color-matched gas appliances cut down on work for housewife and are included in price of home. Refrigerator is optional.

"A convenient location is very important when developing land for family dwellings," the developers of Garden Park Estates in Garden Grove feel.

"We always make sure the proposed community will be within close walking or driving reach of all outside needs," they added.

This would include convenience to schools — from the elementary to college level; handy access to freeways, churches, employment centers, shopping facilities, and diversified recreational activities.

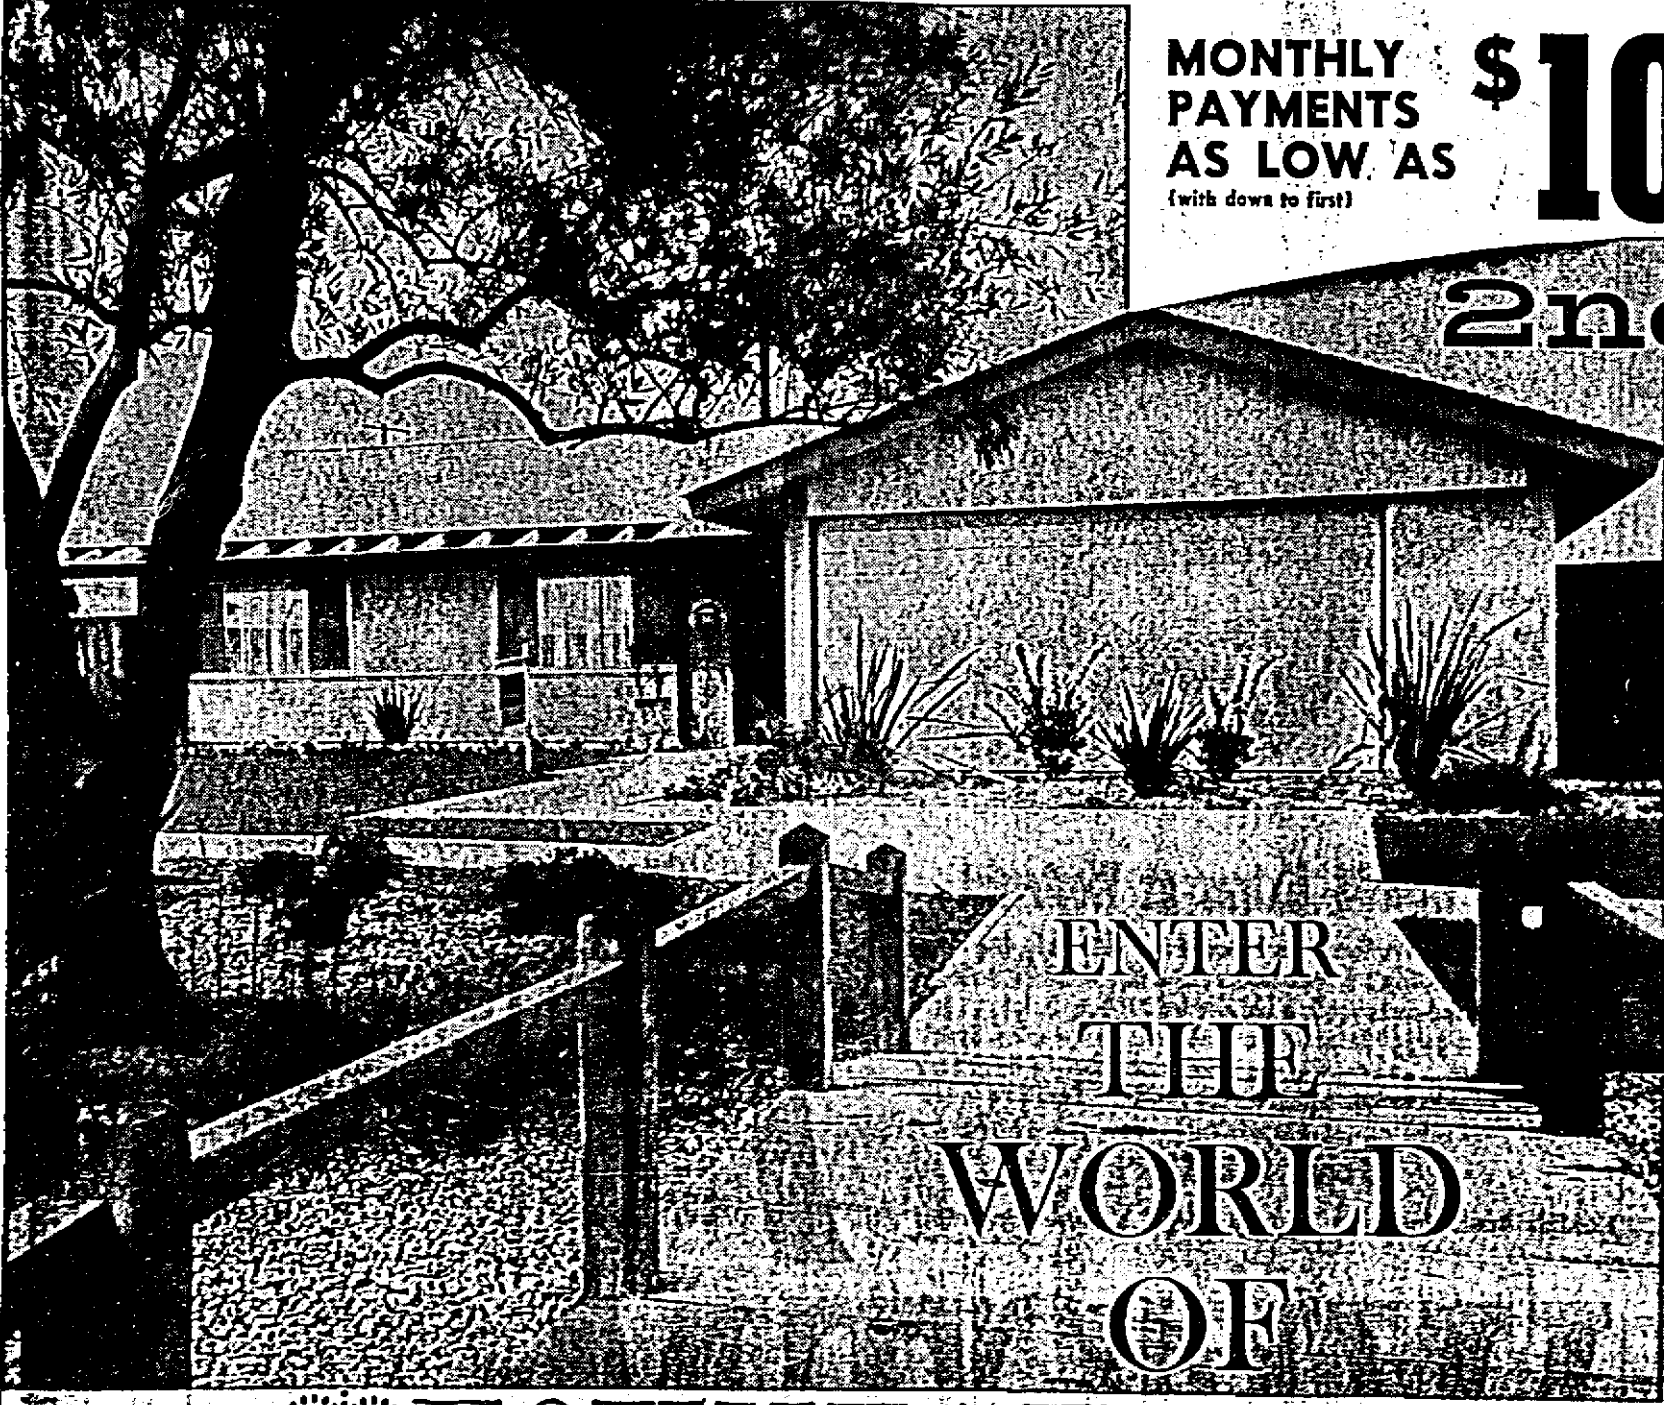

Featured in these homes are red cedar shingle or crushed rock roofs; stone and brick exterior veneer and planters in most plans; sliding glass door and sliding aluminum windows — guaranteed weather tight; lawns seeded front, sides and rear; parkway trees in; street lights and sewers in, and all city utilities in and paid for.

AT GARDEN PARK ESTATES, there are eight schools in the community; Knott's Berry Farm, the ocean and Disneyland are a short drive away; freeways are close; the cities of Long Beach, Garden Grove and Santa Ana provide many job opportunities, and churches of all denominations are well represented in the area.

Along with a desirable location, Garden Park Estates' homes are quality constructed — built to promise a lifetime of service and comfort.

A POPULAR SELLER at Garden Park Estates is the beautiful two-story home. Built with five bedrooms, a large living room and dining room and ample space was included for the divergent needs of the entire family. Priced moderately from $18,975 to $26,250, financing is arranged for the individual buyer. Monthly payments are from $103.90.

Lakewood East Homes Designed to Provide Utmost in Privacy

LAKWOOD EAST HOME
Privacy for all family members, due to a floor plan which avoids all "pass-through" traffic, is what S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders, say this Lakewood East home features.

Homes feature well-planned livability with the accent on privacy for all family members, stated Thomas Richie, marketing director of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders.

"A skillfully designed floor plan which avoids all 'pass-through' traffic and the privacy of an entry hall and center hall are the features we stress in these homes," Richie continued. "The upstairs dormer windows in the two-story model give added spaciousness and a pleasant view."

THE FLOOR PLAN of these three and four-bedroom, two-full-bath homes provides an "island" kitchen with breakfast bar leading to the dining-living room in one model. Sliding picture window doors in aluminum frames leads to the patio. All models stress a large amount of wardrobe and cupboard space. A completely fenced rear yard and a landscaped front yard is provided with each home.

Kitchens have built-in ranges and ovens with a hood and exhaust fan. A disposal unit is also included. Wall-to-wall carpeting is included in the purchase price from $21,100 and down payments from $295.

Models are located between Del Amo Blvd. and Centralia Road, one block west of Roseton in the city of Lakewood.

New Director for Hunsaker

Meredith Village's New Models Appeal

With five completely furnished models, Meredith Village, the 153 community of split-level and two-story homes in Orange County, located between Santa Ana and Orange, is drawing enthusiastic home buyers to see their latest offerings. It was announced this week by the Meredith Co.

The fine residential community of homes, built by Ed-meredith, president of Meredith Co., features a complete "street of models" with all the landscaping full grown trees that the prospective residents of the community may visualize the total effect of a Meredith home.

ONE OF the newest models to draw crowds has been the Craigmont in three different exteriors. One that has excited the most comment from home buyers, features an exterior typical of the deep South with all the Old Colonial charm of the lush mansions of another day. The Craigmont models feature 6

In addition to the new six-bedroom models, Meredith Village is also featuring four and five-bedroom homes with three baths in the varying sizes of living space from 2,700 to 2,800 square feet. All the Meredith homes feature three baths and all feature formal dining rooms and all the homes are all electric.

Meredith Village is located on Prospect a few blocks north of 17th Street from Santa Ana.

SOVEREIGN PARK UNIT SHOWN

Sovereign Park Cooperative Apartments are totally electric, including roomy all-electric kitchens which are flameless, clean and cool. At the far end of the adjoining dining area are sliding glass doors which lead to owner's private patio or sundeck.

Sales Start Today on Sovereign Park Units

R. D. Keillor, president of Sovereign Development Co., announced the opening today of a Sovereign Park Estates furnished model apartment-home at 5110 Atherton St., Long Beach.

The site is near Clark Ave. on Atherton. Manager of the projected $4 million, 156 unit development is Mrs. Billie M. Hayes.

According to Mrs. Hayes, the model apartment-home will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. weekdays, and from 10:00 to 6:00 Saturdays and Sundays.

Purchasers will choose from 10 different floor plans, ranging from 730 to 1700 square feet of living area. The luxury appointments of the cooperative apartment-homes will be augmented for future residents by five heated swimming pools and five recreation rooms.

THE UNITS will be sold to future owner-residents prior to construction. Co-operative stock ownership in the Sovereign Park Corp. offers the opportunity of custom design of the apartments, prior to construction. Choice of color schemes, ceramic tile or formica in kitchen and baths, light fixtures, and other custom features is extended to purchasers. These Gold Medalion Apartment-homes feature General Electric kitchens and electric radiant heating.

A resident owner may purchase a share of stock in the Sovereign Park Corp. for as low as $590, with an estimated monthly payment of $114.50. This estimated monthly payment includes principal, interest, taxes, insurance, maintenance and reserve fund, and finance fees. Approximately 65% of the monthly payment is tax deductible in the opinion of counsel.

LANDSCAPED garden areas include patios, barbecues, recreation rooms, and heated pools. All outside areas are maintained from the low monthly payments to enable residents to enjoy the leisure that co-operative apartment-home living provides.

Sovereign Development Co., under president Keillor, has achieved a pioneer position in Southern California in construction of cooperative apartment-homes. Projects completed or nearing completion are the Del Amo Pacific, 3300 W. Carson, Torrance, the Fair-Oaks in South Pasadena, and the Coldwater Peyton in Burbank. Sovereign has on the drawing boards, a multi-million dollar high rise co-operative apartment project in Redondo Beach.

Big Influential Homes on Large Lots

AN INFLUENTIAL HOME

Offered in Fountain Valley are homes such as this in the newest Influential Home development. The big homes are on extra large lots and are priced from $19,800.

Sales records are being established at Influential Homes—Fountain Valley, according to Mrs. Gene Harding of Walker & Lee, sales agents. Buyer reaction to the new est residential project of builders Butler-Harbour, has been enthusiastic. Special praise is accorded the huge 7,200 sq. ft. lots, center hall entryways, elegant fireplaces with log light-ers, decorative screen panels, and unique wallpaper of these three and four-bedroom, two-bath and family room homes. . . . . ADDITIONAL features include 5-foot concrete block fences, front lawns and shrubs and over-sized garages with nearly 300 cubic feet of storage space. Balanced power kitchens includes built-in range and oven with rotisserie and breakfast bar. Full prices of Influential Homes in Fountain Valley available. To visit the furnished models, which are open daily, take Hwy. 39 south to Ellis, left costs for non-vets, FHA and on Ellis to Bushard, then 5 1/4. 35 year loans are also right to the models.

Soft-Drink Firms Want Bottles Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — During the first four months of 1963 returnable beverage bottles outsold nonreturnable bottles 3 to 1, while nonreturnable beer bottles outsold returnables almost 3 to 1.

Low-Priced Big Homes Selling Fast

Low move-in price and the total cost of under $20,000 for a three or four-bedroom home with three baths, are big attractions at Cameron Homes in Huntington Beach.

In fact, reports Evan T. Jenkins, the builder, the final unit is now moving rapidly and a sellout is predicted shortly.

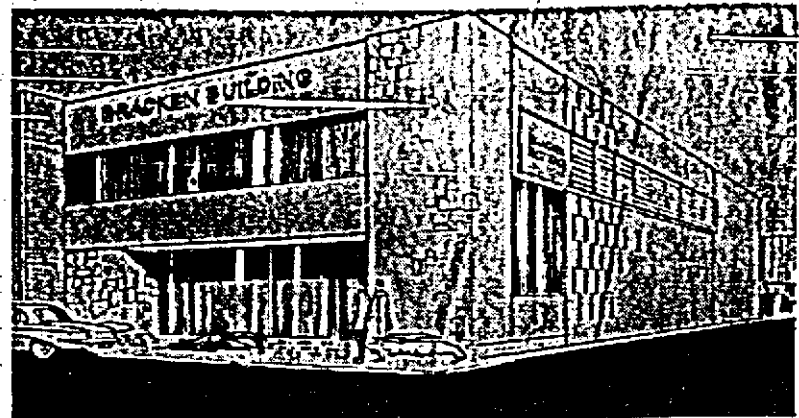

Cameron Home community is located on Newman Ave. just off Beach Blvd. in Huntington Beach. All the homes contain three bathrooms, three or four bedrooms and a family room.

BUILDER JENKINS points out that these are just the principal attractions of the homes.

"We have the usual things other builders include as features: Forced-air heating, vinyl tile floors, pullman lavatories and so on; yet no other builder offers three bathrooms, fencing, carpets, drapes and an inside service porch.

Low move-in costs from $495 prevail.

The models are easily reached from the Long Beach area by taking Seventh east to Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) Turn south on Beach to Newman Street (1/4 mile south of Warner Ave.), turn left on Newman to Cameron Homes in Huntington Beach.

BRACKEN MORTGAGE BUILDING

This two-story office building is under construction on Pacific Coast Highway near Long Beach Boulevard. The building was designed by Kenneth Wing and is being built by Wesley Badger for Glenn R. Bracken.

Office Building for Glenn Bracken

Construction has been started on a two-story office building near the corner of Pacific Coast Hwy. and Long Beach Blvd. for the Bracken Mortgage Co., a third generation business in Long Beach.

The structure was designed by Kenneth Wing and will feature all-electric heating and air conditioning, sound-gineered lighting, stereo music piped to all suites and landscaped parking facilities.

The building has been granted the Gold Medallion and loan associations, trust departments, and private lenders.

Bracken is a graduate of the California Institute of Technology and of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. For three years he was a professor of Real Estate Finance and Investments at the University of Southern California.

Among other civic activities, he is a director of the Long Beach Better Business Bureau.

El Dorado Park Estates Offer Gracious Living at Its Best

AN EL DORADO PARK ESTATE

Here is an artist's rendering of home in El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach. Prestige community is located adjacent to El Dorado Park and golf course and this home is typical of the luxurious three and four-bedroom homes of split-level, one-story and two-story designs available.

El Dorado Park Estates and exterior veneers of brick, daily. Drive east on Spring are homes designed to appeal to those who desire more wood and dramatic stone, and concrete patios, service walks to El Dorado Park Estates at and driveways. Claremore, just east of the park.

Furnished models are open park.

Especially planned to answer the home owner's desire for luxury and provide maximum conditions for gracious family living, El Dorado Park Estates present a varied selection of architect-designed customized homes in one, two-story and split-level models. Built in both contemporary and traditional architecture, these spacious plans include three, four and five bedrooms, family rooms, formal dining rooms, master bedroom suites, and two and three baths.

ALL OF the homes have one or two wood-burning fireplaces; the baths have marble-topped pullman lavatories and fine ceramic tile; electrical fixtures are custom designed; and the attractive, functional all-electric kitchens are equipped with a built-in range, double wall oven and fully automatic dishwasher.

Quality built with superior products, these estate-like homes are constructed with lath and plaster walls and acoustical ceilings, forced-air heating, insulation, roofs of wood shingle or optional wood shake, exotic planters.

Officers Lured to Other Jobs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Officials of Ohio's State Highway Patrol are proud of the organization's thorough training program for young patrolmen.

They have found that after about four years, a patrolman becomes a well-rounded police officer. To their despair, however, they have found that the program, along with a relatively low pay scale, is responsible for a great many resignations.

Insurance companies scouting for trained accident investigators are waving job offers in front of patrolmen in intensive recruiting programs, and a record number of resignations—perhaps as many as 75—is expected this year.

Lark Village Draws Throng To New Unit

LARK VILLAGE HOME

Large homes like this are offered in the third unit of Lark Village in Fountain Valley. The homes are priced from $20,950 to $25,900.

Opening of the third unit of Lark Village saw more than $300,000 worth of homes sold, states Charles W. Hester, developer of the popular Fountain Valley community.

Lark Village lists among its outstanding features: block wall fencing for the rear and side yards, underground sprinklers in the front, built-in Westinghouse range and oven, wall-to-wall carpeting, sunken living room, massive wood-burning fireplace, mantle over fireplace and distinctive ash paneling. There is a wide variety of floor plans and exteriors.

Wrong Mood

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — Leonard L. Schwartzman didn't mind the mood music, but he didn't like the loudspeaker brought suit for $25,000 against a restaurant where it happened and against the firm that installed the speakers.

Family Buys Third Home Built by Watt

When the Wayne Holmes family moves into their home and made some money in the sale because of the increase in value.

"So when my wife and I sold our second Watt home we decided we'd buy in Scottsdale because it was built by Watt and because it provides so many facilities. We also, incidentally, made money on the second sale," Holmes said.

The Holmes are buying a three-bedroom residence at Scottsdale Town Houses, Southern California's largest condominium project and one of the nation's first family-oriented recreational communities.

Last month he decided upon the purchase of a residence in Scottsdale Town Houses because "my wife and I lead very busy lives and we want to spend our spare time in the many recreational pursuits which Scottsdale provides," he said, "and we also felt that the recreational facilities will be ideal for our two sons, Richard, 15, and Daniel, 12."

Auto Trailer Boom Felt in Industry

DETROIT (UP)—The call of the open road in America today echoes with the throb of engines and the blare of horns.

It's trailer-travel—one of the fastest growing facets of mobility since the advent of the automobile.

The travel trailer industry and related fields have seen a steady growth in recent years. In 1956 there were only about 15,000 travel trailers produced in the United States. Last year production jumped to 56,000 units and this year trailer builders believe 80,000 units will be constructed.

The manufacturers also speculated that the industry will see a growth rate of about 25 per cent annually so that by 1970 there will be 330,000 units produced annually.

Along with the growth in the trailer industry, pickup campers and fold-out campers—small trailers containing a tent and other equipment—have seen a corresponding boom.

All indications are that trailering will become more popular than ever.

With the advent of the freeway system across the nation, travel time can be cut considerably. As leisure time increases and retirements come earlier, people will have more time to travel.

Labor unions are pressing for a shorter work week and in the steel industry a precedent has been set for extended vacations to keep the work force of the nation constant.

L.B. Port Tops New York in Steel Imports

The Port of Long Beach edged out New York for the second position in steel imports in the United States during August with 51,283 tons, according to figures released by the West Coast Metal Importers Association.

New York was 50,000 tons. The number one port was Galveston, Tex., with 93,000 tons.

The Port of Los Angeles recorded 22,717 tons. Total tonnage at Long Beach for the first nine months was 9,049,446 tons—a 19 per cent increase over the comparable period a year ago.

BUY IN SCOTTSDALE

A $12 MILLION balanced power community on Avalon Blvd. midway between Carson St. and Sepulveda Blvd., Scottsdale Town Houses contains 600 two-level residential units, a 10,000-square-foot clubhouse and recreation building, swimming pool, wading pool, Little League baseball field, Pop Warner football field, basketball court, tennis courts, handball courts and two fully-equipped children's playgrounds.

Homes include three and four bedrooms with den or operator, disposer, forced-air gas heating and 40-gallon gas water heater.

Each residence includes tile Town Houses, which are purchased from $16,995, include carpeting, gas range and oven, washer, dryer, refrig., the individual home and its state tax bills.

Buyers Guide to Medallion Homes

The only electrically modern homes... in every price range

The Medallion Home Award is a cornerstone for modern living—a solid basis for a home's lasting value, today and in the future. Compare the detailed electrical construction requirements for the Medallion Home Award with those for any other type of new home symbol.

You'll discover the Medallion Home Award is the one award that requires a new home to conform to specific and rigid standards, giving important value to the buyer. Here are just some of the qualifications:

1. A flameless electric kitchen equipped with major appliances, including range and oven.
2. Full "Housepower" Wiring provides capacity for at least twenty circuits, considered a minimum for modern living; large enough wires; 240 volt service for the electrical capacity every home needs.
3. Abundant lighting planned for comfort, convenience and beauty. A total-electric Gold Medallion Home gives you all these benefits plus:
4. Flameless electric home and water heating.

Prestige Home Sales Continue Fast Pace

IN PRESTIGE HOME

Here is an interior view of a Prestige Home in Huntington Beach showing the kitchen with many built-ins. The homes, priced from $21,200, are selling rapidly.

The fantastic sales success of Prestige Homes in Huntington Beach continues unabated as 13 more were sold last week bringing the total to 49 in the last three weeks. The one and two-story, three, four and five-bedroom homes continue to attract throngs, according to sales manager Dan Mytinger, of the Doyle & Shields Development Co., Inc.

"The second unit of homes was opened to the home buying public just three weeks ago and already almost 50 per cent of the unit has been purchased," the sales executive continued.

The first unit of Prestige Homes, 125 homes, was 95 per cent purchased in the first 45 days of sales. Contributing to the sales success is the excellent financing available: fine conventional financing, low FHA terms and a limited number of VA no down loans are available on the homes priced from $21,200. Mytinger pointed out that the Prestige Homes at that figure were the hardest to sell.

PRESTIGE HOMES give buyers their choice of 24 different exteriors with six floor plans. Buyers are noting the pace to the homes.

BUCCANEER SERIES HOME

Here is one of the models offered in the Buccaneer Series at Sunkist Plaza's newest Huntington Beach development. No down payment and only $100 move-in costs are asked.

Rapid Sellout Seen for Sunkist Homes

Westwind Homes in Westminster is a community of 33 customized homes within driving distance of shopping, schools, beaches and all popular recreation centers of the Southland, a spokesman for the firm said.

"This offers the advantages of city living yet the privacy of a small community," he added. Furnished models can be inspected by driving from Beach Blvd. (Hwy 39) east on Hazard to Bushard. These homes are priced from $18,995.

A SPECIAL feature of the master bedroom is a dressing room. Wall-to-wall carpeting is included in that bedroom and the living room as well as all hall space.

The three bedroom models have two full baths and two-car garages. Living rooms have over-sized fireplaces. The large kitchen has a dining area for casual meal-time. The built-in ranges and ovens have hoods. Dishwashers are also installed in the kitchens. There are kitchen entrances to the garages. All models have aluminum sliding glass doors leading to a patio area.

Westwind Offering Customized Homes

An informal survey during recent preview showing of the Buccaneer Series of Sunkist Plaza's Huntington Beach development, showed that visitors were impressed with inclusion of Waste King-Universal kitchen appliances.

This was reported by Sy Bram, executive director of Sunkist Plaza Builders, who simultaneously predicted a rapid sellout on the basis of the turnout at preview showings.

This would follow closely in the footsteps of other units of the beach city development. Full price is from $18,995 with no-down to all and only $100 costs.

Waste King features include built-in gas range and oven in color, disposal, range hood and fan—all in matching color.

"THIS IS AN EXAMPLE of the extra value found in our homes," commented Bram. "This is possible only through our mass buying power which we have accumulated through the years, enabling us to build more dollar value into each home."

Three basic floor plans can be incorporated in a choice of 25 exteriors that cover nearly every motif available.

"This is one of the reasons why, all things considered, it is one of the best home values in Huntington Beach," added Bram.

The development is only eight miles from California's finest beach and is "next door" to the various excellent recreational facilities offered by the city.

Schools, shopping centers and employment opportunities are minutes away in one of the fastest growing industrial complexes in the nation.

THE QUALITY residences which feature as a bonus extra completely fenced rear yards also include a separate utility room, genuine Formica counters, natural ash cabinets, forced-air heating with thermostat control, brick fireplaces, aluminum and glass shower doors, sliding wardrobe closets and shades and aluminum screens.

In addition, the homes are on 6,000 square foot lots and are on wide paved streets.

To reach models, drive East on Garden Grove Blvd. to Golden West; right on Golden West to Bolsa; right on Bolsa to Springdale; left on Springdale and follow signs to furnished models.

PRICED FROM $18,250

Homes such as this are offered in the Pacifica Series of Springdale South Homes for $18,250 and up with no down payment, only $100 in costs needed by qualified buyers.

Springdale South's Pacifica Series Offered for $100 Cash

Stepped up construction schedules have been necessary to keep pace with the rapid sales of the Pacifica Series of Springdale South Homes in Huntington Beach. This was explained by Sy Bram, executive director of the Sunkist Plaza Building firm. He added that the Pacifica Series is following closely in the footsteps of the Diamond Head series, which sold out in record time.

Springdale South, Pacifica, whose models are at the corner of Bolsa Ave. and Edwards St. in Huntington Beach, features an array of three and four-bedroom floor plans with a variety of exterior designs. Prices start at $18,250 with no down to all and only $100 costs.

ALL HOMES have Custom-fast sales of the previous unit to the extra value included in these homes. "This is possible," he explains, "because of the mass buying power we have accumulated through the years enabling us to build more dollar value into each home."

Sunkist Plaza Builders have constructed thousands of quality residences in various locations throughout Southern California.

The homes feature kitchens that are equipped with an array of quality built-in Waste King-Universal appliances. They include built-in range and oven in color; waste disposer; Modern-Aire range hood and fan in matching color; natural ash cabinets and separate utility rooms.

Aire forced air heating systems, sliding glass doors, vinyl asbestos floor tile and decorator designed lighting fixtures.

The sparkling bathrooms feature spacious stall showers, vinyl asbestos floor tile, luxury Pullmans with Formica counters and deluxe medicine cabinets. Interiors are carefully planned for the best furniture arrangements and have shades and aluminum screens throughout.

As an extra bonus feature, the large rear yards are fully fenced with approximately 130 lineal feet of redwood fencing, plus gate.

To reach the development go east on Garden Grove Blvd. to Golden West; right to Bolsa; then right to Edwards and models.

Salt Water Conversion Gain Hailed

New equipment designed to produce a 50 per cent increase in the fresh water output of Southern California Edison Company's sea water conversion plant at Mandalay beach, near Oxnard, soon will be ready for operation, according to Mr. A. L. Code, Edison district manager in Long Beach.

Code said the new system will mark "an important step forward" in Edison's efforts to develop an economic method of producing fresh water from the sea.

EDISON ENGINEERS explained that it will enable them to minimize their number one problem in increasing fresh water production from the experimental plant—the formation of scale, which tends to clog in the evaporator just as it does in an ordinary teakettle.

The new system involves adding acid to the sea water before it begins its journey through the multi-stage evaporator. The acid reduces the concentration of scale forming material and releases gases, which are later removed by routing the water through a deaerator. By reducing the scale-formers with acids, Edison will utilize higher temperatures in the evaporator and thereby achieve greater efficiency and increased output.

IT IS ESTIMATED that the continuous output of the sea water conversion plant can be boosted from its present capacity of 100,000 gallons of fresh water per day to 150,000 gallons through this "acid-feeding."

However, Edison officials emphasized their view that sea water conversion is not to be regarded as a substitute for the Feather River project or any other conventional water project. At present, Southern California needs all the water it can get, from all available sources, the report concluded.

Don't wait until your boss, the company public relations department or an editor requests your photograph in announcing a promotion or honor. Always keep one available.

So editors of 22 leading business publications indicate, according to a recent survey.

Several noted that if you don't have a photograph ready, you may just lose out. Deadlines are deadlines. And there's nothing older than yesterday's news.

Twenty-one of the 22 publications use head-and-shoulder-type portrait photographs, indicating that's the kind the publicity-conscious executive should have. About half prefer this type photograph. The remainder prefer casual shots of the executive at work.

ALMOST ALL (18 of 22) of the editors indicated problems that fall into three categories of almost equal frequency. Either the subject has no photograph of himself, the photographs he has are of poor quality or they are not recent.

The editors estimate they return about one-third of the photographs they receive.

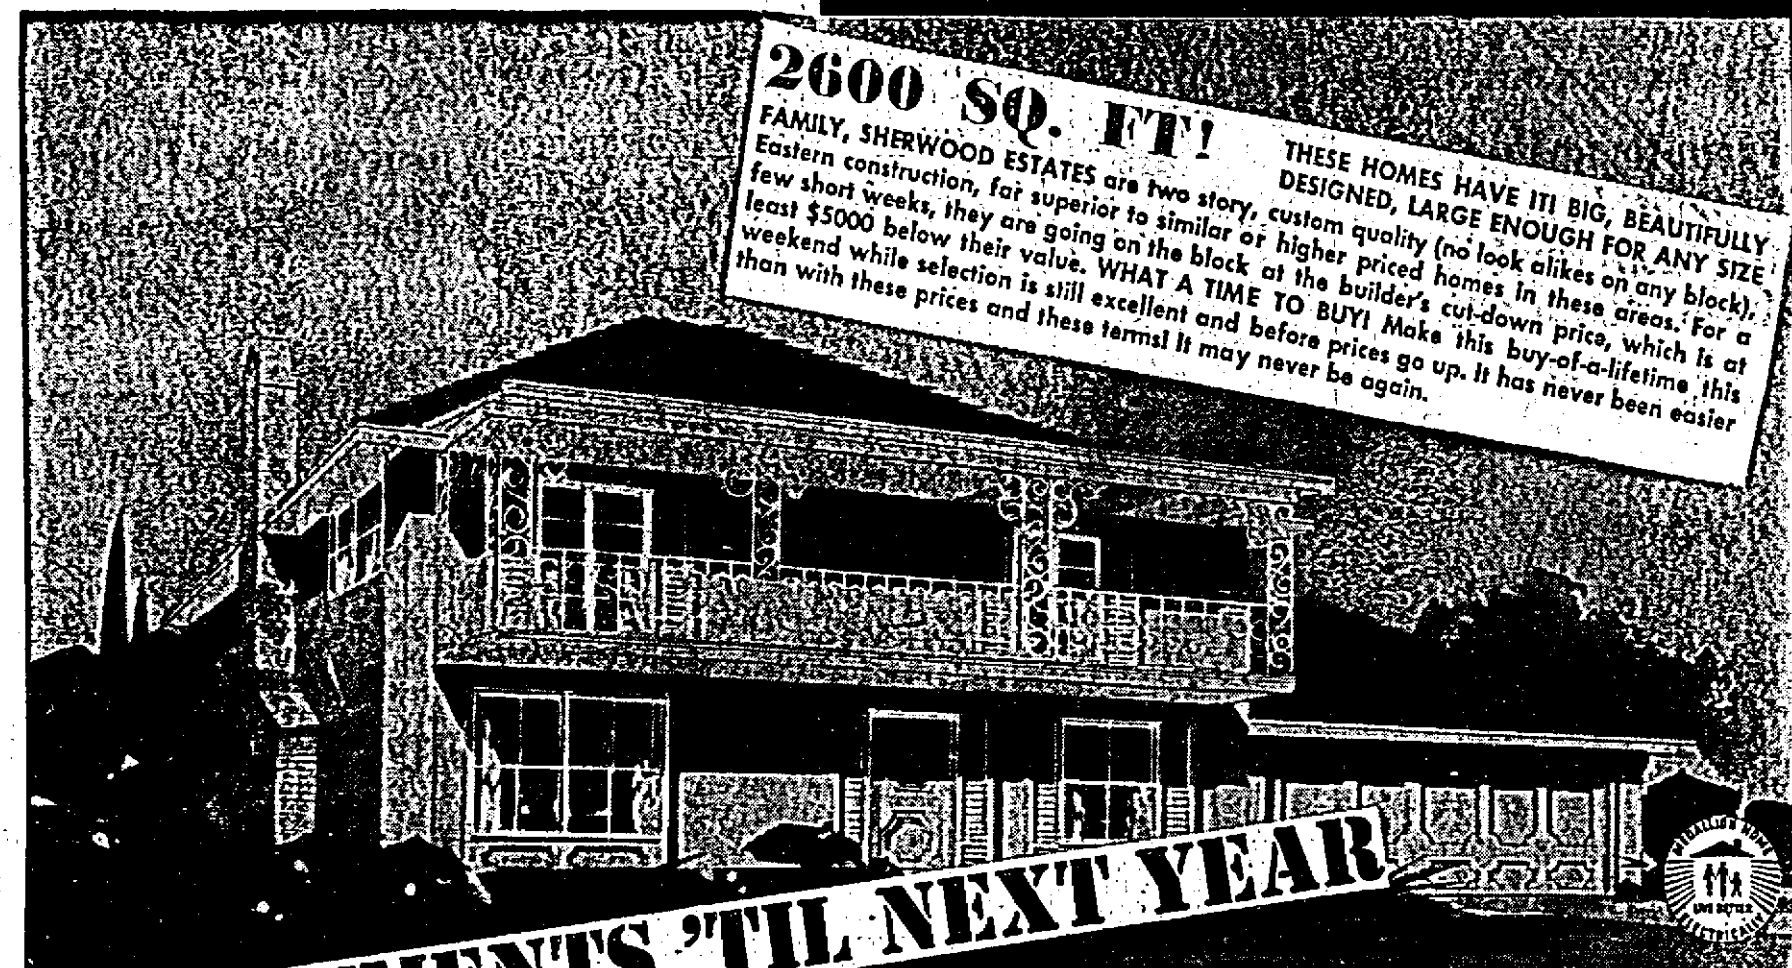

They advise promotion-minded executives to keep an 8x10 black and white glossy on hand, though 5x7 also is acceptable.

SOME TYPES of photographs they do not like include:

"Group photos from which heads are to be used as individual portraits" ... Material Handling Engineering Magazine. "Snapshot and color photographs" ... Life Association News. "Poorly lighted, poor contrast and bad printing" ... Plant Engineering Magazine. "Passport style" ... The Office. Also "Hat on or too elaborate background." And "Photographs obviously taken 20 years ago."

On the average the editors prefer photographs as up-to-date as possible, but no more than three or four years old.

Headdress, It's Old Hat

By MARY NETH

Lace, feathers, jewels, money, old bones, metal, hair, fur, rocks, flowers, skin, shells—

You name it, and you can be sure it perched atop a head as part of a hat somewhere, sometime.

Next week Long Beach society women will turn loose their creative talents to whip up some real eye-stopper toppers for the annual headdress ball. (See story below). Their originals will be wildly zany but it's doubtful they'll much surpass some of the hats worn seriously in the past.

In modern society, fancy hats are designed primarily for the part of the populace, in eyeshadow and high heels.

To men, the thrill of acquiring a showy chapeau is yet another facet of the feminine mystic; they never hope to understand.

BUT, NO MATTER, weirdly wonderful headgear is here to stay. And, furthermore, ornamental headdresses were part of human dress long before man put his foot in a shoe or added a pocket to his pants. They haven't always been the exclusive prerogative of the gals either.

In several ancient societies, a man was cut dead if he went out without his hat. Quite literally done in.

Take the ancient Indians. For them, forgetting the turban was like leaving the shoot'n irons at home. The owner stuck his fighting knives in the folds. When his hat came off, the war was on. He also found his turban handy for use as an impromptu rope, pillow, girdle—or if things really went bad, to strangle his enemy.

THERE WAS a time in China, too, when not wearing a certain type of hat was more than a breach of etiquette.

That was when the Manchus were in power and their subjects were forced to wear queues to show submission. It follows that going bald was no laughing matter. The man who didn't have his hair swept back in the required do was put to death. An artificial queue was the salvation. There are still some of these strange headdresses around in museums today.

All told, the history of hats doesn't skip

BACK IN UR, just 5000 years ago, this is the way a hat looked. Of gold and beads and ribbon, it topped fashionable wig; wouldn't be bad today.

NO, THEY'RE POMPOMS not rocks. Black Forest straw sometimes weighs three pounds. It's style that started in 1350s.

FOR THE DANCING girls of Siam, high style was towering hat of glittering gold and silver.

A Glamorous Tradition ... Here, an Annual Heady Ball

"This year's 13th annual Headdress Ball will be really spectacular."

That's the promise of Mrs. Geza Krempels, general chairman of the traditional event.

The glamor ball, an evening of elegance when local women parade in glamorous headdresses, will take place Nov. 22 in International Ballroom, Lafayette Hotel.

Theme will be "With a Song in My Heart" with the grand sweepstakes prize going to the headdress best carrying out that motif.

The ball is given annually here by the Long Beach Auxiliary of the Southern California Symphony Association. Leonard B. Greenhalgh, a board member of the association, will act as master of ceremonies this year. The event, a black tie dinner dance, kicks off the social year for the dedicated auxiliary which supports the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra.

Money will be used in three ways, according to Mrs. Krempels. It will purchase concert tickets for Long Beach music students, it will help swell the orchestra's continuance fund and it will pay transportation costs to the annual youth concerts sponsored by the Long Beach Unified School district.

The evening will open at 7 p.m. with a no-host cocktail party followed by dinner at 8:30 p.m. Music for dancing will be provided by Ray Norval and his orchestra. (Norval is well known for engagements at major hotels and appearances on TV.)

She will be assisted in making arrangements by her co-chairman Mrs. Harvey Doody and Mmes. Betty Maude Benwell, Duane H. Kuster, Frank Vessels Jr., Earl B. Milton, Harvey C. Doody, and P. Viktor Peterson.

The panel of judges will include Bela Biro, professor of Art at Long Beach State College; Pat Walker, local business woman, and Dr. Raymond Kendall, music department of the University of Southern California.

From the 40 to 50 expected entries, awards will be given headdresses selected as most original, beautiful, authentic, and humorous plus the one best carrying out the theme.

Among those entertaining with pre-ball cocktail parties will be Mrs. Benwell, Messrs. and Mmes. LeRoy P. Carlisle, Walter C. Groshong, Edwin Hilt, Earl B. Milton with the Harvey G. Doody's as co-hosts and the Patrick Seaton's and the Stanley Weisses, Drs. and Mmes. Krempels and Montie Magree.

One no-host party will be given by the James K. McCalls and Raymond Petersons and another by the Orrin Petersons and Duane Kusters.

On Desert, at Sea--and All That Lettuce!

By Iola Masterson
I. P. T. Women's Editor

A HIGH old time in the fashionable low, low desert country was fare for yours truly and husband last weekend. We were guests of Lois and George Osborn (formerly of Long Beach now mostly of Palm Desert) who are among chief developers of the posh Sandpiper condominium—homes built with privacy, plenty of room around but still in a community atmosphere in Palm Desert.

All ready to say "hi" at desert preview.

Assisting in greeting guests at an exclusive afternoon invitation preview of newest additions to the Sandpiper, above, are Frank Person and Ellie, Zoe (Mrs. Ray) Person and Lois Osborn. Lois is Frank's sister.

In addition to cutting up conversational touches with the Persons and Osborns, also ran into old timers from town, Ethel and Pete Long, now of San Bernardino. To refresh other old timers memories, Ethel and Pete both attended Wilson—she is one of the Buggy gals of our town.

After viewing the deluxe desert homes we were treated to champagne, marvelous hors d'oeuvres and were guests at Indian Wells for the night.

NOT AT ALL foggy about a very foggy experience are Rosemary and Bob Westmyer. In fact, imagine it still gives them the wide-awake shudders.

Wild Waves Say...

They took off in their cruiser for Playa del Rey last weekend. Got caught in dense fog. Bob, a war pilot and a very fine navigator, began working over the charts and followed the proper course until, yikes, they could hear breakers. Back out to sea. More chart studying. Back into where port supposed to be. Breakers again. Back out. This time found sailboat adrift without wind, which they took in tow or pontooned to them, also another cruiser, both engines dead in the water. This they took under their charge, too, called Coast Guard. CG arrived and took disabled vessels off Westmyers' hands and explained a buoy on chart had been moved; thereby their problems, chart-wise, solved and they moved into port, fog-bound or no, with no more trouble. But they left boat there, motored home, believe thee me they wisely did.

BIRTHDAY surprise of the month—this and many another—was the happy punch line to party gag for Mil Cameron. Husband, Sam, with secret aid of "social secretary" Betty (Mrs. Bix) Bixby, drafted for occasion, arranged a charter bus trip party to USC-Cal game Saturday with 37 good friends bidden to Mil's total surprise and complete delight. Box lunches on the way up; dinner at Cameron home after the game and a bunch of silly gifts for Mil to open.

BET Mary Gillespie will be giving the dust cloth a last minute flip and Don will be whisking newly fallen leaves off sidewalk today. She, as president of Alpha Phi Mothers' Club of USC, and Don are entertaining parents of new pledges from throughout Southland at a get acquainted cocktail party from 5 to 8 p.m. Assisting are Hilda and Wilford Woodcock of Westminster.

AFTER MORE than her share of hospital in recent months, Fran Nason has been in AND out, in a wink, this time. She entered St. Mary's Sunday, had surgery Monday and was home free and feeling fine Wednesday. Dr. Les is doing the cooking and making a good job of it at the kitchen range, according to Fran.

LAUGHING until she could hardly explain the situation at all, Juanita Coverdale was telling me about the surprise housewarming brother and sister-in-law, Hal and Hattie Lewis, had for the Lewis' daughter and son-in-law, Jill and Bob Roberts at their new home on the boardwalk, 5703 E. Seaside last weekend. Not laughing at the party—it was a grand success for about 50 guests.

It was what went on before the party that convulsed Juanita. Hattie followed, more or less (but less than more) a hint from one of this section's Polly's

Pointers columns. She had 18 heads of lettuce to clean and dry for the big tossed salad. The hint was that to dry the lettuce in large amounts, wash, secure, and put in the spin cycle of the washing machine. Lettuce comes out dry, crisp. So Hattie got a big sugar sack, popped lettuce in but decided the dryer, without heat, would be just as good a place to do job as washing machine. She forgot need of centrifugal force. Well, the sack came loose and when she went to retrieve her salad makings there were bits of 18 heads of lettuce all over the inside.

She headed back for the market, in a rush, and did her salad in the conventional way—damp maybe, but lots of dressing and yummy.

But can you imagine the job of retrieving all that green stuff? Half apt to have lettuce decorated shirts to wear for weeks.

Helping put the party on were Joyce and Gordon Earle. A few of those present were Bob's folks, the Phil Roberts, Joan and Julie Bescoe, Juanita, the tattler (Jill's aunt), Pat and Walt Gilkey, the Fred Tebbetts, Sue and Ron Rector and Carolee and Stan Carroll.

PERENNIAL holder of open house—anytime of the day or night—Jean (Mrs. James) Wood REALLY had open house the other day. Remodeling, the contractor knocked the whole front AND back out of her living room. As seen below, from left, that didn't slow down the kaffee klatsch gang as Claire Pillsbury and Louise (Mrs. Robert) Fettes dropped by, and stayed regardless of plaster mess.

Jean and Jim's place is grand central fun station of the east end of town and, even though they're boarded up again by this reading, the drop-in rate hasn't slowed up a bit and the coffee pot still bubbles for all who pick their way through a tortuous path to front or back door.

Day it was REALLY open house at party home.

"Why all the excitement about Paris styles?"

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON
I, P-T Fashion Editor

Rafael, well-known hair stylist for legions of local fashion-conscious femmes, pooh-poohs the idea that Paris is trend setter for the haute coiffure.

"American women wouldn't wear their hairdos," he contends.

Just back from the French capital, where he brushed elbows with the city's leading coiffeurs and combed Paris solons for new ideas, he says it's American women who turn heads in Paris.... And that includes Frenchmen's heads.

PRESIDENT of the Hollywood Hair Design Council, Rafael flew to Paris with his business partner, Mr. Carlo, to attend fall hairstyle showings and meet with Alex Tonio, president of Haute Coiffure Francaise.

After waiting two and a half hours for his pre-set appointment, Rafael had his meeting with Monsieur Tonio. But he went away with ruffled feathers.

With his sketchy understanding of French and the aid of an interpreter, he got the message from Tonio that "Paris creates the hairstyles for the world... the peasantry of the world really should know that"... and, then, the question to end all questions:

"By the way, are they dressing hair in California now?"

LOCAL HAIR STYLIST SOUNDS OFF...

Gives Paris the Big Brush

"I went to see, but... it's the American women... who turn men's heads?"

Rafael contends they're dressing it much better in California than in Paris.

"COIFS modeled at showings (with only the haute coiffeurs welcome, not the small-time operator) involved techniques now on the way out in the U.S.," says Rafael. "They're still over-teasing and doing twists."

About the beauty salons: "They're co-educational. From a common entrance, men go their way, women theirs. A hairstylist may work on both."

About equipment: "Outmoded. Some salons still use shampoo boards, in others women lean forward over a shampoo bowl. Hair is shampooed once, rinsed once—often with a pitcher of water! Dryers are sometimes suspended from the ceiling, none are air-conditioned (as ours are today) and still dry with uncontrolled hot air."

An outstanding difference: "All beauty articles are bought through beauty salons, none are available elsewhere."

Rafael noted that the beauty business has been highly controlled in France; no tints or products for at-home hair coloring are available. Home permanents are just now hitting the retail market.

ABOUT MEN'S hair: "They wear it quite long. That's probably because men's hair cuts are so expensive." (He paid $3 to have his own hair cropped while there.)

About U.S. influences in Europe: "You hear American music everywhere in France and Italy." They're currently in the twist stage. Most all theaters show American movies—with dubbed-in voices.

"It was strange—after watching the movie being filmed in Hawaii last year—to see 'Donovan's Reef' and hear John Wayne and Dotty Lamour spouting their lines in Italian," he laughed.

Most American products can be purchased in both countries, he noted, stating there is concern among some groups that the countries are becoming "over-Americanized."

He recalls a newspaper article in which a group of tourist bureaus, reportedly alarmed over a 15 per cent decrease in tourism in Italy and France, met to consider the problem.

Speaking of newspapers, he brought home a Paris daily featuring American comics—Maggie and Jiggs, the Phantom and Blondie—all speaking French, of course.

Things he particularly enjoyed: the food ("fruits are especially fresh and flavorful; meats are tastier"), the scenery and the Old World atmosphere.

Also: the attractiveness of American women on foreign shores.

"Wherever you go," Rafael said, "you recognize American women for their hairdos, the color of their hair and their smart clothes."

Perform for Children

Junior Programs of Long Beach will present its second program of the season Saturday. Long Beach State College Drama Department will perform Charlotte Chorpennin's adaptation of the French fairy tale, "Sleeping Beauty."

Eva Raber portrays Sleeping Beauty and John Strand, the prince. Herbert Camburn is director. In charge of choreography is Mrs. Rosalind DeMille.

Special effects will include animated cobwebs, a magic forest and unusual lighting. The play was chosen for children from five to twelve, but adults and older children are welcome to attend.

The performance is scheduled for 10 p.m. and noon in Long Beach City College Auditorium, with most seating available at the noon performance. Girl Scout, Brownie and Blue Bird leaders are urged to organize their groups and attend.

Newlyweds on Trips After Saturday Vows Las Vegas Bridal Trip

Eberhart-Clay
Julie Ann Clay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Clay, 760 Havana Ave., became the bride of Donald Eberhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Eberhart, 2225 Ocean Ave., in a Saturday afternoon ceremony.
Two hundred guests witnessed the nuptial rite in St. Matthew's Catholic Church.
The bride chose a gown of silk organza appliqued in lace for her vows, and carried white roses with stephanotis.
Mary Clay was the bride's only attendant. Jim Eberhart was best man and ushers were Bob and Bill Eberhart.
The newlyweds will be at home after Nov. 16 in North Long Beach. The new Mrs. Eberhart was graduated

Mrs. Donald Eberhart

Mrs. Arthur Peacock Jr.

Mrs. Mac LeRoy Lyons

Mrs. Evoy Larson Jr.

from St. Anthony's High School and affiliated with Newman Club and Sigma Alpha Iota while a student at Long Beach State College. Her husband, a Millikan alumnus, attended Long Beach City College.

Peacock-Miller

St. Anthony's Catholic Church was scene Saturday morning for the wedding ceremony uniting Marilyn Miller and Arthur Lyle Peacock Jr.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Miller, 3012 San Francisco Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyle Peacock of Auburn, Wash.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin with cathedral train.

Her attendants, in gowns of raspberry peau de soie, were Kathleen Knipp, maid of honor; and Sandra Lancaster and Linda Anderson, bridesmaids. Elaine Knipp was flower girl. Completing the wedding party were Martin Make, best man, and Charles Pitts and Douglas Burton, ushers.

The bride was graduated from St. Anthony's High School and attended LBCC. Her husband received his schooling in Idaho and is a medical corpsman with the U.S. Navy.

Lyons-DeMorest

An original gown of Alencon lace adorned with pearls and sequins was selected by Diana Leota DeMorest for her Saturday afternoon marriage to Mac LeRoy Lyons at St. John's Presbyterian Church, Compton.

Daughter of Mrs. LaVerne DeMorest, 6906 Butler Ave., the bride was attended by her sister, Lynn DeMorest, maid of honor, and Bobbie Lyons and Linda Plemmons, bridesmaids. Attendants to the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Lyons, Lakewood, were E. W. Scrivner, best man; and D. A. Clark Jr., R. W. Wasson, R. Jones and D. Zagarella, ushers.

A Lakewood home awaits the newlyweds on return from a San Francisco honeymoon trip.

Mrs. Lyons was graduated from Jordan High School and her husband is an alumnus of Poly High. Both were graduated from Long Beach City College.

Larson-Nordhagen
Clara Annette Nordhagen, kindergarten teacher at John Muir School here, became the bride of Evoy John Larson Jr. in a Saturday ceremony at Wayfarers' Chapel, Portuguese Bend.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold B. Nordhagen, San Pedro, and Mr. and Mrs. Evoy Larson, Los Angeles.

Tell Engagements, Wedding Plans

Isham-England

Mr. and Mrs. Warren P. Isham announce the engagement of their daughter, Martha Anne, to Jeffrey Elliott England, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. England Jr.

The bride-elect graduated from Millikan High School with honors and is now a student at Long Beach State College. Her fiancé is also a Millikan graduate and attends Long Beach City College.

No date has been set for the wedding.

D'Amato-Harrison

Mrs. Teresa D'Amato of Seal Beach announces the engagement of her daughter, Marie, to Paul James Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison of Lakewood. Father of the bride-elect was the late Renato D'Amato.

A teacher in the Long Beach Unified School District, Miss D'Amato is a graduate of State Teacher's College in New Paltz, N.Y. Her fiancé is a graduate of Lakewood High School and is now serving in the U.S. Army.

The wedding will take place in summer.

Spaw-Buss

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Spaw of Lakewood announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Jean, to Jerry E. Buss, son of Mrs. Bernice M. Buss of and Jack Kampschroer. The newlyweds will reside in Torrance on return from a honeymoon trip to Yosemite.

Mrs. Larson was graduated from Redondo High School, Los Angeles Harbor College and LBCC. She is active in American Association of University Women. Her husband attended Los Angeles State College and is a deputy game warden with the California Department of Fish and Game.

Members of the wedding party were Mrs. Jack Kampschroer, Nonya Newnes, Mrs. Dennis McCosth, Kristine and Jacqueline Kampschroer, Sharon Almsworth, Victor Dow, George Vanek

Headdresses, Fun History

much when it comes to human events. They've been worn to ward off evil spirits and demons, to control weather and the mind of the beholder, to bring good luck and assure happiness. They've been used in sacrificial rites, pagan courts, in the intrigues of war and love.

WHEN IT COMES to heady good luck charms, the hat with sleeves—the Mexican huipil grande—probably tops the list.

This face-framing white lace headdress is worn by the women of Tehuantepec. Legend has it that it originated when an Indian woman rescued a white child from drowning in the sea. To celebrate the event, she put the child's gown over her head. Now it's a traditional good luck wear in that part of Mexico.

Of course, the shape of the hat has changed a bit to comply with present usage, but the sleeves are still there.

Hats vary in not only material but size. From the enormous ornate Oriental headdresses (that caused the wearer headaches), they diminish down to the miniatures, mere whisps of lace, the French court ladies wore on top of their towering wigs.

THESE BABY-SIZED bonnets played a big part in our history, too. How? They became part of a famous American song—"Yankee Doodle."

Seems the English fops of that period (who called themselves macaroon and represented everything the American colonists didn't like) copied not only the high-rising court wigs but the tiny hats, too. So the song which roundly ridiculed them—"stuck a feather in his hat and called it Macaroon."

But, of all the hats that have been, including the Brelot (that kept away flies), the Serbian bonnet (that brought rain), the Thuringia straw (that guaranteed lots of babies), there's one ancient creation that would have lots of modern appeal.

It's the style worn at one time by the women of the nomadic Bedouin tribe of Saudi Arabia.

Seems, these roving Arabs didn't have banks to deposit their money. So, since molesting a woman's veil meant death, they attached their precious coins to their wife's veil.

One could really say those men put their money on their wife's heads—and just think of all the hats you could buy by taking a crimp in that veil.

Oswald Jacoby Squeeze Saves Day

South's bidding was about as delicate as a rampaging elephant. Of course, he did have 20 high card points including three aces and his partner had opened the bidding so he had some justification for getting right to the no-trump slam.

all his three remaining clubs. He was lucky, but he had made the good luck possible.

A look at dummy was not cheering. He could count five spades, three diamonds, two clubs and a heart, but that was only 11 tricks. Where was the twelfth coming from? Some sort of a squeeze might develop and South decided to play for it.

He won the first trick in dummy, led the four of hearts and played his eight after East played low. This deliberate loss of a trick was necessary so that he could set up the squeeze later.

WEST could have shifted to a club and beaten the hand provided that East would hold back his king, but West led a second diamond and the squeeze was on.

It wasn't complicated. South cashed his ace and king of diamonds and ace of hearts and proceeded to run off dummy's spade suit. South had to make two discards, but they were automatic. He let go of the deuce of hearts and six of clubs.

East had to make three discards. The first two were easy. He let the jack of hearts and deuce of clubs go. For his third discard he had to select the nine of clubs, whereupon South finessed against the king and made

NEW IN KNITS

Mrs. Richard Dach demonstrates her knitting ability on a machine imported from Switzerland to Mrs. Leon L. Wiltse (left) and Mrs. Albert H. Bristol. The women are preparing for the annual bazaar given by the Women of St. Luke's

to be held Friday at the new Youth Center of the church, Atlantic Avenue and Seventh Street. Hand loomed, decorated sweaters will be among the many attractive items offered.

St. Luke Bazaar Friday Bet His Boss Won't Be So Understanding

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

What do you do with a 23-year-old husband who won't get up in the morning?

For four years I have withstood kicks and punches trying to get him up. He is often late for work. "Tomorrow morning I'll try harder" is what he always says. Tomorrow never comes.

For him to get to work on time I have to drag him forcibly out of bed, and literally dress him. If that isn't enough, while I'm cooking breakfast (which he won't leave the house without) he sleeps on the couch and I have to start all over again.

I'm really desperate. I refuse to baby him any longer. I have real babies to look after. Can you help?

—DESPERATE WIFE
P.S. I have tried cold wash rags and such but he has a pretty mean temper.

DEAR WIFE:

Stop nagging him altogether. As soon as he learns that it is his own responsibility to get up and get going in the morning, the sooner he'll do it on his own.

Oh, I know how you worry about his being late for work and all that. Still you simply can't get on the job for him.

Dear Molly Mayfield

Get up, tend to your babies, let him sleep. Let him be late. Let him pay the penalty. It's the ONLY way he's ever really going to learn.—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I'll try to be brief. When I was married and we bought a house I tried to be a perfect housekeeper. My husband complained then because I was so tired and had no time for him. Then, I cut down on my housekeeping to pay more attention to him, and he complained because the house wasn't kept properly.

Eventually we were divorced. I had to support myself and the children. I still have the house but it NEVER gets cleaned now. It is all I can do to get the kids through school, keep them fed and clothed, and scratch up enough money to keep going.

My ex-husband has often hinted at remarriage. But when he comes to the house and sees the rat's nest we live in, he shies away again. Maybe he is waiting for me to tell him I will be a better wife than before, but all I knew to do then (or know now) was not enough, so how can I expect anything but to go on as we are now?

—BLANK FACE

DEAR BLANK:

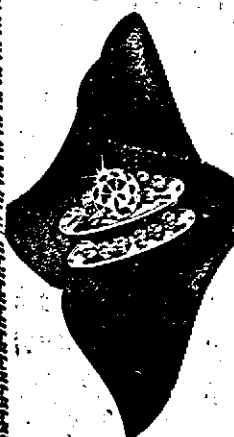

You seem to forget that you aren't the only young (or youngish) woman who has had to face the hardship of taking care of kids, and running a house at the same time on a very, very limited budget. It's hell on earth, all right, but it's even more hellish when you give up to the circumstances and won't even try to "swim."

You are hurting your children enormously by letting them grow up in a slipshod, dirty household. Each day that you continue to live in filth undermines your own pride. And certainly goes toward destroying hopes for a "family" future.

Fall Exhibits in Galleries

By ELISE EMERY
Art News Editor

Three new art exhibits open Thursday at Long Beach State College.

The Fifth Annual Drawing Show in the main gallery will include work by 40 major draftsmen in the Southern California area. In contrast to the four previous shows, which were juried, this year's annual is by invitation of the drawing faculty and the gallery director.

In the small gallery, graphics, films and packaging by the design firm of Morton Goldsoll and Associates will be displayed.

In other gallery space, the work of three LBSC alumni designers will be shown. John Nyquist, Howard Savage and Don McNab have won national recognition since graduation from the college.

The galleries at 6101 E. Seventh St. are open from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays, and 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays. The exhibits will continue through Dec. 17.

LONG BEACH City College will open its Faculty Art Show Wednesday to coincide with Education Day which is being observed as part of the city's Diamond Jubilee.

Most of the art faculty in the college's three divisions—liberal arts, business and technology, and general adult divisions will exhibit work in various media.

The show will open with a public reception from 8 to 9:30 p.m. in the gallery at Faculty Avenue and Harvey Way. It will continue through Dec. 13. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays.

through Thursdays, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Fridays.

ROGER M. UPTON and his son, Gerald E. Upton, have a joint exhibit at Pacific Coast Club Galleria through the month of December.

A reception, open to the public, will honor the artists next Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. in the gallery, 850 E. Ocean Blvd.

Roger Upton has spent most of his life on Catalina Island and his paintings reflect his love and knowledge of the island. He has won many awards, has exhibited in Europe and has sold paintings in England.

Gerald Upton, reared in Catalina and trained by his father, is primarily interested in color and movement of form and figure. He has won first awards in the Southern California area.

LONG BEACH Art Association's Fall Juried Exhibit will hang during November in the LBAA gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

Marie Bucher won the $50 best of show award for her oil, "The Last One." Second prize of $35 went to Claire Guthmann for a casein, "Sun Swinging."

Other first place winners are Suzanne Ferguson, oils; Robert J. Adams, water color; and Joy Nye Elliott, mixed media. Ralph Tarzian and Wanda Morgan tied for first in the sculpture category.

The show was judged by Elsa Warner.

MISS WARNER herself is a prize winner in the current California Water Color Society exhibit at Otis Art Institute, 2401 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles.

She won the $50 Duncan McIntosh award for her painting, "Recurrent Spring." The top $1,000 Lytton Savings and Loan award went to Rose Baumrucker. Prizes of $500 were given to James L. Odgers, Nick Brigante, Clinton Adams and John Kwok.

The exhibition will continue through Dec. 22. Gallery hours are from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays, closed Mondays.

BUSY MISS WARNER also has a one-man show opening today at International Gifts and Gallery of Arts, 142 Main Street, Seal Beach. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily except Sunday.

The artist recently retired after 25 years of teaching in the Long Beach school system. Prior to retirement, she was chairman of art at Polytechnic High School. She has spent several recent summers in Europe and now makes her home in Los Angeles.

AN EXHIBIT of original art by members and friends marks the 50th anniversary of Long Beach Unitarian Church.

During the anniversary celebration this week, two floor-to-ceiling murals, one on each side of the pulpit, will be completed. They depict 10 men who have contributed to man's fund of religious truths over the past 4,000 years, from the time of Ishmael to Albert Schweitzer.

ORANGE COUNTY Art Association will meet Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Hunt Foods Foundation Library, 201 S. Basque St., Fullerton. Four members of the newly-formed Los Angeles Printmaking Society—Conner Everts, Dick Swift, Tom Fricano and Leonard Edmondson—will conduct a round-table discussion.

THERE WILL BE an art reception Saturday and next Sunday from noon to 10 p.m. at Mario's Gallery of the Arts, 1337 South St.

ARTISTS and sculptors in Orange County are invited to exhibit in the first annual Lincoln Arms Center Art Festival Nov. 16 through 23. Paintings will be judged in two categories, traditional and contemporary and cash prizes and ribbons will be given. The third category is sculpture.

Judges will be Ruth Osgood, a director of Laguna Beach Art Association and member of California Water Color Society; Dr. Charles M. Thompson, art professor at Long Beach State College; and Vic Smith, associate professor of art at Orange State College.

The festival, free to the public, will be held in Lincoln Arms Center, 145 S. Westchester Drive, Anaheim.

IN FATHER-SON EXHIBIT
"The Net Menders," by Roger M. Upton, is one of his 25 paintings being exhibited at Pacific Coast Club Galleria through November. Sharing the show is artist's son, Gerald E. Upton, who has eight paintings on display.

Guitarist to Play With Symphony

Long Beach Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Lauris Jones, will open its 1963-1964 season of Sunday Evening Concerts November 24, at 8 p.m. in Long Beach City College Auditorium. Guest soloist will be the young Spanish guitarist, Angel Romero, who will play Rodriguez' "Concerto di Aranjuez" with the orchestra.

Romero came with his famous family from Madrid in 1962. He began his study of the guitar with his father, Celedonio, as soon as he was old enough to hold the instrument. By the time he was 11 he had joined "The Royal Family of the Guitar" in the concert hall.

now in Los Angeles, where Angel lives with his two brothers and father, all world-famous guitarists. At 6 o'clock every morning Celedonio reaches beneath his bed and pulls out a $1,000 guitar. Angel and his brothers, who sleep just down the hall, reach under their beds and grab their own guitars. The family plays together until 10 a.m. Then the father laces on some sneakers and leads his son in a run five times around the block.

Just how the road work helps him to play better Angel cannot explain. But in the true family tradition he gives a limber, clean-lined performance of classic music for the guitar. For his appearance with the Long Beach orchestra he will perform the concerto and a selected group of unaccompanied works from the classic guitar repertoire.

THE ORCHESTRA will play Wagner's "Prelude to the Mastersinger," Hanson's "Romantic Symphony" and Debussy's "Clouds" and "Festivals."

Romero will also perform with the orchestra on Saturday evening, Nov. 23 at the second of the popular family concert by the Symphony.

Reserved seats for the Sunday concert and unserved seats for the Saturday concert are available at Humphreys Music Company, 135 E. Third St., and the Long Beach Symphony Office, 1935 E. 7th Street.

Some season tickets are still available at savings of almost 50%.

Artists, Craftsmen Excel in Balboa Show

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

"Artist as Craftsman—Craftsman as Artist" is an important show for several reasons. First, its content is exciting: a wide variety of experimental creations for use in home, garden, or (in the case of jewelry) on the person.

Secondly, the installation is spectacular. A number of artists and volunteers from the Fine Art Patrons of Newport Harbor worked under the direction of sculptural potter Jerry Rothman to turn the left of the Balboa Pavilion into indoor and outdoor areas suitable for viewing the works which include pots, a fantastic birdcage by the Frankels, fabrics for walls, windows, chairs and floor, blown glass, pure sculpture, ceramic sculpture, enameled metal... to mention just a few of the art forms.

PATRICIA HUGEN

THE THIRD reason is the strong challenge this show poses in the long argument as to where the line can be drawn between art and craft. I note above that I discriminated between "pure" sculpture and ceramic sculpture.

How would one characterize Robert Ramsey's object of beaten slab clay with cement glaze? Is it a pot, or is it a sculptural form?

"It would be impossible to describe Robert Creman, who also is represented in this show, as a wood craftsman rather than a sculptor, for example, even though his skill in wood mortise is consummate.

ON THE OTHER hand, Sam Malouf's walnut rocking chair visually realizes the exquisite comfort it offers while existing, to me, as sculpture. Jean Ray Laury's stiches are surely something more than the quilts that Grandma used to make. Henry Evjenth's chalice of silver, gold, and ivory epitomizes an act of pure religious worship.

The vast number of really dreadful things done in the past, which gave rise to the term "arty-craftsy" are, mercifully obviated by the excellent objects in this exhibit.

THE SHOW continues through Dec. 8 at the Pavilion, which is open from 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. Seventy-three artists, all Californians, mostly of the Southern variety, are represented with an average of three works each. A good 10 percent of them are either graduates or faculty members of Long Beach State.

Musicians in Concert at Church

Patricia Hugen, soprano, and Lloyd Holzgraf, organist, will appear in concert today at 7:30 p.m. in California Heights Methodist Church, Orange Avenue and Bixby Road.

The program is the second in a series of inspirational sacred music vespers.

Patricia Hugen has sung before numerous audiences in the city and throughout Southern California as an oratorio soloist and as guest soloist with choral organizations. She will be a soloist again in the annual December Long Beach production of "The Messiah."

Holzgraf, recognized nationally as a musician of unusual ability, is organist at First Congregational Church and at Temple Israel.

Anecdotes of the Maestros

By RACHEL MORTON
L. P. T. Music Critic

An interesting booklet reached me a few days ago. It is entitled "Symphony—The Story of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra" and it was written by John Orlando Northcutt.

The preface, called "Symphony Music," is beautifully worded and the content of the book is most informative. I shall hope to reveal some of this to my readers in some future Major & Minor Notes columns.

But, for today, I would like to quote some of the inimitable word pictures Northcutt has drawn of what he calls "Commanders in Chief." He writes:

Major and Minor Notes

as he grew older," writes Northcutt.

FIRST OF THE titled Britishers to conduct the Philharmonic was bearded Sir Henry Wood, a conductor full of emotion and sentiment. He urged the players to "SING—gentlemen—SING." So the men put down their instruments and sang!

Seven men in the role of permanent conductor have been: Walter Henry Rothwell, eight years; Georg Schneevoght, two years; Artur Rodzinski, four years; Otto Klemperer, six years; Alfred Wallenstein, 13 years; Eduard Van Beinum, three years; and Zubin Mehta, engaged in 1962.

HALF NOTES: San Francisco Opera performances for the coming week at the Shrine Auditorium are: "The Carmelites," Nov. 12; "Tosca," Nov. 13; "La Traviata," Nov. 15; "La Forza del Destino," Nov. 16; "Mefistofele," Nov. 17 at 8 o'clock. Evening performances begin at 8 o'clock.

'King' Cole to Open at Melodyland

Nat King Cole will open his new variety show, "Sights and Sounds '63," Tuesday, Nov. 26 at Melodyland Theater, Anaheim. The show will run one week.

Tickets for opening night may be purchased locally from members of Exceptional Children's Foundation. The foundation is forging its annual door-to-door campaign and has planned a series of fund-raising events instead. The foundation has 89 children in its training program and a waiting list of 16.

COLE HAS been touring the country with his new show which includes a 20-piece orchestra under the direction of Joe Zito; "The Merry Young Souls," an ensemble of 12 attractive young singers; and a new "social-satirical" comedian, Pete Barbati.

IN 45 YEARS the most distinguished conductors of the world have led the Philharmonic as guest conductors. They have come from 25 countries and seven have served as permanent conductors.

Choice anecdotes are told of some of the conductors. Northcutt relates: "The first time Stravinsky appeared with the Philharmonic, he called the first chair men to his dressing room after the performance. He gave each a kiss and a red rose—same shade as the glow on the embarrassed men's faces."

"BRUNO WALTER, Eduard van Beinum and Montreux were the gentlest of all conductors. Molinari was the most destructive. He vented his ire by throwing watches to the floor and smashing them into smithereens. Sir Thomas Beecham, headline maker, master of the quick retort, the uncalculated insult, the pithy and pat rejoinder, was a model of tactfulness and gentle melancholy as a lad. He recovered from this restriction

Hootenanny to Attract Local Talent

Two navy men, Virgil Storteen of the USS Colorado, and Mark Pettit of the USS Dynamic, will take part in the big Diamond Jubilee Hootenanny today at 2 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium.

The hootenanny, sponsored by the publication, Show-News of Hollywood, will spotlight folk singers and musicians from local colleges and service units.

Storteen, a strapping blond, 6-feet tall, accompanies himself on the guitar, singing many of his own arrangements and compositions. With Pettit, he will try to capture for the navy some of the many prizes being offered.

'Monique' Promises Suspense

"Monique," a suspenseful mystery with a touch of "supernatural" opens Friday at Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave.

A study in the deterioration of human character under devious attack by base passions, the work features Charlotte Millam in the title role. She plays an attractive and dominating woman doctor who ensnares a man of good will (Errol Allen) unhappily married to a shrew (Erica Thotos) who refuses to give him a divorce.

Monique convinces the husband that his wife must be removed, and the two devise an ingenious method of doing away with her. The solution is sure to surprise the audience.

IN THE CAST are Kathie Kelley as Lisette, Peggy Gerard as Henriette, Stuart Chestnam as Merlin, Barry Slavin as Goutier, and Edwin Craig as Andre.

Under the direction of Clay Foster, "Monique" will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday, through Dec. 15. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m.

Golden Anniversary for J. C. Ashbournes

With their children, grandchildren, relatives and many friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ashbourne will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary today at a reception from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in the Tropical Room of Elks Clubhouse.

The couple was married in Butte, Mont., Nov. 10, 1913 and came to Long Beach in 1922. They reside at 330 W. 19th St.

MR. ASHBOURNE, a roofing contractor, is a member of Elks Lodge No. 888. He is a director of the Boys Club, past president of West Side Exchange Club,

His talents are accumulative! First and foremost an attorney, he is also a teacher, writer, actor, navigator and can grow roses like crazy. Blaine Nels Simons Jr., has been an all-out participant in life—not just a spectator.

Of Norwegian ancestry, Simons was born in Sioux Falls, S.D. His dad, then and now, an active attorney in Sioux Falls, and his mother (now deceased) a school teacher, set a perfect vocational example for their children. His brother and sister became teachers—the sister eventually retiring to become the wife of a Minneapolis attorney.

A BA degree from the University of South Dakota, LLB from Texas U., and a masters degree in history from Long Beach State College, preceded his opening his law office in Long Beach in 1949.

DURING World War II, he served as navigator on an LST in the European Theatre of operations, and participated in D-Day landings in Normandy. He was discharged in 1945 as a Lt.jg.

Married for 18 years to Mrs. S. (Georgia) who is active in the Long Beach Lawyer's Wives and Children's Clinic, they have four daughters and one son. Sandra, 17, and Susan, 15, are both students at Wilson High. Eloise is eight, Marcha, 4; and as of last Dec. 1, Gordon Blaine arrived.

EDITOR of the Long Beach Bar monthly bulletin since 1958, he was president of the Long Beach Bar Association in 1960. He served on the board of directors of the Long Beach Bar from 1958-60, of the Boy's Club from 1952-58, and of the Long Beach Counseling Service, Inc. in 1954.

Simons also teaches a class in Business Law and American History at Long Beach City College one or two evenings a week, and has made three or four appearances each year for the past four, on "Day in Court," a day time show on ABC-TV.

As to his writing, his articles have appeared frequently in the L.P.'s Southland Magazine, and in several national magazines, as well. A New York agent is trying to sell a second novel, but as yet, his first has not been accepted. His motto: "keep trying" will serve him well.

IF SIMONS gets any idea of guiding the destinies of a paint brush around the house "Mrs. S." will be doing him a favor, by getting there first. He adheres strictly to orderliness, but has never been known to shut a dresser drawer or a cupboard door.

Our "chef" prefers reading to cooking. In fact, his cooking prowess is limited to whipping up a batch of fudge or a bowl of popcorn. Which he does at least three times a week. He enjoys golf, and is a worthy foe at paddle tennis.

Simons' recipe today was "lifted" sometime ago from a favorite aunt in Pasadena. He says it's very tasty, and equally high in calories.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Chris Noel Wears Aching Heart on Sleeve

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

The lady, and a beauty she is, admittedly is wearing her heart on her sleeve.

"I really don't know what I'm going to do," said blonde Chris Noel, 21. "Maybe if he sees it in print—"

This column normally does not compete with Dear Abby or Molly Mayfield.

But when a lady is wearing her heart on her sleeve and appeals to a columnist for help, what's a guy going to do?

If he's a gentleman and a sucker for blondes, the columnist is going to cooperate.

SO TODAY'S column will be in the form of a public-service message. After all, Chris Noel is a member of the public.

And currently, rather a prominent member of the public based on the degree of exposure to the television audience.

For Chris, a former model, generally appears in a different role Saturdays on NBC-TV's "The Lieutenant." From an exposure point of view, Chris dramatically comes over with emphasis aided by 36-23-34 statistics.

So much for identity. Let's get down to the case in point.

The man for whom Chris is carrying the torch is actor Hugh "Wyatt Earp" O'Brien whom she has dated and appeared with in summer stock.

"I CARE for Hugh very much," said Noel. "And he's afraid to show how much he cares."

"He goes to a certain extent and then he fights it. He fights it like crazy."

"It makes me very unhappy when a man can't show he cares—holds everything back."

Perhaps Hugh has the idea that Chris is strictly a career woman. Chris, certainly, doesn't have that idea.

"When I get married," she said, "I'll forget my career. I'm a woman and that's what a woman is meant to be—married."

IT IS A career which, for Chris, is picking up impetus all the time.

In addition to her "Lieutenant" assignments, she appears with Steve McQueen in the motion picture "Soldier in the Rain" and has a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

It is a career which, Chris feels, started climbing up when she turned down $5,000.

The $5,000 is what she was offered about three years ago to pose nude for a center fold-out spread in a girlie magazine.

The New York offer came at a time when the lovely model was skipping lunches and sometimes breakfasts because she was almost broke. She was thinking of taking a job as a waitress to get closer to food.

"I JUST couldn't take the offer," said Chris.

"I knew it would have made my mother feel bad. And when I have my own family, I want to be able to hold my head high."

She didn't go to work as a waitress, either. Her agent staked her to $200.

Within the next few days she obtained two modeling jobs and made a television commercial.

Off to a new start, good fortune has smiled at Chris

'Queen for Day' Salutes L.B., Free Tickets

"Queen for a Day" is going to help Long Beach's Diamond Jubilee sparkle.

Jack Bailey, host of the popular ABC-TV daily program, reports that the entire studio has been reserved for Long Beach residents on Nov. 19.

Tickets—1,200 of them — are now available at the All-States Society of Long Beach office, 148 E. Ocean Blvd. Office hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day of the week.

There is no charge for the tickets.

FOR THOSE desiring transportation to Hollywood and back to Long Beach, special busses have been reserved, and will leave at 2 p.m. The transportation cost, round-trip, is $1.50. Bus reservations must be made early, according to Marshall Craig, head of the society.

One of the persons attending from Long Beach will be selected as "Queen for a Day."

The program, which airs daily at 3 p.m. on channel 7, is taped at the former Moulin Rouge on Sunset Blvd. near Vine St.

The taped Long Beach program will air Nov. 27.

YANKS ARE COMING TONIGHT

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

With the dedication of a historian and the dramatic sense of a suspense-movie author, television producer David L. Wolper has monumentally created a dynamic documentary.

It's called "The Yanks Are Coming." Appropriately, KTTV (channel 11) airs it 10 p.m. today (Sunday), the eve of Veterans Day.

The documentary is about the advent of World War I and America's involvement. I previewed it last week.

IF "THE YANKS ARE COMING" is a page out of history, Wolper makes it a moving page.

The too-frequent method of using still photos to tie in lapses between action is not employed by Wolper. There is no need. There is no lapse.

There is a continuity, a flow, that effectively moves the program along the stream of time without any grinding detours.

What could have merely been a piecemeal collection of old newsreels is, instead, a well-told story.

There are contrasts skillfully augmented by use of background music from the period. To illustrate, "I Didn't Raise My Boy to be a Soldier" and "Johnny, Get Your Gun."

THERE is the solemn voice of narrator Richard Basehart: "Every romantic notion of war is soon crushed by deadly weapons."

There are lighter moments, Doughboys dancing and another song: "How You Gonna Keep Them Down on the Farm After They've Seen Paris."

THESE DEPENDABLE
MAYTAG FEATURES,
that's what!

The Maytag Halo of Heat Gas Dryer has the big difference in automatic dryers — a gentle circle of even heat and safe, low temperatures. There are no "hot spots" in a Maytag Dryer so you can dry your most delicate fabrics without worry. Yet the Maytag Gas Dryer is so fast it can dry a load of 32 diapers in 32 minutes. And its full, family-size capacity lets you dry as much as you can wash at one time. Maytag's efficient lint filter eliminates lint problems too.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Chris' Heart Aches for Hugh

since her rejection of the nude layout.

The TV commercial led to her appearance in summer stock and the summer stock led to Hollywood screen tests and the Hollywood screen tests led to "The Lieutenant" and her current starlet status.

CHRIS, because she "just can't do nudes," doesn't consider herself a prude.

"A girl can look just as sexy in a sheath as if she keeps on showing everything," she said.

"What I mean is that a girl should show her figure, but in the dresses she wears. For example, I do wear fairly low-cut dresses."

Some of her dresses are sleeveless, permitting no room for the wearing of an aching heart.

But it's there, nevertheless.

ASTHMA & SMOG

Air polluted by smog, dust and pollen aggravates recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. At the first signs of difficulty breathe in, breathe out, cough and mucus excretion from such cause, start taking MENDACOL to combat allergy, loosen and help mucus clearing passages and thus promote a freer breathing and more restful sleep. Most drug stores and recommended MENDACOL.

DOES GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKE YOU FEEL OLD

ATTENTION! If you are tired, nervous, or have trouble sleeping, you may be suffering from a lack of Vitamin B1. This is a common condition that can be easily corrected by taking a small amount of Vitamin B1 daily. Vitamin B1 is essential for the proper functioning of the nervous system and for the production of energy. It is found in a variety of foods, including whole grains, legumes, and meat. If you are unable to get enough Vitamin B1 from your diet, a supplement may be necessary. Consult your doctor for more information.

Hope Fights Back

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Bob Hope finally has put one over on Bing Crosby.

Old Ski Nose and Mrs. Crosby (Kathy) will play husband and wife on Bob's Show at 8:30 p.m. Friday, channel 4. And Hope has sprinkled the script with enough romance to give Bing a case of lives.

In the long, hokey Crosby-Hope "feud," Bob has been a constant loser. Der Bingle is a master of one-upmanship, almost making a straight man out of his comedian buddy.

"YES SIR," said Bob. "Kathy has finally seen the light. Once she plays those romantic scenes with me she will be spoiled for life.

"I guess Bing will just have to go back to school or check with Cesar Romero. I don't know how he can follow an act like mine."

It is a genuine coup for Hope in his long-standing joust with the Old Groaner. Down through the years Bing managed to get the best of Bob on the golf course. He topped the comedian in the children department, too, seven to four.

In their famed "Road to ..." pictures it was always Crosby who got the girl while Hope was left in the lurch.

FINANCES have been another big deal between the two stars. The quips fly thick and fast as to which has the fattest bank book. Each credits the other with being the richest man in the world. "I know Crosby's got more dough than I do," Hope said. "He sends CARE packages to Nelson Rockefeller. Bing's only problem is that he has all his money tied up in cash."

SPECIAL

BOB HOPE SPECIAL — Hope's first filmed-in-color comedy for TV finds him playing screen husband to the real wife of his old "Road" buddy as he teams with Kathryn Crosby and Jill St. John at 8:30 p.m., ch. 4. In the story of a lovable boob and his wife who are "conned" into buying a luxurious Waverly Hills estate next door to a notorious mobster and his frisky moll.

HALL OF FAME — Charlton Heston stars as Thomas Jefferson in Robert Hartung's adaptation of Sidney Kingsley's "The Patriots," at 9:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. John Fraser, Howard St. John and Peggy Ann Garner co-star in the 90-minute dramatization of Jefferson's sacrifices in opposing Alexander Hamilton's Federalist party, and bringing to reality his own concept that the power to govern rests with the people rather than an elite aristocracy.

WILLBANKS

SELLS QUALITY CARPET FOR LESS

The Willbanks Story

The Willbanks Carpet Co. is a departure from the usual carpet specialty shop. It was founded on the premise that quality carpet, backed by expert installation, could be sold at a minimum mark-up in sufficient volume to be profitable. The extension of this premise was to operate without frills and costly fixtures from a low rent and thus low overhead location in a factory warehouse on a side street in Signal Hill. By eliminating high rent and other cost-raising features, the company decided it could afford to pass on to its customers the substantial savings by giving more carpet at less cost.

A Special Buy from Mohawk

Here is an outstanding value. A carpet by Mohawk using Acrylic fibers. A smart, practical carpet that you will be proud of. Being a special buy, there is only a limited supply in stock. There are 3 good decorator colors to choose from: Frost beige, Gold, Sandalwood.

A Terrific Value at

HERCULON by Gulistan

One of the strongest man made fibers known today—fashioned into beautiful broadloom that is amazingly soil resistant and easy to clean. Absorbs less moisture than any other fiber. The lovely colors are locked in. Will never fade, never change, rugged, durable and strong. Takes years of hardest wear. We have many colors to choose from both in 2-tone and solid colors.

The Willbanks Price

$6.95
Per Yd.

ALEXANDER SMITH'S ALL-WOOL Candy Stripe

Through the year the mill accumulates a lot of yarn from their more expensive patterns. In order not to waste this yarn they make up a candy stripe with many beautiful colors. This is a real quality piece of carpet.

OUR COVER

In the mood of "itchy feet," an expression long indicative of the lover of travel, today's cover by Staff Artist Al Cano is the "bindle" of the rover—but this particular wanderer is far more sophisticated than the American itinerant of the railroad rods or the highwayside. He's been around. Travel today is both easier and more complicated than that of the hobo's sunshine routes of a day gone by. There's now the problem of reservations in a thronging populace on the move, there's the complication of matching connections in the fast-moving air, land and sea transportation of modern days. But it's all made easier by travel agents; airline, rail and steamship services; speeded up customs procedures; automated registration at hotels and motor inns; superb accommodations—and what will you? Modern travel has also burgeoned out of the summer vacation classification into an all-year activity. And to assist travelers and travel dreamers with a fall outlook on a favorite pastime, consult the travel pages of today's Southland Magazine.

Wine production is a major California industry and the Golden State's wines rank among the world's finest. Soil and climate conducive to viticulture was a finding of the early Mission Padres and their pioneering led to the vast commercial venture that is today's vintner activity. California's grapes have now been harvested and pressed and wine is mellowing in giant casks. Wine makers now have time to spend with their friends and a visit to a winery will reveal a welcome mal. More about wineries and visiting hours in next week's Southland.

was only one part of a 'round-the-world tour which began in Norway and ended in Japan.

Mrs. Doty had planned to ride her motorcycle "Poochie" around the world. But she sold it in Israel after authorities told her that it would be banned in Jordan.

Mrs. Doty, widow of a Baptist minister, set out on her world tour alone in June 1962, with no reservations and no particular plans other than to hike across Norway, buy a motorcycle in Germany and eventually visit friends stationed in missionary fields throughout Africa, India and Japan. The fact that she had never driven a motorcycle before was for Grandma Doty a matter of small importance.

THIS LEAN, wiry enthusiastic woman accomplished everything she set out to do with the exception of visiting the Congo. She hiked across Norway with 20 pounds of luggage strapped to her back, learned to drive "Poochie" with a speed that astonished her German instructor, then whizzed through England, Holland, Belgium, France, Luxembourg, Italy and Spain.

A French woman cyclist challenged her to a 50-mile race across the northern Alps. With a "ta-ta-America, you can't take me," Grandma Doty's opponent sped by in the first lap of the race. "But she didn't know 'Poochie,'" explained Mrs. Doty. "Poochie" was built for climbing and as soon as the grade steepened we gained on her so much that I never did see her again."

A deeply religious woman, Mrs. Doty says, "the Lord went ahead of me all the way. I never had but one reservation and that was in Tokyo but I always found a place to sleep. Often I would find when coming into a town that all the rooms had been taken but one."

Of the 42 countries, Mrs. Doty visited, Israel impressed her the most. "It's the most promising country on the face of the earth," she said. "I've seen a lot of things in the world that I don't want to see again."

recalled the highlights of her month-long tour of famed Biblical spots which began with a Christmas Eve visit to Jerusalem.

ISRAEL'S energetic, friendly people took Grandma Doty into their hearts and their officials issued orders that she was to be allowed to drive "Poochie" wherever she pleased.

After a sorrowful parting with "Poochie" Mrs. Doty flew to Jordan and Lebanon for a visit to orphanages she had helped support, and to tour the famed Biblical ruins at Baalbek.

Then she sailed for Egypt, rode a camel to the Pyramids and reported that the animal "swayed like a ship." She toured the Aswan Dam, then made her way by plane and train to the Sudan, Uganda and Kenya where she again visited missionary friends.

"I wanted to enter the Congo," she said, "but officials said that while it was possible to go in they could not guarantee that I would be able to get out."

After Africa came India, Burma, Saigon, Japan, Hong Kong and the Philippines. Japan was reached in the spring when the cherry blossoms were in bloom and Mrs. Doty described them "as the loveliest sight I have ever seen."

FOR THE WOMAN who is afraid to travel alone, Mrs. Doty has this to say. "Get over your fears, there is nothing to be afraid of. I was treated with kindness everywhere."

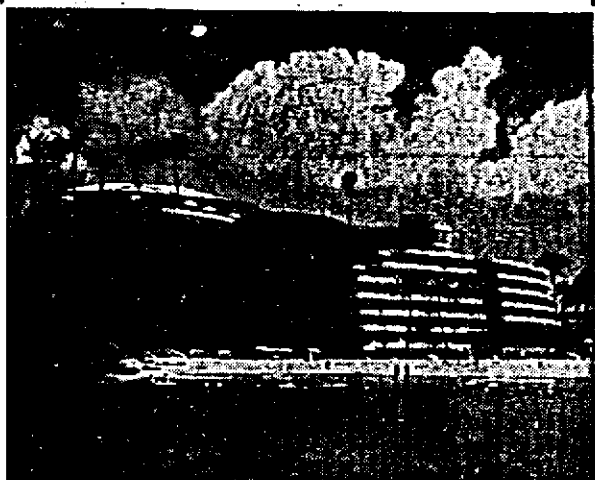

"I was never ill a day on the trip and I believe much of that was due to the fact that I ate lightly. This I would recommend to any traveler."

A fine amateur photographer and artist, Mrs. Doty is now engaged in processing colored slides taken during her travels. The best of these she plans to reproduce on canvas and sell for the benefit of the United Nations.

Vacation Palaces

Where ever you travel in the next few months, even to the far corners of the world, chances are better than even that a brand-new hotel will be there to greet you. A universal hotel-building binge has been going on for some time, in a feverish attempt to catch up with the ever increasing tide of tourism. Here are a few of these palaces of comfort only recently opened.

Rising seven stories like a series of ivory ruffles against a dark, lava rock promontory, Hawaii's Sheraton-Maui is unique among hosteries of the Pacific.

Frankfurt Intercontinental Hotel has been opened on Main River in Frankfurt. With 500 rooms, it is Germany's largest.

The President, 800-room palace of oriental elegance, opened Nov. 1 in Hong Kong. Its appointments reflect grandeur and contrast of the teeming Occident.

HOW YOUR CHILD LEARNS

About Long Books

By Howard E. Kent

QUESTION: Should a high school student be expected to read very long books?
ANSWER: Yes, by this time he should be able to do so.

True, his reading assignments in school thus far have been relatively brief—selections that usually could be read at one sitting.

After a diet of essays, short stories, or selected chapters from novels, the prospect of tackling "Moby Dick" or "Crime and Punishment" can be frightening.

He must start by realizing that such books are not supposed to be devoured in one, two, or even a half dozen readings. They have to be read on the installment plan.

Previously, the student could wait until the night before his report to read the assignment. Now he must start weeks before, reading a portion of his book every day.

By pacing himself in this way, he can make the transition from small to big reading assignment with a minimum of pain and a maximum of pleasure.

QUESTION: "Do English courses tend to lay a heavy hand on the enjoyment of literature?"

ANSWER: Unfortunately, we have to agree that they often do.

When students are burdened with excessive literary analysis, literature becomes agony rather than entertainment.

We've noticed that the analysis in many cases is mere busy work, adding little or nothing to either the enjoyment or understanding of the piece of writing.

One collection of English literature contains a puckish essay by A. P. Herbert about doodling at meetings. Herbert gives examples of his drawings, including a landscape.

"Somehow or other a man has got into this landscape," he writes, "and, as luck would have it, it is Napoleon. Apart from this it is not a bad landscape."

At the end of the essay, the serious-minded editor of the collection asks, under "Discussion Hints": "Does the man in Fig. 9 really look like Napoleon?"

CLEAN AND BEAUTIFULLY PRESERVED FOR YEARS"

Three rules for rug beauty and care are: (One) Light daily cleaning with a carpet sweeper or vacuum. (Two) Thorough vacuuming once or twice a week. (Three) Professional cleaning once a year.

Remember, there is a difference between dust and dirt or grime. Dust lays on the surface of a rug, but grime and soil get down in the fibers of the rug and actually eat away at them—this grime eating action is the reason why once-a-year professional cleaning is a must.

Off-season, travel
splurge continues

Winter's Gadabouts Get the Bargains

By Fred Taylor Kraft

Thousands of winter nomads will follow the sun to fun at bargain prices. Above, beach in Canary Islands along south coast of Spain.

LIKE A FORMATION of geese, vacationists will start following the sun this month to lands where summer spends the winter.

The hejira will descend upon tropical lands throughout the world to view their wonders of nature, to visit their cities and villages, to become better acquainted with their people and their way of life, to play and tan on their beaches.

In short, these off-season American nomads—travel experts estimate the number will exceed three million—expect to live it up at a time of year when travel and hotel accommodations are not only easier to come by but at rates often much lower than during the summer season. And they'll find service inevitably better, and the atmosphere everywhere more relaxed.

As expected, the most popular destination will be the Pacific—Hawaii, Tahiti and the South Seas, and Japan. (See Page 9)

MEXICO CONTINUES to gain favor with visitors. Several of the popular resort hotels in the Mexican capital already are booked solid through the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Because much of Mexico is tropical, travel will not be confined to the capital. "Hottest" tourist spot just now is Puerto Vallarta, on the Pacific Coast west of Guadalajara, reported to be the "most unspoiled spot" in the Republic. (Incidentally, a new 140-room luxury hotel, the Posada Vallarta, will open there on Dec. 20.

Central America, notably Guatemala, is on the itinerary of some of the crowd descending upon Mexico.

THE CARIBBEAN, fast becoming a favorite destination for vacationists, will be better patronized than a year ago by West Coast residents. The favored spots seem to be Puerto Rico, Jamaica and the Virgin Islands, though many like to go to the Bahamas.

Most, but not all, off-season junketers are moving with the sun. A notable example is Europe, which, next to the Pacific, will draw more visitors from the Southwest than any other area.

Twenty-one-day "Thrift Trips" by air from Los Angeles to Paris, starting at $697, and all-expense flights covering a half-dozen central European countries (about $933) are stimulating travel to the Continent.

Snow is another factor. One of the most popular winter sports areas will be Val d'Isere, in the French Alps, where the U. S. Olympic Ski Team will train from December through February for the 1964 Games. Others from the West Coast will enjoy this favorite sport in the Swiss Alps, Austria and Italy.

Some European travelers will join other vacationists in a swing through the Mediterranean and the Near East.

(It is interesting to note that more and more tourists, with an eye on their purses, are stretching their budgets by passing up plush European hotels in favor of "that nice little place just around the corner." Europe, of course, is famous for its small but comfortable hosteldries.)

HOW WILL PEOPLE GO?

Steamships are enjoying a resurgence in popularity, not only because more people have more leisure, but also because steamship travel affords "a short spell of being idle, spoiled, and far removed from cares and worries," says an executive of a Pacific line.

Cruises are constantly increasing. Next year, there will be 485 of them out of United States ports alone, a great number of them from the West Coast.

Economy wise, steamship companies are making winter cruises even more attractive with reductions of up to 25 per cent from their regular fares.

The airlines, meanwhile, are stepping up their schedules. As an example, Trans World Airlines is scheduling 13,318 transatlantic jet seats on 91 passenger flights weekly this fall and winter between the United States and Europe and the Mediterranean, the largest number in its history. And Air France, between now and next March 31, will have 37 jetliner departures for Paris per week from North America.

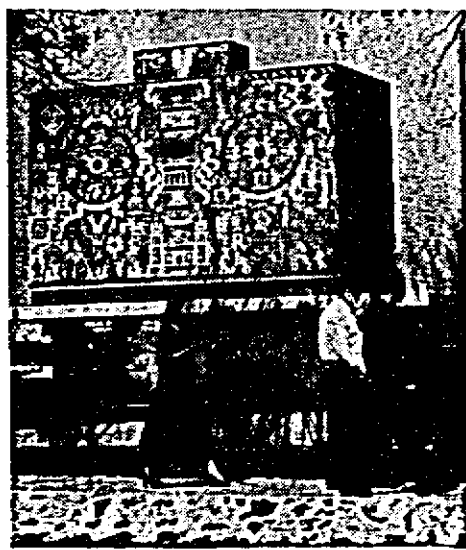

gateways. The same is true of Pan Am to its far-flung destinations, and Delta Air Lines to points southeast and into the Caribbean.

STEAMSHIP companies and airlines have scheduled some tours which combine cruising with jetting.

Freighter travel, of course, is as always only more so.

But not all gadabouts will be going outside the United States.

The east and southeast coasts are prime targets for the junketer, particularly New York City where entertainment possibilities are unlimited. (See Page 8.) And already there has been travel into the Rocky Mountain region, and even to New England, where the shadow of winter is changing forests into wonderlands of color. (Continued on Page 31)

Mexico City ranks high on winter travel itineraries. Above, Hall of Sciences at the University of Mexico.

To other travelers, winter means snow and skiing. Above, a village in Swiss Oberland near Geneva.

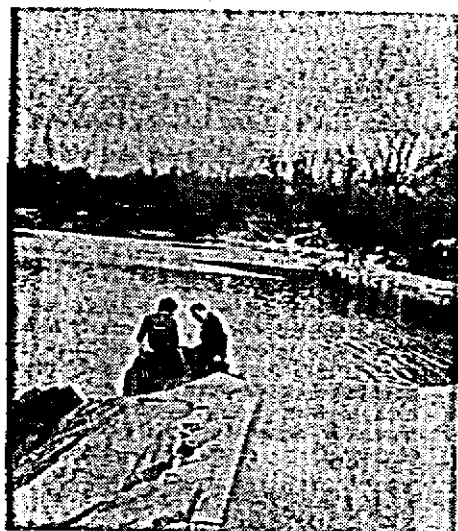

New York Convention and Visitors Bureau Photos

New York's towers are spectacular, seen for first or 100th time. There is much to do and see of international flavor in New York.

New York City

Next Best Thing to a World Tour

Central Park (left) has worldwide fame and offers year-around appeal. Fashionable Fifth Avenue runs north from Washington Square Arch (right).

Spiral ramp, below, is a feature of Frank Lloyd Wright designed museum.

YOU DON'T have to own a million, be a foreign diplomat or join the Navy to see the world. Just go to New York City.

This mecca of ready-mix cultures and myriad nationalities is the next best thing to a trip around the world.

New York is lights and sound and people and music far into the night. It is the Old World, the New World and the World of Tomorrow welded together by bridges, subways, tunnels and ferries, by steel and asphalt and shimmering glass.

It's the variety store of the world—for any price you want to pay.

And soon there's to be an added attraction, an extra bargain for your "instant world" travel dollar: the spectacular, 646-acre, 1964-65 New York World's Fair, scheduled to open April 22.

SPEAKING of your travel dollar, it's an accepted fact that the budget-wise tourist who knows his way around on the Big Town's rapid transit system can sightsee the principal attractions on a dollar bill.

The smart visitor with a thin wallet will select a judicious mixture of the underground subways, surface bus network and the ferries that link the city's watery geography into a vast and intricate web of inexpensive transportation.

By doubling back on his tracks, one resourceful lad recently rode 25 hours and covered 400 miles for a single 15-cent fare on New York's subway system, largest in the world.

The municipally-owned bus system operates (if you don't know it)

200 routes, traverses more than 600 miles and penetrates into every cranny of the metropolis. Bus fares also are 15 cents.

MANY THINGS in New York are free to see. There is no admission charge to parks and zoos, and one can attend Shakespeare performances and band concerts in summer in Central Park without charge.

Certain other tourist attractions have a nominal charge. You can walk around, through and under Rockefeller Center and its Channel Gardens for free. But there is a charge for a guided tour of Rockefeller Center—$1.50 for adults; 95 cents for children. To go to the observation tower of the RCA Building costs $1; 65 cents for children; to go atop Empire State, it's $1.30, children 65 cents. A guided tour of the U. N. complex costs $1, 50 cents for students. All cheap at half price.

TAKING IN a Broadway show—or two or three—is a "must" on any New York traveler's itinerary. Variety is the spice (and the frustration), for there are nearly 100 theaters, off-Broadway, and on, from which to choose.

Hits thrilling audiences this fall include a new vehicle for Long Beach's Van Heflin called "Libel," playing at the Longacre. Also rating rave notices are Meredith Willson's latest, "The Sound of Music," and "The Music Man," playing at the Majestic.

"Here's Love," at the Shubert and "Never Too Late" starring Maureen O'Sullivan at the Playhouse.

GETTING TICKETS can be a problem, so start early. Write either the box office of the show you'd like to see, or contact your hotel for reservations, giving, of course, a choice of dates.

Speaking of hotels, it'll be crowded in New York this year, even though the city has more than 600 hotels and many motels in the environs. To take care of the influx, a housing system has been set up for duration of the Fair.

Hotel arrangements, we are told, can be made through the New York World's Fair Housing Bureau, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, N. Y. Effective Nov. 15, the Housing Bureau telephone will be area code 212, Circle 7-0100.

MORE ABOUT the world-filled atmosphere: Don't miss some of New York's many nationality neighborhoods with their different tongues and accents, different customs, holidays and ways of life.

In New York's busy, bustling shopping areas you'll find world treasures in dazzling abundance... an unlimited selection of the newest fashions, for New York is its own fashion resource... the best and most beautiful of home decorations... the rarest jewels. You can buy

The Pacific ...Exciting, Astonishing!

By Jack Gabriel
Pacific Area Travel Association

TAKING a horseback ride to Indonesia's volcanic Mt. Bromo, watching firewalkers on Fiji's Beqa Island or seeing the world's greatest rice terraces in the Philippines are only a few of the astonishing things tourists can do in Pacific countries. There isn't time for all the excitement the countries offer in that part of the world, and plans must be made carefully to include as many as possible, according to the Pacific Area Travel Association.

There is nothing more incredible than a water tour of Hong Kong's harbor, where a separate world exists in close proximity to the surrounding land. Thousands of Chinese live on junks and sampans on the water, knowing no other life from cradle to grave. This water existence includes floating markets, churches and schools, or just about everything people could have on land, but it's all unbelievable even when seen.

To say that shopping in Hong Kong is the best in the world is to simplify the entire matter. But almost everything there costs less than it does in the country where it was made, and it would be a shameful waste of money not to take advantage of it. A tailor-made man's suit, completed after several fittings, may cost from $30 to $60, depending on the material, but it's still just about one-half what he'll pay for a ready-made suit at home. There's tailoring for the gals, also, as well as perfume, gloves, jewelry, furniture—everything!

THE RICE TERRACES at Banaue, in the Philippines, are an ancient engineering marvel for, although more than 2,500 years old, they are still operated in a highly efficient manner. The drive from Baguio, the summer capital, to Banaue is high and winding and takes several hours, but all the scenery that is passed is a tonic to the optic nerves. Tourists usually arrive at nightfall, and to awaken the next morning to the exquisite view from Bill Beyer's small inn near the summit is to form instantly a memory of what is certainly one of the world's really gorgeous vistas.

A ride through Japan's Inland Sea is a passage through charm. Here is a collection of islands as ancient as history and with as much significance. It is something like a ride down the St. Lawrence River with its Thousand Islands, only there is much more of it in the Inland Sea, and more diversification. One cannot help wondering, as each island comes into view, or fades from sight, what the people do who live on them, and what life might be like in such an aura of romance.

NEW ZEALAND'S excitement is spread all over both its North and South Islands. The thermal regions of the former are awesome to the travelers who hear the roar of the steam escaping from the ground near Rotorua, and have its significance explained to them as they stand on earth that seems to shake with the fury of Nature. This cannot be seen anywhere else on so gigantic a scale. The Alpine regions on South Island rival those in Switzerland in their majesty. This is a country unsurpassed for scenic wonder.

Australia has scenery, too, and in abundance, with its Great Barrier Reef to the north and the lovely island of Tasmania off the south-east coast. But, although its unique animals are known to the rest of the world, many of them are still too little known. Here is where the tourists will see the lovable little koalas, endlessly nibbling eucalyptus leaves as they eye visitors to zoos and sanctuaries. In the background, and very accessible, are the friendly kangaroos who will nibble daintily on the potato chips they are offered. The emus, resembling an ostrich, are not dainty, however, and they peck voraciously at the tourists' offerings as if they had not been fed in days. Wallabys will also be on hand, and this amusing relative of the kangaroo will provide some laughs. There is another oddity for the cameras—the platypus, indigenous to Australia—and the fairy penguins, in their habitat near Melbourne, provide endless amusement.

finite variety of interest, from the hotels stretched along Waikiki Beach on the island of Oahu to the pineapple and sugar cane plantations on the islands nearby. The world's largest dormant volcano, Haleakala, towers 10,082 feet above the sea on Maui, and Mauna Loa, a still active one, performs rather too frequently on the island of Hawaii. There is a profusion of beauty in these islands that also have a rejuvenating effect on all visitors who become younger by just being there.

Korea, which is coming up fast on the tourists' routes in the Pacific, has much to offer for this is indeed a spectacular country. The area surrounding Taegu, seat of the Silla Dynasty for 1,100 years, is bulging with historic wonders—a country that is not Japanese, not Chinese, and certainly not a mixture of those two but strictly Korean.

WITH ALL ITS antiquity, Korea also has a new attraction that is one of the greatest of its kind in the world. This is Walker Hill Resort, a hotel complex about 10 miles from Seoul, the capital. Opened in April of this year, Walker Hill has everything any tourist could ask, and more than is ordinarily hoped for. There are swimming pools, bowling alleys, steam rooms, a music library where guests choose their own records, hunting, fishing, boating, and a night club-dining room with a stage at one end and a dance floor that is raised or lowered into the basement, taking with it a bevy of lovely dancing girls, a truly astonishing sight as they disappear. A luxurious two-room suite here rents for about $13 a day.

Also, shopping in Korea is not to be ignored. The brass items made in that country look like pure gold, and a tea or coffee set, for example, with six cups and saucers, coffee pot, sugar and cream containers all on a large brass tray costs less than $15, including postage home.

Borneo, too, is attracting more and more attention. In flying from Singapore to Hong Kong, one might as well go via Borneo and the Philippines. The first stop can be made at Kuching, in Sarawak (and here is where you might look at your map as you read). This small city contains a museum that is one of the finest anywhere. In it are items that portray the history of Borneo in an interesting and educational manner. About 40 miles away is a longhouse, a long wooden structure (as the name implies) in which native families live in a communal manner that is like a human ant hill.

FLYING FARTHER, travelers may stop in Brunei to visit the glorious mosque and the Malay village built on stilts in the river. It may not be as lovely as Venice, but it's equally interesting. A last stop is made in Jesselton, in the province of North Borneo, and here a traveler finds a small, modern city built in the European manner. The postcard and stamp business in Borneo gets its boost from tourists who undoubtedly write: "Bet You Never Got a Card From Here Before," and they're probably right.

When flying from Honolulu to Manila, give some thought to a longer stop at Guam than a (Continued on Page 29)

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner... an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglas FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

WINTER TRAVEL

Palm Springs Is 'Go!'

THE WINTER tourist season is under way—with something like jet propulsion—in Palm Springs.

What's new in Palm Springs since last year?

The Palm Springs $8 million Aerial Tramway, opened last Sept. 14 has outdone any other seasonal opening and it hasn't even slowed down. As word of the thrilling trip gets around, more residents and tourists ride the tram up the rugged side of Mt. San Jacinto and enjoy the breathtaking view from the Mountain Station 8,516 feet up.

Hotels? Palm Springs Spa, built over historic Indian mineral wells and natural hot springs, has opened its $3 million 131-room hotel.

THE RIVIERA Hotel has added 150 rooms, bringing the total of rooms in the hotel to 507. A new convention center on the Riviera grounds accommodates 3,500 delegates.

Distinctive Indonesian architecture sets the Erawan Garden Hotel in Palm Desert apart from other structures. Built at a cost of $3 million, it is patterned after the hotel of the same name in Bangkok, Thailand.

Nearby is the $1 million International Hotel. Innovations include a free car wash, Blue Chip stamps, Continental breakfast served 24 hours a day, king-sized beds and two queen-size beds per double room.

Ocotillo Lodge, recently purchased by Gene Autry, is spending close to a half-million dollars redecorating and refurbishing its 34 villas, 24 bungalows, 52 upper and lower level suites situated on eight acres of beautifully landscaped property.

EL MIRADO HOTEL has completed its new $1½ million, 100-room pool wing, bringing the hotel's total number of rooms to 300.

Golf? Palm Springs is practically synonymous with golf. The new nine-hole course at the Biltmore Hotel boosts the number of magnificent courses to 16, the pride of the Village.

With 12 golf courses, Palm Springs reigns as world's winter golf capital. This O'Donnell Golf Club scene.

Bermuda Dunes Country Club will complete its third nine holes in December, the first 27-hole course in the desert area.

Canyon Country Club will have a 36-hole course, the club adding another 18-hole championship course to its existing 18. The first new nine will be ready for play in February, the second nine by the end of March.

The Frank Sinatra Golf Tournament, Canyon Country Club, ends Monday with a Tournament banquet at the Riviera Hotel.

The fifth annual Palm Springs Golf Classic will be Jan. 30-Feb. 2 at Eldorado, Indian Wells and Bermuda Dunes Country Clubs.

NIGHT LIFE? It's as exciting and diversified as ever, only more so.

Talented musicians are at piano bars everywhere in town—Ruby's Dunes, Trinidad Hotel, Desert Air Hotel. The versatile Don Miller, for instance, is playing at Ocotillo Lodge.

Song stylist Jesse Davis has returned to the Howard Manor. The Gloria Becker Trio makes fine music at

The Chi Chi follows a policy of booking famous performers. Tommy Noonan and Yvonne de Carlo have just closed. Pearl Bailey will return soon.

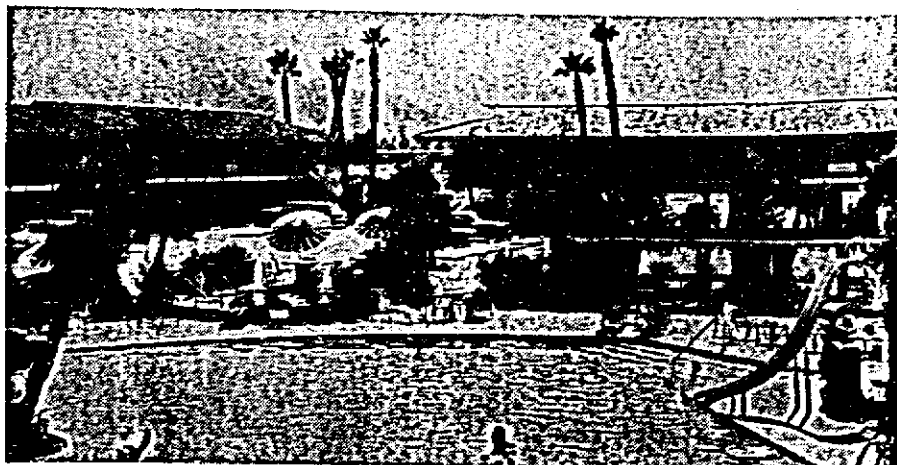

Eddie King's new Metropole Restaurant opened Nov. 1 with gourmet dinners and entertainment in the Show Lounge.

WHAT ELSE is there to do in Palm Springs?

Like to swim? At last count (Oct. 1 or thereabouts), Palm Springs had 3,052 swimming pools within the city limits, making it the "Swimming Pool Capital of the World."

Popular with hikers and desert riding groups are the canyons tucked into the folds of the towering San Jacinto mountain range that borders Palm Springs on the west.

The canyons are favorites for early morning western chuckwagon-style breakfasts. Cars may be driven to the canyons. The canyon areas are Indian land, and the owners charge a small fee for entering. The canyons are so beautiful no one minds the fee.

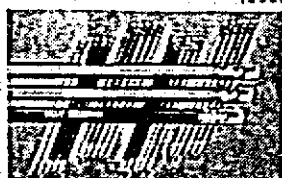

This is the Tropics Hotel, one of Palm Springs new hostilities.

It's Modern And Antique

By Stella George

FEW HOMES in the Long Beach area can claim the characteristic that raises the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stanley Bartlett, 5117 E. Lanal St., from the unpretentious to the unique. It is furnished in authentic antiques, some of them family heirlooms and others of later acquisition.

Mrs. Bartlett has assigned a purpose to each item. In other words, she has decorated in a restrained manner, realizing that too many antiques give a cluttered appearance. Her home is completely uncluttered, and would pass the approval of a professional interior designer.

As a clue to the unique quality of the decorating theme, it should be mentioned at the outset that Mrs. Bartlett has a collection of Meissen

Deal with an established Long Beach firm of 18 years' experience.

In the den, a paneled wall of glass is adorned with a collection of bottles. A round pine early West table stands directly in front of window.

An unassuming front is presented by the Bartlett home to the street. Its surprise feature is its interior outfitting by use of antiques.

—Photos by Joe Rishauer

that probably has few equals in average Southern California homes. Her kitchen utensils are Meissen. These pieces, including the rolling pin, not only grace the walls of the kitchen, but are used every day. So is the potato masher—and the soup ladle.

There is a wrought iron foot scraper just outside the front door, handy when grandchildren come to visit on rainy days, attractive because it is a decorator's item.

THE KITCHEN is to the left of the small entrance hall, the living room straight ahead. Glass window panes at the far end of the living room provide a view of the garden in the rear, but the visitor's attention is usually diverted to the furnishings of the room. A Victorian sofa faces a carved coffee table. On one side of the room is a French ladies' desk with ormolu brass trim and brown marble shelves, circa 1800. In a corner is a handsome piece which is a surprise to the layman—a coal scuttle from Scotland, made of rosewood with satinwood inlay trim, circa 1830. Other furnishings include a walnut corner cupboard with a nine-pane, hand-blown glass door; a French mahogany card table with inlaid, brass-trimmed top and fluted legs with brass inlay; a Chippendale fireside table of walnut with carved claw-and-ball feet; a pine blanket chest; a cherry Pembroke table with a Meissen tea set upon it; chairs which include a ladies' chair with a mahogany frame and fruit carving on the back, gentleman's chair made of rosewood—all Victorian.

A den is located a step down on the far right of the living room. Opposite the gun collection on the inside wall of the room is the paneled garden in the rear. A choice collection of bottles adorns the shelves which frame the windows. In front of this display is a round pine early West table. There is an oak roll-top desk in the room. A pine tea-bin table is against one wall, with a collection of Russell and Remington prints over it.

A ROCKING CHAIR—a hand hewn maple Boston chair with a plank bottom seat—is comfortable beyond belief. A black safe with the large key lock, circa 1830, is another item of interest.

Beds in the two bedrooms have double woven coverlets with dates woven into them, 1854 and 1852. Furnishings in the bedrooms include a Chinese carved teakwood chest; tulipwood chest of drawers with sandwich glass pulls and Bennington cup feet; a mahogany dresser, circa 1860, and a Victorian rocker with spider-web caning.

The kitchen is modern, but also has a pine dry sink; a Pennsylvania Dutch drop-leaf table, circa 1830; plank bottom chairs, and a maple spice cupboard which came from the old Charlie Chaplin estate.

THROUGHOUT this home is the collection of Meissen china that is a part of, and almost dominates, the decor. Dinner in the Bartlett home is served on Meissen. Meals are cooked with Meissen utensils. Lighting is provided with lamps enhanced with Meissen bases. Knickknacks in the bedrooms are Meissen. The history of many of the pieces is unknown to Mrs. Bartlett, but it is likely that the long-ago owners would be proud to have the fine porcelain pieces displayed and used in a cozy home

New Finding Aids in Surgery

By Ben Zinser
Southland Magazine Medical Science Writer

DRESSINGS may be left off all types of surgical wounds not requiring pressure bandages, two Swedish doctors say.

The doctors compared two groups of patients. One group—105 persons—did not get surgical dressings after operation. Another group—100 persons—received dressings.

Finding: Absence of dressings led to no adverse effects. Patients suffered no discomfort such as increased wound pain.

The practice saves time and money, the doctors say in a report in Acta Chirurgica Scandinavica, a medical journal.

ANOTHER research team has reported success in the treatment of glaucoma with a simple technique.

Oral glycerol mixed in fruit juice and soda reduced eyeball pressure dramatically in five patients suffering from acute glaucoma, two British investigators report.

Glaucoma is a disease marked by increased pressure inside the eyeball. The ailment, if not treated in time, can lead to blindness.

Two doctors at Westminster Hospital in London report in British Medical Journal that glycerol, taken by mouth, has been able to reduce intraocular tension in 22 patients with various types of glaucoma. The fall in pressure in the five acute patients was "striking," they say.

Glycerol, they say, is "a very useful drug" and is "safe and accessible."

Earlier, in Rome, a team of researchers reported successful treatment results with 26 patients.

PROLONGED remissions in acute leukemia do occur, but they are extremely rare, a City of Hope physician says.

Dr. Virgil F. Fairbanks tells of three adults whose disease has now been in remission for periods ranging from 2.5 years to 5 years. None of the patients has had to have treatment for 2 or 3 years.

Another researcher, he says, has a patient who has had no sign of leukemia for 9 years. Another patient has had a 5.5-year remission.

Doctors are unable to find any differences in these patients and the ordinary patient who succumbs after a matter of months.

The report is in the New England Journal of Medicine.

VISUAL blurring in both eyes is a common forerunner of stroke, reminds a San Francisco eye specialist in a report to the American Medical Association.

A typical attack is marked by sudden dimming of vision. The patient may attribute this to his glasses, excessive accumulation of tears or a variation in the brightness of a reading lamp.

The patient often describes the blurring as:

- "A grayout of vision."
- "A sensation of looking through fog or smoke."
- "The feeling that someone has turned down the lights."

The specialist, Dr. William Fletcher Hoyt, says:

"An isolated episode may occur in one patient days or weeks before a stroke. Another patient may experience multiple attacks over a period of weeks or months before stroke. In most cases, a stroke eventually occurs."

LIKE FLU vaccines, whooping cough vaccines may not always protect against an infection, a British researcher notes.

Dr. Noel W. Preston of University of Manchester, England, says the nature of whooping cough's causative organism varies.

Consequently, he says, the infecting bacterium may be different from the organism with which a child has been immunized. If so, a vaccinated youngster can contract whooping cough.

Dr. Preston's report is in British Medical Journal.

The World in a Little Black Box

Tokyo's Meiji Shrine contributed this scene to lens memories of two young, world-touring photographers.

By Irving Desfor

WOULD you give up your job, grab your camera and follow the sun and spring around the world?

Would you do it without civilized conveniences—on $5 a day—by using your legs instead of taxis and eating in small native food shops instead of hotel restaurants?

It can—and has—been done and I've just seen the pictures to prove it. Sherwin and Llane Lehrer, a young couple from Cambridge, Mass., are back after a nine-month global circuit during which they converted photographers' daydreams into colorful slides and artistic pictures.

"Like most photo fans, my secret ambition was to be a full-fledged photographer, even for a short time," Sherwin recalled. "But if you just dream and do nothing about it, you get bogged down in routine living . . . earning a living, raising a family. You've got to make the decision—do it!"

"FORTUNATELY, my wife, also a camera fan, had similar feelings." Here Llane nodded agreement. "We met at the University of California in Berkeley where we got our Ph.D.s in chemistry in 1960. We married, got jobs as chemists and concentrated on saving for our photo trip."

They consulted airlines, travel and government agencies and informative books on the customs of the foreign lands they hoped to visit. The basis of their plans was the fact that you can buy an all-inclusive round-the-world ticket good for one year. This carries the privilege of stopping anywhere along the route in that period and making local flights at your own convenience and pace, at no extra expense.

AFTER TWO years of preparations, they accumulated the basic funds needed. The route and time were plotted to avoid the rainy seasons. With cameras in hand and films the major part of their luggage, off they flew in October 1962, to see the world through a viewfinder.

On arrival at any city, they sought out the government tourist agency to help locate the most economical lodgings. From their own research and on-the-spot probing, they determined the most likely places of photo interest. Using local transportation and with a great deal of walking, they explored the nearby countryside.

Language difficulties were met with a basic vocabulary for each new country.

THEIR EQUIPMENT included a 2 1/4 x 2 1/4 camera for black and white; a 35mm camera for color slides; an inexpensive folding camera for routine or courtesy pictures; a small sturdy tripod for long exposures.

As soon as they reached any shipping point, all exposed film was sent to the U.S. for processing. Color went directly to Rochester with the return address of a friend in their home town. He studied the slides and kept the travelers posted as to the quality. Black and white films went to a Manhattan lab where the negatives were kept safely on the file. Later, to relieve the feeling that they were shooting blind, group contact prints were returned to the Lehrers at a forwarding address.

TOUCHES of Greek and Italian cuisine in handsome, piquantly flavored Chicken Mousse and Beans Mediterranean should make this main-dish salad especially appealing to the skyrocketing number of Americans fascinated by European cookery.

In pale gold, fluffy mousse with its slivered chicken and seasonings of chicken stock base, lemon juice and mustard owes something to Greece. And the green beans and sliced mushrooms are marinated in Italian dressing and dill weed before going into the center of the chilled ring mold.

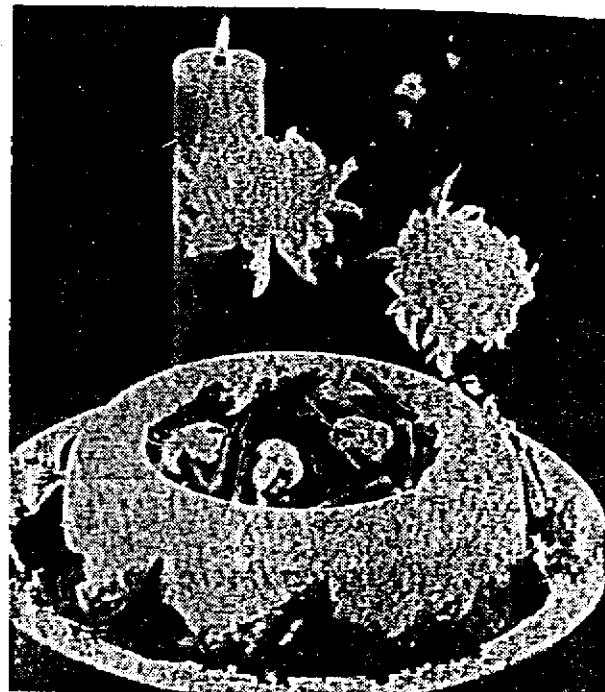

With the color and flavor contrasts so delightfully pronounced in this double-feature attraction, it automatically becomes the entree for a special occasion. Ideal for a buffet luncheon party, the mousse may be prepared the previous night and the beans and mushrooms tossed and refrigerated in the marinade a few hours before the party. Good accompaniments would be hot consommé Madrilène and crisp buttered rolls, along with a garnish of tomato wedges, ripe olives and salad greens for the main dish.

Chicken Mousse and Beans Mediterranean

- 2 cans (1 lb. each) cut blue lake green beans
- 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced, or 1 can (3 or 4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1/2 cup Italian dressing
- 1 teaspoon dill weed
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 eggs, separated
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 1/2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 3 tablespoons chicken stock base
- 2 envelopes plain gelatin
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 1/2 cups slivered cooked or canned chicken

Drain beans. In a bowl, toss together beans, mushrooms, dressing, dill weed and salt. Refrigerate several hours, stirring occasionally to blend flavors.

In top of double boiler, beat together egg yolks, water, lemon juice, mustard and stock base. Sprinkle gelatin over top. Cook and stir over boiling water about 5 minutes until gelatin is completely dissolved; chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until stiff. With same beater, whip cream. Fold gelatin mixture into egg whites. Fold in whipped cream and chicken. Pour into 6-cup ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on serving plate. Spoon bean mixture into center of ring. Garnish with greens, ripe olives and tomato wedges if desired.

As elegant luncheon party fare, Chicken Mousse and Beans Mediterranean is a tasteful main dish choice.

$5 for Your Recipe

SPARERIBS are the basis of the recipe that wins this week's $5 prize for Dr. Thomas L. Rogers, 314 W. 6th St., Long Beach 12. The recipe:

Pork Spareribs De Luxe

- 3-4 lbs. good meaty spareribs
- Ground nutmeg
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Dressing

Dressing or marinade

- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1 large onion
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup catsup
- Salt and pepper to taste

Blend the vinegar, chopped onion and chopped clove of garlic. Add the sugar and blend, then add salt and pepper to taste. Blend all together for 2 minutes and then seal in jar and refrigerate 48 hours before using.

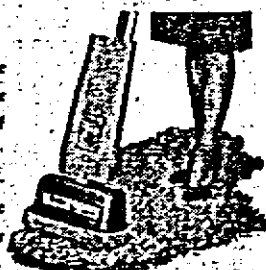

Roast the spareribs in covered roaster. When nearly done cover well with dressing and add ground nutmeg. Cover and finish cooking.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to: Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

You Ask We Answer

By Hank

Q. What would happen to the earth if it were to stop revolving? F. S.

A. The late Camille Flammarion, the noted French astronomer, has been quoted on this subject, as follows: "Were the earth suddenly stopped in its course, the shock would be transmitted by recoil, so to say, to all the constituent molecules of the terrestrial globe, as if each received a stunning blow; the whole earth would be instantaneously luminous and burning, and an immense conflagration would devour the world." Even if the world were not thus "devoured," the absence of rotation and revolution of the earth would so change the whole system of tides, currents, rivers, and in fact the general configuration of the earth's surface, that conditions would be unimaginably different.

Q. What nations can veto a resolution in the UN Security Council? D.W.

A. The word "veto" is not mentioned in the United Nations charter. However, voting procedure on substantive matters has been so set up that the equivalent of veto power is held by each of the five permanent members of the 11-member Security Council—China, France, the Soviet Union, the United Kingdom, and the United States. If any one of these five nations casts a negative vote on a substantive issue, the effect is the same as a veto and is popularly called that.

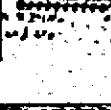

Q. When was the iron lung invented? C. M.

A. The first iron lung (respirator) was invented by Professor Philip Drinker and Louis Agassiz Shaw in 1927 for laboratory use only. It was made of an iron box and two household vacuum cleaners with manually-operated valves for regulating pressure. A second model was first used in 1928 at Children's Hospital, Boston, Mass., on a polio victim suffering respiratory failure.

Q. Do states have laws that limit the height of TV towers? S. A.

A. Many states have laws which limit the height of structures (including radio and TV towers) near airports, and a number of states have laws requiring that a permit be obtained before any unusually tall structure may be erected.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the source of SNODGRASS—V.S., San Pedro, V.S. SNODGRASS is strictly an English origin name derived from the old north English phrase "snodgrass" meaning "smooth grass." This portrayal of family land composed of grass covered meadows has been handed down to descendants for more than eight centuries. The Snodgrass shield from Scotland has three black heraldic birds placed one above another between two narrow vertical black stripes on a silver background. Across the top of the shield is an ermine stripe.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give data on BARBARA.—A.B., P.B., Long Beach.

A.B., P.B.: BARBARA, is both Spanish and Italian, with the same meaning in both ancestral homelands. Barbara is from the ancient Roman Latin word "barbarus" meaning "foreign or strange." As a family name, Barbara referred to an ancestor who was called Barbara because he was a foreigner or stranger in a new locality. Barbara is also popular as a given-name in all countries of the western world.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly analyze LOFTUS and LOFTIS.—N.L., Compton; M.L., Long Beach.

N.L.; M.L.: LOFTUS and

LOFTIS ancestry is from Yorkshire, England. Loftus, the namesake town, was so called because of an unusual 10th century house that made this village unique. Loftus meant "house with a loft or upper floor." In the 1300s a family ancestor, Peter Loftus, is recorded. The Loftus shield has a silver chevron between three silver four-leaf clovers on a black background.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the origin of MOULTON?—B.S., Long Beach; E.L., Torrance.

B.S., E.L.: MOULTON had its inception as the old English phrase "Mul-Tun" designating "mule farmstead" or "enclosure." A town called Moulton is in Cheshire, England. Ancestors include Agnes de Moulton of Norfolk in A.D. 1273. The Moulton shield, granted to a branch who were titled barons of Gillingland, about 1300, has three red bars across a silver background. Robert Moulton was a witness to a Massachusetts will dated 1637.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give genealogy on McCONNELL—W.M., Long Beach.

W.M.: McCONNELL is based on the old Gaelic-Irish MacConnaghal designating "sons of Connel" or figuratively, "sons of the Butler." Another source was MacDhonnhaill or "sons of World-Mighty," changed in both Ireland and Scotland to MacDonnell and MacConnell. The Irish MacConnell coat-of-arms has a blue chevron between three blue spurs on a silver shield. The allied O'Connell shield has a brown stag-deer on a shield colored silver on the upper half, green on the lower half, with a green 3-leaf clover in each upper corner of the shield and a silver oak on the green lower arc.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain KIRK.—D.K., Anaheim; T.K., Long Beach.

D.K., T.K.: KIRK was a name for a north English ancestral dwelling located by a "kirk" or "church." The Kirk family shield has a gold bishop's crozier crossed by a silver sword on a red background. Kirk is also a German surname with the same meaning, but is very rare in records.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze McAULIFF.—J.M., Long Beach.

J.M.: McAULIFF is derived from the Irish clan-name Mac-Amhlaoibh, an unusual Gaelic cognomen for "sons of Olaf." Olaf had the primitive meaning "ancestral relic or talisman." McAuliffs were residents of Fermanagh and Cork, Ireland. Their Castle McAuliffe was in Cork. The McAuliffe shield has three blue mermaids, each holding a comb and mirror, placed in a row across the center of a silver background, with three blue stars, two in the upper corners and one in the base of the shield.

'Buffets de Gare'

PARIS—The French National Railroads are offering travelers a new convenience at its famous "Buffets de Gare"—the restaurants at some 120 of France's railroad stations.

Under the new plan, travelers may reserve ahead for a table for lunch or dinner at any Buffet de Gare by simply making a request at the Information Desk or Station Master's Office at their point of departure.

The Buffets de Gare, widely known for their low-cost table d'hôte menus featuring some of France's finest regional specialties, offer two quick-service menus for travelers. The "Menu Touristique" ranges in price from $1.80 to $2.50 and the "Menu Autour d'un Plat" ranges from $1 to $1.40.

Another dining convenience available to travelers in France is a chain of rapid-service, reasonably priced restaurants strategically placed along France's highways. Known as "Restoroutes," the chain now has three restaurants, open 24 hours a day, on the roads from Paris to the Riviera: at Rouvray, Nantua and Montelimar. Motorists may order full-course meals at any time of day or night.

Home Workshop

Young builders can move lots of sand with this toy.

By Bill Meyerriecks

WORKSHOP this week helps you plan early to delight a young son (or grandson) with a Christmas toy he'll love.

It's a simply built, very sturdy steam shovel that actually digs. It can be made economically by anyone.

The young lad can sit on the roof of the steam shovel, operate the handle and the shovel will scoop sand or loose dirt. There's a chain to retract the shovel bottom for remote control handling and dumping. The six double wheels turn and the digger rolls from one side to another. With grease in and around the pivot and washer the cab rotates. These are things that a youngster enjoys—action and make-believe and a sense of playing grown-up.

The cab roof is only 12 inches square and stands 12 inches high. The shovel arm and scoop combined measure 24 inches. Larger pieces of the shovel are made of 3/4 plywood. The scoop is half-inch pine and hardboard. There are no metal parts to get rusty and its rugged design can take a lot of rough treatment.

IF YOU are searching for a toy that will delight the youngster at Christmas time, or any time, Workshop's steam shovel is certainly worth consideration. You may obtain the Sketchbook Plan S-133 by sending 50 cents with name and address to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 601 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

Santa Claus and Elves

SANTA CLAUS will be mighty tickled to see himself in the jolly manner pictured below with his elves. And so will the family and neighbors of the handy man who makes up a set of these easy-to-do decorations. Santa, helpers and three-foot-tall candy canes and candles are waterproofed, weather-proofed, full color pictures that may be glued to plywood and sawed out with a fig. band or sabre saw as the only tools needed. Easy to read directions accompany each set.

You may obtain any or all of these decorations from Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. Specify pattern number and send required amount in currency, check or money order. Here's the list: No. 1, Giant six-foot Santa, $2; No. C-10, five elves, $2; No. 292, candy canes (per dozen), $1; No. 293, candles (per dozen), $1; No. 297, Santa's helpers sign, 35 cents.

How Death Stalked Trotsky

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

IT'S THE belief of Isaac Deutscher that Leon Trotsky will, sooner or later be restored to a top niche in the pantheon of the Communist gods. "By this act the workers' state will announce that it has at last reached maturity, broken its bureaucratic shackles, and re-embraced the classical Marxism that had been banished with Trotsky," says Deutscher in "THE PROPHET OUTCAST—TROTSKY: 1929-1940" (Oxford, $9.50).

The book is the concluding volume of the trilogy on Trotsky's life. It begins with Stalin's exile of Trotsky and ends with Stalin's decision that Trotsky, in Mexico, a leader whose followers had all been exterminated in Russia, a man in feeble health, was still too dangerous to Stalin and hence must die. The murder, by hatchet, and by a man who had been planted in Trotsky's home in Michoacan, Mexico, and had posed as a devoted and trusted follower, is so graphically penned as to resemble the climax of a Wagnerian Walpurgisnacht.

Deutscher takes us every step of the way in Trotsky's harried odyssey after his expulsion from the Soviet Union (a move Stalin later regretted, for he would have preferred to dispatch Trotsky on the spot, but had not yet, in 1929, sufficiently consolidated his power). Trotsky at first went to the island of Prinkipo off Turkey; he sought refuge in Norway, the then democratic Germany, Britain, and these nations managed, frantically, to wiggle out of the right of asylum. And so he settled in Mexico.

Like a Greek tragedy, the book shows death implacably tracking Trotsky and his family, with Stalin as death's prompter. Trotsky's eldest son dies mysteriously in France; there was good reason to suspect poisoning by GPU agents. His younger son is sent to the dreaded Vorkuta labor camp, and eventually executed. A daughter commits suicide.

Deutscher writes well and accurately; his only fault is that he is so devoted to Trotsky that he does not see that, had Trotsky, and not Stalin, won the battle for Soviet power, the path of Russia probably would have been very little different. But it is a fascinating biography.

ANCIENT Greece, a world of pageantry, personal gods, brilliant human achievement, larger-than-life heroes and heroines, and harsh, brutal superstition, is the setting of two new historical novels.

They are "AMBER PRINCESS" by Henry Treece (Random House, $4.95) and

"BESIEGER OF CITIES" by Alfred Duggan (Pantheon, $4.95), time honored Grecian tales told in contemporary language and from the viewpoints of modern man.

"Amber Princess," titled "Electra" in its English edition, is set in the period of the Trojan War. Leaning heavily on mythology, it is the tortured history of the House of Atreus: the colossal battle between matriarch and patriarch, the struggle between the earth-mother and the upstart deity, Zeus. The bloody affairs of the Royal House of Mycenae are recounted by a cast which includes such figures of lore as Helen, Agamemnon and Iphigenia.

Duggan's novel is the story of Demetrius, soldier of fortune successor to Alexander the Great who became a man-god among Athenians during the Silver Age of Hellas.

Demetrius plots and wars to restore the Alexandrian Empire during a time in which the Greeks are willing to sacrifice their great political freedoms for material prosperity.

ANOTHER off-beat, for modern historical fiction, novel is "PRINCE ISHMAEL" by Marianne Hauser (Stein & Day, $5.95). This novel, 10 years in the writing, deals with the strange legend of Casper Hauser, who mysteriously appears and then disappears from the scene of 19th Century Bavaria.

There were those who held the hero, who figures in many extraordinary incidents and nearly triggers a major European war, was a prince; others believed that he was an angel and still others who swore he was the devil incarnate.

An eerie story that puts one in mind of the shadowy, neither world prose of Kafka or von Kleist.

IN "ALMOST PARADISE" (Doubleday, $4.95), Mexican novelist Luis Spota turns from the bull ring and from the Mexican masses of his earlier-translated stories to high society—but with the same bitter purpose in mind. He uses the adventures, picaresque as those of any Tom Jones, and the rascalities of the repelling but fascinating phony "Prince Ugo Conti," to searingly damn society as he, Spota, sees it.

"Prince Ugo" meets a rich American, Liz Avrell, uses her yacht, and when her sons move to cut off her allowance, throws her over. Next he is seen in Mexico City's high society, whose denizens eagerly shower him with anything an ex-Napoleonic slum boy would desire. The "prince" is a first class con man but, somehow, the reader is left with the feeling that he is a real prince.

Bringing Western civilization to Russia—an illustration from "RUSSIA, ANYONE?" by Eric Nicol and Peter Walley (Harper & Row, $2.50).

tears for his bored and stupid victims.

WHAT HAPPENS when an intelligent woman of strong principles rejects abortion, refuses marriage and determines to rear her illegitimate child alone? What psychological effect does being born out of wedlock have on the child? Can love and understanding compensate for social insecurity?

These questions are explored by Charles Mercer in his new novel "GIFT OF LIFE" (Putnam, $4.95), the story of a strong-minded woman who defies convention and rears her illegitimate child.

WRITTEN by Hawaiian-born O. A. Bushnell, "MOLOKAI" (World, $5.95) is the unusual story of a group of people in that desolate world from which no one returns. Set in the 1880s, Molokai's theme centers around a historical incident in which a young doctor trying to isolate the leprosy bacterium grafts the skin of a leper on the body of an unaffected human being. This event is recreated through the eyes of three people: a young native girl, who once served at the queen's court, a lawyer whose brilliant career was tragically terminated, and the doctor himself. Central to the entire story are two figures: Keann, who to gain reprieve from hanging volunteered for the monstrous experiment, and Father Damien, seen as the remarkable human being that he was.

Legends in Cedar

By Kay Dunn

A TOTEM POLE is like a mystery story because no one but the author knows how it is going to turn out. Since the authors of most legends in cedar are no longer with us, the reading of a pole becomes very involved. Not only is the interpretation of a totem pole difficult, the whole subject, including the art itself, is shrouded in mystery.

In a few short years the whole coast of British Columbia and southern Alaska suddenly blossomed with colorful and elaborately-carved totem poles, then just as suddenly the activity stopped and faded out forever.

What strange impulse started the Indians carving so energetically and why did they stop so suddenly?

SOME OF the answers are hidden deeply within the myths and superstitions of their tribal religious beliefs but others have come to light because of recent studies.

Although totemic art appears to have its roots in antiquity it is of comparatively recent vintage, having come and gone within the last century and a half. To trace the origin of the historic carvings, legend takes us back about 50 years to the shores of the Queen Charlotte Islands, off the coast of British Columbia. There a tribe of Indians known as the Haidas made a discovery. They pulled from the sea a strangely carved pole that mysteriously drifted ashore during a storm. Thinking it was sent by the gods, they erected it and began worshipping. Good fortune followed, causing them to believe it had supernatural powers so they used it for a pattern and carved out many more.

Totem poles are mystery stories of the Pacific Northwest, legends in cedar carved by natives of the area.

Eventually other tribes adopted the custom and soon a whole crop sprang into being. The totem pole era had begun.

AT FIRST, each tribe designed and built a totem pole for religious worship. Not content, they soon built others which often symbolized the history of their clan. Then the chieftains and wealthier Indians began to build poles for themselves and before many decades even the commoners were building "prestige" poles, hoping to gain favor from both the gods and their neighbors.

Although each pole is different, many follow a pattern and with a little basic knowledge one may gain enough understanding from this vast totemic mix-up to read a pole fairly well.

If the pole is heraldic (a family or clan history) the top is usually crowned with a family symbol. The thunderbird is a favorite symbol and is often seen atop a 65-foot pole with its powerful wings spread out in regal style.

Reading from the top down, next may come a figure depicting a chieftain or an ancestor. These are followed by a series of grotesque and frightening figures representing characters in myths and legends. Sometimes a killer whale or a sea monster may stare down menacingly from its high perch. The sea monster may have the head of a wolf and the body of a whale (this mythological creature appears in many Haida tales.) Sometimes the features are carved with half-human features. A raven, for instance, may appear as a bird, as a man or half-and-half.

ON DOWN to the bottom of the pole strange shapes and faces stare menacingly out upon the modern world as though daring the space age to produce anything half so frightening as a totem pole.

Without iron tools these works of art would not have been fashioned. Trading with the outside world began to develop early in the 19th Century and about the time the legendary pole washed up on the beach at Queen Charlotte Islands the Indians began trading skins for iron tools. These enabled them to carve out many poles and intricate designs.

But why, after a little more than a half century of energetic carving, they stopped is a mystery. Recent studies have turned up some of the answers. One reason is that a devastating epidemic of smallpox that hit Haidas, reducing the population to about 600 from an original 9,000 or 10,000. Tuberculosis also ravaged the tribes. And about this time they learned to use the iron stove. This changed their lives radically. With stoves consuming much less fuel than open fires the men were free to leave home for long hunting and fishing trips. Their social order kept changing and soon the men became wage-earners, working in the canneries and lumber camps.

Some of the mystery surrounding this original art form has been cleared up but much more remains. Many poles seem to symbolize myths and legends that mystify even the remaining Indians. Most of their secrets have been difficult to decipher and many more may never be known.

Johnson is shown in his Paramount cactus garden, run by himself and two sons. Garden is of worldwide note.

By Earline M. Gladstone

IF YOU ARE a globe trotter you may have seen, in some far corner of the earth, an unusual cactus or a beautiful water lily growing, and upon checking learned that the plant was "born and bred" in Paramount. Harry Johnson and his two sons who own and operate the Johnson Cactus and Water Gardens at 18613 S. Garfield Ave., Paramount, have shipped plants around the world.

You don't have to go abroad, however, to see the Johnsons' famous stock. You are invited to visit this long established California nursery any day of the week except holidays.

It was in 1876 in Borden-town, N. J., that Johnson's grandfather opened the first water lily nursery in the Western Hemisphere. His exhibit of aquatic plants was an interesting feature of the Chicago World's Fair held in 1893. A year later he moved to California and opened a nursery at Los Feliz Boulevard and Western Avenue, in what is now Hollywood.

JOHNSON'S grandfather became interested in California cactus and started cultivating cactus in addition to his water lilies.

In 1921, Johnson returned from Guatemala where he had been in charge of a coffee plantation and soon thereafter took over the management of the cactus and water gardens. Subsequently he moved his nursery to Paramount and began the extensive cultivation of succulents and cacti of all types.

Many of the first cacti and succulents sold in the nursery were grown from seeds imported from Germany. Much of the present day stock, however, originated from seeds and plants shipped from Madagascar, South America, Old Mexico and South Africa, and imports from these countries still come in.

ABOUT 20 years ago, Johnson began experimenting with hybrids in an effort to produce cacti that would bloom earlier and have larger and more brilliant blooms. Many beautiful new types have resulted. Among the more exotic groups are the Paramount Hybrids, sun-loving cacti, with flowers ranging in colors from pink and yellow to orange and bright red. They bloom all summer. The Johnsons have also worked with the shade cacti which grow in glass and shade houses, and have produced many bi-generic and tri-generic hybrids.

At present, the Johnsons have only one pool for raising water lilies. They formerly used five acres for aquatic plants. They have also succeeded in introducing many hybrids in the water lily family. One in particular, Blue Triumph, has a flower up to 12 inches across and can withstand low temperatures of California winter weather. Their water plants flower in pools around the world.

The Johnson gardens cover about 2 1/2 acres and approximately one acre is under glass. Most cacti are grown from seed and it takes two years or longer for a plant to reach the flowering stage.

In the early 1920, Johnson began mailing cactus catalogs and since then thousands of copies have been sent to almost every part of the world, plants following. One customer of note was the Maharajah of Patiala, India, and his air mail shipment expense amounted to several hundred dollars. Principal market is in central and eastern United States, plus a growing Southern California demand.

China's 'Bear Dog' By Eleanor Avery Price

CHINA developed a number of dogs down through the ages and the Chow Chow is one of them. This breed will be in evidence today at the Glendale Kennel Club benching all-breed show and obedience trial at Casey Sten-gel Baseball Stadium, Verdugo Park, Glendale. The Chow pictured with this article is a fine example of the breed. He is Champion Starcrest Spy owned by Mr. and Mrs. L. Howard Kendall, Poppyland Kennels at 233 W. Sepulveda Blvd., Wilmington. Spy obtained his championship undefeated in the classes before he was a year old. And his career was by no means over. He went on to win numerous best of breed awards and several group placements.

The Chow is not as a rule a noisy animal. Those that I have owned were exceptionally quiet, but the best watchdogs imaginable. They were able to detect strangers on the driveway before a human could, and they were instantly alert. Once a stranger tipped to the rear of the house (unknown to me), and the dog raced to the rear, then whirled and dashed to the front of the house at the same time the stranger returned. He was quiet except for a furious throat warning. The breed is naturally suspicious of strangers as well as aloof to them when in a crowd. He loves his own family if treated well.

ALTHOUGH there are a number of Chinese dogs, the Chow is the one that is used for a variety of purposes. His main duty is to serve as protector, but he also works as a hunting dog. He is so sure-footed and so thickly coated that there is a theory that he descended from the bear. Fanciers, of course, do not seriously believe this theory. But his surefootedness makes him a good companion on rough hikes.

Sometimes I wonder if there is also a bit of elephant in this breed, the dog's memory is so good. A larger dog once attacked a Chow puppy I was walking and severely trounced him in spite of my efforts to protect him. When the puppy was grown he one day jumped the fence and disappeared. I went for blocks hunting him and found that he had returned to the former scene of battle, completely flattened the other dog, and was ready and eager to return with me. He never jumped the fence again.

The Chow is the only dog with a blue-black tongue. Where he obtained it nobody knows for certain. Perhaps, rather than being a cross of Tibetan dogs and the sled dogs as some believe, he is a basic breed and the ancestor of the dogs that resemble him — the Keeshond, Samoyed, Eskimo, Norwegian Elkhound, Pomeranian, etc.

NEXT SUNDAY the dog event platter is full, so help yourself. The Southern California Obedience Council Convention will be held at Glendale Country Club, Sherman Oaks. Locally, the Lakewood Obedience Club has a match at the American Legion Hall grounds on Garfield Avenue, Hollywood. Scotch Terrier fanciers gather at Cambria Lodge, Santa Ana.

Beachhead in Dope Addiction War

By Aubrey B. Haines

TWICE DAILY groups of men gather at the California Rehabilitation Center at Corona to talk over their problems in hour-long sessions.

"I'd like to throw this problem to the group," one man says. "I was denied appearing before the parole board for three months. Why should this be?"

"I think you're ready," a second man says. "Your counselor is trying to get even."

"Why did your counselor deny you the appearance?" a third man asks.

"Because he didn't like me!" the first man affirms.

The group is now ready to evaluate the first man's reactions. As the men grow, they become better qualified to look at each other's problems objectively. This is a beachhead in California's fight to rehabilitate men "hooked" on narcotics.

"THE GROUP SESSION is designed to create as nearly as possible the kind of reaction a man will get on the outside," says Father Patrick H. Guillen, Catholic chaplain of the Corona Center. All narcotics addicts, the participants have been placed at Corona for compulsory rehabilitation. A professional counselor—trained in psychology, social work, or sociology—presides over their discussions, which range from searching questions about themselves to criticism of the institution.

For years narcotics addiction has been a growing social problem. California has tackled the menace with vigor and determination. There are between 12,000 and 24,000 addicts in the state, it is estimated. The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department says that 82 per cent of state narcotics arrests are made in Southern California—63 per cent in Los Angeles County.

The men arise at 6:30 a.m. and retire at 10:10 p.m. seven days a week. They work around the institution, attend trade school, engage in sports, and watch television. Interspersed are hour-long therapeutic discussions. On September 23 addicts from the California Institution for Women at Frontera were moved in. Arrangements are being made to accommodate 1,900 men and 400 women at Corona.

PERSONS ARE committed to the program for a period of from six months to seven or ten years. The average stay is from ten to eleven months. After that a man goes on parole. Three years of clean living on the streets tell authorities that he has been rehabilitated. The Narcotics Addict Evaluation Authority, the parole board, determines when that point arrives—not the man himself. Under the program parolees are required to submit to a naline test. Naline is a drug which, injected beneath the skin, reveals the presence of narcotics in a man's system by dilating his pupils. A special parole agent is assigned to each thirty parole addicts.

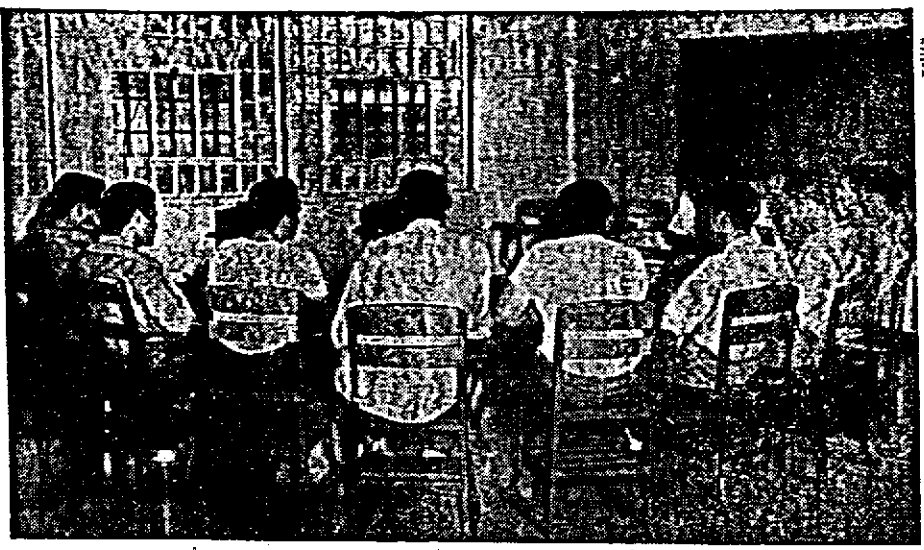

Men who undergo treatment at Corona are committed by civil courts—not by criminal courts to prison as are ordinary felons. The differences between criminal and civil commitment and sentence are so narrow that men who undergo the rehabilitation cannot see the distinction. To the man who gets the prison term, there is no difference between mandatory treatment and incarceration. He is not allowed to go home for holidays or out on liberty until paroled.

"California's plan differs from a federal system of hospitals," says Roland W. Wood, superintendent at Corona. "Under the federal system the committed addict may leave if he becomes extremely nervous or gets a strong urge to go. After he leaves, there is no parole or any trained agent to whom he reports regularly for guidance. California officials believe that this is a weakness. The California plan goes farther than any narcotics treatment in existence or contemplated by any other state."

MANY ADDICTS feel guilt. A man may be laid off his job because business is slow, but he refuses to accept that as the reason. He thinks that he did something wrong or that he is being discriminated against. As a result he begins taking narcotics. "All the men I've counseled with show a decided lack of self-confidence," Fr. Guillen observes.

Helping the men cope with the pressures of society, envision their problems, and unravel them sensibly is a part of rehabilitation. Group therapy accomplishes much of this. Another aspect is a long period of enforced abstinence from stimulating drugs. A drug-free environment, work, recreation, good food, and group therapy are expected to rehabilitate the men.

A young man from Los Angeles recalls: "I've been in this rehabilitation program for eight months and have made plenty of progress. I don't think that I'm an addict now or that I'm in imminent danger of becoming one any longer. I got to know myself in the past eight months. Before that I was using 'hard stuff' off and on since 1948, when I wasn't in jail, which was about half the time. Investigators found marks on me, and there were other changes. I feel better than I have in fourteen years. I feel that I'm being reborn."

In California's fight to rehabilitate narcotics addicts, group sessions that are aimed at helping men see themselves objectively are part of correctional effort.

fore that I was using 'hard stuff' off and on since 1948, when I wasn't in jail, which was about half the time. Investigators found marks on me, and there were other changes. I feel better than I have in fourteen years. I feel that I'm being reborn."

An East Los Angeles youth says: "I've been here only a short time. I suppose that if I could get out now and felt the need for a 'fix,' I'd take one. But I'm getting along all right here without narcotics. It's the first time I've been in confinement where I've been treated like a human. The atmosphere is different. We're serious here. There's no joking around. I think I'll get to the point that I'll not need narcotics."

When last May Gov. Brown dedicated the center, he said: "The addict must not continue to plague society or be forever an inmate of our prisons. I think that we can learn how to keep these people from becoming wasted human beings." California officials would like to see other states follow their lead.

Pass to a Passport

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

FOR SOME strange reason, many people who expect to travel to foreign countries for the first time seem to think that obtaining a passport is an almost overwhelming chore.

It isn't at all. But Uncle Sam does lay down a few rules that must be followed to obtain one of these necessary documents.

Biggest hurdle for most applicants is presenting proof of United States citizenship. This is particularly true of some older citizens who find, upon inquiry, that their native state did not record births at the time they came into the world.

Miss Gene Burke, agent in charge of the Passport Office of the Department of State at 500 S. Figueroa St., Los Angeles (Phone 688-3283) says that if a birth certificate is not obtainable at the time application for a passport is made, a baptismal certificate or a certified copy of the record of baptism will be acceptable.

IF SUCH primary evidence is not obtainable, then such secondary evidence as census records, newspaper files, school records or affidavit of persons having a personal knowledge of the facts of the applicant's birth should be submitted. A statement by local authorities certifying that no birth record exists must be submitted with secondary evidence.

All documents must include the place and date of the applicant's birth, and bear the seal of the office and signature of the person before whom the documents were executed, or by whom they were issued.

(Persons born abroad but claiming United States citizenship should contact the Passport Office as to documentary evidence required of them. Space does not permit explanation here.)

graphs, both signed by the applicant and taken within the previous two years. These may be in black and white or in color, must not be more than three inches square, nor less than 2 1/2 inches square (black and white prints which have been tinted or otherwise colored are not acceptable).

All residents of the Long Beach area who live in Los Angeles County must make application at the Los Angeles office. Residents of Orange County (only) should apply at the office of the county clerk in Santa Ana, and their applications will be sent to the Los Angeles office where all passports in the Southland (except those for government employees) are issued within about three days.

IT IS INTERESTING to note that, during last April, 12,000 passports were issued at the Los Angeles office, a new high for any month.

Passports are issued for a period of three years, and may be renewed for two years, making a total of five years for the life of one of these documents. The original passport costs $10, a renewal $5.

To renew a passport, send the document to the Passport Office with the $5 fee, requesting renewal. It will be returned, renewed, within two or three days.

Agent Burke points out that travelers shouldn't rush to get their passports renewed upon expiration unless they intend to travel immediately. Passports may be renewed at any time and, by waiting until you actually need yours, you extend its life; after a passport has been valid five years (including the two-year renewal period) a new one must be obtained at a cost of $10.

THE PASSPORT Office urges all travelers to be vaccinated for smallpox before leaving the United States. The reason for this is that all travelers are required to present a vaccination certificate proving immunity to smallpox, issued within three years prior to their re-entry into the United States. Failure to do so may cause delay and vaccination upon re-entry.

JOHN D. STEWART

American Express Co. vice president John D. Stewart was guest of honor at last week's opening of his firm's new headquarters at Town and Country, Orange. He is acknowledged as one of the world's top authorities on international travel. Manager of the Orange office will be Richard G. Gabbart.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

"Can you give us a good guide book on Mexico? We have been using 'Terry's Guide.'"

THERE'S John Wilhelm's guide for all Mexico. And his guide to Mexico City is the best there is. Any tourist hotel newsstand in Mexico City.

"Could you tell me jobs available to college graduates in Switzerland?"

JOBS OVERSEAS are just like jobs for foreigners in the U.S. You have to have a work permit. Usually dependant on there being no person in that country who can do the job you want to do—a tall order. It can be done. But the first thing to do is ask the consulate of the country what the rules are. They vary in different countries.

My passport in England, for example, was always stamped: "Not permitted to work."

"Can you send me a list of small towns in Mexico for retirement?"

THE MAGAZINE, "Mexico This Month" recently had a complete issue on this. Towns with garden atmosphere. Towns near the seashore. Mexican rules for entering and staying. Write to "Mexico This Month," Atenas 42, Mexico, D. F. for a reprint.

"What clothing do we need for New Year's Eve in Hawaii? We have reservations at Hanalei on the island of Kauai. Evening gown? Dinner jacket?"

I DON'T KNOW how much Gus Guslander gussies up Hanalei Plantation House on New Year's Eve. I never found I wanted any more than a linen jacket and tie. Cocktail dresses seemed to be the thing for evening.

"My brother is stationed in Iceland but will have to go to Ireland. Is there some inexpensive good buy that could be sent to me?"

LACE AND LINEN are good buys in Ireland. And the best place I know is Brown-Thomas—either right on Grafton street in Dublin or just off it. (That's a short street. He can find it easily.)

"I understand there is a directory listing 'Hayseed Hilltons'—farmers who take in paying guests. . . ."

YOU WRITE "Farm Vacations" at 7734 Herschel Ave., La Jolla, Calif.

"Is it better to buy or rent a car in Europe? If we are to be there two months. I mean the buy - and - sell - back method."

MOST AGENCIES say you

do better to buy if you are staying more than three months. Rent if less than three months.

However, it seems to me if you are going to do a lot of mileage, the buying would be better. Your rent costs depend on how much you drive, not the time.

I notice that the AAA has a new rental program for off-season (winter.) It runs $99 for three weeks. Unlimited mileage in France and 600 miles in other countries.

"Do we get an adapter for an electric iron to use in Europe?"

YOU NEED something to switch electric irons in countries that don't use 110 volt current—England which is on 220 is an example. But I don't think there is any adapter made. You have to get an iron that has a switch that takes it from one current to another.

One that looked good to me is made by General Electric. Used both currents with a switchover and works both steam and dry. Light weight.

"Can you tell us a good shop to buy a man's watch in Switzerland?"

WATCH PRICES in Switzerland are fixed by agreement and gold content by law.

So you can buy anywhere with assurance. Some houses case the works under their own name and these are sometimes cheaper.

An excellent house with shops in most tourist towns is Gubelin. Turf cases watches under the house name and so does Bucherer.

Christmas in the Holy Land

TARGET for thousands of winter gadabouts from America will be the Near East and one of the attractions, of course, will be the Holy Land during the Christmas season. For nowhere can Christmas be celebrated with greater spiritual uplift than on the soil which Jesus trod.

The town of Nazareth with its narrow cobblestone streets and bustling market place, the Sea of Galilee where fishermen still cast their nets, and Mt. Tabor, the site of the Transfiguration—all of these are so little changed by time and yet so near because of jet-age transportation.

A HIGHLIGHT of a visit to Israel during the coming yule season will be a pilgrimage to Nazareth. It was here that Jesus spent his early years and a walk along its narrow streets will carry the traveler back to the early days of Christendom.

Nazareth, nestled in the picturesque hills of the Galilee, will be aglow Christmas Eve. Its main streets will be lighted and Christmas trees will be decorated. A holiday air will prevail as loudspeakers in the town transmit Yuletide songs. A special reception is planned in the community center with clergymen greeting travelers, and later Mass will be celebrated in the various churches.

Special Holy High Mass will be celebrated at the Dames de Nazareth Church for tourists only. Other churches celebrating Midnight Mass will be St. Joseph's, the Church of the Salesian Order and the Chapel of the Order of the Claretians. The Baptist Church will hold service for Protestants.

(ADMISSION to the reception and the churches for the celebration of the Mass will be only by invitation because of space limitations. Travel agents are requested to write to Israel Government Tourist Office, 2 Bal-four St., Haifa, notifying it of their clients' intention to visit Nazareth Christmas Eve so invitations can be prepared.)

About 15 miles from Nazareth stands Mt. Tabor. Nearer Nazareth, along the Sea of Galilee, are several points of interest: Capernaum, where Jesus first preached; Kfar Kana, where He performed the miracle of wine; and the River Jordan.

In Jerusalem, visitors will be privileged to visit additional holy sites. On Mount Zion is the room where the Last Supper took place, and there is a monument on the spot where Mary was reported to have fallen into her eternal sleep. Also in the vicinity of the new city of Jerusalem is the Valley of the Cross and Ein Kerem, birthplace of St. John the Baptist.

On Mt. Zion in Jerusalem is the room where the Last Supper took place. In Israel, tourism is having a new impact.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS in the Near East are Greece, Iraq, islands in the Mediterranean Sea easily accessible on tours, and Egypt.

Cairo, the colorful and cosmopolitan capital of Egypt, is a city of hundreds of mosques. Most of them are magnificent works of art. Not far distant is the Sphinx and the famed Pyramids.

Inscrutable as ever, the Sphinx continues to be an attraction for tourists visiting the city of Cairo, Egypt's capital.

Living It Up During Christmas at Sea

Christmas celebrated at sea aboard a great ocean liner is memorable in many ways, but perhaps the holiday feature that receives the most glowing plaudits from passengers is the sumptuous banquet prepared by the chefs on Christmas Day.

Although the famed "Presidential" cuisine is a daily highlight for passengers sailing aboard any of American President Lines' luxurious trans-Pacific liners, Christmas dinner is always a festive occasion.

During the current Christmas cruises to the Orient aboard the Presidents Cleveland, Wilson, Roosevelt and Hoover, the chefs are planning menus replete with gourmet dishes and specialties guaranteed to delight every discerning appetite. An eight-course fare will feature dozens of tempting hors d'oeuvres and appetizers, soups, salads, an entree with side dishes and condiments. Complimentary wine is served.

The chefs take particular pleasure in creating their own special holiday desserts, which are served with champagne.

Walk around the deck anyone?

WINTER HAWAII

Beauty--And Bargains

WHAT'S best about a Caribbean cruise?

No two people agree. The vacationing business executive usually will say it is the gorgeous weather and complete escape from the tensions of his business life.

His wife probably will rave about the superb food, the gracious way in which her every need is fulfilled and the opportunity to wear "party" dresses most evenings.

But ask any weary customs inspector and he will point to the great mass of shopping bags, boxes and baskets with the traveler's luggage and he'll insist: "Don't believe them, I think most of them just go to do their shopping."

ACTUALLY, the delights of cruising the Caribbean in the winter months are all of these things. But it is hard to deny that bargain shopping is one of the exciting parts of any cruise.

The variety and price range of shopping bargains in the Caribbean compare with the largest stores in the United States. However, due to the "duty free" purchasing possible in most of the islands, the prices run from 25% to 60% less than the same item purchased in the U.S. The islands permit imports from all over the world to enter without payment of duty, and this saving is passed along to the purchaser.

The Jamaica, Virgin Islands, Curacao and a number of other islands offer items imported from Europe at great savings. English bone china may be purchased at prices less than in England. Swiss watches, German and Japanese cameras, cashmere sweaters, doeskin gloves and glassware of all types fill the store windows, at low, low prices. In Trinidad, cruise passengers also find an exotic array of engraved East Indian brass items. And the French island of Martinique specializes in a variety of imports from the mother country.

OF COURSE, one should not forget the bargains in liquor which are available in the duty-free ports. Each returning traveler is permitted to bring in one gallon of spirits without payment of duty. Scotch whisky may be purchased for about $3 a bottle, and imported liqueurs which sell for $8 or $9 a bottle in the U.S. may be purchased for $3 to $4. Rum, the "wine of the islands," may be purchased in Trinidad, Jamaica, Barbadoes and Puerto Rico for as little as 75 cents a bottle.

Today, each returning traveler is permitted to bring in $100 worth of goods at the wholesale price if he has been out of the country for 12 days. In addition, he may bring in another $100 worth of goods purchased in the U. S. Virgin Islands.

Get Going!

According to the New Zealand Geological Survey, travelers planning to see Cook Strait, the waterway that separates New Zealand's North and South Islands, should waste no time. The South Island is moving north about an inch a year, so that in some two million years Cook Strait will disappear.

Going Places

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

(Q) "My husband and I are interested in going to Rome and would like to know about the least expensive air transportation to Europe. Do you know of any charter flights we can get on?"—Mrs. R. J. H., Omaha.

(A) This is just one version of a question that is being asked of us and everybody else in the travel field over and over these days, and it is a sign of the public's confusion over the welter of air fares being offered.

A charter flight is a reduced fare flight which operates under certain complex and very specific conditions. The fare is lower because the airline sells out the whole plane in one fell swoop—wholesale, in other words. Now, if everyone could buy wholesale—"get on" a charter flight—there would be no need for retail, represented by the airlines' regular published tariffs.

TO TRAVEL on a charter, you must have been for six months or longer a bona fide member of the organization which chartered the plane. The organization must not have been formed just for the purpose of the charter, and it must not be a vague or phony group in any other way.

If by subterfuge you can and do get a seat on a charter where you don't belong, the flight can be canceled without notice, even if you're at the airport ready to go, and even if you've already made the first leg of your trip, in which case you'll have to buy a regular ticket back.

Admittedly, these regulations are being violated all the time. But there are signs of the government cracking down harder. Anyway, we'd never take the risk of being stranded and certainly we'd never recommend that anybody else do so.

If you want to get to Europe cheaply, there are off-season fares, family plan fares, propeller flights, group tours and other legitimate ways of saving money.

(A) Quite a bit. It's now called Seattle Center, and all of the major structures on the 74-acre site are permanent. Space occupied by temporary exhibit buildings has been planted with trees and lawns, converting the fairgrounds into a convention center and park.

In full operation are the Space Needle, Pacific Science Center (formerly U. S. Science Pavilion), the Stadium, Opera House, Playhouse, Arena, Exhibition Halls, International Fountain and the monorail.

The Coliseum, which housed the Fair's theme exhibit, is being converted into a sports and trade show center, and will reopen next spring.

(Q) "I plan on going to the Orient by ship and will have 10 days in Japan, 5 or 6 in Hong Kong. Is this too long in each place? Also, can I get a good buy in cultured pearls or can I do better here at home?"—Mrs. H. B., Miami, Fla.

(A) For the average tourist, five or six days in Hong Kong is usually enough, but 10 days in Japan would scarcely scratch the varied and subtle fabric of this fascinating land. It's one place almost everyone wants to go back to in order to see what he missed the first time.

Cultured pearls were invented in Japan and offer better buys than at home, but there is scarcely anything that comes from anywhere that you can't buy cheaper in Hong Kong—especially if you're a good bargainer. (Copyright 1963, General Features Corp.)

Skiing and other snow sports will be big attractions on this continent as well as in Europe, notably in California, Sun Valley in Idaho, Colorado and other mountain areas of the West—and Alaska.

The deserts of the Southwest will draw a multitude of sight-seers and sun-seekers. And so will the cities in the desert—Palm Springs (see Page 10), Las Vegas, Phoenix and Tucson.

Others will vacation in their own back yard, the Southland, from Santa Barbara to San Diego. For here in are sights that, jaunting every day, it would take a year to see.

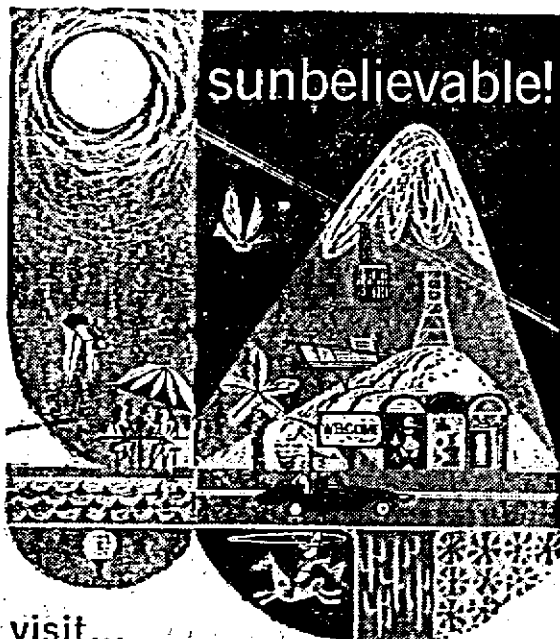

Happy traveling, wherever YOU go!

Finger Aralia is an attractive indoor plant.

Plant With a Silhouette

FINGER ARALIA (Aralia elegantissima) is a distinctive and artistic indoor plant which gives beauty to any room. Its finely cut, feathery leaves make a most attractive silhouette against a wall or window. Placed in front of a window, it has a lacey quality that enhances the view.

The Finger Aralia starts as a table top or window-sill plant, says the Living Plant Growers Association of Southern California, and will become a specimen plant that sits on the floor to grow in a large container with plenty of space around it.

Finger Aralias grow rapidly in a bright location
when planted in a loose, porous planting medium and fertilized regularly. The planting medium should be kept moist, but not wet, and the foliage should be sprinkled occasionally. They thrive in comfortable living temperatures.

of business when North Long Beach Branch of the American Begonia Society meets at 7:30 p.m. Friday at 3901 Atlantic Ave. There will be a plant table and refreshments will be served. Guests are invited.

Garden Club

J. Van Cleave, wildflower hobbyist, will speak before members of the Long Beach
Garden Club at 7:30 p.m.
Tuesday at 208 Linden Ave.
Mrs. E. L. (Jo) Ibbotson, club vice president, will preside.
The public is invited.

harvest table and refreshments are planned.

Plant Big Bulbs

When planting spring-blooming bulbs in pots or other containers, take a tip from the California Association of Nurserymen and plant the largest bulbs you can find. This insures that you get the maximum number of blooms in the minimum space afforded them by pot culture.

As cut flowers or to brighten color-bare corners, calendulas yield bright yellow and orange blooms.

YOUR GARDEN

Color-Rich Calendulas

By Joe Littlefield

CALENDULAS lack the fragrance of some blooms but they will provide bright yellow and rich orange blossoms when patios are color-bare, and they'll give an impression of sunshine even when the weather is dreary and overcast. Mass them by the dozen for the best effect. They make good cut flowers, too.

Many gardeners don't know that calendula tops may be cut back to force dwarf growth. This means that gardeners may plant them in pots and have compact plants with masses of winter and spring color for the patio and to brighten a porch. The pots may be buried in sunny garden areas where color is needed quickly.

NOVEMBER still is a busy bulb planting month. Daffodils, Dutch iris, Watsonias, Dutch hyacinths, grape hyacinths, freesias, lilies, tritons and several other bulbs should be set out as soon as convenient.

You're missing a good bulb investment if you pass up planting some scale lilies. The bulbs are composed of individual scales that form the complete bulb. Set them out where tops benefit from sun, but where the bulbs and the base of the plants are in partial shade.

Tulip bulbs benefit from a couple of weeks refrigeration. Should the weather be considerably colder than normal for this season of the year, gardeners may pass up refrigerating the newly purchased bulbs, because the soil is cold and the bulbs won't sprout quickly. One of several causes for short stemmed tulips is abnormally fast root growth due to warm weather, another is lack of enough moisture as bulbs are growing. Tulips may be planted in partial shade, too, even in heavy damp soil, provided the bulbs are cushioned on sand and covered by sand before the soil is filled in around them.

NURSERIES and garden centers have ranunculus and anemones well sprouted in plant bands ready to grow as soon as you plant them out. No fuss and bother about soaking bulbs, or putting a protection over tender new foliage against bird damage.

Sweet peas, too, are already sprouted and growing in plant bands ready to be set out, where they'll continue to grow as if the seeds were sown, and actually bloom sooner.

Earlier set out sweet peas should be watched closely for aphids or mildew. Be careful not to water them too much, otherwise, some of the plants may rot off.

Cyclamen in pots or plant bands set out in shade garden provide lots of color during the winter, along with camellias, and saxifrage that may be starting to bloom. Be sure to mix premoistened peat moss, leaf mold or planting mix into the soil before planting, and—top of the bulbs should be slightly above the surface of the garden soil.

Dorothy Digs

Our mail includes many requests for information on what to do for yellowing foliage on leafy shrubs.

Gardenias, and especially the mystery variety, seem to be the greatest problem. Mystery gardenia, which was developed to withstand more direct sunlight than the "Veichi" type, goes through a certain amount of normal leaf drop, and this could easily be mistaken for some other ailment of the plant.

Basketful of Joy

By Lorena Fleissig

DELICATE plastic berry baskets may take a colorful part in each season's festivities.

For the summer months, there are pink, white and green baskets to adorn with blossoms, real or otherwise, and pastel bows of ribbon and net. Butterflies and bees or birds ornament the handle.

For the fall, the green baskets may feature the colors of yellow, bronze and gold in ribbons, cones, acorns, ivy or maple leaves and small fruits.

For the Christmas tables, baskets of red, white and green may be trimmed with red or green velvet ribbon and chenille. Holiday corsages, the bright tie-ons saved from gifts and glitter make the baskets especially gay.

TO PREPARE, have twice as many baskets on hand as you plan to use. Have 50 baskets if you wish to decorate 25.

Wash in suds with a kitchen brush. Choose the brightest and sturdiest baskets to work with and lay to the side the ones slightly broken for they will be of use, also.

Cut away the bottoms of the poorer set of baskets leaving the square base rim attached for firmness. Snip open each corner of the square and lay it crosswise on the top of the basket to be decorated. Force the open corners of the square gently across the side bars of the basket just beneath the rim. It fits snugly and will hold decorative ornaments in place.

TRIM OFF the wide top rim from the now bottomless basket, to make a three sided handle. It is simply to be fastened at the basket's sides with fine wire and covered with ribbon bows to conceal the joining, or lacy gift tie ribbon may be gathered and fitted around the rim underside.

According to the season, place the baskets on simple mats or doilies.

NOTE: If the affair is a benefit, a small gift may be placed inside under the lattice square. Or it may contain samples of lipsticks, toilet water, cigarettes or other articles.

JACK BASS
Lots of Compliments

SHORTLY AFTER returning from a gala European tour, which included visits to Spain, Portugal and Italy, a Long Beach couple dined at Jack's Corsican Room, 5430 E. Second St., Naples.

"We had a wonderful time abroad," they told Jack Bass, owner of the Corsican Room. "But do you want to know something else? The dinner we just had here was the best meal we've had in months, better than anything we found in Europe."

JACK WAS PLEASED but not surprised by their comment, because he receives such compliments regularly. The couple had just enjoyed tender, succulent slices of his prime rib au jus, an entree which is praised by everyone who tastes it. Jack, a veteran chef, has an artist's touch with that dish. First, he buys the finest, most carefully and scientifically aged beef obtainable. Then he works his magic over it, roasting it with painstaking care and creating a thin au jus gravy which is a miracle of gourmet flavor. Offered rare, medium rare or well done, the prime rib is served for $4.50 with Jack's marvelous soup, large crisp salad, baked potato or French fries, ice cream or sherbet and beverage.

Equally high compliments are given Jack's superb charcoal-broiled steaks ($4.75 to $5.25). And the guests also rave about Jack's continental specialties, such as coq au vin rouge, which is chicken cooked in wine; stuffed cabbage rolls with sweet and sour raisin sauce (outstanding), and veal scallopini prepared in Marsala wine. The continental items are $2.75 to $3.25 on the complete dinner. The Corsican Room daily and Sunday from 4 p.m. on. It's closed Mondays.

Q. Is it true that if Neville Chamberlain had not capitulated to Hitler in 1938 on the Sudeten crisis the anti-Hitler generals in Germany would have used the crisis as an excuse to get rid of Hitler? — R. C. Walsh, Bethesda, Md.

A. True. The fact is that anti-Hitler generals sent an emissary, General Ewald von Kleist, to London to urge Chamberlain to take a strong stand against Hitler. But General von Kleist was ignored by Chamberlain, and consequently Europe was thrown into war.

Q. What individual owns the most telephone stock in the U.S.? — Penny Ward, Denver, Colo.

A. One of the largest shareholders is showman Billy Rose, who owns 80,000 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph, worth $10,000,000.

Q. The movie Stolen Hours with Susan Hayward—isn't that a remake? — Jen Babcock, Portland, Me.

A. Yes, of the Bette Davis starter, Dark Victory. It concerns a woman with an incurable brain disease who marries her doctor.

Q. Does anyone know the average number of advertisements the average American is exposed to every day? — Fred Paul, Louisville, Ky.

A. A good guess: 1,500.

Q. I would like to know if Audrey Hepburn is a millionaire and where her home is. Can you help? — Ellen Ostrop, Newark, N.J.

A. She is easily a millionaire; lives in Burgenstock, Switzerland.

Q. Who is responsible for the Jerry Lewis TV show on Saturday nights? I mean, who authorized it? — T. R., Los Angeles, Calif.

A. Leonard Goldenson, chief of the ABC-TV network.

Q. Gene Autry, the cowboy star, just bought the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco. Where is he getting all the money? — G. L. P., Baltimore, Md.

A. Autry heads an investing syndicate which owns the Los Angeles Angels, the Los Angeles Rams football team, the Sahara Inn in Chicago, the Continental Hotel in L.A., and several other properties. He is a millionaire in his own right.

Q. Has singer Kate Smith retired? — Harvey Ditson, Chicago, Ill.

A. No, she recently made a Carnegie Hall appearance and does occasional guest shots on TV.

Q. I would like to know why ex-President Eisenhower, when recently giving a list of 10 possible Republican Presidential candidates, omitted the name of Richard Nixon. — Ernest Gent, Rockingham, N.C.

A. Eisenhower says he was convinced that when Nixon announced he was finished running for political office the former Vice-President meant it.

Q. Is it on the level that Shakespeare's famous love sonnets were written by him to a boy and not to a girl? — Ted Switzer, Cambridge, Mass.

A. Among authorities that is the generally held belief. The two earliest known editions of the sonnets are the Thomas Thorpe quarto of 1609 and the John Benson octavo of 1640. Benson went through the sonnets changing "he" to "she" and "him" to "her" in all cases; the sonnets were subsequently printed and reprinted in that manner. The sonnets were dedicated to "W.H.," who variously has been identified as William Herbert, Henry Wriothesley, William Hall and William Holgate, this last the 17-year-old son of an innkeeper at Saffron Walden where Shakespeare was supposed to have acted in 1607.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by JAY JASON

EDITOR'S NOTE: Comedian Jay Jason is a college professor who went wrong. Born in Rochester, N.Y., he attended the University of Rochester and majored in languages, wanted to be a professor. He worked his way through college as a caddy, but he took a turn from his scholastic career when he entered and won amateur stage shows by doing impressions and dialects. Working as a waiter in his family's restaurant, he told the customers jokes. Then Jay's parents sold the restaurant and went into real estate. They would buy one house at a time, and if they couldn't sell it, the family would move in. In one year Jay recalls that they lived in six different houses. His mother also ran the house they lived in as a boarding house, and whenever the family moved, so did the boarders. There was one lucky period when the family sold all their houses, packed up and moved to Washington. Jay has played most of the major night spots throughout the country. He is married to a former Cleveland librarian and they have two children. Here are some of his favorite funnies:

I think the President is making a big mistake in not having the armed services draft married men. After all, these are the only recruits they get who really know how to take orders!

Asking a woman her age is like buying a used car. You know the speedometer has been turned back, but you don't know how far.

What really worries me is the case of poor-little-riky-girl Gamble Benedict and her André. I mean, how do an heiress and a chauffeur split their community property? She's got this 20-million-dollar trust fund—and he's got his driver's license.

A Texas cowpuncher was visiting London and ordered a steak at a restaurant. The waiter brought it in, and it was very rare. The Texan took one look and demanded that it be returned to the kitchen at once and cooked.

"Sir," replied the waiter haughtily, "it is cooked."

"Cooked—nothing," was the reply. "I've seen cows hurt worse than that and get well!"

The husband suddenly found himself at the Golden Gate. St. Peter was there to welcome him.

"My goodness!" exclaimed the man. "How did I manage to get to this place?"

"Don't you remember?" St. Pete gently chided. "Your wife said to you, 'Be an angel and let me drive.'"

"Now, really," sneered the sergeant to the private, "I ask you! In civilian life, would you come to me with a puny complaint like this?"

"No," answered the private softly. "In civilian life I wouldn't come to you about anything. I'd send for you!"

My neighbor has a 10-year-old boy who watched baseball on television all summer long. He still doesn't know much about the game, but he shaves beautifully!

The traveler found a strange insect in his compartment while taking a train trip across the country, so he promptly dispatched a letter of complaint to the railroad company. When he arrived at his home a few weeks later, he was delighted to find an apologetic letter from the line's public relations officer expressing regrets about the unfortunate incident. But his smile soon vanished when he also found in the envelope a piece of paper which had obviously been slipped in by mistake. It read: "Send this quack the bug letter."

An Englishman, an Irishman and an American were flying low over the Sahara Desert.

"Beastly place!" said the Englishman.

"The devil's home," said the Irishman.

"What a parking lot!" said the American.

AN ON-THE-SPOT REPORT

What's happening

One of the most significant political developments of modern times has been the growing hostility and the barrage of name-calling between the two titans of Communism, Soviet Russia and Red China. While the world watches agog, these one-time political comrades face one another with increasing malice and menace across their common 3,250-mile border, which stretches from the steppes of western Siberia to the marshlands of the Far East.

To Americans, accustomed to the tricks and turns of the Cold War, two questions about this development have been particularly puzzling.

1. Is the quarrel between the Russians and the Chinese genuine and lasting? Or is it temporary and possibly even a trick to deceive the West?

2. If there is a complete rupture, might it lead to war between these Communist giants?

Seeking the answers to these questions, I have just traveled 10,000 miles to this most inaccessible border, rarely visited by Westerners. Here, in this bustling modern city less than 40 miles from China, I tried to learn the truth about the strained relations between these former allies. I interviewed the people, observed the local situation and talked to officials. And I found hard facts that are of importance to all Americans.

1. The Soviets are apparently concentrating far more military strength here than they would on a peaceful border.

2. There are even more indications and evidence of deteriorating Chinese-Soviet relations than the press has reported—border incidents, a sharp decline in the number of Chinese visitors and a scarcity of Chinese manufactured products, which at one time were plentiful in Khabarovsk stores.

3. The people themselves, glancing over their shoulders at their big and aggressive neighbor, are apprehensive and puzzled, but at the same time they are not the least bit fearful. All have heads-up confidence in their nuclear might.

Everywhere I went people were willing and even eager to discuss the rift.

"That man Mao must be crazy," repeated bewildered Russians, unable to understand why Red China's Mao Tse-tung has turned on his Russian ally. And I heard expressed again and again the feeling that Mao is dogmatic and unable to understand the meaning of peaceful coexistence.

"Khrushchev is right and Mao is wrong," said Genadi Nesterov, an electric drill operator. "There are many ways of committing suicide. War is one of them. I think Mao's mistake stems from the fact that he and Stalin were friends. He still believes Stalin's theory that a war with the West is inevitable."

Says Adrian Agaforov, a director of youth activities: "The Chinese people are still our friends. But the Russian people want peace, and we don't approve of Mao and his tricks."

Schoolteacher Rita Lubshankidze sees the problem with the Chinese as a family quarrel. "The Chinese and Russian people are friends, and we will solve our problems. We both want to build socialism. Even among the best of friends there are differences. All will be settled peacefully."

School principal Dmitry Porokovich Churekov is less optimistic. He is particularly concerned about the troubles on the border. "The Chinese have made a lot of trouble on the border recently, and we can expect them to make even more in the future," he complains. "We are happy about Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence policy and cannot understand the ridiculous attitude of Mao."

MOSCOW CONFERENCE DEALS WITH RIFT

Top-level meetings currently being held in Moscow during the 46th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution are expected to make one more effort to heal the rift between the Russians and the Chinese. Previous efforts have been fruitless.

Border incidents are the most dramatic evidence of deteriorating relations between China and Russia. The worst flare-ups have been armed skirmishes between border patrols in Western Siberia, far from Khabarovsk. The Russians also are reported to be arming and encouraging China's rebellious Turkish tribes, the Kazaks and Uighurs, who have been harassing the Chinese Communists with guerrilla attacks.

On some of these borders which are particularly troublesome today, there is a history of Sino-Soviet co-operation prior to the present rift.

In friendlier days, for example, the Chinese and Russians mined pitchblende together in Sinkiang, on the Chinese side of the border. Thousands of miners, including deportees from the Baltic countries, labored under the blazing summer sun and in the bitter winter cold to mine the high-grade ore. It was processed into fissionable material for the Soviet Union's atomic program. In return, the Chinese claim the Soviets agreed in 1957 to help the Chinese make their own atomic bomb, a promise which they managed to renege on two years later.

In another area of former co-operation, less than 40 miles from Khabarovsk, the Soviets recently arrested Chinese fishermen, who had set up a fishing camp on disputed islands in the fork of the Amur and Ussuri rivers. The Soviets claim the islands are Soviet territory; the Chinese argue the islands are theirs.

The Russians suspected that the Chinese were fishing for far bigger catch than salmon. It looked suspiciously like the first book into a slice of Siberia, which the Chinese Communists claim should be theirs by heritage. They refer back to the musty pages of history to prove that the Black Dragon River country, as they call the rich Khabarovsk region, was decided to the Chinese in 1654.

Indeed, the Chinese emperor Kang Hsi drove the Russians out and exacted a pledge from Peter the Great that the territory would remain Chinese forever.

Sidewalk crowd on Karl Marx Street, the main thoroughfare in Khabarovsk, includes many military men. Their presence in such large numbers indicates more military activity than would be normal on a peaceful border.

on the Soviet-Chinese border

more. Later czars decided that two centuries was "forever" enough and took the Amur Basin back from a tottering Chinese empire in 1860.

Mao and his men look upon the 1860 treaty of Peking as an "imperialistic" document, but the Kremlin refuses to be convinced by editorial claims that "use as arguments such ancient data and the graves of their forefathers."

Apprehensive nonetheless, the Russians feel the hot eyes of the Chinese on Siberia. Today, more than ever, this vast, empty country must look like green pastures indeed to China's bursting population.

A Siberian doctor said to me, "If you let a few Chinese in, they—how do you say it?—will multiply like rabbits." And even though the Russians continue to claim friendship for the Chinese, there is anti-Chinese prejudice among them that dates back to the time of the czars.

HISTORY OF CO-OPERATION

Until recently, both the Chinese and the Russians pointed with pride to the zigzagging Amur River and Khabarovsk region—a sparsely settled area one and a half times the size of France—as a showplace of mutual help and co-operation. Not too long ago, after a 6 year co-operative study, a group of Chinese and Russian specialists recommended flood control projects on the Amur River, which overflows its banks every summer, to help develop 5 million additional acres of arable land on the Soviet side of the border and 25 million acres on the Chinese side. They had hoped in this way to share in the wealth of this region, which is rich in fish, tin, coal and gold. Nothing further has been heard of this plan.

With the strain in relations has come a decrease in air and train travel between Russia and China. Today, on a once-a-week basis, a Russian jet flies between Moscow and Peking, and a two-engine Chinese piston plane flies between Peking and Irkutsk. The train also makes its 77-hour journey between Peking and Irkutsk (Siberian trade center) once a week, and significantly the Russian and Chinese crews now change at the Manchurian border.

Also significant in the bitter feud is the dramatic decline in the number of visiting Chinese delegations. In former years, these tourists were a common occurrence. But in 1963, only three Chinese groups visited the area. The last delegation came in August and created many street incidents in Khabarovsk and other Siberian cities, praising Mao and attacking Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence policy.

Curiously, each side has refrained from jamming the other's state-war programs. Thus one can hear the same kind of criticism, in both Russian and English, against Nikita Khrushchev in nightly broadcasts

continued

Engineer Sibedskia Magadan tells why he believes in Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence: "We must settle all problems peacefully," he says, "especially now when war can be so destructive. I think sooner or later Mao will come to understand that he is not behaving correctly."

Dr. Eugene Ladichikov, shown on a Khabarovsk park bench with his wife, thinks the Chinese should be grateful to the people of the Soviet Union "for helping to build the Chinese economy. It's unfriendly and indecent of them to make incidents." Many Russians are opposed to giving aid to other countries. "One more ally," these Russian critics contend, "and we'll go broke."

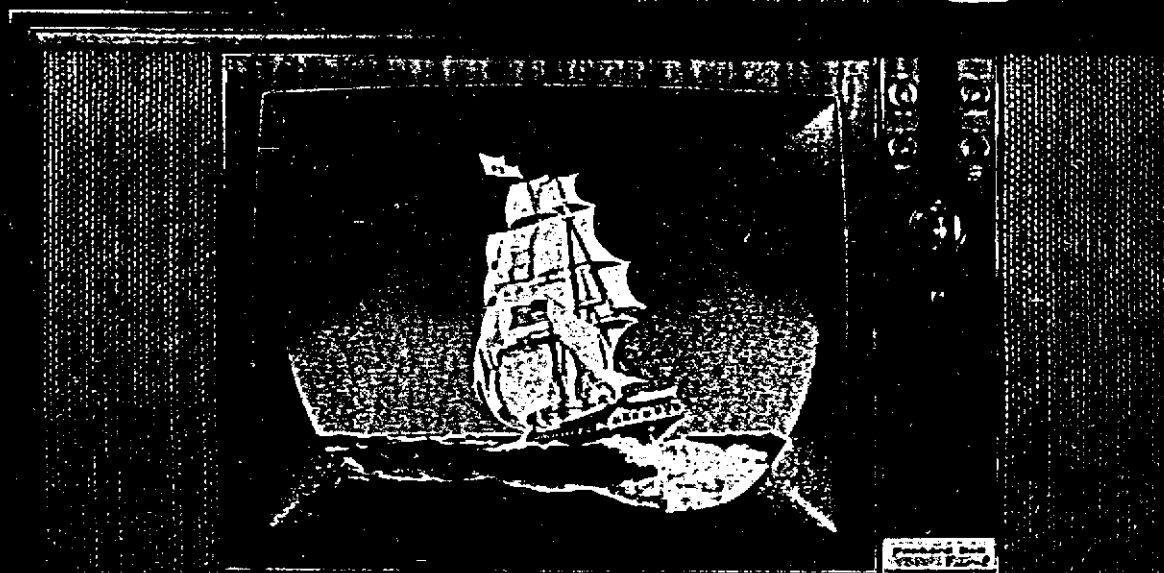

Paul Andreevich Grushko, director of the Amur Cable Factory, believes "all countries must live in peace even though their political systems are different. The Chinese people will not become our enemies." Chinese products are now scarce in Khabarovsk stores, but Grushko proudly claims: "We filled this year's cable quota to China; they sent us a full supply of talc."

Valentina Khrepkova, machinist in a food factory, pleads for peaceful coexistence, because "we have put a lot of labor into making a better life. If there is a war nothing will be left. I am surprised that the Chinese government opposes our policy; all problems can be settled peacefully."

SOVIET-CHINESE

Russian stores are now

from Peking. I listened to several of these diatribes on my short-wave radio in which Khrushchev was denounced for repudiating Stalin. "Why does Khrushchev shift all the blame onto Stalin and whitewash himself?" asks Radio Peking. "Why has Khrushchev made a 180-degree turn in his evaluation of Stalin?" Khrushchev is also often ridiculed as "Old Baldy."

Perhaps Chinese-Soviet relations are best reflected in Khabarovsk by the number of soldiers in the streets and by what is available in the stores. Historically and geographically, the city has always been a border outpost to guard against the Chinese; it was founded in 1858 to protect Siberia against the Chinese emperor. Its growth was slow, and in 1926 the population was only 26,000. Since then, however, it has mushroomed into an industrial city—it is now about the size of Ft. Worth—and is also the headquarters of government agencies which administer most of the Soviet Far East territory. Today, the city's broad streets abound with uniformed soldiers; nor are they simply border guards—they give evidence of belonging to line infantry and artillery units.

NO MORE TASTY APPLES

In palmier days, the local citizens could buy a large number of Chinese products. But now many of them are scarce or unavailable. "It's impossible to get those tasty Chinese apples any more," one woman told me. Other items hard to buy include embroidered tapestries, cardigan sweaters and scarves, fountain pens, bed sheets, trinkets, raincoats, silk dresses and canned pork. And Russian-Chinese trade has dropped 60 per cent between 1960 and 1962. However, the Russians have not curtailed their vital petroleum shipments to China.

I continued my investigation in other parts of the Soviet Union, talking to the man on the street and knowledgeable people familiar with the various aspects of the rift. From these reports and my own observations, I have been able to draw some conclusions about Soviet-Chinese relations.

1. Both sides would really like to avoid an open break, but the chances seem slim. There are rumors that Mao may step down. Even if he does it will probably have little or no effect on the rift. At this point, conciliatory groups on both sides are totally submerged.

2. The struggle between Russia and China is becoming more and more a racial issue. Mao Tse-tung, who is personally bitter against the white race, is particularly responsible for stirring up racial friction in Asia and Africa.

3. The border probably is not as violent as the Soviets say. The main theme of Soviet propaganda has been to picture the Red Chinese to the world as dangerously militant and aggressive, and some feel the border stories may have been exag-

Marshlands in the Khabarovsk region. Plans for flood control for this area on both sides of the border have been abandoned.

offering very few Chinese products for sale.

gerated as part of a systematic campaign to malign Red China. But the Kremlin insists that "Chinese servicemen and civilians have repeatedly violated the Soviet frontier. In 1962 alone, over 5,000 violations of the Soviet border were recorded." On the other hand, Chinese propaganda claims that the present boundaries are unjust.

4. There is a good possibility of a real border war, particularly on the Sinkiang frontier, but experts doubt that there will be a deep penetration on either side. The Russians are believed to be applying pressure on the Sinkiang border deliberately in order to pull the Red Chinese back from India. A Chinese attack against India would be a slap in Khrushchev's face.

5. Most experts I talked to felt that the best course for the United States to follow in the feud is noninterference. If we do meddle, we might divert the two antagonists from one another.

6. We must remember that the snarling bear and dragon are not disputing whether Communism should take over the world but rather how it should be done. Nevertheless I found, as I had on my four previous trips to the Soviet Union, that the United States has a tremendous reservoir of goodwill among the Russian people—who, I am convinced, like us a great deal more than they do the Chinese.

Few Chinese products are now available in Russian stores. One exception is this unattractive silk cloth on special sale.

Time to give your house a
"check-up"

Most folks today realize that a periodic physical check-up can help keep them in shape, and hopefully ward off illness and big medical bills. "It's the same with houses," says home-planning authority, A. M. Watkins, author of "The Complete Book of Home Remodeling, Repair and Improvement," and other books and articles in his field. Mr. Watkins has now prepared a booklet especially for the New York Life Insurance Company, "How to Hold Down Home Maintenance Costs."

Avoid Unnecessary Repair Bills. "Certain stitch-in-time maintenance checks can pay off in handsome dividends," he points out. "They can sharply cut your annual house operating bills, as well as forestall a major repair bill." By keeping a home in tip-top shape, you preserve its resale value, and also reap the most living enjoyment.

In a detailed, easy-to-follow analysis, Mr. Watkins lists the key problem areas to look out for in plumbing, electricity, heating and such—and what to do about them.

When to "Do-it-yourself." Many major repairs and emergency service calls stem from a few basic causes, the booklet explains, and so a check-up plus preventive maintenance can often help you stave them off. The average person can take care of numerous small difficulties himself. Mr. Watkins tells you the type of repairs you generally should not attempt to handle yourself, and how to hold down costs when you do hire specialists for repairs and improvements.

A Booklet You'll Want to Keep. Anyone who owns a home, new or old, will find dozens of worthwhile tips in this booklet, including many ideas that can save the home owner money. For your free copy of this new booklet, use coupon, or ask your New York Life Agent.

Old-Fashioned Brown Bread

by Beth Merriman Parade food editor

Here's a really simple method for making a truly great bread—Boston brown bread. Generations ago, New England housewives took endless pains to make this bread. They steamed it in big kettles, watched it carefully. Today, using tin cans for molds, baking this hearty bread is a breeze.

Heirloom Boston Brown Bread

- |                                    |                        |
|------------------------------------|------------------------|
| 2 cups graham or whole wheat flour | 1 teaspoon salt        |
| ½ cup all-purpose flour            | 2 cups buttermilk      |
| 2 teaspoons baking soda            | ½ cup molasses         |
|                                    | 1 cup seedless raisins |

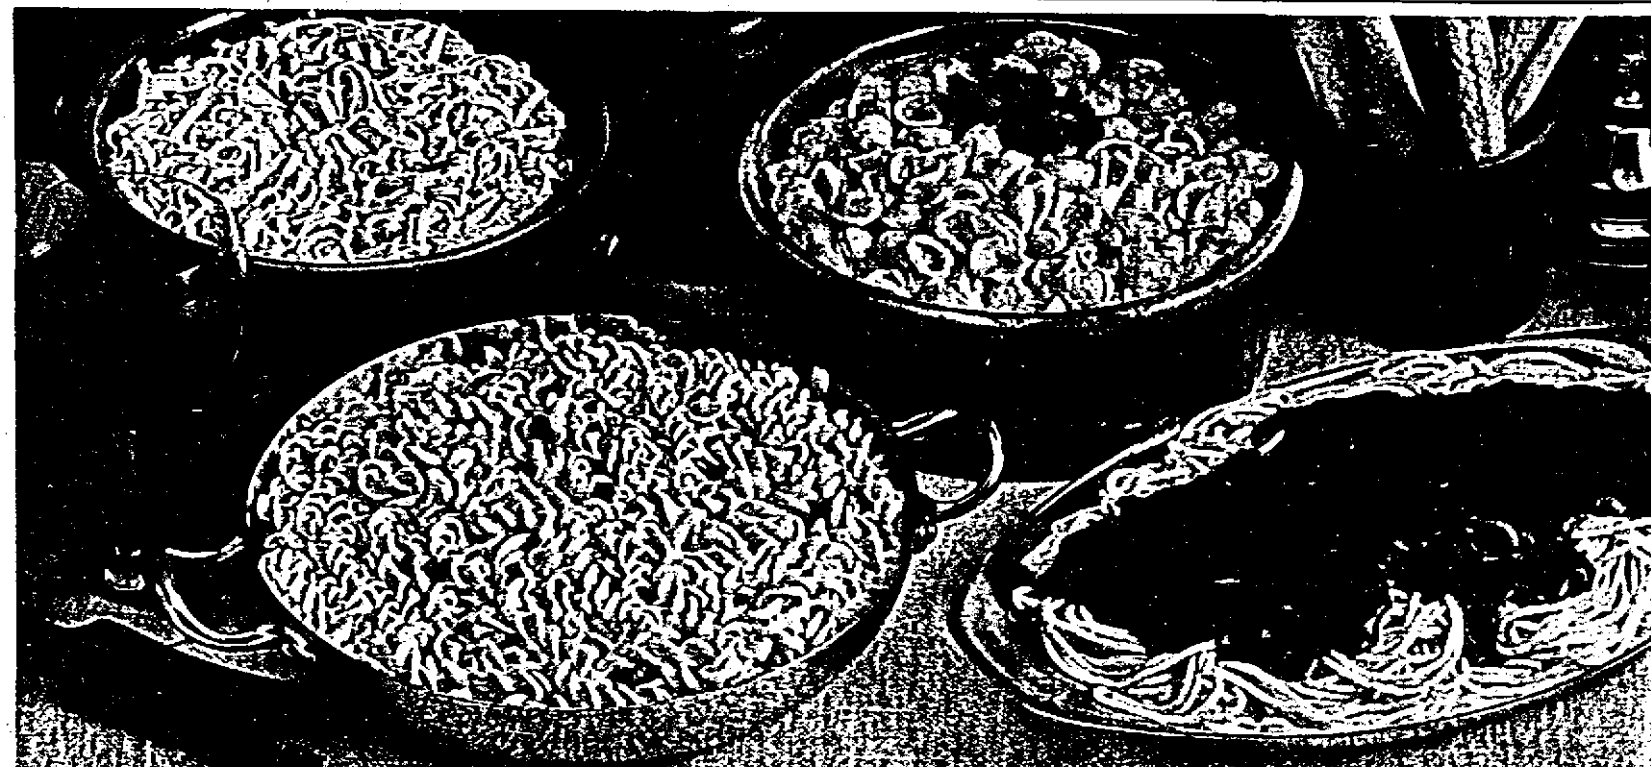

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Spoon into three well-greased #303 (1-lb.) tin cans. Let stand ½ hour. Bake at 350° for 45 to 50 minutes or until cake tester comes out clean.

Kitchen Hints

- 1 A loaf of this brown bread, prettily wrapped, makes a nice hostess gift, or a gift for neighbor or friend.
- 2 Use the bread for lunch-box sandwiches, filled with a mixture of peanut butter and sweet pickle relish.
- 3 If you like the New England custom of serving baked beans on Saturday night, be sure to make hot brown bread to go along with them.
- 4 Slice and serve, well buttered, with hearty soup or salad for luncheon or supper.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?*

If you take vitamins, yet still feel tired—you may need more than vitamins to restore your normal strength and energy. Check with your doctor. He may tell you that your worn-out feeling can be due to a shortage of iron.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! That's because GERITOL not only contains 7 vitamins but, in addition, supplies the amount of iron needed to build iron-rich red blood. Just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid, contain twice the iron in a pound of calves' liver! Seven times the iron in a pound of spinach! It is this rich source of iron, that makes GERITOL such an effective strength-building tonic. In only one day, GERITOL-iron is in your bloodstream carrying strength and energy to every part of your body!

Proved By Medical Tests!

Patients diagnosed with iron-deficiency frequently were pale, nervous, irritable and easily tired. After patients took GERITOL daily, doctors reported definite clinical improvement. Remember, vitamins alone can't do it! But GERITOL, with its rich source of iron, can help you regain your strength and energy.

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

■ George Jessel, one of the most widely traveled characters in show business, returned to Hollywood recently from an overseas jaunt. He ran into Jack Benny at the Hillcrest Country Club, where most of the comedians hang out.

"How did your wife like those back-scratchers I sent?" George asked Jack. "Oh!" exclaimed Benny. "So that's what they are. Mary's been making me toss salad with them ever since they arrived."

SUGGESTIONS FROM MRS. DAN GERBER

There is something new under the sun! Delicious, nutritious and educational, too. Gerber® Chicken Sticks, a scrumptious finger food, are made from tender poultry selected by Armour, plus nonfat dry milk.

The Chicken Sticks are high in protein (the helping hand of growth) ... low in fat and mildly seasoned to a toddler's taste. Nicest way in the world to help your self-feeder's hand-to-mouth co-ordination. For a change of taste, don't forget Gerber Meat Sticks, made of pork and beef.

Goodies, too, from the cooky zoo: Gerber Animal-Shaped Cookies for Toddlers. Crispy, crunchy, cinnamon-y, they're fun to munch right down to the last precious crumb. Good things, too, in the way of nourishment. Gerber Cookies have twice as much protein as most other cookies, plus B-vitamins in the icing. Perfect tastemates for your toddler's dessert or a bright flavor accent with a snack of any Gerber Fruit Juice. Real fun way to teach your toddler animal names.

Protection par excellence. Perfect way to keep lap-sitters, creepers and runabouts comfortably dry and socially acceptable—Gerber Baby Pants. There are good reasons why. These "protective measures" are made of soft-as-silk polyvinyl film that's waterproof, leak-proof and acid-proof to spare laps, rugs, etc. For baby's comfort, they're amply cut to allow for freedom of movement and growth ... bound in downy nylon to protect tender legs and waist.

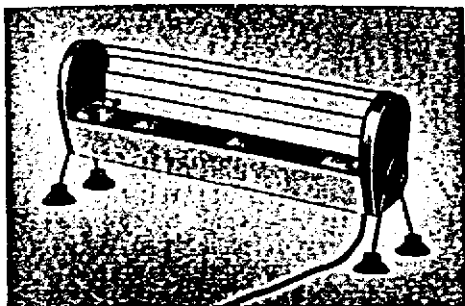

Gerber Baby Pants are machine-washable, will stay soft through washing after washing. Medium, large, extra-large and toddler sizes, in snap-on or pull-on styles. At supermarkets everywhere.

Make life easier—take a look at these new ideas for your home and family ■ BY PETER DRYDEN

Auto defroster: No need to stand in the cold to chip ice from the car windshield when you use this electric de-icer. It plugs in cigarette-lighter socket, fastens to windshield via suction cups—and emits infrared heat that melts the ice seal in minutes while you sit comfortably in car. 9 foot cord reaches rear windows. $6.95. Osrow, Dept. PP, Hazel St., Glen Cove, N.Y.

Music all day: Here's a tape cartridge recorder-playback system that provides stereo music—automatically, continuously—for up to 15 hours. You can load it with as many as 20 prerecorded cartridges—and it automatically threads, plays, rewinds each one, then goes on to the next. Details: Revere-Wollensak Div., 3M Co., Dept. PP, 320 E. 21 St., Chicago 16, Ill.

Automatic book ends: To eliminate the nuisance of toppling books and falling ends, this new book end unit is spring-loaded. Whenever you remove a book from it, the ends automatically pull closer together to hold the remaining volumes neatly in place. Solid walnut. 15" x 6" x 7". $9.95. Kankler's, Dept. PP, 4525 Errington Road, Columbus 27, Ohio.

BRINGING UP BABY,* HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF FIVE

Home is where the heart is happy

Your baby's playpen is his own little "home within a home." If it's kept a happy haven he'll find contentment (not resentment) there. Happifying hints:

- If you change the location of the playpen from time to time, baby will enjoy the change of scenery. Frequent smiling visits from you make pen time a social time.
- The pen should never be used as a punishment for a minor misdeed of an older tot. Most acceptable playpen times are those when baby's on his best behavior.
- A happy home is equipped with things to look at, listen to and do. Bright objects tied to pen, or Gerber Swiss Bells strung across pen, will enchant your baby. A daily change of do-something toys will keep an extra-active baby busy.

P.S. A well-timed snack will often forestall fussing. Gerber Juices are good for this. An older tyke will like Gerber Cookies with his juice.

Table talk. Your baby's in for a double dividend in pleasure and nourishment with Gerber Oatmeal or Mixed Cereal with Applesauce and Bananas. First, the flavors are subtly lip-smacking... the texture marvelously moist and smooth. Second, iron and important B-vitamins contribute to the nutritional goodness of these palatable cereal surprises in jars. Serve "as is" or top with a bit of milk. There will probably be summons for seconds.

Enough's enough. Some babies, like the take-it-easy type, may be content to put in regular playpen time even after they toddle. Inquisitive babies often rebel at the pen as soon as they creep. Important thing to remember is that when dissatisfaction at being cooped up becomes a constant thing, it's not wise to keep your darling confined for prolonged periods.

Tasteful topics. Most people like fruit, and babies are no exception. Gerber Strained and Junior Fruits are so downright delicious, they've won more popularity contests than you can imagine. There's a good reason why. It's because they're flash-cooked to preserve Mother Nature's sun-kissed flavor-goodness and lively colors. Great when served straight. Doubly appealing when used as a topping for Gerber Vanilla Custard Pudding.

For your baby's well-being: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

"Babies are our business
...our only business!"®

PARADE'S SPECIAL

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

WILBUR MILLS. One of the most influential congressmen in the country is Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Chairman of the important Ways and Means Committee of the House. The rumor persists in Washington that Pres. Kennedy is so grateful to Mills for getting his tax reform and reduction bill through the House that he will appoint him to the Supreme Court, possibly as a replacement for either Justice Hugo L. Black, 77, or Justice William O. Douglas, 65, both of whom are expected to resign. Mills was graduated from Hendrix College in Conway, Ark., and attended Harvard Law School but was never graduated. He was admitted to law practice in Arkansas in 1933, and the next year, when he was 21, was elected a county judge. In 1938 he ran successfully for Congress and has been in the House ever since.

SWEDISH STEEL. Not many Americans know it, but the stainless steel used in new stainless razor blades comes from Sweden. Sandvik Steel, 130 miles north of Stockholm, provides the carbon steel for Gillette, and Uddeholm Steel supplies the stainless for Wilkinson Sword Ltd., the British company whose blades began the intense competition in this country. Of late, Japanese steel-makers have moved in on the Swedes, offering to supply quality steel for camera parts at lower prices.

EX-PRESIDENTS. The U.S. Senate has amended its rules to permit ex-Presidents to address the Senate, providing the appearance of the former chief executive has been cleared with the Senate's presiding officer. This means it is now possible for Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower to come before the Senate and express their views on a variety of subjects.

Because of volume of mail received, it is impossible for PARADE to answer queries in connection with this column.

EXERCISE MORE VITAL. The amount and nature of diet fat may be less important in coronary artery disease than the amount and nature of man's exercise. This is the report of a study of 153 pairs of brothers—one of each pair living in the U.S., the other in Ireland. The study was undertaken by teams from Trinity College in Dublin and the Harvard School of Public Health in Cambridge to determine why the U.S. men had a greater mortality (2.6 times as great) from coronary heart disease than their Irish brothers. Although the Irishmen consumed an average of 600 calories a day more than their brothers in Boston and their intake of animal fat was 10% higher, the Irishmen weighed on the average 8% less than the Americans. The investigators concluded that the Irishmen were physically more active than the Bostonians and suggested this as their major protective factor.

DISILLUSIONMENT. U.S. foreign aid may have reached its peak this year. Congressmen who try to keep a sensitive finger on the pulse of their constituents report that folks back home are getting disillusioned with our foreign aid program. Since World War II we have pumped $10 billion worth of aid into France. Result: De Gaulle's constant opposition to our policies. We've pumped millions into South and Central America. Result: uprisings everywhere and the cancellation of democratic elections. We support the economy of Vietnam, and the ruling clique is intransigent about religious freedom. We vote Indonesia millions in aid each year, and now Sukarno wants to war against Malaysia. The whole program seems a sorry mess, and if Kennedy can get $4,000,000,000 out of this Congress for foreign aid, he will be doing well.

by FRED BLUMENTHAL

This Veterans Day, in many American homes, hearts and eyes will turn toward a steel-engraved, vellum, framed certificate like that illustrated above. Something new on the U.S. scene, it represents a national gesture of gratitude to every man who ever served this country under arms. Called the President's Memorial Certificate, it goes to the veteran's survivors when he dies. More than 200,000 such certificates have been sent out since the program was begun 18 months ago.

Actually, the award was President Kennedy's own idea. It all started one day in the White House, when he and his long-time secretary, Evelyn Lincoln, were seated in his office at the end of the day. Observing a photo of the President's brother, Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., who was killed in a World War II bombing raid, Mrs. Lincoln remarked about the horrible costs of war. The President agreed, but pointed out that everyone who wears the uniform accepts these risks. Just then an idea struck him: why should there not be some means of permanently honoring, on their deaths, all those who served in our military forces?

From this chance conversation, the President's Memorial Certificate program was born. It is carried out through the Veterans Administration, which keeps posted on America's 22 million veterans. When a veteran dies, the VA notifies the White House. The President then signs a certificate, and the award goes out in a White House envelope.

Although the awards have been little publicized, they have been gratefully received by the veterans' families. Many have written back to the White House to say how much they appreciate the gesture. "I want to thank you for the certificate honoring my late husband," wrote Mrs. Margaret L. Schell, of Canon City, Colo. "It brought tears, not only because of the content of the award itself, but also for the realization that the head of a nation so big could put importance on details so small. It fills me with an overwhelming love of country."

"I am 10 years old and in the fifth grade," wrote Darrell Brandon, son of veteran Glen Brandon of San Antonio, Tex. "I know how busy you are, so we appreciate it even more that you take time to be thoughtful in comforting us."

But it remained for a Roman Catholic nun, Sister Mary Sophie of the Sisters of Mercy, Windham, N.H., to sum up best what the new award means to veterans' families and their military memories to the old soldiers themselves.

"My father, John Henry Clifford," she wrote, "was one of the last of the United Spanish War Veterans, an old-time Marine who refought the battles of Cuba, the Philippines, Guam and Samar every time he had the chance. His country was indeed next to his God. There was always a flagpole where he lived, and the beloved colors went up regularly. He did not miss a Memorial Day parade for 60 years; even as he lay dying the exercises took place under his window."

Share with
a child

Last year Elizabeth Ann almost got a present for Christmas

This year you can put a smile on her face. Through General Mills' Share With A Child Fund and The Salvation Army, you can help a lonely or neglected child when you buy a General Mills product.

Here's how: (1) Look for the General Mills symbol on every package of General Mills foods you buy—on Big G cereals, Betty Crocker products, Gold Medal flours and Bisquick. (2) Cut out symbols. (3) Drop them in the Share kettle in your food store before December 21st.

Each symbol is worth money toward gifts for children who might otherwise not get any.

The Salvation Army has agreed to distribute the presents your symbols will buy. For example, just 40 symbols will buy a toy panda bear for a child. 20 symbols will buy a pair of mittens. And for 200 symbols a needy family will enjoy a Christmas dinner.

To be sure gifts arrive by Christmas, General Mills has started the Share With A Child Fund with $100,000. With your help, it can grow to much, much more.

Drop General Mills symbols in the Share kettle at your food store or mail to Share Fund, Box 6, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Tonight, Jody Garland will launch the General Mills' Share With A Child Fund on The Jody Garland Show, CBS TV Network. See your TV listings for time.

ALL SAUCED. And this Barbecue Sauce never saw the inside of any bottle. Nine special ingredients in it—six worldly spices.

ALL COOKED. Nothing for you to do but heat. The big 2½ pound can serves 3 to 4. If you're looking for the cheapest ribs, forget ours. If you are hungry for the meatiest—come a-running!

flag

TUCSON, ARIZ.

They've taken the tackle out of football here, and the result is a delight to mothers who worry about injuries and a godsend to small school administrators with limited budgets. It's catching on with the kids, too, because it's almost like the football the big boys play.

They call the game "flag football." Actually it isn't new, but it's just now been developed to the point where it's beginning to sweep the country. In Tucson alone, more than 15,000 boys and men, ranging from 8 to 30, play the game, and it has spread to 48 of the other 49 states.

Unlike touch football, which has been played on sandlots and school yards for years, flag features all the thrills of big-time football except bone-crunching tackles. To "down" a ball-carrier all a defensive player must do is pull out one of the two flags every player has dangling from his belt and hold it aloft for the referee to see. With the runner twisting, turning and dodging, this isn't as simple as it sounds. In fact, it can be as difficult as grabbing an opponent and throwing him to the ground.

The story of flag football really goes back to the '30s. Until then junior high boys played tackle football. But then school authorities decided the game was too rough for tender bones. They substituted touch football, but found it was a completely different type of game. Because even the shiftiest halfback can't run through a line without at least one hand touching him, touch football was almost exclusively a passing game. It also called for different blocking and line play.

DEVELOPING THE GAME

Coaches began to search for another substitute. No one knows who first thought of tucking a flag into a player's belt. However, the idea didn't catch on immediately, because there seemed no way to standardize it. Some flags were easier or harder to pull than others. Then two young coaches, Porter Wilson and Norm Adams, began a campaign to make the game uniform. They spent 10 years experimenting with various metal snaps, buttons and clips. Finally, about two years ago, they came up with the present combination: nylon flags attached to an adjustable plastic belt by a ball-and-socket device also made of plastic. The flag always pulls away with the same amount of effort, and the equipment lasts three years.

Today flag football has almost as big a following here as the regulation game. It gets notice in newspapers and draws crowds. It's exciting for fans and spectators, for it has—as the photos show—body contact, deception, ground plays and power and all the other ingredients of the big-time game. Coaches praise it because it's just like tackle with only minor rules changes for safety, such as bans on leaving your feet when blocking, or straight-arming above the chest. A few "alumni" of the program have already gone on to star in the regulation game.

Right now, flag football is standard in elementary and junior high, city and county recreation programs, high school physical education classes and the University of Arizona fraternity league. Air Force recreation programs use it, and so do Arizona prisons and reform schools.

Even girls are playing. Janice James, a physical education instructor at Sahuarita School, has introduced it in her classes and plans a girls' league next year. "It's a safe way to give girls a better understanding of the game and make better fans of them," she says. What's tackle got to compare with that?

Cover girls Natalie Martin, Avis Brateng, Pat Nicklaus think Washington has high career and husband potential.

Why girls love Washington

by JACK ANDERSON

Washington secretary, Pat Nicklaus, takes dictation from

WASHINGTON. Would you let your daughter come here to work? No other city offers Girls Friday such high pay, varied opportunities, stimulating experiences. But perhaps you have read that hoodlums prowling the nation's capital, often striking within the shadows of the Capitol building itself. Would your daughter be safe here?

Complains a top State Department official: "During the past half century, I have lived in many foreign cities, including Geneva, Paris, Berlin and London. I have never lived in a great city as lawless as Washington. It is the only capital city in which I have been apprehensive about opening my door at night. In my [upper crust] neighborhood, women think twice about walking alone after dark."

Sixty federal agencies recently conducted a recruiting drive for typists, stenographers and clerical workers (salaries beginning at $3,560 a year); most of the recruiters complained that their work was hampered by Washington's reputation as a crime-ridden city. In a frank statement to PARADE, Civil Service Commissioner L. J. Andolsek admitted: "Some parents kept their daughters from coming to Washington even after the girls had passed the tests. Recruiters were asked about crime in Washington not only by parents but by the girls themselves."

Yet on today's cover appear three Capitol Hill secretaries who claim the crime stories don't scare them a bit. They love the city and their jobs, agree they couldn't be so happy working anywhere else.

What is the truth about crime in the capital? There's no denying this city is experiencing the worst crime scare in its history. Here are a few incidents which have jolted residents in recent months:

- Mary Lou Kisterlitzky, assistant to Congressman Frank Becker (R., N.Y.), was stabbed nine times in the back by a purse snatcher as she prayed in St. Peter's Catholic Church a few steps from the Capitol.

- Newell Ellison, Jr., son of a prominent Washington attorney, was shot to death by young thugs as he walked his dog across the street from the French Embassy. The crime took place within a block of the homes of such famous people as Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

- Congressman Harlan Hagen (D., Calif.) was attacked and robbed in a dimly lit alley after leaving a downtown jazz joint. His assailants slashed his trouser pocket, got away with $80 in cash and $500 in traveler's checks.

- Congresswoman Martha Griffiths (D., Mich.) had her purse snatched as she entered her apartment building early in the evening. Indignantly she warned her constituents: "May I suggest that when you are sightseeing [in Washington], don't carry large amounts of money and stay in groups of two or three."

- Mrs. Brooks Hays, petite 65-year-old wife of a Presidential assistant, was menaced with a pair of her own scissors as she sat sewing in her home near the Capitol. The thief stole $12 and broke Mrs. Hays' wrist in the struggle.

- Actress Ella Raines, wife of an Air Force colonel, was upstairs in her Georgetown apartment when she heard noises. She grabbed a 12-gauge shotgun and fired at a man fleeing the house.

Similar incidents occur every day in every major U.S. city, but they don't happen to such prominent people. Not infrequently, victims of simple crimes like purse-snatching and pocket-picking have big names, so the crimes get headlines far bigger than they would if they had happened to ordinary citizens in a less glamorous city.

CRIMES ARE OVERPLAYED

Says D.C. Police Commissioner Walter Tobriner: "We can't condone whatever crime we have here. But our record is played up beyond its real significance. If a crime is committed in the capital, it becomes super-sensational."

According to the Department of Justice, Washington ranks 11th among the 20 major cities of the U.S. in all crimes. This is better than some cities, worse than others, but no top official pretends that it is anything to be proud of. At the same time, Washington may be getting a bad name simply because it has a big name.

Everett J. Boothby, president of the Metropolitan Board of Trade, says with full justification: "Many of us have lived in Washington a lifetime and have never been molested. Many millions of Americans and visitors from abroad have enjoyed trips to Washington without incident. All but an infinitesimal number of our hordes of visitors and the two million people who live in, around, and work in Washington have found this to be a pleasant, delightful and orderly community."

Sen. Kenneth Keating. She's been in Washington for three years.

Take PARADE's three cover girls:

Avis Brateng, 26, secretary to the Senate Interior Committee, came here 8 years ago from North Dakota. Her salary of better than $6,000 a year allows her a tasteful efficiency apartment with a large balcony overlooking the city. Her building also has a swimming pool.

Says Avis: "I'm not the least bit afraid of Washington. Neither I nor any of my friends have had any contact with crime. If I'm late leaving the job, as I often am, I take a taxi home—not because I'm afraid on the streets. I just like riding in taxis and take one whenever I can find a good excuse."

A MATTER OF HABIT

Pat Nicklaus, 25, of New York, has been in Washington 3 years. She had a year of graduate work in political science at George Washington University before joining the staff of Sen. Kenneth Keating (R., N.Y.). Pat says: "I never go out at night alone. I'm not scared, but I was brought up to think that young women should never travel alone after dark."

Natalie Martin, 27, comes from Indiana, works for Sen. George Smathers (D., Fla.), has been in Washington nearly 3 years. Like Pat, she doesn't believe in going out alone at night, nor did she do so in Indiana. Her apartment building has a swimming pool. She also golfs and skis.

All three career girls explode another Washington myth as well: that there are more girls than men, so it's hard to get dates. They have all the dates they want. They find Washington social life more exciting, because of its international flavor, than that of any other American city. All agree that salaries and opportunities here are better, too.

As for crime control, Washington has one of the finest police forces in the world. The 2,934 officers and men cope with a tremendous work load, for in addition to keeping law and order they must handle the police chores for federal functions, international affairs and political demonstrations.

But keep the peace they do—as well as the peace is kept in any comparable city. And for the girl in search of a career or a husband, Washington is filled with prospects.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE

Only 50¢ A MONTH

It costs a whole lot to be laid up by an accident—any kind of accident. When the family bread-winner is hurt and can't work, his income is usually reduced or stopped entirely. Result? The family savings are drained so much that it may take years to recover from the high accident costs.

Bills for medical treatments, X-rays, hospital rooms, wheel chairs and a dozen other unexpected expenses, take a big chunk out of anyone's hard-earned savings.

This insurance is designed to help you solve the Accident Expense Problem. You may find it hard to believe, BUT this policy—at a cost of little more than a penny a day does pay the benefits shown below, for accidents at work, at home, in your automobile, on the street, and even at play.

Hundreds of claims are paid every week to men and women, like yourself, who never expected to be hurt. But they realized that, since one American in every 12 gets hurt each year, they just couldn't afford to be without this low-cost protection.

Take advantage of this great Reader Service—the personal accident insurance that brings you cash when you need it most! Send in your application today!

I'VE BEEN THINKING THAT WE'VE BEEN FRIENDS FOR A LONG TIME, CINDY.

AND CHILDHOOD FRIENDS OFTEN BECOME CHILDHOOD SWEETHEARTS.

WHO KNOWS, WE MIGHT EVEN MARRY SOME DAY AND RAISE A FAMILY IN OUR LITTLE VINE-COVERED COTTAGE.

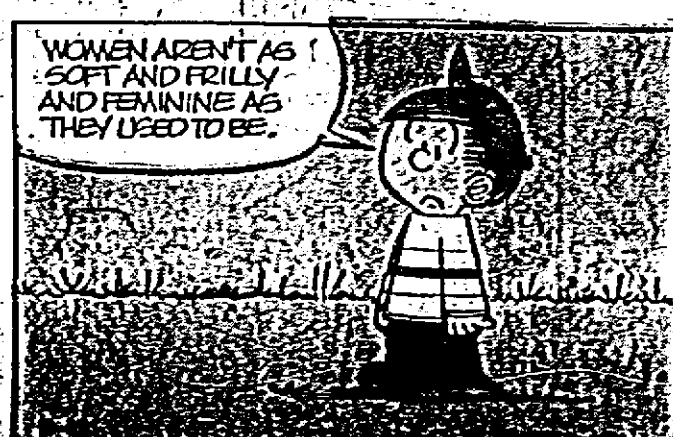

WELL, THAT SOUNDS OKAY TO ME, AS LONG AS ONE THING IS UNDERSTOOD...

THAT YOU SIT WITH THE KIDS ON SUNDAY AFTERNOONS...
